WELCOME--The new branch of Jensen Beach Bank, called "The Money Store" opened Tuesday in Jensen Beach Shopping Plaza. On hand to greet customers were Susan Sutton, Marsha Thompson, Earlene Roberts, Bernice Pinckney, and, at right, branch manager Dayle Marshall

'The Money Store' opens in Jensen Beach Plaza

JENSEN BEACH– "The Money Store," a branch of Jensen Beach Bank, opened for business Tuesday morning in the Jensen Beach Shopping Plaza.

"We hope to make this a new concept in banking, taking the bank to the people for their convenience," said Ron Mitchell, president of the Jensen Beach Bank. "It is in keeping with our philosophy of person-to-person banking."

The bank plans to be open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., with hours on Friday to 7 p.m. The walk-up window will be open on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The branch is a full-service bank, with only safety deposit boxes located elsewhere, in the main bank on Commercial Street.

"We will open new accounts, make loans, and do everything any bank can do," said Dayle Marshall, branch manager. The staff includes Susan Sutton, Bernice Pinckney, Marsha Thompson and Earlene Roberts.

The storefront building, located on the east end of the shopping center, is decorated in light, sea oat wall covering, and has a comfortable lounge where visitors can enjoy coffee.

Redistricting, too?

Voting precinct changes coming

JENSEN BEACH–A state law setting guidelines for voting precinct lines may result in redistricting of Martin County commission districts.

Supervisor of Elections Mrs. Randolph Tuesday pointed out the precinct guidelines to the County Commission. She pointed out that the county wants its precinct plan by Feb. 1.

Mrs. Randolph explained that the existing precinct lines have to be "visual lines and not imaginary lines."

And she noted that commissioner districts cannot overlap precinct lines.

"Imaginary lines such as section lines cannot be used to separate precincts cannot be used," she said. "We have to use visual lines like rivers, railroad tracks and roads."

"When a person looks at a map of the county he can visualize his precinct," she said.

Mrs. Randolph said that the commission "froze" precinct lines as of 1972 and that the plans must be approved by March 1.

Commissioners said they will attempt to get additional time on the plan when they go to Tallahassee later this month for a state meeting of county commissioners.

Commissioner William Myers several meetings ago had suggested appointing a citizen committee to study redistricting of commissioners' areas.

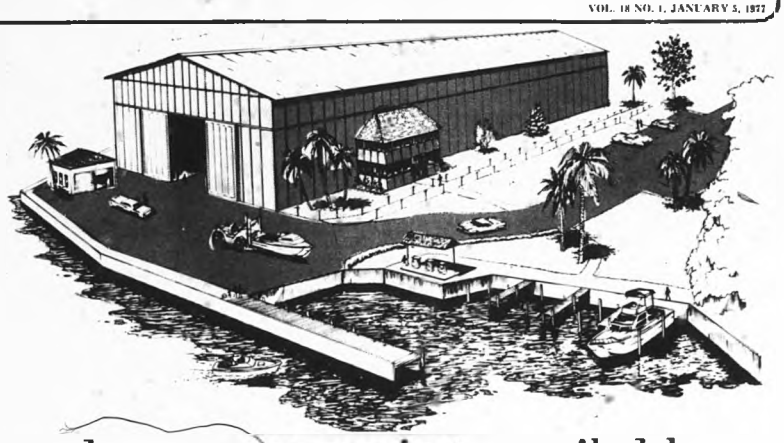
But, as Mrs. Randolph pointed out, if commissioners comply with the state law on establishing precinct lines redistricting will have to be done.

A federal law in 1975 requiring uniform guidelines for the Census Bureau to act under resulted in the state and county having to comply with the guidelines.

Mrs. Randolph noted that in taking the 1980 census the number of people in the county and precincts can be determined, and the county and state population figures can be used in reapportionment.

She pointed out that 10 precincts comply with the guidelines having the necessary visual boundaries. "But there are 10 that do not comply," she said.

Getting the precinct map is only the beginning, she said. "We would have to find voting places and notify registered voters of the change if they are affected by the changes."



New dry storage marina unveiled here

JENSEN BEACH–Marina facilities got a boost in the new year as construction continued on "The Boat House" Marina at the foot of Commercial Street.

The dry storage marina will be able to store 190 boats in the first phase 100' x 200' building. Boats up to 25' long will be removed from the water by fork-lift truck, and stored in tiers of four deep, according to Randy Tilton, who, with his father, Ransom Tilton, and brother, Ren Tilton, own the marina.

"This is what I call a second generation marina," Tilton said. "The trend is away from in-water storage to dry storage for protection against the elements and for security reasons."

Persons keeping boats at the marina can call and have boats in the water and ready to go when they arrive at the marina.

There will be several slips available in water for boats up to 50' long, Tilton added.

The channel and marina have been dredged, and Tilton said that bulk-heading of the marina will get under way soon. He expects to begin construction of the storage building in February, and be ready to accept boats in May.

The land plan indicates parking for 44 cars, a marine store and office, Texaco regular, low lead and diesel fuel, and a "do-it yourself" area for boaters.

The channel has a project depth of five feet at the lowest tide.

Chief Spinney is honored

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Commission Tuesday honored retiring Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Chief Randolph Spinney.

Commissioners passed a resolution, and presented it to Chief Spinney, commending him for his long years of service to the community.

And the resolution commends the chief for his contribution to the "safety and welfare of the residents of Martin County."

And the resolution "declares Chief Spinney as chief emeritus of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department."

Chief Spinney was an original member of the department, almost 30 years, and is the only active original member.

He served as chief for the past 15 years.

COMMISSION'S RESOLUTION–Martin County Commissioners Tuesday passed a resolution commending Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department's Chief Randolph Spinney for his long service to the county as chief and original member of the department. Chief Spinney, left, who is retiring as chief, receives the resolution from Commissioner Frank Wacha.

River Road discussion on agenda

SEWALL'S POINT–River Road, north of Indiantown, has been a thorny issue for the Sewall's Point Commission for months.

If commissioners were not discussing the proposed discussion of South River Road they were talking about traffic on North River Road with Indialucie subdivision residents.

At the Wednesday, Jan. 5, regular monthly workshop session, it is North River Road's time for discussion.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall.

Indialucie residents are concerned about the amount of traffic using their streets, and about the effect of possible additional traffic when the new restaurant is opened on A1A.

Indialucie residents have proposed closing of North River Road just north of the restaurant to prevent restaurant traffic from going through the subdivision.

Other items on the agenda include Rio Pinar lot split, Evinrude and Mandalay Isle od plats, and revision of Ordinances 74, 77, and 78.

Also, discussion of a bike path will be considered by commissioners.

Sheriff equipment gets okay

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Commission Tuesday approved the Sheriff's Department request for a polygraph and polygraph operator training.

However, commissioners tabled the department's request for a microfilm system.

The polygraph program is financed, about 90 per cent, through a federal grant and will cost the county approximately $300.

Commissioners tabled the microfilm system request until Jan. 18, until the cost of the system can be determined.

Also, Sheriff James Holt this week announced some changes in his department, including moving Capt. Morgan Sprott to Indiantown to be in charge of that substation.

Sprott, who has been in charge of the road patrol, will be in charge of four deputies and two sergeants.

And Sgt. James Mills was named lieutenant of the road patrol for the eastern portion of the county.

New fishing guide is off the press

JENSEN BEACH–The 26th edition of the colorful 1977 Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Resort & Fishing Guide has arrived and is being distributed in the area.

The 63-page booklet tells the story of the Jensen Beach area with pictures, maps and ads of area motels, businesses and fishing information.

"This edition contains more color pictures than any previous editions," according to co-chairmen Dick Campbell and Dick Neeson, who were responsible for getting the booklet to press.

On page 3 there is a map of the Jensen Beach area, including Hutchinson Island down to the St. Lucie Inlet, Sewall's Point, Rio, and the major roads.

And on page 5, there is a message from Jack Klett, 1977 president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. Klett writes:

"The 26th edition of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Resort & Fishing Guide is published and distributed free through the Chamber of Commerce.

"We welcome visitors to the Sea Turtle Capitol of the World, where the village atmosphere makes living peaceful and serene, where the fishing is great, and where the life is what we want it to be."

The booklet, which is distributed to area motels and persons who write the chamber and ask about the area, contains color pictures of fish which are caught in area rivers and the ocean.

Business and professional members of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce are listed, and all clubs and organizations are listed.

Each year the chamber distributes 25,000 copies of the popular booklet.

United Way meet scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–The United Way of Martin County officials will be making plans for the new year when they meet tonight (Wednesday, Jan. 5, at the Stuart Board of Realtors office at 7:30 p.m.).

President Augie Malfregeot said Tuesday that a nominating committee will be appointed and a budget committee.

Malfregeot said that the officers will consider hiring an executive director for the coming year. "If we get an executive director, we will have to consider doing something about getting office space."

The United Way campaign to raise $100,000 for participating agencies was at about 90 per cent when the last reporting was made.

"I won't know the latest figure until the treasurer makes his report Wednesday night," Malfregeot said.

"We will have another mail-out this month," he said. "This one will go to people who live here during the winter season."

Participating United Way agencies include Tri-County Rehabilitation Center, Martin County Council on Aging, Red Cross Martin Chapter, Girl and Boy Scouts, Martin County Association for Crippled Children and Adults, Children's Home Society, Martin County Branch Mental Health Center, Martin County Association for Mental Health.

Malfregeot said checks to these agencies will be mailed in March.

26TH EDITION–The 1977 edition of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Resort & Fishing Guide is off the press and is being distributed by the Chamber. Looking over the 26th edition of the guide is Jeanne Britt, new assistant manager of the Jensen Beach office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

A little late, but Happy New Year anyway.

Sorry to have missed last week's column, but what excuse can you offer after some of the things going on in Pinelake Village? First there was an open house at Mildred and Gene Grays, then came the Ramseys, then Nonie and Harry Crossett, and finally, one at Jerri and Howard Arkins.

Christmas and New Years is a lovely time of the year but I'll bet that 99 percent of Pinelake residents are glad that it is all over and everyone is ready to ease into 1977 and beat the stuffings out of it, right? So, with it all over, your writer will be crying for news items and is anticipating everyone going back to sleep for a month.

To remedy that, we now have some sub-misters located in various parts of the park, ready and eager to take your social notes. You know, visitors, you making a trip somes here, when are you getting back, scandals, anuversaries, births and so on"

Tigers return home, meet tough North Shore

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART-The Martin County basketball Tigers, sporting an impressive 10-1 record, will return home for the week, as they take on always-tough North Shore in a Suncoast Conference clash of powerhouses.

North Shore (7-1) holds an amazing 20-game win over Suncoast, a team that lost to Martin County by less than five points earlier in the year. As always, the Mustangs are off to a fast start. But they have one more worry to cope with before the Martin County showdown. They must first down a Cardinal Newman (they played them on Tuesday) and they must handle the Suncoast Chargers on Friday night in a rematch of the Twin Lakes Invitational. Martin County must also win a pair before worrying about the Mustangs, as they took on Fort Pierce Central (4-1) and will meet Forest Hill (6-2) on Friday.

So far this season, All-American prospect Walter Campbell has been stymied by most of the teams he's faced. Instead, the team's leaders have been Lavern McFadden and suddenly-high scoring Oscar Delaney. Obviously, the Tigers have not been able to get the ball inside as much as they would like to.

Saturday night's North Shore game (8 p.m.) will be a rematch of last year's double overtime thriller, which Martin County won. Many rank that game as one of the greatest games ever played at the local gym, along with the Pahokee-MCHS stall game of a few years back.

If the Mustangs can stop Campbell, the pressure will be on sophomore center Charles Jones, who has done everything but replace Campbell in the starting lineup. In the games that Campbell has sputtered, Jones has done well. In fact Campbell has been moved to forward more and more lately so that Jones could play in the middle.

Also, the shooting of Moses Johnson has been a definite plus for the locaters. Averaging about 10 points per game, the younger brother of Stetson star Otis and Rhode Island captain Leon has helped to loosen things up with his outside accuracy.

Bobby McKagen is coming around after a slow start, as is Howard Bethel. Bethel is another of Wallen's "great players of the future." If Wallen's reputation for developing players has anything to say about it, Bethel will be a good one.

The Tigers only loss came in the Roy King Holiday Festival in St Petersburg last week, to Dunedin, another 10-1 team.

Dunedin appeared to be another pushover for the locals entering the tournament, but they quickly proved otherwise. After heart-stopping wins against DeLand and Orlando Edgewater, the Tigers were emotionally drained, and although they led most of the way, they fell 80-76.

But the Tigers showed what they are made of when they smacked Sanford Seminole 75-70 and Choctawhatchee 71-63 in their final two games. But the best they could do was fifth, even though they played well enough to beat every other tourney team except Dunedin.

In other first round action last week, Northeast downed Seminole 68-57, Dixie Hollins smashed St Pete High 72-44, and Clearwater dumped Choctawhatchee 84-61.

The semi-finals saw Dunedin upset Northeast 72-67, and Clearwater downed Dixie Hollins 64-63, in a real barn burner. In that game, Hollins led much of the way, but saw Clearwater come back. With the win, Clearwater remained unbeaten, and earned the right to meet Dunedin in the title game.

In Tuesday's other contest, Choctawhatchee clipped St Pete High 71-63.

Finally, on Wednesday, Dunedin won the title by downing Clearwater. Northeast edged Hollins 41-40 in Hollins second one-point defeat. MCHS won the fifth spot over Choctawhatchee, and Seminole smacked St Pete High 74-56.

Martin County's loss in the St Pete classic isn't going to hurt them as much as they had originally anticipated. First of all, Dunedin's march to the title showed the pollsters that MCHS did not lose to "just another team." Second, DeLand's loss to MCHS at Orlando and Clearwater's swan dive at St. Petersburg leaves Martin County in a better position than they could have been. The pollsters could lean toward a panhandle team or Dunedin.

The local hoopsters will certainly know more about their playoff future after this week's action. If they win their two division games (FP Central and Forst Hill) and can get past North Shore, then the Tigers could have the makings of a state tournament team.

Fort Pierce looks to records

BY DONNIE WILKIE

FORT PIERCE-Fort Pierce Central and John Carroll each will be trying to improve their records after the long layoffs this week.

The Hornets, which had to watch as nearby Martin County tore through the tournament schedule, face arch-rival Jupiter after Christmas vacation for their players.

Fort Pierce Central (now Martin County) in a showdown for the Suncoast Eastern Division lead Tuesday night and is 11 host Boca Raton on Friday night before hitting the road again on Saturday. The opponent there will be Twin Lakes.

Carroll meanwhile will take on Labelle on Friday night. They will hope to avenge their football team's loss to that school earlier in the year. Carroll currently ranks as the area's number one team at 6-0, but they have played an easier schedule than most of the other schools.

Fort Pierce Central carried a 4-1 record into the Martin County game, and some felt that they could upset the defending Suncoast East champs, who are currently riding a 14 game Suncoast East winning streak.

In High School wrestling, Fort Pierce and Martin County are both 4-0, and head the list of area schools along with Lake Worth and Okeechobee.

This week's grappling action includes Martin County at Forest Hill and PB Gardens at FP Central on Wednesday (tonight) and a Thursday match between Martin County and John I. Leonard. That match will start at 6 p.m. at Leonard High School.

'Vital signs' course offered by Red Cross

JENSEN BEACH-Instruction in how to take and evaluate the "vital signs" (1) Temperature, pulse and respiration, (2) Blood pressure, will be given at the Red Cross Chapter House on Thursday, January 6, from 1 p.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Beterane Grail, director of nursing for South Florida will be the instructor.

The Martin County Chapter American Red Cross is located at 9 E. Fifth Street.

Spinney retires

If one man spent years dedicated to a project, it was Randolph Spinney.

The Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department kicked off its annual fund drive in the midst of election of officers and the retirement of Spinney, who has been chief, it seems, since the year One.

It would be especially fitting if the public responded to the fund drive of the firemen with the fervor that has been the life and love of Spinney during his fifteen years as chief. The volunteers need help, and have done such a fine job over the years that they deserve that help.

Chief Spinney, at a very young 83, spent the past fifteen years making the Jensen fire department one of the best (if not THE best) departments in the county. His watchword was preparedness, and the many volunteers who worked with him found him a taskmaster in the protection of Jensen Beach.

We will miss the gruff, tough, tender-hearted chief, who would react ferociously to any slight or criticism of the company he drove to be the best.

Most important, the effort of the Jensen volunteers was made without pay, without major funding by tax dollars, and without the comfort of an annual budget that was provided by the county. It was donations that made the department work, and Spinney and his firemen got those donations through excellent service to the people of the Jensen Beach area.

We congratulate Chief Spinney on his service, and for being the driving force to build a great group of volunteers into the finest firemen one could train. We also thank the department for lowering the insurance rates in Jensen Beach through excellent equipment and service.

And, we urge all to support the firemen's fund drive with a check that will keep our department the best.

Keep COG

Efforts to keep the St. Lucie Council of Governments (COG) alive received a boost from Port St. Lucie and Martin County last week.

Some area politicians must be getting tired of trying to save COG. It seems that after every try to revive the council it dies for lack of interest.

But, COG is the only answer to getting governments together to talk, and on that one premise alone, it should be saved.

The St. Lucie County Commission, which has made several good efforts to properly kill COG, again has tried. Anyone who knows the St. Lucie County Commissioners knows what a waste of time it is to try to get those officials to talk with anyone, unless those people actually go to Fort Pierce with hat in hand to sit at the foot of the commission and ask whatever it is they want.

It must get awfully boring being so competent that one does not need to coordinate between counties, or between county and city.

But, if there is to be some form of coordination on roads, water and sewage and land planning, it must cross county lines.

We need merely to cite the fact that the master planning of the north county area of Martin County was done without any input from St. Lucie County.

Indian River Drive does not end at the Martin County line. It continues to Fort Pierce, northward, and to Sewall's Point Road to the south. Also, A-1-A does not stop at that imaginary line in either county.

The traffic problems of both sides of that county line are an integral part of the solution to the problems, and that would come with an inter-relationship of ideas between the two county commissions.

St. Lucie County, Port St. Lucie and Martin County elected officials should sit down to talk regularly about the north fork of the St. Lucie River. Pollution does not stop automatically at the county line.

General Development Utilities could be a major key to the solution of future water and sewage problems of Jensen Beach and Hutchinson Island, if someone got the company to talk about master planning. That someone has to be the various governmental units involved, such as the St. Lucie County commission, the Martin County commission and the Port St. Lucie City Council.

It is time to stop fighting the establishment of a council which could offer the people money saved through cooperation and coordination. It is time for elected officials to begin to continue talking about common problems.

So many little cold things

I had forgotten so many things, little things, that are probably taken for granted by people who live up north. So, when the Boeing 727 set down on the runway at National airport in Washington, D.C., I began listing them.

The weight of an overcoat, and the bright flash of color in faces from the 17-degree weather.

It was the weather that made the difference, ranging from 7-degrees to 35-degrees. Wind whipped the chill factor to below zero.

Well below freezing, the snow was like dust when I stepped on it. Above freezing, the snow was soft and white, and my shoe came up with a tiara of white at the top.

Making snowballs off the hood of a car, soft, packing easily, and hearing them plop against a wall or telephone pole, and seeing the sky-swirling emissions of moisture from the tailpipes of cars as they start off in the cold, cold morning.

I would curl and wiggle my toes when driving a car, or they would sting from the cold. And, how cold the inside of the auto was when I got into it, and before the heater was able to warm the interior.

It has been so long since I saw snow, but there it was. The wind blew wisps of snow in my faces. My glasses would fog.

The people are all bundled against the cold, thrust their hands deeply in their pockets, hunch their shoulders and lean forward when they walk against the wind. No one looks up.

How bright the snow is on a cold, sunny day. Everything seems frozen, wrapped, and stored for later use. Even the parks are empty, white as freezer wrap, with only the skeleton trees painted dark brown against the white.

All that could be peaceful and quiet, but for the traffic.

Good grief, the traffic.

Miles and miles and miles of autos, moving slowly or quickly. Interchanges and parkways faced long lines of cars that seemingly never end. At night the lights of the two streams of traffic look like diamonds and rubies winding down a long chain.

Spring, summer and fall might make it all worth while, but I still can't imagine anyone living up there. It's a nice place to visit.

My last note of my trip, how heavy and useless the overcoat seemed when I got off the plane in West Palm Beach.

Our pride, where has it gone?

Two weeks ago I attended a Council session in which much time had been devoted to the ways and means by which the City of Port St. Lucie could acquire either $200,000 or $400,000 in discretionary funds from the federal Community Development Program, the amount depending on whether or not the City filed application alone, or filed jointly with the St. Lucie County Commission for double the amount, and shared the take with the county.

The move was instigated by the City Manager, who claimed he was trying "to get something back in the way of tax money" for the people of Port St. Lucie through the federal grant. The funds would be used for improvements to the city's only park.

Also at that meeting was S.R. Lankford of Lankford Consultants, who will serve as the City's representative in the proposed grant application.

Advising that the city could not qualify for the federal funding in its own right, Lankford suggested the city file jointly with the county, whereby use could be made of county statistics relative to low cost and sub-standard housing, low to moderate income families and poverty areas, all of which are non-existent in the City of Port St. Lucie.

Certainly there can be little pride in the City borrowing poverty statistics from the county to acquire a federal grant.

The people of Port St. Lucie have every right to be proud of their city, a city free of indebtedness and poverty.

The governing body has indeed been an advocate of the pay-as-you-go plan, and the City has prospered from such plans.

That, in my opinion is nothing short of good government.

The intended purpose of the Community Development Program is to assist less fortunate cities to develop their areas and raise their standards.

Port St. Lucie is not one of those less fortunate cities.

I shudder to think what would happen if every city across the nation borrowed a neighbor's poverty statistics to qualify for a federal handout to enhance a park.

Without such federal funds, Sportsman Park has come a long way under a five year improvement program of the local Optimist Club, with a lot of folks volunteering their time to do the job. The city gave financial support, and with the eventual feedback of a few tax dollars through the Fort Pierce-St. Lucie County Recreation Department, the park improvements have stepped up considerably in the past three years.

It is no surprise to anyone that the money for federal funding comes from the average working class, but it is the average working class that has been taxed nearly out of existence.

Once again, where will it stop?

Seems to me it would be much better to allow the people themselves to fund their projects through local taxes, rather than paying the taxes to the federal and state governments so they can pass the money back down to the local governments. It would also be one step toward preventing local governments from devising unethical plans to acquire federal funds for which they do not qualify.

Meanwhile, the deadline for applying to the Community Development Program has prevented the City from filing application this year.

Perhaps by next year, the City of Port St. Lucie will have second thoughts about using county statistics to acquire federal funds to enhance Sportsman Park.

There can be little pride in a city like Port St. Lucie passing the tin cup.

Give direction

You don't have to stand on the side of Commercial Street very long this time of the year before a tourist will asks direction, or where is there a place to eat or drink.

And any time of the year some native will ask you why you don't write this or that, or why did you write this or that.

Now, just the other day this young fellow pulled along side and asked where he could get some breakfast.

Well, right off I told this Southernor that in this beautiful yillage he had a choice of places to get breakfast, and I pointed my head in both directions.

And I told him he probably could get grits.

He said he liked peanuts, too.

I could tell he was Southern because we could understand each other. And his subcompact car had a Virginia tag.

You gotta observe these things if you are a reporter and standing along side of Commercial Street.

And then there was this native that passed by and asked, "When are you going to stop writing about I-95?"

"I sure would like to," was my reply.

This native, like a whole bunch of folks nowadays, had a big grin, showing a lot of teeth, when he asked the I-95 question.

I got to thinking that many folks are showing a lot of teeth nowadays. It's going to be a good year for the dentists.

And still in the grin department:

A guy whose smile brightened up this county for a few years was back in the village the other day.

Bill Burson, who was top telephone man for a few years, back when the county had growing pains, has a big smile and we had a few laughs about the and that.

We always mention the "city in the round" when we recall some of the "good old days."

Burson said he heard so much metal and bounds back then that he got his real estate license. Then he laughed and said, "Son of a gun," just like he always did.

And Mirror readers are probably just as tired of reading about I-95 as I am writing about it, and smokers, are probably tired of reading about the campaign, along with the American Lung Association, of "no smoking."

We seem to be losing the no smoking campaign because folks are smoking more and I'm enjoying it less.

So every so often I'm going to write some of the information published by the American Lung Association and give smoking readers some bad verse, like:

"TB or not TB,
That is congestion.
Can consumption be done about it?
Of caugh, of caugh."

I offer this with apologies to Shakespeare.

Dudley retires

One doesn't often have the opportunity, nor the reason, to pay tribute to a brother-in-law, but I just happened to wind up with the finest and, by golly, I believe in giving credit where credit is due.

His name is Dudley (yes, Dudley Sherman and he is retiring after 43 years of public service to the City of Dearborn, Michigan, having risen from an auditor to personnel director of one of the largest cities in Michigan and home of the Ford Motor Company.

What does this have to do with the price of tomatoes in Jensen Beach, you may ask. As personnel director Dudley's main job became chief negotiator for the City of Dearborn, with eight municipal unions to deal with each year. His greatest source of pride was directing a smooth transition from a charter-mandated civil service system to the era of collective bargaining. However, it was that transition that he regrets the most.

City, county, state or federal governments should pay heed to the following statement of Dudley upon his retirement:

"The quality of Dearborn's Civil Service Board is above average, and to see the erosion of the merit system and emergence of the union philosophy at work bothers me.

"I cannot condone the consistent demands of unions willing to bankrupt cities to satisfy their own appetites. There has to be some responsibility built in the realism."

I think that the above quotation might well apply to every sector of our economy. The excessive wage demands of labor unions have all but priced us out of the world market. One only has to look at the balance of trade deficit for 1976 for proof.

Just as dangerous is the fact that some products are being priced out of the domestic market as well, and one could contribute the unemployment problem in part to the fact that, although there is a demand for many products, the ability to pay for them is just not there.

If this sound like anti-unionism, forget it! Dudley Sherman fought for years for better the lot of the workers of the City of Dearborn. But, when the big muscle boys moved in and took over, their demands became so excessive that they bordered on the ridiculous.

As for myself, I was the youngest member of The International Typographical Union in Detroit at 17 and had the bold three honorable withdrawal cards in my pocket from various newspaper unions.

I have always felt that the principle of a "good day's work for a good day's pay" was a sound one. However, it is a two-way street and, when the employer can no longer meet the excessive demands of labor or the people can no longer pay exhorbitant prices for products produced, something has to give. I feel that a good share of the blame for the recession we have been living in the past few years can be traced to this source.

A personal message to Dudley:

All the best wishes on your retirement. Even if you never agree with anything I have to say, it will be good to have you down here in that little house that has been waiting, lo these many years, just two blocks from us in Coral Gardens.

The holidays are over and all those visiting friends and relatives have reluctantly returned to the frigid north country, so now it's time for all good AARPers to get busy with the numerous projects that they have underway.

But, first let's see what they've been talking about, between the "Ho Hos" of Merry Christmas and the shouts of Happy New Year. There was a grumbling "What's this with guaranteed tips".

The many AARPers who have been on tours do admit that fixed tips as part of the bill is becoming quite popular. Still, they don't like it as very often, after paying the fixed tip, another tip for surly service is expected. Many of those chewing it over remarked that it would be better to call a spade a spade and get it over with. If the employees need and are entitled to more money, give it to them and make it part of the cost of the item, then for superior service, one could give a good fat tip.

Does anyone have the slightest idea how AARP could go about reverting this item back to the good ol' days? Even if the 9,000,000 AARPers wrote to George Meany, it probably wouldn't mean a thing, but if an additional tip was withheld in all places that had a fixed tip, it might let union bosses know that extortion doesn't always pay, and would save the AARPers a few bucks here and there.

Martin County Chapter 2223

The Bulletin went out this week. That is, Jim and Ellen Nixon, Dot Beck, Ernie and Marion Curwen went right at it and got the Golden Eagle News Bulletin folded, sealed, addressed and delivered to the Stuart Post Office. Then, the P.O. did its stuff and the bulletins were received the next day by the members. Some complain about the P.O. service, but we sure can't; for it's excellent.

The names of 90 dues delinquents were dropped from the mailing list per the Standing Rules. As soon as they pay up, $2 for 1976 and 1977, back issues will be sent.

Tax Aid Counselors are being notified that the instruction seminar will be from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Jan. 17, 18 and 19, and to bring pencil and paper and AARP name tag. Paul Berglund, tax coordinator, says all details have been worked out for the assistance session, starting Monday, Jan. 31, and ending Friday, April 8. Two counselors will be on duty each session, 9 a.m. to noon, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, in the lobbies of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, and the First Federal Savings and Loan, Jensen Beach.

A Retiree Center has been talked of often as something AARP could instigate. Well, there was more talk last week. Frank Glazier of Ocean Breeze Park was in on the establishment of a Center in Keene, N.H., a number of years ago and offered to tell us how they went about it, trials, errors and pitfalls, that resulted in a $90,000 establishment that is being now expanded by another $250,000. Frank has been cited by the new Hampshire Governor for his outstanding work in obtaining facilities for the senior citizens. He has written the operating committee (he's still a member) for the latest information and when it is received it might be possible to have him explain to the ExCom how a group goes about getting funds and land for a retiree project without one penny of government money. That should be an interesting talk.

Our chapter has embarked on its first full calendar year with a few more than 250 members and with high hopes that the coming months will see an expanding and effective program of activities for its members.

Home health service and other types of home care for the elderly and the ill continue to rank high in the chapter's list of priorities. These two subjects will be discussed at the January meeting, set for the 20th at the regular time and place - 1:30 p.m. at the North Port Marina.

Sam Lawder, director of the St. Lucie County Council on Aging, will be one of two speakers. It will be recalled that Sam met with the board of directors in November to discuss the Council's activities and, in particular, what services the Council might render to residents of the Port St. Lucie area. The board was so impressed with his presentation that Program Chairman Maurie Arluck invited Sam to appear at one of the general meetings, which he agreed to do. He will repeat largely what he told the board, and will go into some detail on the Meals on Wheels program.

The second speaker will be Irene Wampler, administrator of the St. Lucie County Home Health Agency, Inc., with headquarters in Fort Pierce, who will talk about home health service. Of particular interest will be her remarks on the possibilities of physiotherapy services in the home.

Don't forget that January is dues-paying time. Treasurer Esther Thompson and members of the membership committee will be at the North Port Marina two days, the successive Saturdays of Jan. 8 and Jan. 15, from 1 to 4 p.m., to collect annual dues of $2. Payment of dues at these times will do away with the confusion and inconvenience caused at regular meetings by such extra curricular activities.

Tom Carlisle and his crew of income tax assistance counselors will set up shop at the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Association building across U.S. 1 from the entrance to Port St. Lucie. As previously reported, the counselors will get their orientation and training at a three-day session in Stuart on Jan. 17, 18 and 19. They will start work on Jan. 21 and continue as long as needed, probably until early April.

President Fred Wiggin, one of the busiest men in the community, has had his work load increased more yet by the calendar. The end of the year brings with it a stepped-up pace of paperwork that has to be turned in to the national AARP organization (which thrives on paperwork, incidentally). The annual report on chapter activities and a whole raft of forms to be filled out and sent in are some of the items that have to be taken care of. However, Fred is taking them in stride and managing to squeeze them in along with all the other things he does.

One bit of business that is required is the annual audit of the chapter books. Herb Tschudy is the chairman of the audit committee, which will carry out its duties later this month. When the chapter finances are so puny, it might seem rather silly to make an audit of them, but it is required by the national organization and by the chapter's own standing rules, and it is nothing less than good sound policy to do it.

Maurie Arluck is going full steam ahead with plans for a monthly news bulletin and hopes to have the first issue distributed before the next meeting. He said that Charlie and Margaret Coffman have agreed to serve as assi editors.

The bulletin will contain ne interest to members, personal anecdotes and any other matter will help to make it a lively public The first issue will not have adver but Maurie is hoping to develo potential source of revenue is

My Husband Thinks I'm a Financial Wizard.
He's Right!

My neighbor Joan told me about Community Federal's Key Account. How they got all the traveler's checks they needed for vacation without a service charge. But I found out I could get 10 more free financial services and interest, too. So, I opened a Key Account at Community Federal's Port Salerno office.

Jim says I'm a "financial wizard." Because these days, any time you can get a free service, it really helps the budget. The folks at Community not only help with free services they pay me interest while I use them.

THANK YOU!

Vera Duchac and Minnie Schaefer want to thank their friends and all the friends and relatives of Sylvia Sanborn for the many cards and kindnesses shown to Sylvia during the period of her illness, and for the many donations that will be given to the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance.

There weren't many snow birds fluttering in this week, probably frozen wings from unusual cold up there in the north lands, which keep the others land bound wanting for the January thaw. But, most homes were gay with young guests and visitors to make that a very joyous holiday time for Ocean Breeze Park.

Those folks did venture forth and joined us this week Carrol and Lois McDuff, Karl and Mary Hansen, Rene and Rena Daunt, Mildred McPherson, Ward and Flossie King, Lucille Watson, Wilson and Kathleen Norris, Dahla Worth, Charles and Mildred West.

Jimmy Carter's inauguration is just around the corner and some OBPers just might attend, for Al and Ava Colby and Roy and Janie Daley have received invitations.

Ocean Breeze Park will get the jump on the President by having the installation of newly-elected town officials on Monday, January 12, at 4 p.m. and, according to some of the grouping they should look into the speeding on Indian River Drive before someone gets killed. It's reported to be a rip roaring race track at night and the rest of the time the 25 mph speed limit is completely ignored, the yellow blinker disregarded, and double lines unheeded. However, as this is a county problem, Until now time has ticked conventionally by...

PARK EVENTS

ANNUAL TAG SALE date has been set for Sunday, January 23, at 1 p.m. sharp and not one minute before. This yearly event is for the benefit of the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance that gives such excellent service to all Ocean Breezers. The committee asks all OBPers to continue their cooperation and make this event even greater than ever.

Get all your saleable items together: clean clothes on hangers with sizes marked, pocketbooks, jewelry, kitchen ware, electrical appliances, etc., and most popular of all, baked goods. Also, there'll be the grocery basket feature.

Let's all help make this the greatest! Call the office, 334-2494, for Jack Heaton's assistance in moving and storing the larger objects.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY was just as gay and festive as a balloon trimmed clubhouse could make it. The gals in pretty long gowns and the men slightly uncomfortable in jackets and tied danced the old year out. Folks came early, folks came late, and more chairs were sent out, until Ruth Hake, in her mimic room, announced that it was 10 p.m. and time for the traditional hand secret: Ocean Breeze Park initiation of new comers. Soon it was midnight and both Gene and Ruth wished everybody a Happy New Year as balloons banged above the strains of Auld Lang Syne.

BALLROOM DANCE CLASS will be getting underway very soon. All those interested in ballroom, folk, pattern, round and even belly dancing should register (fee $8) at the clubhouse January 12 at 1:30 p.m. for the 16-week course.

CAMERA CLUB will resume its regular schedule of slide shows every Thursday night, beginning 7 p.m. January 6, when Jack and Olga Comer will show their "Adventure USA" of national parks and PDP's homes in Campabello, Hyde Park and Warm Springs.

SHUFFLEBOARD activities are practically back to normal after the holiday hiatus. Here are delayed Round Robin results: Dec. 18, 4-game winners were Pearl Wheelcock and Inez Balletta...and Dec. 19, Barney Chase, Grace Faille and Amos O'Neil.

The Indian River team defeated 8-2 to the Port St. Lucie for second place. The Central league team did not do so well, 1-3 with Orchid Acres, but they are still first in the league with Orchid Acres and Stuart right on their heels.

Stag league posted its monthly standings: Pete Hillman, first; P-T Marth, and Pete Muller, second; Cyril Mathy and John Leybeck, third; Bill Jones, Clarence Bell and George Lavagie, fourth.

Petticoat winners for December were Dorothy Greben, first; Irma Fast, Evelyn Groves, second; Fran Runyan, third.

The Annual Hoke Memorial Tournament in honor of the late Clement Hoke (Harry's father) will be held on Jan. 6,7 and 8, with 32 signed up by Dec. 31.

CARD SCORES

Mike Dryer announces that he'll start an Intermediate Bridge class Monday, Jan. 10, at 10 a.m. All interested may register at that time in Clement Hall.

Contract Bridge, Dec. 28: Mildred Skinner, first; Flora Derr, second; Frances Runyan, third.

Five Hundred, Dec. 28: Winners in order were Reuben Martin, Charlie Pierce, Margaret Alrutz, Pete Hillman, Orlee Ecklund.

Pinochle, Dec. 27: John Gartner, Charlie Pierce, Veronica Snyder, Warner Johnson, Fran Pierce, Ruth Troger.

Pinochle, Dec. 30: John Gartner, Evelyn Hillman, Ada McKibben, Raleigh McKibben, L. Dodge.

AMBULANCE/HOSPITAL, ETC.

Donations to the ambulance were made by P-T Mathy, Jim and Ellen Nixon, Frank and Louise Clancy, Peg and Walt Dryer and Ronald and Catherine Cumpaty in memory of Sylvia Sanborn; Jim and Ellen Nixon, in memory of Mable Mast, and by friends and neighbors of Ocean Breeze Park in memory of Mable Mast and Sylvia Sanborn.

Ness Moore, Agnes Burkhart and Eva Donaldson are in Martin Memorial Hospital, and Arthur Langto is home from St. Mary's. Nan Campbell is back home after a lengthy stay in the hospital.

Sylvia Sanborn passed away Tuesday, December 28. She has lived at 4 N.W. Fourth Street for many, many years.

RAMBLING AROUND

Red Garrett, corner of Teeth and Broad, is always coming up with strange items. This time he's showing around some turn-of-the-century leather post cards, some sent to such as the Vanderbilts of New York. So far, nobody has seen the like before.

Cyril and Mabel H. Stevens, 18 Pepper and Michigan drs from way back when, have had visitors over the holidays: daughter and son-in-law, Dr. Richard Gordon, and 14-year-old Melody, a granddaughter. The Richards were formerly missionaries to Afganistan and Nigeria, but have now settled down in Beaver Fall, Pa., where Dr. Richard is in charge of engineering at nearby Geneva College. Mable is justly proud of being asked to exhibit her folklore painting at the House of Brahms in Hallendale last month, alongside some world famous "Indian Chiefs."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook and daughter Diane of Tenth Street and Dayton, N.J., with his brother, Carter C. Cook of Chelverly, Md., spent the holidays here, while their children visited them. Their friends Stanley and Annie Hazel of Canada will spend the next several months at the Tenth Street domicile hereon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wheelock, 4 Banyan Drive and Lawton, Mich., entertained daughter Nancy, son-in-law Richard Goff and grandchildren Christina and Keven over the holidays. Now back home, the visitors report roads were clear, but Oh My! was it cold!

Baking along over Arbor Vitae way I noted this sign at the Whitmore's: "Welcome Back, the three Bees." Brother Bill, Bernice and Blitzen are home, so no explanation.

Then, at Pearl and Melva Atwood home, 33 Ocean Breeze Drive, there was a giant Christmas Cactus with 75 blossoms. If you're over that way, stop by and see the beauty.

Venture Harbour

BY JESSIE SHAVER

Hazel Ramsey and Betty Jones are continuing their search for the persons who have the winning numbers 319120 and 319158. Check your numbers and c contact either of the above for your prize.

The New Year's Eve party at the rec hall was well attended and everyone had a good time. Many of the residents have selected the New Year together for several years and it seems to be a good idea.

Part of the festivities was a celebration of Bud Pena's birthday Lou, his very cooperative and let every woman there give him a birthday kiss (that's a way to grow older)

Irma and Leland Nenen, who were in Venture Harbour two years ago when the leased the Williams home, are back for three months. They have taken Sam Tucker's home for their stay.

Sam is living in his Airstream and, although his trip on a tramp steamer was called off, he will be making a trip to the Keys and to Texas, so he decided to let this lovely couple use his home.

Welcome, Erma and Lee.

Talk about "his and her" deals. Have you noticed that Don and Faye Smith have two large boats anchored at their dock." I must find out which is his and which is hers.

When I asked Harriett Price if she had any news, she said yes, she had finally got the leak in the water pipes in their new home fixed. Seemed as though when they turned on the water in the house, it came out the wall and onto the kitchen floor, instead of the faucets. Mr. Fix It Lee found, after taking off siding, etc. that a small nick that must have happened when the home was built was the culprit and he replaced the pipe. Now all is well and dry, which pleases Harriett very much.

Katherine Higgins was laid low with a virus for a few days, but is up and out now, busy as ever.

Also good news that Bob Smyth continues to improve and soon will be out and active again.

Your Venture Harbour Board of Directors requests that you attend a meeting of Venture Three at 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 7, at the rec hall. It is to your interest to attend.

Edith and Dick Painter spent a happy vacation with son Bob Bradley and his family in Daleville, Alabama.

Louise Shepherd has returned and one of her sons came with her to spend a few days in the warm weather. Haven't been able to contact her to find out which son.

Again I say I want to get all the news in but unless everyone cooperates by calling me I won't find out what is happening.

Hope your New Year started off well and continues to improve.

Venture Out

BY JACKIE PHILLIPS

IMPORTANT: Lot Owners meeting this Friday in the rec hall at 2 p.m. Pass the word.

Mate and Bill Grueling of the first finger had a delightful champagne party New Year's Day, partly to celebrate the return of Elmina and Bob Mowrey, trailer neighbors of the Gruelings and partly to celebrate Mate's road to recovery from recent surgery. Hallelujah!

Everyone who attended the New Year's Eve party at the rec hall had a wonderful time. Those turkey sandwiches hit the spot. The ever faithful "few" who made them up deserve a big thanks.

The Crafts Class, with teacher Betty Jones, held its first session Monday. All are welcome to attend the 1 p.m. Monday classes in the rec hall.

Hazel Ramsey would like to give notice again about the winning numbers for the basket of cheer raffled off at the Beer Blast. The winning number was 319130, and the consolation prize was 319158; neither prize has been claimed to date. Please call Betty Jones at 334-3714 if you are a winner. Good luck!

Ward and Cora Lee Irwin of our Inner arrived from Tennessee on New Year's Day, with five bushels of North Carolina apples, which they promptly distributed to friends and neighbors in Holiday and Venture Out. Since they took a similar amount of oranges and grapefruit to Tennessee, we're under the impression that they have gone into the produce shipping business.

A note from Floyd Reynolds:

"Jean and I would like to use this space to thank all our many friends and neighbors in Venture Out and Venture Harbour for the gifts, cards, flowers and many acts of kindness shown us during Jean's stay in the hospital.

"To try to thank each of you personally would be next to impossible at this time, and we do not want to slight anyone. Thanks again."

We're looking forward to the return of many "regulars" this week. Hopefully they will have some interesting news to report.

If you have any, please contact me at 334-4168 and I'll be more than happy to report same. Sunday is the deadline.

City wins high praise from state

PORT ST. LUCIE--While the city manager of this south county community continues to lay the ground work for the city's 1978 application for Community Development funding, he took time at the same meeting to report on the commends made about the City by the State Comptroller's Office in Tallahassee relative to the City's Financial Report for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1976.

George Clements of the State Comptroller's Office recently told City Treasurer Gerald Van Patten the financial report was "a beautiful job of reporting, correct and concise. Keep the good job up and keep the City debt free. Very few cities in Florida can make that statement, you are a distinguished City

meanwhile, the manager of this distinguished, debt free city, with the approval of the Council, has approached the St Lucie County Commission in regards to filing a joint application next December for federal funding under the Community Development program

Meeting with the County Commission Monday, Cox explained the reason why it is so difficult for the City to qualify is, because it has no areas of poverty, no substandard housing, no dirt streets and no serious hazards to public health

The City of Port St Lucie would use its portion of the proposed $400 000 grant, if approved, for improvements to the Sportsman Park complex and for street and drainage maintenance

By filing jointly with the county, the city would then be able to use county statistics on the poverty areas, substandard and low cost housing, and on needed street and drainage repairs

Cox provided the county with a list of 80 some unpaved county roads and drainage ditches all situated between the Midway Road Section and the north Port St Lucie city limits

Following Cox's presentation, the Commission appointed a committee to look into the HUD fund application

"This," Cox said, "is the first time St Lucie County has shown an interest at all in HUD funding

Cox maintains the basic requirements for applying to HUD for funds under the Community Development Grant Program are discriminatory as they apply to small cities He has written U S Senators Lawton Chiles and Richard Stone, and Representative L A Skip Bafalis seeking their support in having Congress take another look at the requirements in hopes of effecting a more equitable distribution of Community Development Discretionary Funds

"Because we have no pockets of poverty, no slums, or substandard housing, no dirt streets and no appreciable hazards to public health and public safety, we (the City of Port St Lucie) are not competitive with other cities which strive to obtain funding under the Community Development Act," Cox pointed out in his letters

Due to a January 3, 1977 deadline for filing application, the City will have one year to get a co-sponsor who can provide the proper statistics and file prior to January, 1978

PED MOTORING--Tom Neeson is shown on his "moped" which has a motor and ls, and is not exactly a motorcycle and not exactly a bicycle, but it scoots along road using very little gas

loped motoring in Jensen

NSEN BEACH--More and more bicycles, or "mopeds" are spotted ing along the roads in the Jensen Beach area

It's not exactly a motorcycle and not exactly a bicycle, and one of the reasons why it has become a popular form of transportation is that the Legislature reclassified the vehicle from motorcycle to motor-assisted bicycle

The Legislature eliminated the requirements for tag, license or helmet

And another reason why Floridians have purchased the mopeds, priced at about $400, is the fact that it will go about 120 miles on a gallon of gas

It is easily controlled and virtually non-polluting, and it's light-weight with a no-shift transmission

They are subject to the same laws that govern bicyclists, who are required to ride as close to the right hand side of the road as possible

There is one exception -- operators must be 15 years old

Mopeds are governed by Florida law, requiring that motors be no larger than 1½ horsepower and have a speed capability of no more than 25 mph

They are equipped with pedals and a chain so they can be pedaled as an aid to starting them and in case of emergency

Mopeds, like bicycles cannot be driven on any interstate highways because they can only reach up to 25 mph, and the minimum speed is 20 mph, and thus cannot be driven on bike paths because they are motor powered

'Far and Near' meets January 11

JENSEN BEACH--The regular monthly meeting of the Far and Near Travel Club will be held Tuesday, January 11, in the Community Room, First Federal Savings and Loan, Commercial Street, Jensen Beach

Meeting time is 7 30 p m

Junior anglers net marlins

JENSEN BEACH--Junior anglers registered the first two marlins of the year in the Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament Twelve-year-old John Pennington of West Palm Beach landed a 50-pound, 8 ounce white marlin on the Lovely Lady out of Sailfish Center, and 14-year-old Louis Cohn nabbed a 120-pound blue marlin on the Margaretta out of Castaways Docks Miami Beach

In Key West, Capt Ralph Delph guided the way to five new leaders in light-tackle divisions -- four of them by the same angler, Pat Ford of Miami Ford racked up a 1w-pound, 12-ounce amberjack, a 28-pound, 13-ounce barracuda and a 12-pound jack -- all in the Fly Division -- plus an 18-pound jack in the 6-Pound Division

George Fox of Ft Lauderdale also fished with Delph to land a 24-pound, 12-ounce cobia in the 6-Pound Division

First big snook of the current tournament was a 22 pound, 13-ounce whopper that fell to a live shrimp fished at Chokoloskee by Eugene Garrison It leads the 12-Pound Division

Despite rough weather that prevailed through most of the week, Met fishermen posted a total of 43 new leading fish in the eight competitive divisions of the tournament, which is a public contest open without entry fee to all anglers in nine Southeast Florida counties

Boating skills class starts January 11

JENSEN BEACH--United States Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 58 will sponsor a 13-lection course in Boating Skills and Seamanship, starting January 11 at 8 p m , it was announced by Lithe Herman, Flotilla 58 commander. The classes will be held at the Middle School on Georgia Avenue, Stuart

The course will be conducted by qualified instructors of the flotilla, who are familiary with boating safety in area waters Subject that will be discussed during the six week course will include boat handling, legal responsibilities and requirements, rules of the road, aids to navigation, charts and compass, marine engines, marlinspike seamanship, sailboats, weather, radio telephone, the St. Lucie Inlet, and other procedures for safe boating

Registration for the free course will take place at the Middle School starting at 7:30 p m Tuesday, January 11, according to Vice Commander Joseph Frestag A nominal fee of $5 for textbooks and material will be charged, Frestag said

For further information, boaters and others interested in boating safety are requested to call 334-5340

Shufflers win one, lose one

'Paid up' luncheon set for Hadassah

PORT ST. LUCIE–A "Paid-Up Membership" luncheon is scheduled for the local Hadassah Monday, January 10, at the Port St. Lucie Community Center. For information and reservations, contact Mrs. Leona Levinson at 878-1779.

Mrs. Terri Rapaport, vice president of Hadassah's Florida Region, will be the guest speaker.

A spokesman for the local Hadassah says any out-of-town Hadassah member visiting this area for the winter months is most cordially invited to join the local group in its activities.

of course – at the Center from 3 to 6 p.m. this Sunday, January 8, in the continuing program of events to raise operating funds for the Center.

The dinner committee will be prepared to take care of any who want to receive their food, rush home with it, and not miss a minute of the Super Bowl, scheduled for the same date.

The club hasn't spelled out the menu yet, but there seems certain to be something special in the way of a taste treat.

Tickets at $3.75 with a special $1.75 price for children, are available at the Community Center office or from CESA trustees. Advance purchases are encouraged so that plans for food can be made.

Withdrawers from Fort Pierce, Jensen Beach and Stuart, the German-American Club was one of the first to volunteer sponsorship of a Community Center event, wanting to show its appreciation for the availability of a center where members could meet.

The public is cordially invited to attend this special event.

Demos will hear Chamber executive

PORT ST. LUCIE–The South St. Lucie County Democratic Association will hold its next meeting at the North Port Marina on Wednesday, January 12, at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Dick Reid, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of Martin and St. Lucie Counties.

A covered dish supper will be served. Everybody is welcome.

tter of intent mailed

PSC notified residents oppose FPL rate hike

BY ALICE HICKEY

RT ST. LUCIE–While time is of the nce members of the city's three meowner groups and the Civic league ve agreed to call a meeting within next two weeks of other civic groups rganizations in a three county area ees their support in the proposed ition on the FPL interim rate ease.

efore the local group makes a firm itement on its course of action in opposition, members have decided a meeting with representatives from Beach south to Jupiter-Tequesta uld provide some indication of the ncial and moral support that might xpected from neighboring areas.

hereafter the local group got a letter to the Public Service Commission, ally notifying them of the group's ntion to present a detailed rebuttal to requested rate increase at the duled public hearings.

In the letter, copies of which were mailed to various government elected officials, Frank Zendzian, local financial expert, has cited several reasons why the interim increase should be denied FPL.

1. Escalation Clause. Nuclear Plant Construction. Zendzian maintains the request for an escalation clause [to cover new nuclear plant construction costs is a preposterous demand because:

"A. It is a fixed item of cost, controllable by management and not a variable cost as is the cost of fuel oil, for which there is adequate compensation in the fuel escalation clause.

"B. The consumer would be subsidizing the stockholder by paying for a facility which will belong to the stockholders.

"C. Many of the cost elements in the construction of the nuclear plant will be subject to accelerated depreciation which the consumer is paying for and which accrues to the benefit of the stockholder.

On the basis of interim rate increase, Zendzian said, "We do not believe the staff of the Florida Public Service Commission has had adequate time to audit the request for a rate increase due to the voluminous presentation made by the petitioner.

"The petitioner will naturally state that there is a long period of time elapsed (eight months) before the FPSC acts upon the request. It is our opinion that if the petitioners presented their case in a less voluminous presentation which in many areas is redundant, the staff of the Commission would be able to audit the presentation in a much shorter time."

Zendzian also pointed out in his letter to the PSC that, if the Commission decided to give some interim increase to FPL, the increase would be separately stated on all consumers' bills.

In concluding his letter of intention for the local group, Zendzian also suggested that the money be held in an escrow account until the FPSC is able to assess the validity of a rate increase.

To date the local group has not decided which course of action to take in opposing the rate hike although it could appear the majority favors acting as an intervenor on its own behalf. Other alternatives include appearing as a witness for the state's Consumer Advocate, or to sponsor Frank Zendzian, a retired financial expert, to appear before the Public Service Commission's public hearing scheduled for January 11 in West Palm Beach.

NEWLY WEDS–Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Rimbey, Sr. were married December 28 at the First Methodist Church in Stuart. Rev. Jeff Downing officiating and Harrison St. John, right, served as best man. The Rimbeys will make their home at 198 Exmore Avenue in Port St. Lucie.

C.B. Club to file charter

PORT ST. LUCIE–The newest club to organize in the Port St. Lucie area is the Sandpiper C.B. Club. The group has been meeting for the past eight weeks at the North Port Marina.

According to an announcement made Tuesday by a spokesman, the club's charter will be filed with the state on January 15. Those desiring charter membership are asked to contact a member of the club, or call 878-4788, on or before the January 15 deadline.

At a recent meeting, several committee chairmen were named, including Cape Howdy, who will chair the ways and means committee; Kentucky Kid, publicity; Lady Hogalong, social; Sgt.-at-arms Big-foot and Cape Howdy, Membership chairman is Grey Jo and the Kentucky Kid will chair the program committee.

Advisor to the Junior Division is Happy Pappy.

Meetings are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month at the North Port Marina starting at 8 p.m.

All meetings are open to the public.

Dance class, date change

PORT ST. LUCIE–Estelle Baskin a Humanities Dancing Class will start January 16 at 7 p.m., not January 9 as previously stated.

Sharpe won't run

PORT ST. LUCIE–In what might be considered a surprise move, Mayor Schuyler Sharpe announced this week that he will not throw his hat in the ring for the mayor's seat in the March City Elections.

"I have served as mayor for nearly two years during a critical period. I will be content to sit on the Council," Mayor Sharpe said, adding his experience as mayor and knowledge of the city administration would enable him to be an effective councilman for the remaining two years of his term.

As mayor, I have had far too little time to spend with my wife. While we finish repairing and painting the home we have been able to do these things," Sharpe said.

Sharpe is proud of the progress the City has made in the past two years and expects to give credit to the Council, City employees, the City Manager and the group of dedicated volunteers who have served on various committees.

Sharpe himself is recognized as being unusual to as much as he voluntarily reduced his own salary by $2[illegible] per month and, although he travelled extensively on city business, he never filed an expense account during his tenure in office.

While the past two years have been trying ones in Port St. Lucie, much progress has been made in widely varying areas.

For example, City ordinances have been reviewed, revised and codified, financial records have been brought in accord with State Auditor's requirements, acquisition of Sportsman Park from General Development Corporation and, for the first time, the City was able to acquire county funds to improve the park. $14,000 last year, and $20,000 has been appropriated for the current year.

The City accepted the elementary school property, Sportsman Park, two churches, library, fire station, and Southern Bell Telephone property, all situated in North Port St. Lucie.

An auxiliary police department was established and radios were installed in all city vehicles.

The City authorized funds for the purchase of books for the County Library branch in Port St. Lucie and made a sizable funding ($8,500) to the Humane Society for contracted services.

The past two years have seen a new City Charter come into being, the institution of better traffic control by means of street striping, reflectors marking center lines, traffic control signals and street lights.

The City also purchased 14½ acres of land for the proposed City Hall site, to name only a few of the major accomplishments.

Delegation to meet

PORT ST. LUCIE–The St. Lucie County legislative delegation will hold meetings in Fort Pierce on Thursday, January 20. It was announced by delegation chairman, Representative Dale Cassens.

The delegation will meet in Room 203 of the courthouse at 3 p.m. with the County Commission, and at 3:30 p.m. in the School Board meeting room at the School Administrative Building with members of the school board.

All interested persons are invited to attend either of these meetings and to speak with members of the delegation.

All delegation members are expected to be present.

ill McChesney qualifies first

RT ST. LUCIE–Councilman Bill Chesney was the first person to ally as a candidate in the City tion to be held in March.

ring a workshop session Tuesday, Chesney announced he had submitted his resignation for Council Seat No. 4 and had filed with the City Clerk his notice of candidacy for the position of Mayor, Seat No. 1.

McChesney was first appointed to fill the Council vacancy created by the death of Julian Flood more than three years ago. He later ran for the seat in March, 1975, and was successful in that bid.

Mac Isaacs, a resignation, which will become effective March 15, will create the third council seat vacancy for the upcoming election.

acht Club fficers are ominated

RT ST. LUCIE–The highlight of the meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht b (PSLYC) was the announcement of slate of officers and directors for 1977. Nominating Committee Chairman Jo Ford, assisted by Art Conlon for ommodore, F.K. Shaw, vice commo ore; Jo Walker, secretary; George ge, Ernie Grossweiner, Bob Clements, Hunter, Frances Lee Clarkson and Tom Jacono for directors and Rosario, as past commodore, automatically becomes a director.

The election of officers will be held at the regular meeting on January 25, 8 p.m. at the Community Center.

New members welcomed and introduced were Glenn and Jean Parker, Ivan and Rose Pedersen, Francisco and Loretta Victor and Vivien Scott, Ethel and Carmela Sharrock, Graydon and Edie Smith, Harold and Margaret Snider, William and Florence Thorpe, Fred and Eleanor Ullrich, William and Dorothy Wainwall, Richard and Mar-[illegible].

Three glugs of champagne were enjoyed by many members. Hostesses for the evening were Maxine Smith, Polly Hall and Johanna Howery.

According to many members of the club, they had their "best ever" New Year's Eve party at the Fort Pierce Women's Club. Tickets were limited to club members and house guests and it was a complete sellout.

A buffet was served at 10:30 p.m. and the Sheldon Baker Trio furnished music for dancing.

Arthur Grossweiner, social director, announced there were six lucky door prize winners.

The committee for the festive event were Al and Emily Ursin, co-chairmen, assisted by Charlie and Marie Theasen, Al and Sally Mamele, Henry and Nathalie Deeble and Manuel and Jane [illegible].

) MONTH--County Commissioner Frank Wacha mugs or The Mirror camera as he assists in kicking off al Blood Bank Month in Stuart. Wacha is prepared for his donation by Sara Timon, head nurse, and held down by Stuart Mayor Kenneth Stimmell, Martin Memorial Hospital chairman Ralph Hartman, and administrator Guy Cromwell.

Hurchalla is no weakling

BY CHARLES CATES

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla is six-foot-one-inch, and tips the scales at 165 pounds, but she says that she feels "like a 97 pound weakling whose had sand kicked in my face."

After last week's commission meeting, Commissioner Hurchalla placed a news release in the press box in the commission office.

Commissioner Hurchalla wrote:

"I feel like the 97 pound weakling who's had sand kicked in my face.

"I accepted it when Commissioner (Frank) Wacha said I couldn't be Chairman (even though I was Vice-Chairman) because he had personally decided in July that I couldn't be Chairman.

"I managed to survive when Commissioner (William) Myers decided that I couldn't be on the Regional Planning Council (even though I was Chairman of it) because he wanted to be on it.

"But, it was a little too much when Commissioner Wacha unilaterally deleted from the agenda the very idea that I might sign checks in the absence of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman."

Commissioner Wacha said last Friday that he had asked why the check signing item was on the agenda and was informed that the chairman, Tom Higgins, and vice chairman, John Holt, Jr., would be out of town after Tuesday, Jan. 11.

Commissioner Wacha said he contacted the Finance Office and was told that the checks would be ready for signing Tuesday, Jan. 11.

Vice-Chairman Holt was available for signing the checks.

All the commissioners, but Commissioner Hurchalla, will be in Tallahassee this week for the state meeting of county commissioners after Tuesday's meeting.

Commissioner Myers moved, and it was seconded by Commissioner Wacha, that he represent the county on the Regional Planning Council.

Back last November, when Commissioners Myers and Wacha took their seats on the commission, the two backed a resolution naming Higgins as chairman and Holt, vice chairman.

Commissioner Hurchalla completed her news release, writing:

"I am considering writing to Charles Atlas."

Atlas, as some underfed featherweights recall, was the 97 pound weakling who got sand kicked in his face by a bully.

Some years and many muscles later, Atlas made a fortune with his body-building program.

Commissioner Hurchalla may be out-voted by the male commissioners, but she can still throw her weight around for two more years. And she must be in pretty good shape since she has been known to walk long distances checking out wetlands in the county.

vinrudes donate $110,000 o Martin Hospital drive

SEN BEACH--Mr., and mrs. Evinrude have donated $110,000 to Memorial Hospital, it was nced Tuesday. Of that, $100,000 l used toward the purchase of an uclear Delta Scan 50 (Computer-ial Tomography), and $10,000 will d to purchase two anesthesiology nes for the surgery suite, plus miscellaneous items. Present at eck presentation were Roland l, on the finance committee of the of directors; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph ide; Ralph Hartman, Jr., presi-the board of directors; Chee Chee us, R.N. in the surgery suite; and son well, administrator.

n Memorial had an anonymous er of $200,000 toward the $800,000 the revolutionary CAT scanner if n could be matched with equal ns. The first $100,000 has been given, matched by Evinrude's contribution.

The second $100,000 will be donated if matching funds can be produced this year. The total amount raised thus far toward purchase of the scanner is about $200,500.

The unit is on order, and is expected to arrive in February. It should be operational by March.

Computerized Axial Tomography (CAT) is a recently developed x-ray procedure which utilizes a computer and a television screen to create images of internal structures and organs. The images are technically far superior to conventional x-ray pictures.

CAT enables detailed cross-sectional investigation of any portion of the human head or body. Each patient examination consists of multiple scans or slices of the human anatomy.

The scanning process involves projecting x-rays through the body from all different angles. The computer then assembles and processes the x-ray data to produce a picture that is displayed as a video image, then subsequently photographed for future analysis.

CAT enables doctors to make medical diagnoses in a simple non-invasive manner that would otherwise require costly and potentially dangerous procedures. In many cases the diagnoses cannot be achieved in any other way except by surgery.

Studies at medical centers which already have a CAT indicate that the average patient saves about $300 when CAT is used rather than conventional diagnostic methods. This savings results primarily from the shortening or elimination of a hospital stay for diagnostic procedures.

At present, the closest CAT scanners available to Stuart residents are in Melbourne and Fort Lauderdale.

$110,000 CHECK--Martin Memorial Hospital came one step closer to obtaining the highly regarded CAT-Scanner Tuesday as Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude donated $110,000 to the hospital. Present for the presentation were, left to right, Roland Merrell, trust officer of First National Bank and Trust of Stuart; Ralph and Frances Langford Evinrude; Ralph Hartman, chairman of the board of Martin Memorial; Chee Chee Gunsolus, Surgery RN; and hospital administrator Guy Cromwell.

A turn lane started

ALL'S POINT--Work got under Monday by crews of the ment of Transportation (DOT) on turn lane on the south side of st east of the St. Lucie River

Meanwhile, Mayor Ed Gluckler said Monday that he hopes to have a report at Wednesday night's (Jan. 12) meeting on the committee that is working on the questions that will be on the straw ballot concerning proposed construction of South River Road.

Mayor Gluckler said that committee members -- Town Attorney Tom Thurlow, Jr., Commissioner Rossiter, and town resident Dave Dickinson -- had not be able to meet because one or the other of the members has been out of town.

Vote on the road construction will be Feb. 15, and the mayor said paper ballots will be used, and not voting machines.

Only commission reports and new other items are on the agenda for tonight's commission meeting.

W AMERICANS'--The Rev. Frank Alvarez, pastor of All Saints Episcopal Jensen Beach, has sent letters to various organizations and churches g them that the annual God and Country Day will be held Sunday, Feb. 20, at Florida Institute of Technology chapel. All Saints Episcopal Church and n Legion Post 126, Jensen Beach, are sponsors of the program.

DONATIONS--Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Chief Joe Luciano opens letters with donations to the department. Approximately 1,200 letters have been sent to area residents in the department's annual campaign to raise money. The letters were sent out the first of January, and residents already are returning the letters with their contributions.

Jensen Fire Department donations are coming in JENSEN BEACH--Contributions to the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department fund-raising campaign are coming in, Fire Chief Joe Luciano said Monday.

"The people in Jensen Beach always have been generous with their contributions," Chief Luciano said.

Luciano, newly elected chief, replaces long-time Fire Chief Randolph Spinney. Luciano has been a member of the Volunteer Department for the past four years.

Chief Luciano pointed out that the approximately 1,200 "Dear neighbor" letters were sent out the first of January, "and already donations are coming in."

The chief pointed out that all donations are used for purchase and maintenance of equipment for the department.

Letters mailed to area residents point out that "This is our annual drive for donations from residents that we serve. Your generosity in the past, combined with the efforts of the dedicated members of the Fire Department, gives us the best equipped and most efficient Volunteer Fire Department in Martin County."

"This gives us an excellent insurance rating and benefits many of you by a lower insurance premium," the letter continues.

It was also noted that the department is a non-profit organization, and donations are tax deductible.

The department has six pieces of equipment and about 18 volunteers.

Environmental Center's programs are expanding

JENSEN BEACH--The Environmental Studies Center's message is spreading, in Florida and out-of-state, center director Jay Jarrett said.

"To date, North Carolina has been the most active out-of-state customer for us," Jarrett said, noting that center's Frank Pittman attended a two-day work session in that state last week.

"Many of our materials can be utilized along their coast with minimum alterations," Jarrett said.

Jarrett said that another center member, Dennis Clark, was in Jacksonville last week to meet with four schools there associated with the Episcopal Diocese, and with the staff at Fort Caroline National Memorial.

"They are interested in including some of our activities in their program conducted for the Duval County schools," he said.

"The Episcopal Diocese schools each are located on or near a very suitable natural area, and may offer one of our first private school adoptions outside the county."

Also, the St. Lucie County schools already have adopted portions of the center's program, and Jarrett pointed out that F.K. Sweet Elementary School has increased its participation from two to four classes this year.

"We have a school-wide adoption in the works at Port St. Lucie Elementary and we have just learned that 10 classes at White City Elementary are interested."

And Jarrett reported that plans for an environmental program at Boca Raton had been scrapped earlier this year but, through the assistance of the Audubon Society, the plan is revived and will be put into operation later this month.

Later this month, Jan. 15, the Audubon Society will be at the center on Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, for its annual visit and field trip in observance of Audubon Month, according to Jarrett.

Cold front moves through

JENSEN BEACH--The cold front that moved through the Jensen Beach area Monday night, Jan. 10, brought the lowest temperatures of the winter.

Near-freezing temperatures of 35 degrees were reported by some Jensen Beach residents, who keep an unofficial check on the weather.

For the thin-skinned Jensen Beach residents, who were wearing the heaviest of clothes Tuesday, it was small comfort to read of record low temperatures up north.

While residents must have had all electric heaters turned on, Florida Power and Light Co. (FPL) manager Gene Van Curen reported Tuesday morning, "We had a perfect full electric day."

"No electric outages were reported in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie areas," Van Curen said.

While the winter sun was shining Tuesday, the 20 to 25 miles-an-hour wind that came with the cold front was still with us, keeping the temperatures to a chilly mid-40's.

The weatherman promises a warming trend to start, but don't put away the sweaters.

Redit heads Samaritans

JENSEN BEACH--Wally Redit was elected president of Jensen Area Ambulance Samaritans, Inc., at the January 5 meeting of the organization.

Other officers for 1977 include George Krauss, vice president; Nelly Cook, secretary; and Eve Wagner, treasurer.

Supervisors include Vivian Heaslip, day shift; Mrs. Cook, assistant day shift; Bob Nydam, night shift; Jim Swindlehurst, assistant night shift; Maxine Bailey, supply officer; and Nydam, building manager.

New directors are Rose Kay, Martin Weeder, Mrs. Bailey and Nydam.

Harvey Schlemmer purchased the old ambulance, submitting the high bid of $2,205.

Suit filed against condo

JENSEN BEACH--A $3.5 million mortgage foreclosure suit against Dolphins Bay Condominium and developer Floyd J. Voight was filed last week in Circuit Court by trustees of American Century Mortgage Investors.

The suit alleges Voight owes money loaned to him on three mortgages dating back to April of 1972 and that the plaintiffs fear the security on their loans is in jeopardy because of recent actions by the Martin County Commission.

Commissioners recently closed down two buildings at the condominium site on Jensen Beach Causeway which are used in the time-sharing sales program.

Once on the bus Joe wanted me to sit behind the bus driver so I could see how he drove it. It was about a two hour drive to get there. Once there a man from the Delray Beach Lions Club named Charles took us to his house. All this time Mr. Gunter didn't want to be petted and was doing his job.

When we got to the Delray Beach club house, Joe had me look the room over so I would know where to set the course up at. First they talked [illegible] and then Joe had Charles read a poem. The title was "When You Meet A Leader Dog." After that Joe talked about leader dog trainers and leader dogs.

Then Joe gave the command "Find the door," and Mr. Gunter took him to the door. Joe waited there until I got the course set up. When Joe came back, he went through it without knowing it.

After the meeting Charles and his wife took us to the front of the room and we showed how playful the dog really was. It had really meant something. It showed the difference in the dog, and no one could have an experience like I had with Joe Foley.

'Fiddler' at Barn needs violinists

STUART–The Barn Theatre's production of "Fiddler on the Roof," scheduled to open February 4 and run every weekend in February, is in need of two violinists and an accordionist for the show orchestra. Wayne Wells, musical director of "Fiddler," has most of the other musicians lined up, and the orchestra's first read-through was held during the holidays.

John Fulton will be the pianist or organist for the show, depending on the availability of an organ. Strings will include Anita Dimondstein and Carol Wright. The woodwind section will be Debbie Thalasitis and Beth Johnson, flute; Michelle Ankenman and Jean Arnold, clarinet; and Janelle Boger, bassoon. Diane Thalasitis, on trumpet, and Jane Mauger, French horn, will make up the brass section, and Jerry Knouse is the percussionist.

But, Wells said, he still needs two violinists and an accordionist to provide the balance he desires.

Interested musicians, willing to volunteer their time for rehearsals and performances, should call Wells at 283-3328 as soon as possible.

Barn officials say the response to "Fiddler" has been so enthusiastic that the show may be a sell-out. Season ticket holders are urged to call soon for reservations, and others should stop by Conant's Photo on Colorado Avenue for advance sale tickets.

New communications

Let us get this straight. The new Postal Commission is giving us a choice of either paying twenty-five cents to mail a letter, or going to three deliveries a week. All to be in effect by 1985.

The reason behind this is that first class mail has dropped so much because of increased cost and new, private delivery systems.

Is that what we are expected to believe?

Could it be that mail has dropped because of lack of service? Lack of response to community needs? Lack of modernization due to union resistance? Lack of full utilization of manpower?

We were promised a modern, up-to-date outfit that would speed mail to the people when the postal service came into being. Politics were to have nothing to do with it.

We exchanged politics for confusion of a different sort, and exchanged speedy delivery, twice-a-day, for once-a-day and all kinds of holidays.

In this population-busting period, when communications are becoming more and more important, and more and more letters are being sent, the banks have led the way to the cashless society with monetary exchanges by computer, electronically moving credits from one place to another.

It is time that we began thinking about electronically moving information.

If each business had a teletype machine in it, set for sending and receiving, much of the daily communications of business could be removed from the mails. Much paper and postage could be saved, plus the time of an operator and the high costs of stationery.

Statements, messages, orders and confirmations could be delivered by wire from place to place. If only that part of the mail in one delivery area, such as in the Stuart, Fort Pierce, Vero Beach area, could be delivered by one person typing into a teletype for receipt by another, keying the message to the other's telephone number, it would speed delivery and be of immediate impact on the communications that we need speeded up.

There is no end to the possibilities. The story of a person ordering groceries through a television set is already a reality, if only in prototype. There is a future possibility of a newspaper being delivered through a print-out machine on the top of the television set.

Future "call-up" mechanisms using a laser, or cathode-ray, might allow anyone to have a print-out of anything, including books, magazines and pamphlets.

All of this should now be under consideration by the postal service, but we fear that it isn't.

When the new, automated machinery, invented to move mail, was introduced, the postal service experienced delays upon delays from unions fearing their workers would be displaced by machines. All we need remember is the famous Chicago backlog of mail to let us know the power of the unions in the post office.

So, other methods must be used. The unions won the battle against modernization, saying that only people could move mail, not machines. This caused the dog days, the dropoff of use of first class, and the jobs of many (not to mention the financial dilemma.)

It's difficult to look at the dedicated postal employees in Martin and St. Lucie Counties and think that there is something wrong with our postal service elsewhere. Our people are doing fine, getting the mail to local people quickly.

But there is something wrong, and new communications media are the answer. The postal service had better get the job done, or private enterprise will take it on and do it.

Our hope for balance

Serving as the president of the Martin County Resources Development Board for the past six years, except for about six months, has been one of the most rewarding and frustrating things I have ever done.

The past two years were the worst, with the board sitting on stop, waiting for something to happen in county government.

But now the board is going again, with fresh blood, new ideas and directions being studied, and a county government that is certain to get us moving toward a balanced economy.

Everyone must cooperate if we are to realize a year-around payroll that will handle the planned growth that Martin County faces.

It was a pleasure to see the people who turned out for the re-birth of the board last week. They seemed interested. In seeing if the board had a viable reason for being, and wanted to help.

Gene Van Curen, district manager of Florida Power and Light Company, was named temporary chairman, and it took him just about an hour to name two committees to plan a budget, set dues, organize direction, name a slate of officers and set January 28 as the date for the reorganization.

The board might be called the "Industrial Task Force," or "The Committee of 100," or something else under reorganization, but the name will only be the vehicle that will allow a bunch of dedicated people to get a job done.

About the only damper on the meeting was the insistance of County Commissioner Maggie Hurchalla that any industrial prospect pay its own way into the county. There must be incentives if little Martin County is to compete with the bigger counties around us.

We lost the spring-training Milwaukee Brewers, and a fantastic ten month recreational plant for area youth, because we couldn't come up with what the group needed...and that started with the land.

Incentives are the key to providing jobs.

There had to be incentives to bring Grumman's aerospace plant to Stuart. Look at what the facility means now.

It is the largest industry in Martin County (beyond agriculture), and provides the biggest payroll. It offers somewhere for young people to work when they get out of high school, something that we desperately need more of in the county.

Grumman can be cited as a good neighbor to the people and the government of the county. It has excellent benefits and has kept Witham Field a top flight private airport. Anyone who has flown up and down the coast of Florida, and counted the many abandoned or run-down airports along the way, knows what Grumman means to this area.

Smaller industries have moved in to take up some of the job slack, but we need more to bring about that year-around payroll.

The role for the board was most aptly described as "creating jobs." That's a tough job, and the jobs could be almost anything, from a regional mall to a cabinet shop. All would fit in the area of the new board.

The new board will have the help of the old-timers and the new county commission in getting a job done for the county. With the change in the economy, and the new county government, it is getting to be fun to live here again.

Ultimatum...

How glad I was to find the tree out and the decorations already packed away when I returned home from work only a few days after Christmas.

My daughter had obviously been more anxious than I to see things put away.

I enjoy the holidays. It is a time when folks just seem to put a bit more emphasis on being friendly...and that is nice.

I like the nip in the air, the suspense, and while I complain, I really look forward to the last minute shopping I do on Christmas Eve. Each year, I promise me it won't happen again because I will be an early shopper, but come December 24, I am at it again.

I think more than anything else I enjoy having the house decorated. In the past it has not been the least unusual for us to keep our tree and all the decorations up for a month...and we would enjoy every day of them.

Things were a little different this year, though, soooo0 different in fact that, by the time our floor to ceiling tree had been up three days, we were ashamed of it.

The bottom four feet of the branches were completely bare of ornaments, tinsel, icicles, lights and even the artificial snow was gone from the branches.

While the Scotch Pine does not shed its needles easily, I can attest to the fact that they can be mauled off by the thousands.

One thing we learned this year is that a three-month-old kitten named Myron Sylvester '76 and a 90-pound German Shepherd called King spell sheer destruction to a Christmas tree...yes indeed.

We had so many ornaments broken this year that the remainder was packed away in less than half the space of last year.

I wonder what we would have had left if the ornaments had not been the unbreakable type?

The kitten would knock one of the shiny ornaments from the tree and immediately launch an attack on the dog simply by batting it in his direction.

When the dog was unable to find an easy route of escape, he would panic, put a big foot on the mysterious object and quickly crunch it with his teeth.

At this point, our unbreakable ornaments were broken one by one. But then, there were always the lights which we had purchased just this year. We went to the small lights, fifty on a strand...you know, the ones they advertise will continue burning even if some of the bulbs have burned out.

Well, once again I overlooked the fine print on the boxes which cautions all bulbs must remain in their sockets for the strand to stay lighted.

With approximately 300 tiny lights on a tree, have you ever tried to find the sockets which were missing the minute little bulbs which can slip out very easily with a kitten running through the branches?

Since patience is not a virtue of mine, after a three hour search for missing bulbs, I gave up.

My ultimatum for '77 – something has to go. The dog, the cat, or the tree.

Bus committee

The other day I jogged Commissioner William G. Myers' memory about my interest in reviving the Bus Committee and doing something about transportation for the residents.

It turned out to be a timely jog since Dr. Myers told me that he and Commission Chairman Tom Higgins were going to Washington, D.C., to check with the state's elected officials – senators and representatives – about some grants – law enforcement, transportation, etc.

The two commissioners will then go to Tallahassee, this week, to join other commissioners for a state meeting of county commissioners.

But back to transportation.

Since the Bus Committee was active back in 1974 when motorists waited in long lines to get gas which was in short supply and the prices going up, the price of gas is still going up.

Just last Thursday it was announced that Saudi Arabia formally raised the price of its crude oil by 5 per cent, undercutting the oil prices of some of the other members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which voted to increase their prices by 10 per cent.

Translated, this means another round of price increases at the gas pump.

While I'm not in favor of any federal grants coming down to the county – it's taxpayers' money any way you cut it and the county usually winds up paying more in the long-run – I hope that Commissioners Higgins and Myers a successful trip, at least get some of a county transportation system.

To jog the readers' memory, in 1974, when some commissioners he unglued about the long lines of mo at the gas station, a company over West Coast – Florida, that is – to Bus Committee that a minibus passengers – would cost about $ and that the county would need t buses.

The price tag was somewhere $140,000 range.

Tigers fall to North Shore 79-78, despite comeback

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART–It certainly was not the kind of game Martin County Head Coach Don Wallen wanted to see, but it almost turned out all right for the locsters.

Despite a first quarter explosion by the fired up North Shore Mustangs, Martin County's eighth-ranked dribblers fought back Saturday night, but saw sharp shooting Darryl Mitchell drown their hopes with an amazing baseline shot with just four seconds remaining.

North Shore suffered no letdown after nearly escaping a trap by Suncoast on Friday night. The Mustangs, who had downed Suncoast by 20 points a week earlier, were forced to overtime this time before eking out a one-point win.

Mitchell, perhaps the area's best ballplayer, and only a junior, shot the lights out of the MCHS gymnasterium in the first quarter. He scored twelve of the Mustangs 28 points in the first eight minutes of action. Tim Allen provided eight of the other 16 points in the explosion, which saw North Shore score eight points in a row once and six in a row twice.

Martin County's usually poised troops blew their tops in that stanza, allowing North Shore to steal the ball on numerous occasions, and also throwing the ball away.

But a Don Wallen-coached team does not give up easily. The local boosters slowly chipped away at the North Shore lead until Moses Johnson put them ahead for the first time in the game with just 16 seconds left, 78-77.

North Shore got the ball down the floor quickly after Johnson's 20-foot jump shot, but guard Dante Wright found the lane clogged as he tried to penetrate. So, instead of making a bad shot, he passed the roundball off to Mitchell, who popped the last two of his 36 points on the night.

The Tigers could not come back, as they could not call time out because they had already used their full allotment, and Oscar Delancy threw the ball away, thus ending the game and sending the numerous North Shore fans into a frenzy.

Mitchell's 36 points was tops for the Suncoast Conference battle, and Martin County was led by the surprising Charley Jones, who contributed 25 markers to the struggling MCHS attack.

Martin County found itself down 28-13 after the first period, and that lead was extended to 36-16 after two minutes of the second quarter. But Jones then threw in a pair of free throws, followed by a charity shot by Lavern McFadden and a hoop by Johnston. Then after Ken Maloney hit a field goal for the Mustangs, Oscar Delancy and McFadden each scored, bringing the Tigers to within 11 points at 36-25.

The halftime break, which featured a fencing demonstration by a local club, saw North Shore ahead 42-33. The nine-point margin was a result of a last second shot by Wright.

Martin County cut the margin in half early in the second half when Jones scored five points in the first forty seconds, making it 42-38. North Shore extended the lead to as much as nine points later, but the hometown boys came roaring back.

McFadden tied the game with 3:49 left in the game with a two pointer, but on the same play, he committed a foul which permitted Mitchell to hit on a one-and-one situation and put the visitors ahead again.

The Tigers attempted to freeze the ball with 1:17 remaining and go for the last shot. This would have been to their liking because, with the score tied, they could not have lost without playing an overtime. But Delancy thought he saw an opening with 34 left and committed a charging foul, enabling Tony Clay to put North Shore ahead 77-76 before Johnson's jumper and Mitchell's winner.

Martin County scoring saw Jones with 25, Walter Campbell with 16, McFadden with 14, and Johnson with 12 points. North Shore saw three men – Mitchell, Wright, and Clay – score 62 of their 79 points. Mitchell had 36, Clay hit for 18, and Wright popped for 14.

The Tigers now slip to 12-2 on the 1976-77 season, while the invading Mustangs improved their record to 10-1. The Tigers return home on Friday, taking on the third-place Palm Beach Gardens Gators. They then hit the road for a three-game stint on which they face Vero Beach on Saturday, Twin Lakes on Tuesday, and John I. Leonard on January 21.

Community Means Convenience.

When we moved from Boston to Riviera Beach, our real estate agent suggested we apply at Community Federal for our home loan. The loan officer mentioned that Community could also provide additional family financial services.

Well, our loan at Community Federal was approved. And we opened a Key Account for safe, direct deposit of our social security checks. Key Account lets us transfer money from savings to checking and back by phone, any hour, day or night, too.

What's more, our money in Key Account earns interest until we need it! Yes, Community means convenience. And being retired, convenience means everything.

Good news is scarce, so let's make sure it's not missed in the constant avalanche of disagreeable items. Since 1970, there's been a steady decrease in the number of highway deaths per 100 million miles, from 4.9 to 3.4, with the biggest drop in 1973 when the 55 mph speed limit went into effect. In numbers, that means from a top of over 56 thousand killed each year to a low of around 46,000, but even so, that's an awful lot. Remember how upset we were then about that many were killed in the South Vietnam fracas.

Here's how AARPers and senior citizens can help to keep this trend going strong.

Now that gasoline is flowing freely and energy seems no problem, the 55 mph limit isn't being observed too well and there are advocates of its removal. However, safety experts agree that the 55 mph limit has been the greatest factor in the reduction of this wasteful killing. So, AARPers can set an example by abiding by the 55 mph law and not advocating higher speeds, and other might follow the good example. Anyway, it is defensive driving, the life you save might be your own, and the 55 mph speed limit can help.

What are AARPers talking about this week. Yep, you guessed it, coffee. Some say I'll drink water before I'll pay $3.50 per pound. Others have switched to tea or some meals and still others claim to have cut the number of cups per day in half. But, a cup of coffee has become such a part of American life that it'll be difficult to make the change, in spite of all the talk.

Folks have called about non-AARP activities, so again they will be mentioned.

First, Charlie Pierce, president of the Tourist Club, reports they are having the largest crowds in their 30 year history at the bimonthly pot luck meetings; over 90 at the Jan. 3 meeting, when Herbert Menke had the folks wildly applauding as banjo.

Joe Forsberg, president of the Senior Activities Club, says those very entertaining bimonthly Sing-Alongs at Ocean East Mall will be resumed, starting this Friday, Jan. 14, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Bring your own chair.

MARTIN CO. CHAPTER 2223

Interagency meeting, Jan. 4, turned out to be unusually lively. Ernie Burwen's talk on AARP was at least stimulating, as practically everyone had questions or comments.

Mel Bullock, social worker at Martin Memorial Hospital, made the point that many patients on checking out find that their insurances don't give them the coverage expected. She feels that AARP could relieve this situation by having a meeting explaining Medicare, Blue Cross, AARP and all other private insurances.

Marion McNally of the Home Health Service said they have many services that can shorten hospital stays and make patients more comfortable at home, but folks don't know about them.

Dr. Archie MacAllister mentioned that the Martin County Health Departments also has nursing services to offer and would be glad to explain these services to interested groups.

Russ Conser, project director of MCCA, called our attention to the Visiting Nurse Association that can go beyond Medicare and Medicaid covered, and help those in dire need.

Therefore, it looks as though the February meeting with the AARP insurance consultant will be very timely, especially if it can be arranged to have someone from the above organizations there also.

The Picnic this month was much better attended and enjoyed, as the weather was quite "fittin'". Besides the usual eating and socializing, there were discussions on matters concerning AARPers.

Ernie C. (president) pointed out that, with over 700 members all more or less satisfied to "let George do it," it is very difficult to find out what the members want to do and who'll help do it. So, ten lists have been drawn up of the names of members who have signified that they are interested in something or other. Volunteers have agreed to call their 10 names, notifying them of meetings or special events and asking for their comments on previous activities. This may feed back information.

A picnic chairman will be appointed to arrange activities other than eating, which does take care of itself. Maybe games and sports in the afternoon, or classes in Self Defense, Arts, cards or talks by service organizations. Then in the morning, committee chairmen can schedule their group meetings, thereby making the first Thursday AARP day, all day.

Some nifty two-month pocket calendar appointment diaries were offered at $1 each, the dozen on hand snapped up like hot cakes, so another three dozen have been ordered for sale at the monthly meeting.

"Meals on Wheels" is still booming along, without one penny of government money. However, it cannot be expanded without the help of more volunteer drivers. All folks with cars (station wagons needed) who can spare an hour or so at noon time one or more days a week, please call 334-0756.

Another item came up for discussion. It was the idea of chartering the 70-passenger Sea Queen, or the 300-passenger Rip Tide, for a special AARP cruise. This would be a good chance for the members to get acquainted with each other and with the elected officials. Also, if it turned out to be a joint adventure with the Port St. Lucie Chapter, the two groups could get acquainted.

Posters have been put up to advise people of the time and place where counsellors of our chapter will give assistance on filling out income tax returns. In case you don't see one of the posters, Coordinator Tom Carlisle reminds you that the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Association has graciously furnished a room where the counsellors will hold forth from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, starting January 31, a little more than two weeks off.

In the interim, the ten counsellors will attend the three-day instruction course at Stuart, given under the auspices of the Internal Revenue Service and AARP. PSL counsellors are Morgan Jones, Peter and Muriel Sysak, Esther Thompson, James Chester, Wayne Lamberston, Mathias Helbach, Estelle Baskin, Florence Dabney and Hugh Jencks.

February and March are the two big months for income tax returns. The counsellors will be at the bank during that period and, by the end of March, it is expected that most everyone will have completed the burdensome task. However, if there is enough demand, the program will continue until April 10.

This coming Saturday, January 15, will be the second and last day that Esther Thompson and members of the membership committee will be at the North Port Marina to receive the annual dues of members. If you haven't done so already, don't forget to trek over to the marina and discharge this obligation, a modest $2.

Consumer fraud and rip-offs in general are something that require eternal vigilance in this day and age.

This thought occurred to Maurie Arluck, first vice president and program chairman, when he read the story in the papers recently about the woman who was bilked out of $500 or so by the old bank gag of "We're trying to trap a dishonest teller." The lady in question, withdrew the money from the bank and turned it over to the self-described bank "officer," who then disappeared.

Maurie has lined up for the February program a specialist on these matters from the Fort Pierce district attorney's office. He is Brad Culverhouse, an assistant D.A. who has had broad experience in the area of sharpers and human foibles, and he will tell members how they can be alert against the wiles of swindlers and frauds.

Anyone have any furniture that is not needed? President Fred Wiggin is looking for some old pieces to furnish the room at the Medical Center where the board of directors holds its meetings. If you have any tables or chairs that you don't need, and that are serviceable, please get in touch with Fred.

The January board meeting was held Wednesday, Jan. 12 (today), instead of the usual second Thursday of the month.

Looking ahead to the coming year, Fred feels that the chapter must work out some definite programs and says that this will require the direct involvement of more and more members. Until Dec. 21, he points out, the date when the chapter received its charter, activities were in a somewhat nebulous state. Now that we're on a permanent basis, our programs likewise must take a definite shape and a sound foundation laid for future activities. All members should give this careful thought.

Plans are going ahead for the first issue of the news bulletin being developed by Maurie Arluck. However, be is running into some minor problems in obtaining the permit from the postal service for low-cost mailing. A considerable amount of documentation has to be assembled to convince the postal authorities that the chapter is entitled to the permit. Cost, of course, is a key element in the logistics of putting out the bulletin, and the mailing of it is one of the principal costs. The matter of the bulletin is to be discussed at this month's board meeting.

...ION—Gene Van Curen, new chairman of the Martin ...Resources Development Board, got some pointers on revitalizing the board from Tim Tealey, dean of FIT, Jensen Beach, and Robert Seeley, general manager of Port St. Lucie.

PLANNERS—The committee to seek new officers for the Martin County Resources Development Board made plans for a meeting last week. Left to right are Dale Johnson, Larry Timon, Clark Gibson and Ransom Tilton. The committee will report at a luncheon meeting on January 28 at FIT.

Resources Board plans direction

STUART—Gene Van Curen, district manager of Florida Power and Light Company, has been named temporary chairman of the Martin County Resources Development Board in the first step to the rejuvenation of the industry-seeking board.

The move was made Wednesday when the board, and interested persons met at the Buccaneer Motel in Stuart to discuss the future of the board.

Richard E. Campbell, president of the board since 1971, opened the meeting by asking that a temporary chairman be named, and Van Curen received the nod of the 35 businessmen in attendance.

Following discussion of the past of the group, and the future of the county, Van Curen named two committees to seek a possible change of name, nomination of new officers, a new budget that might include a full-time executive director, and new directions for the group.

Names suggested included the "Industrial Task Force of Martin County," the "Business and Industrial Task Force of Martin County," the "Industrial Development Committee," and the "Committee of 100 of Martin County."

Van Curen suggested that a "Game Plan" committee be formed to define the "way to go," and the budget for the group. He named Ken Ferguson, past president of the MCIDB, Glenn Sutton, vice president of the group, Barney Poston, Port Salerno Realtor, Jack Robinson, Indiantown Company manager, and Bob Seeley, general manager of Port St. Lucie, as a committee to come up with recommendations.

He also named a committee to nominate officers and revise the name of the group, made up of Ransom Tilton, Jensen Beach Realtor, Larry Timon, head of Stuart Paint and Supply, Tim Tealey, dean of FIT, Jensen Beach, and Dale Johnson.

The group plans an annual meeting for Friday, January 28, at the FIT.

Cobras could determine champion

BY DONNIE WILKIE

PT. PIERCE—If the Fort Pierce Central basketball Cobras don't win the Suncoast Eastern Division title this year (and some still believe they can), they certainly should have something to say about who does.

That is what Head Cobra Roger Wrench has been saying lately, and Fort Pierce Central's upset win over Boca Raton supports that statement.

Of course, the Cobras have to do better than the 1-3 record they posted last week if they hope to wrest the conference title away from the lakes of Martin County and Lake Worth. But if they don't, the Cobras can look ahead to the District playoffs in late February with cautious optimism.

FPC repeatedly fought back after trailing early against Martin County last Tuesday night, only to drop an 80-71 decision at Stuart.

Later in the week, Fort Pierce upset the highly-regarded Bobcats of Boca Raton, then disposed of Twin Lakes.

The Cobras played Martin County even in the first quarter, as the score indicated. It was 15-15 after the stanza. But Martin County came back after allowing the first four tallies of the second quarter, and took a commanding 46-33 lead at the half.

Lavern McFadden's bucket with 1:15 remaining in the third quarter gave Martin County their biggest lead of the contest, 68-47. The basket marked the climax of an eight point streak by the hometown Tigers. But the Cobras came right back.

Fort Pierce Central outscored the Tigers 11-6 during the first four minutes of the final period, as Jackie Robinson, Greg Merrick and Willie Redden starred. But the Martin County lead was too much for the Cobras to overcome. FP Central outscored the eighth-ranked Tigers 21-12 in the fourth quarter, but they only came to within nine points of knocking off the Suncoast East favorites.

Friday night's game was very important to the Cobras because a loss to the Boca Bobcats would have severely hurt them in the Suncoast Eastern Division standings. So Wrench's forces came out of the dressing rooms fired up.

Boca Raton, who gave Martin County an early-season scare before succumbing to the Tigers' press, played FP Central even before the Cobras opened it up in the second quarter.

The first quarter score of 14-14 indicated the ferocity on the court. But a 16-6 second quarter count gave Central the lead at the half 30-22.

Alvin Miller paced all scorers in the game with 18 points, while Robinson and Cecil Bembry meshed 13 each. Merrick had 10.

Central shot only 38 percent from the floor, but they made the most out of their dismal shooting performance. Robinson's 15 rebounds helped to cool off the Boca Raton attack. But it was the overall aggressiveness of the Cobras that proved fatal for the Bobcats.

Saturday's contest was not expected to be much of a game, and it wasn't. Twin Lakes (3-8) fell behind 18-9 after the first period, and never caught the hard charging Cobras. Central's leading scorer was Robinson, who pumped in eight field goals and four charity shots for 20 points. Merrick had 14 markers.

Venture Harbour

BY JESSIE SHAVER

Sunday in a motor coach. They were returning from a fun trip to Orlando and Disney World.

Kay Koepka is off on a tour of the Orient. She and two Miami friends made their first stop in L.A. to see the Rose Bowl Parade, than on the Hawaii on the first leg of the trip.

Howard entertained the husbands of Kay's traveling companions in V.B. this past weekend.

If there were other happenings, I did not hear of them.

Birthday greetings to Jack Mohrhardt on January 17. Anniversary congratulations to the Starkeys on January 9, and the Don Smiths, January 16.

Please remember the meeting each Tuesday at 10:30 for the women of Venture Three to plan the social activities. All are asked to attend and voice their opinions and volunteer to help.

News from Route 8K, by Betty Plebe

A big reunion! Edsel and Betty Plebe are enjoying being together with Edsel's brother and three sisters and their spouses.

It has been 35 years since they were all together. Over in Venture Out are sister Wilda Wilson and husband Job, originally from Selon, Ohio; brother Leonard Plebe and wife Lee from Hartville, Ohio; sister Millie Perkowski and husband Mike from Kent, Ohio; and sister Helen MacCauley and husband Mac, who flew in from Chico, California.

Let's hope they can do this every year in the future.

Fran and Dick Tener are spending a couple days visiting friends over on the west coast.

Haven't heard from Max and Thelma Dickey. Hope they will be joining us soon.

After playing hookey, Kevin Gleason and neighbor, Julie, reluctantly went back to Indiana. George and his father are staying on, hoping Elaine can join them soon.

It's never too late! Come join our craft class in the rec hall on Monday afternoons at 1 o'clock. Our clever and talented teacher, Betty Jones, has some of us started on purses, decoupage, ming trees, etc. You pick your craft and do your own thing with Betty's very competent help.

Bonnie Wiencke, who is a professor at Wellesley, and her friend, Susan Noyes from Boston U., took an overnight canoe trip through the Everglades. Isn't it nice to be young and brave?

So far we have four women golfers in V.B.: Fran Tener, Lois Boner, Barbara Clark and Betty Plebe. They are enjoying playing with friends from Venture Out and Holiday Out. None yet has agreed to have her score published.

One talented (?) played her hit a drive into the top of a fifty foot pine tree; the ball stayed right up there. Wonder if a pro could do that? Also wonder what the birds will think when they see it up there!

It was a bad week! Walt Ramsay only caught three trout.

Venture Out

BY JACKIE PHILLIPS

A "Rose Between Two Thorns" - that was Lucy Bowling this week, determined to clean out all undesirable debris after a six month absence. Even husband Todd kept out of her way - that's how determined she was! Todd's sisters, Belva and Thelma, are sharing the fun at lot 686 Swordfish Lane.

Alice and Red Fitzgerald are minus company for a few days and are off on a fun jaunt to Plantation, then on to the Keys. They are traveling with their good friends Rose and Eddie Nelson.

As all grandparents say, "We're happy to see them come, and happy to see them go" - but Alice and Red were happy to know that their son Sandy and wife Suslem and their children arrived safely in Painsville, Ohio, after a great stay at Venture Out.

Bettie and Harry Sommers arrived from Arkansas last week. They were greeted by their former neighbors of Hobart, Indiana: the Campbells, Dickensons, Wards of South Martin. Bettie and Harry are on lot 801.

John and Wilda Wilson have had their friends Don and Dolores Miller from Stow, Ohio, as their guests.

Have you seen that man with his arm in a sling, walking a beautiful Huskie? That was Bill Grueling. He had a shoulder operation, but had so much stamina that they released him from the hospital after an overnight stay, and he is doing just fine.

A very warm welcome to our friends and V.O. neighbors who just arrived: Boyd and Helen Kite, Wayne and LaBelle Barrett, Jim and Kate Gibson.

[illegible] chairman of the Recreation Committee, include:

A Valentine Cruise. John Campbell and Derwood Dickenson will be in charge and will have details later.

January 22, a beer blast, with live entertainment, a sing-along, and fun. Tickets available at office and "Block Captains." Bud Prew is chairman.

A pancake breakfast is planned for February 8, more details later.

As of February 1, a monthly program leaflet will be delivered to each trailer. Special events will still be posted on the rec hall bulletin board, and we can't stress enough how important it is for you to check this board. Even if you are aware of an event, you might have to sign up in the rec hall to be a participant. Keep checking!

Our congratulations and appreciation to the Board of Directors of all three condos for a successful and informative lot owners' meeting. Due to the acumen of these faithful, hardworking men and women, the meeting, which could have been difficult to control, reached a happy and friendly ending. Oh, we know not everyone was happy, but "you can please some of the people some of the time, but not all of the people all of the time," right?

BOWLING NEWS BY B. THOMPSON

V.O. of Indian River

BY JANE NOLAN

Joe and Dorothy Herzog of New Jersey will be with us for three months. Their friends Joe and Pearl Lamanna will be sure glad to see them.

Harold and Ruth Robinson from Williamsvill, N.Y., spent a few days with Frank and Jane Nolan. They enjoyed V.O. and the fishing.

Russell and Nancy Horsely of Indiana are here for a short visit and Russell's parents are visiting them at the present time. Russell, his father and John Balash went deep sea fishing and came back with a 15-lb. king.

Fortens and Paynters are busy doing more landscaping.

Ray Repka, John Balash, Howard Robinson and Frank Nolan went deep sea fishing and caught a 12-lb. king. They still remember the rough waters and results - read between the lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Repka and daughter Jean returned to Depew, N.Y., after two weeks at Venture Out. They didn't want to leave the sunny south to go back to the cold weather.

John Miller and grandson Paul arrived Saturday after a cold and snowy trip from Pennsylvania.

WE'RE PUTTING A NEW BANK IN JENSEN BEACH
(That's 44 years old).

When we got started in the banking business back in 1933, many of our customers were from Jensen Beach. Now, 44 years later, thanks to a new Florida law, we will be able to better serve our many customers in Jensen Beach with our new Jensen Beach Branch on Commercial Street.

Although, we're Martin County's oldest and largest financial institution, we still believe in personal and professional service to our customers. Watch for our grand opening in January. If you're not now a customer, please drop by to check out the First National difference.

Lori wins with Gang

PORT ST. LUCIE–Lori DeArruda, popular winter resident and regular at all Gang sessions, took home the main prize at last week's Friday Nite Gang session.

W.W. Luncheon is Monday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members of the Port St. Lucie Welcome Wagon Club are reminded that the cut-off date for reservations for Monday's luncheon is Friday, January 14. Call Joanne Walters, 878-1672.

The luncheon is slated for 11:30 a.m. Monday, January 17, at Ray's Restaurant in the St. Lucie Plaza.

Members are also reminded to bring jewelry for sale to the luncheon.

The Gang Snooper had an easy time of it...no visitors, no first timers, no birthdays, and no anniversaries.

This Friday night will be a special Mardi Gras night, the first of many during 1977, according to Host Cedric Benz. Highlighting the session will be 30 or more special prizes to be awarded at the end of the evening's play.

The Mardi Gras is the affair from which the Gang gets its operating funds, so a good turnout is expected.

The Gang has no regular membership, no dues are charged. Neighbors and friends are cordially invited to attend any session. The Gang meets every Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the North Port Marina.

PL rate hike, installation highlight PSL-RP meeting

T ST. LUCIE–The Thursday eeting of the PSL-RP Home- Association should be of great to all homeowners in the area e main topic of discussion will be ested rate increase of Florida Light Company.

eeting will be held at the Port St. Community Center on Prima oulevard starting at 7:30 p.m. 13.

g the evening the election and llation of officers will be held. ev. W.H. Winkler will give the invocation and later will also serve as the installing officer for the newly elected officers and directors of the association.

Officers to be elected are second vice president, treasurer, and the directors of odd numbered units. The nominating committee will present a slate of officers for the next two years.

Association President Bob Brunton, who chairs the Consumers' Council Committee, will report on the activites of this organization and the consumers' committee in opposing the rate increase requested by Florida Power & Light.

While the consumers' committee, comprised of representatives from the three homeowner associations and the Civic League, is making every possible effort to hold down the inflation of power rates by opposing FPL's increase before the Public Service Commission, they need the support of every resident in the area. This meeting provides an excellent opportunity to show support by attending.

Light refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Cooper heads PSL Masons

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Masonic Club met last week at the Port St. Lucie Marina for the installation of officers for 1977.

Henry Bengel and James Banketas of Fort Pierce were the installing officer and marshal, respectively.

Robert Cooper was installed as president; Arthur Hynders, vice president; Robert Sidnell, secretary; Edgar York, treasurer.

New members of the board of trustees are Robert Darlington and George Petrie, retiring president. Gerald Schwartz was continued as chaplain.

Special recognition was accorded the 50-year Masons, four present and one in the hospital, and a minute of silence was observed for three Masonic members who died in 1976.

The PSL masonic Club was organized in 1962

ity agrees to street takeover

BY ALICE HICKEY

T ST. LUCIE–It was six weeks City Council agreed to accept mately three and one-half miles ds in the southern portion of the ile they nixed the drainage that time, little or nothing has ne except for verbally batting the ack and forth between the er, General Development Cor- n, and the City.

the matter was once again n Tuesday's agenda, several top ficials were up from the Miami arters to discuss the issue one e. Those attending the session d S.S. Crump, senior vice t of GDC; Wayne Allen, GDC unsel; and Ken Miller, of the gineering staff.

the Council agreed to take over eets, they tried to persuade GDC ept the intricate interlocking e system at a later date, but this C. Crump made a very concise nt which quickly brought the o a conclusion.

drainage is an intricate part of Ten which we are asking the City over. In a 1961 ordinance, this reed to accept this plat when d completed roads and drainage. e (GDC) completed this work has been approved by our r, we have appeared before this more times than I can count to e this matter, without results.

n the City engineer inspected the e made several recommended to comply with his findings. Still you (Council) refused to take them over. After we have maintained these roads for the past ten years, you now want to hassel over the accompanying drainage system.

"Speaking on behalf o GDC, I wish to advise that, as of this date, we will provide no further maintenance of this area.

"The streets and the drainage is all yours, and I don't know of a simpler way to put it," Crump said.

City Attorney Spencer Gilbert told Councilmembers that, if the area streets and drainage had been inspected and approved by the city engineer, then the city would have to show just cause for refusing to accept the area as originally platted. Without just cause, the developer would be within his rights to take legal action against the city.

While the city engineer, Cal Montgomery, has inspected and approved the streets, he was unable to complete a December inspection of the drainage system because "the inlet to one of the culverts was not exposed where we could see it" due to a growth of weeds.

GDC had the area in question cleared, but Montgomery has not yet re-inspected

Therefore, the City agreed to accept the three and one-half miles of roads and the pertinent drainage ditches, subject to Montgomery's final drainage inspection.

Rhe resolution passed includes the following streets and drainage:

Pruitt Road from Mitchell Avenue to the North Limit of the plat.

Morningside Boulevard from Mitchell Avenue North and East to the Plat Limit.

Merritt Terrace.

Wiltshire Terrace.

Pocatella Road from Morningside Boulevard East, Northeast, Northwest across. Morningside Boulevard to Wiltshire Terrace.

Overhill Drive from Wiltshire Terrace to the Plat Limit.

Mayfair Lane.

Griffith Avenue.

Mitchell Avenue.

Treasure Island Road from Morningside Boulevard South to the Plat Limit.

San Sovina Terrace from Treasure Island Road to the Plat Limit; the drainage right of way between Blocks 6 and 7.

Overbrook Drive from Lot line between Lots 24 and 33 of Block 10 to and including Cul-de-Sac.

Overbrook Drive from Lot line between Lots 14 and 21 of Block 11 North past Treasure Island Road then Southeast to Treastre Island Road.

Woodring Lane.

Treasure Island Road from Overbrook Drive to the North limit of the Plat.

Monte Vista Street.

Monte Vista Court.

The Drainage Right of Way adjacent to Lot 1, Block 15.

The Drainage Right of Way between Lots 17 and 18, Block 15.

The Drainage Right of Way between Lots 32 and 33, Block 15.

The Drainage Right of Way adjacent to Lot 1, Block 16.

The Drainage Right of Way between Lots 1 and 2, Block 17.

Grass grows to politics

PORT ST. LUCIE–From all indications, it would appear the City's grass ordinance will be challenged in a court of law by one Port St. Lucie homeowner, Robert Schweiger.

Schweiger, who was recently cited for a violation of the grass ordinance, is butting heads with city fathers over whether the growth in his yard is "natural-look" landscaping or weeds and undergrowth.

While Mayor Schuyler Sharpe has agreed that perhaps the ordinance needs to be refined a bit, he voted along with three other council members to have the courts settle the issue if necessary.

Concert band now forming

PORT ST. LUCIE–Instrumentation and rehearsal dates will be the main topics of discussion when the new St. Lucie Concert Band holds it first meeting Tuesday, January 18.

The group will meet in the Port St. Lucie Elementary School auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Musicians with band experience are invited to attend. According to Charles Edgette, director, brass, reed and percussion are needed.

Instruments will not be required at this first meeting.

Additional information can be obtained by calling Edgette at 878-9059.

Councilman Larry Kimmel voted negatively, claiming, along with Schweiger, that he does not think the ordinance applies to this particular property inasmuch as it is located in an undeveloped part of the city.

Schweiger's home is located on SE Clearmont Street and he owns the adjoining lot. He has been cited for a violation on both pieces of property.

Schweiger has ten days in which to file another appeal in the case before the city moves in and clears the property.

Following the Tuesday session, Schweiger was undecided whether he would file an injunction to prevent the city from clearing his property, or whether he would let them move in and file suit for damages later.

Meanwhile, it would appear the episode is likely to turn into a political issue. Schweiger, who said he has had numerous calls from city residents encouraging him to challenge the ordinance, has called a meeting at his home for Wednesday evening (tonight) to discuss the feasibility of sponsoring a candidate for one of the city's three council seats in the March election.

Schweiger, who is the owner of IntraCostal Printing of Fort Pierce, said that due to his business commitments, he is not interested in seeking a city office himself, but intends to sponsor qualified candidates for the council seats.

CHALLENGES CITY–Robert Schweiger of 1740 SE Clearmont may challenge the city's grass ordinance in a court of law. The battle over weeds versus the "natural-look" landscaping has inspired Schweiger to seek out and sponsor qualified candidates to run for at least one of the three council seats in the March City Election.

Woman's Club plans evening meeting

STUART—The Woman's Club of Stuart will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, January 19, at the Club House on East Ocean Boulevard.

After refreshments have been served, member of the Martin County Chapter of SPERSQEA, Inc. - the Barbershop singers - will entertain.

Members planning to submit articles for consideration at the District Ten Arts Festival are requested to bring their items to the Club House between 10 and 11 a.m. Wednesday, January 19, for judging by the local arts committee. Articles selected will be shown at the evening meeting.

Rio Volunteers start campaign

RIO–Instead of mailing out requests for contributions that has been standard practice over the years, members of the Rio Volunteer Fire Department are going to do some "walking and knocking on doors."

Richard Pinsky, publicity chairman of the Rio Volunteer Fire Department, said Tuesday that members of the department will begin their annual campaign for contributions Saturday.

"Members will knock on doors of all Rio area residents explaining the campaign to the residents. We will have a 'dear neighbor' letter explaining the campaign and a return address," Pinsky said.

"We will not be asking for a check Saturday, but residents can send in their contributions in the return, addressed envelope," he explained.

"After Saturday, next week we will begin to cover the houses in the remainder of our area – North River Shores, Palm Lake Park, Beacon 21 and the south side of Britt Road."

"The first $5,000 of the contributions we receive will go toward paying back a loan we received last year from a member so we could purchase a piece of rescue equipment – jaws of life," Pinsky said.

He explained that the area department volunteers will solicit funds in the section of responsibility of the department, except the rescue equipment.

"We send our rescue equipment to any area north of the Roosevelt Bridge on U.S. 1. District II Department has a rescue truck and covers the county south of the bridge," he said.

"Our department has a super tanker, 2,000 gallons, woods truck, house truck and a back-up truck, and 18 volunteers," Pinsky said.

And Pinsky said he is very proud of the fact, and points it out in the letter, that the Rio department "placed No. 1 in the annual firemen's efficiency jamboree."

The 'dear neighbor' letter which Rio residents will receive Saturday states:

"Another year has passed since our last fund drive and we hope you will continue to support your fire department with your generous contributions.

"In the past year, we purchased much needed equipment to supply our new fire and rescue truck. This truck is equipped with life saving equipment which will serve our community better. This unit is the first to roll to any building fire as well as to any type of emergency which might occur in the area.

"As volunteers of your fire department we are again asking for your help to make the department more efficient and better equipped to serve you. Remember, not only money runs a fire department; anyone interested in becoming a fireman or lending a helping hand call 334-5329 for further information.

"Please make all checks payable to the Rio Volunteer Fire Department."

RIO VOLUNTEERS–Members of the Rio Volunteer Fire Department are shown with one of their modern pieces of equipment, and members of the department will start their annual fund drive Saturday to keep the department's equipment in tip-top shape to serve the residents of their area.

Art League sidewalk exhibit is Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–Both sides of Commercial Street in beautiful, downtown Jensen Beach will be the scene for a Jensen Beach Art League Sidewalk Show this Sunday, January 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"League members will display works of art in all media.

Rain date for the event is Sunday, January 30.

Mrs. Dorothy Elliott, president of the League, is showing paintings this month at the First Federal Savings and Loan, Jensen Beach.

God-Country Day is planned

JENSEN BEACH–Sunday, Feb. 20, has been declared God and Country Day by the Martin County Commission, and Commissioner Frank Wacha will read the proclamation at the ceremony at Florida Institute of Technology Chapel.

Preliminary plans for the program, sponsored by All Saints Episcopal Church and American Legion Post 126, Jensen Beach, have been announced.

The grand procession, with county, civic, patriot services and schools invited to attend, will begin at 3 p.m. FIT students will participate and offer talents at the service.

Carolyn Fulton will be the soloist, with John Fulton giving organ music selections.

Free transportation will be offered and pick up stations will be announced later. Merchants in the area are requested to display the American flag on Saturday and Sunday.

Sponsors of the event point out that all expenses are paid by All Saints Church and Post 126, who ask for no assistance. They point out, however, that the "interest and devotion to the annual event is so wide and important that groups have sent in donations."

Each year the support of the program reaches beyond the county and has been praised by federal, state and local officials.

All organizations are requested to give names of representatives who will be in the grand procession to the Committee on Arrangements.

New I-95 study proposed

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Commissioner William Myers said Tuesday that the state is expected to use a private consulting firm to make a new environmental impact study for proposed I-95 routes.

Myers said that state Secretary of Transportation Tom Webb and District Engineer Bill Fowler, of the Department of Transportation (DOT), have decided to make the new studies recommendation to Gov. Reubin Askew.

"They want a private firm to make the study, and not rely on state and federal environmental studies," the commissioner said.

Myers and Commission Chairman Tom Higgins met with Webb and Fowler in Tallahassee last week during the state meeting of county commissioners.

Myers also said that he expects another public hearing on the proposed I-95 routes, the last I-95 public hearing was held in Tequesta Town Hall, Palm Beach County, and at that meeting local officials requested another hearing to be held in Martin County.

The new studies are expected to be made on proposed routes east and west of Florida's Turnpike.

Savannas purchase believed near

JENSEN BEACH–Purchase of the environmentally endangered savannas by the state is expected, according to an official of the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Norman McMillan, land acquisition agent for DNR was at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce office for three days last week talking to the people who own land in the savannas.

"I had real good response," McMillan said. He said that he talked to about 50 people who own between 60 and 70 per cent of the land that is available.

"We have a good sizable commitment on the wetlands area," McMillan said.

The major landowner is General Development Corp. (GDC) which owns more than 800 acres to be sold. The sale is being conducted for the state by the Trust for Public Land, a private negotiating firm.

McMillan said no contracts have been signed with the owners, and said that he needs an indication of approval or intent to sell from the landowners before making his recommendations.

There are more than 200 landowners in the vast wetlands that extend from Jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR 707A) north to Midway Road in St. Lucie County.

No price tag has been placed on the project which is one of several environmentally endangered areas in the state being considered for purchase by the state Cabinet.

State funds for purchase of the marshland will come from the $200 million bonds which were approved by the voters in 1972.

Purchase of the savannas has been a long process, with preliminary negotiations with some of the large land owners starting in early 1975.

"We have been public hearings about the savannas land purchase, surveys of the area, and a "Save the Savannas Committee" that was organized several years ago.

Purchase of the savannas is expected this year, and McMillan said, "The next time I come down I want to bring some checks."

Sewall's Point nixed by P.O.

JENSEN BEACH–The postal service doesn't feel that the people of the Town of Sewall's Point should have their own zip code, according to Congressman Skip Bafalis.

In a letter to Mayor Ed Gluckler, Bafalis expressed hope that the "climate" will change in the future to allow the town its own mailing address. At present, the town is served by the Jensen Beach Post Office, and letters addressed to Sewall's Point often are returned to senders if the proper zip code is not on them.

Bafalis also tried to get the town listed in the zip code directory, which also failed to get postal authority approval.

In a letter to the congressman, postal officials said that a facility would have to be established to get the designation. They emphasized that "Postal facilities are not established for the primary purpose of establishing community identity," adding that postal service "is consistant to the needs of postal customers there."

Postmaster Harold Saltzer, Jensen Beach, told The Mirror that the post office made every effort to delivery mail locally, but that a Sewall's Point address was not a legal address, even when accompanied by the local zip of 33457.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said, "The postmaster in Jensen Beach has been extremely cooperative. We got the local telephone books changed so that Sewall's Point will be prominent in both Stuart and Jensen Beach sections."

Hospital Ball theme announced

JENSEN BEACH–The 1977 Martin Memorial Hospital Ball theme will be entitled "Candlelight Ball", according to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Stein, co-chairmen of the ball. The "Candlelight" theme was chosen in appreciation to Patricia Murphy, owner of the famous "Candlelight" restaurants.

"Patricia, a former resident of Port Sewall, has given innumerable hours of her time over the last ten years decorating and overseeing the theme and decor of each ball," the Steins said.

They added, "We feel it is fitting and proper to show our appreciation to Patricia by selecting the candlelight theme this year."

The ball will be held March 12 at Sandpiper Bay and will feature music by the Vaughn Monroe Orchester under the direction of Lou Feldman. Tickets for the black tie gala are $150 per couple.

Proceeds from the ball are given to Martin Memorial Hospital and are used for capital improvement and expansion.

Reservation and ticket information may be obtained by calling Dagne Jochem at 283-6001.

JEWA Card Party to Monday, Jan. 24

JENSEN BEACH–The public is invited to a Dessert-Card Party sponsored by the Jensen Beach Women's Association (JBWA) Monday, January 24.

The festivities will begin at 12 noon at the JBWA Clubhouse.

For reservations, call Catharine Nix at 334-8884.

To the Editor:

I am enclosing a copy of my letter to the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Sewall's Point. I would appreciate your publishing it because I think it deals with a subject of common concern to many residents of the Point. Thank you very much.

Yours truly,
s-Mrs. I. David Easton

The Board of Commissioners
Town Hall, Sewall's Point
Jensen Beach, Florida 33457

Gentlemen:

I am writing to ask if consideration might be given to amending Ordinance 85 to allow for temporary permits for visiting vans and campers.

Our younger son lives in Miami, where he teaches. He loves to hunt and fish and travel with his children and a teacher's salary does not allow for motels. So a van is a very practical (and his only) means of transportation.

At Christmas he came to visit us and, while we would have liked to put his van in our garage, it wasn't possible because of its height. Our police department was sympathetic and courteous and suggested that the van be left at the Town Hall. But, after the theft of our community Christmas tree, our son was reluctant to leave his van in a place as exposed as the Town Hall. The van finally had to be parked off the Point at friends' and our son driven to and fro.

Our neighbors, most of whom know our son, have assured us that their finer sensibilities could easily withstand the assault of seeing the van parked here for a weekend.

I am aware that aesthetic considerations are important in a community. But if, in a desire to be "exclusive", we impose restrictions that make it difficult for our children (or, for that matter, any friend who might own a van or camper) to visit us, then I respectfully suggest that we might reexamine our priorities.

I am sending a copy of this letter to the Jensen Beach Mirror with the thought that there might be other residents of Sewall's Point who share our concern.

With my thanks for your courtesy and consideration.

Yours very truly,
s- Elinor J. Easton

Road solutions move

The Department of Transportation began adding a storage lane to A-1-A last week, getting ready for expected traffic moving to and from the new Benihana Restaurant at Sewall's Point. It is just the first in what we see as a wave of traffic problem solutions to come.

The county has added the Commercial Street-South Savanna Road intersection to the priority list, and has already replaced that foul "No right turn on red" sign with one that gives traffic a chance to move when school is not in session. It was a welcome change to motorists who waited impatiently to move onto Commercial Street during the long red light.

Winter traffic is picking up, and more and more shoppers and businessmen age recognizing that there are some traffic tie-ups in the downtown area. Perhaps some thought might be given to directing more of the shopping motorists to the Ricou Blvd parking lots to relieve pressure on Commercial Street.

There is an obvious need for a flashing light at Palmer Road and Sewall's Point Road. The influx of students at Florida Institute of Technology has made that intersection a dangerous one, with motorcycles and autos (and occasional skateboarders) coming down the hill, lurching out into Sewall's Point Road in the face of oncoming traffic that can hardly be seen to the north.

The dangerous curve at Palmer Road and SR 707 needs some kind of redesigning, and possibly another flashing light.

We are sure the county will give all these problems some serious consideration as part of the road solution plan.

I'm not really that old

I was sitting in the coffee shop a few weeks ago when a friend introduced me to a senior visitor.

"Dick is the editor of our local newspaper," he said.

The little old lady squinted, looked closely at me, and frowned.

"I've been taking The Mirror up north for years. You certainly look a lot older than your picture."

I mumbled, "Yes, ma'am," and finished my coffee as quickly as possible.

"Charlie!" I yelled as I came back into the office. Cates turned up his hearing aid, and I told him to grab his camera.

"I need a bunch of head shots for the column."

"I'll do what I can, but the camera don't lie," was his retort.

We went outside and I stood up against the building. Charlie took a half-dozen pictures, and I had them developed and printed four.

I sure do look a lot older.

As somewhat poetic justice, I made up the editorial page last Tuesday on my birthday. As I waxed the picture and lard it on the layout page, I noticed that I was wearing glasses. I had forgotten about that. I wear glasses now, all the time. I need them to see with.

I also thought about the long hair in the photo, but discounted that. My present short hair is the result of telling a barber in Washington, D.C. two weeks ago that I wanted a "trim." It will grow back, honest.

I forget to get haircuts so regularly that I get them when I can, after some people start staring at me like maybe I need a leash, instead of a collar.

I don't really feel that old, although I do admit being more careful on the tennis court, bending my knees when I lift, and avoiding too much use of too many muscles.

"That's you. That's you. My wife was telling me the other day that your picture doesn't look like you. That's true," Jack Scott said as he looked over my shoulder at the layout sheet.

"Whaddaya mean, that's me?" I grumbled. "That's an old man. I may be an old man, but you don't have to insult me."

"Honestly," Jack said. "That is excellent. Now, as long as you have that as a change, I wanted to ask you about my picture. I've got one here that I think is much better."

"When was this taken?" I queried. "Uh, a couple years ago."

"Was is not you, Jack. There is no double chin."

"Well, maybe five or six years ago."

I turned away, relieved and feeling satisfaction.

"No, Jack. It just isn't you," I said smiling.

Consumer support needed

In my opinion, we as consumers are fortunate to have such a group who is willing to take on the challenge of a giant corporation.

Much credit is due this group, a group who has thus far footed all the expenses for the trips and calls to Tallahassee to confer with the PSC and the State Consumer Advocate in laying the ground work for the big struggle that lies ahead. Untold hours in research and study have gone into the project.

This is a consumer problem, and I would hope that individual consumers, clubs, organizations and civic groups will get behind them and offer the moral and financial help so desperately needed at this time.

Should Florida Power & Light be granted the $245 million increase in rates which they have applied for through the Public Service Commission, just what effect would this have on the vast number of consumers across the state?

Is there anything you and I, the consumers, can do to prevent, or at least reduce, the increase requested by the power firm?

According to Frank Zendzian, a financial analyst residing in Port St. Lucie, the consumer will indeed be affected should the increase be granted.

Zendzian, who has been analyzing the FP&L's voluminous application for well over a month, is in the process of preparing a detailed rebuttal for submission to the PSC on behalf of the representatives of three local home-owner associations and the Civic League.

According to his study, should the rate increase be granted, the monthly bills of the consumer would jump between 27 percent and 33 percent.

This will mean the consumer who now pays a monthly electric bill of $15 will be faced with a $20 bill, a $30 bill will leap to $40, from $60 to $80, and so on.

That will be the effect on the consumers in the 47 Florida counties serviced by FP&L.

FP&L has not stated in their application that they are losing money, but only that they are not making the approximate 9 percent return on their investment which the increase in rates would grant them.

What recourse does the consumer have against such a giant corporation?

While it is true the consumer is a captive of the power firm's monopoly, there is something that can be done to stop or at least hold the amount of that increase to a minimum.

The local representative group, this week incorporated under the name of Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., has authorized their financial expert Zendzian to move ahead in the preparation of his detailed rebuttal statement to be presented to the PSC prior to public hearings scheduled for March 8 in West Palm Beach.

Zendzian is no newcomer to this field. He recently presented the PSC with a rebuttal to General Development Utilities' application for a requested increase and was successful in his efforts. The increase was denied at that time.

What can the individual consumer do to help hold the line on FP&L's requested increase?

The answer is simple. The Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., needs the support of individual consumers, both morally and financially.

The cost of rebutting the FP&L request is estimated to be approximately $7,000.

It is not the intent to seek out large donations from consumers to support these costs. What the organization desperately needs are the $1, $2 and $3 donations to see their fight through.

Two fire funds

Citizens who like their insurance rates low, and the top flight fire protection offered locally, should support the fund drives of the Jensen Beach and Rio Volunteer Fire Departments.

There are two annual fund drives being carried on, one by Jensen Beach and the other by Rio. Both departments offer just about every service that would be needed when it comes to equipment and training.

The firemen quickly point out that every dollar donated goes into an account for the purchase and maintenance of equipment.

While we thank the firemen often for their brave and regular service, we know that it takes money to keep those trucks moving. We urge everyone to send a check to their local department.

Uncle Hubert's passing

UNCLES HUBERT is the subject this week. The youngest of my Mother's kin, he and I grew up more like brothers than nephew and uncle. In fact Uncle Hubert lived with us most of his younger life and was more or less a built in baby sitter for my folks.

Of course, this was in the 1920's and early 30's and I remember Uncle Hubert and I hopping a street car on Warren Avenue in Detroit and visiting the back rooms of barber shops where he would buy me a soda while he wagered a few bob with his bookie and studied the track odds. His admonition to the gentry that frequented the parlor was "watch your language, I got the kid with me."

THINGS WERE ROUGH in those days and Uncle Hubert did his stint on the WPA digging a ditch where one day, he turned a $20 gold piece over with his shovel. As far as he was concerned, the shovel could lean by itself and he took off for the nearest betting parlor to use other means to turn over a buck. However, despite the fact that Uncle Hubert could quote the lineage, odds and jockey on every horse in the country, somehow, the bookie always came out ahead.

FINALLY THINGS LOOSENED UP a bit and Uncle Hubert got a job at Chrysler's, driving the chassis of trucks off the assembly line to be outfitted at another branch. An orange crate served as the seat and as luck would have it, he drove one off the line and as he was crossing Jefferson Avenue, his foot hit the gas pedal, the crate he was sitting on fell backwards and both Uncle Hubert and the truck wound up caressing a light pole. Needless to say, that ended that career.

THEN CAME PEARL HARBOR and Uncle Hubert was two days under the limit of the age to be drafted, so naturally, he landed a "safe" spot as a half-track driver for Patton's 4th Armored Division.

I lost track of Uncle Hubert while he and I were doing our bit. I was attached to the 12th Army Group under General Bradley as a radio operator and cryptographer and one day, while looking at the huge situation map on the wall of the headquarters in Verdun, France, I spotted Uncle Hubert's outfit in Nancy, France. I managed to wangle a weekend pass and hopped a mail truck that was headed that way.

THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE was at its height at that time and Nancy, France, was a staging area for replacements for those whom the Boche had over run. Getting off the mail truck, it looked as though the entire United States Army had converged on Nancy. Some enterprising madamoiselles had set up shop in a factory loft and were busy plying their trade while the line of GI's stretched out about five blocks to partake of their favors.

I walked over to a jeep and asked a captain if he knew where Uncle Hubert's company was billeted. He said, "You mean old paddlefoot? Sure, hop in, I just happen to be heading there."

The jeep stopped in front of an ancient monastery and, so help me, the first person I spotted was Uncle Hubert ahead two blocks away, plodding through the mud and swinging his mess kit.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, it was a joyous reunion. After exchanging greetings, Uncle Hubert and I headed back into town to enjoy some of the local rot-gut that the French were passing off as brandy. As we left, a dump truck backed up and unloaded the week's laundry for his outfit. I asked Uncle Hubert if he was going to look for his in the mountainous pile and typically he said, "The hell with it, let everybody look for theirs and mine will be the only pile left." When we got back from town there was one sock with a hole left in it in the middle of the floor! That night, as we joshed the pale of straw to make our "bed" more comfortable, Uncle Hubert pulled out a stack of racing forms that stretched back about three years. He explained that he was preparing himself for civilian life and had to keep up with the performances and track odds.

"So far, I figure that I would be about five grand ahead with these mind bets and here I am with no bookie in sight."

WELL, I KIND OF lost track of Uncle Hubert until after the war. I got him a job at the Detroit Times in the mailing room, but he had frozen his feet in France, during the Bulge, and the Detroit winters were too much. He headed for Los Angeles to escape the severity of the weather.

WELL, I GOT THE NEWS a few weeks ago that Uncle Hubert had cashed in his last ticket.

UNCLE HUBERT would have been the last to figure out a reason why he got his name in the paper. Well, if gentleness, kindness and loyalty are still factors in this increasingly cynical world, then he deserves much more than this b..f mention.

As John Donne would have put it, "the world is just a bit lesser for the loss of this kindly human being".

contain the Tigers' All-American candidate, Walter Campbell. Robinson came through with a great effort, and combined with the 25-point game enjoyed by Cecil Bembry, the Cobras were just too much for Martin County.

The Tigers did maintain control of the crucial Suncoast Eastern Division game for two and a half quarters, but midway through the third stanza, the hometown Cobras made their move. Bembry and Robinson formed an unstoppable combination, as they scored all of FPC's 18 third quarter points.

But the Cobras, spurred on by an enthusiastic crow, needed more than an explosive third quarter to prevail in this titanic struggle. They had to fight off two last-second attempts by Martin County in the first overtime and at the conclusion of regulation time.

Tied at 59-59 after four periods, the teams headed into overtime in a cautious mood. Neither team wanted to make a crucial mistake, and neither did. Instead, they each scored four points, necessitating another extra period. Charlie Jones and Moses Johnson scored in the first overtime for the Tigers, while Robinson and Bembry hit for the Cobras.

The second overtime was marked by a quick Cobra explosion. After the teams exchanged buckets in the first minute of the three-minute quarter, FPC took command with four consecutive field goals Bembry got the first with another of his amazing 30-foot jump shots, then Alvin Miller scored on a breakaway layup after a MCHS miss. Robinson then scored the final two of his 18 points, hitting on a pair of free throws.

The coup de grace came 21 second later, when Miller converted a one-and-one situation after being fouled by McFadden. Ernest McIntyre's last-second basket was too little, too late for the Tigers, whose record dropped to 12-3.

Fort Pierce Central improved its mark to 7-2, including an impressive 5-1 record inside the Suncoast East, with the only loss coming to Martin County two weeks ago.

Junior records in tourney

JENSEN BEACH--Junior anglers had a busy week in the Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament, with four of them posting catches that lead in other divisions, as well as in junior competition.

Thirteen-year-old Bobby Wolfe's 88-pound sailfish is a new Junior Division record and a leader in the Unlimited category. Catches by three other fishermen under 15 years of age lead the 20-pound Division -- a 16-pound, 8-ounce bonito by Gary Pflueger, 14, of Miami; a 39-pound, 12-ounce grouper by Rick Killgore, 14, of Key Biscayne; and a 30-pound blackfin tuna by Brian Morrow of Jamestown, N.Y., who fished on Capt. Sarge Werner's Hawk, Islamorada.

Fishing in Key West with his father, Al Pflueger, Jr., Gary found two other Junior Division leaders -- a 43-pound amberjack and a 34-pound, 10-ounce kingfish.

Another oustanding Junior Division lead is a 6-pound, 8-ounce mackerel caught by Dick Pope III of Cypress Gardens, who is only six years old. He used 8-pound spinning line and an artificial lure, while fishing with Capt. Jack Brothers at Islamorada.

Capt. Ralph Delph of Key West, who twice won the Men's Master Angler Trophy before turning pro, guided his clients to five leads during the week. John Donnell of Fort Lauderdale used fly tackle to land a 53-pound, 12-ounce amberjack and a 21-pound, 8-ounce cobia.

Charles Yaunts of Miami took a 16-pound, 8-ounce jack in Spinning and a 56-pound, 8-ounce cobia in the 12-pound Division. Delph's fifth leader was a 6-pound snapper entered in the Spinning Division by R.H. Hill of Key West.

In the 6-Pound Division, the Met's lightest category, Ruth Stoky of Tavernier landed a 53-pound sailfish, fishing with Capt. Bob Stoky on the Fringe Benefits, and Alan B. Ludwig of Highland Park, Ill., bested a 10-pound bonefish on a trip with Capt. Roger Martin, Islamorada. 98th catches were within a couple of pounds of the all-time records.

An 84-pound wahoo -- one of the biggest from Florida waters in many months -- was entered at Bahia Mar Docks.

Martin County whips Forest Hill in 'warmup'

WEST PALM BEACH--It was little more than a warmup game for the eighth-ranked Martin County basketball Tigers Friday night, as they whipped the hapless Forest Hill Falcons 75-51 in a Suncoast Conference Eastern Division game.

The Tigers were looking ahead to the key matchup with North Shore, but still they wasted little time in disposing of the winless Falcons, who were not rated as a threat to the locaters' 3-game winning streak.

Oscar Delancy paced the Tigers with 18 points, and Charley Jones contributed 17 to the attack. Martin County led 33-22 at halftime, and put the game away in the third quarter, scoring 24 points to the Falcons' 12. From then on, it was the substitutes who did the Martin County scoring.

Martin County pushed its record to 12-1 at the time, while Forest Hill fell to a Suncoast Conference low of 0-9.

HOW THE BALL BOUNCED

Martin County (75) -- FG, FT-FTA, Fouls, Pts: Delancy 6, 2-2, 3, 18; Jones 8, 1-2, 0, 7; Johnson 5, 1-1, 7, 11; Campbell 5, 0-0, 1, 10; McFadden 2, 3-3, 1, 7; McKagen 2, 3-4, 1, 7; Bethel 3, 1-2, 1, 7; McInyre 1, 0-1, 2, 2; Raines 0, 0-0, 0, 0. Totals 32, 11-14, 10, 75.

Park has 'Fire Wagon'

JENSEN BEACH–Pinelake Village developer says his mobile home park on South Savanna Road has some features that other parks in the area don't have.

And Ransom Tilton is proud of his 550-gallon "fire wagon" with 150-foot hose and gasoline engine.

"We can get this wagon (behind a jeep) anywhere in the park in a hurry. We can knock down a small fire in a hurry," Tilton said.

Tilton, along with his sons, Randy and Ren, are developing the 100-acre park, and the second phase of the park is under way.

"We'll have 88 lots in the second phase," he said. The first phase contained 165 lots.

Another feature of the park that Tilton says is unusual for this area is a 3,000-watt generator that can be used for the sewer and water system in case of emergency.

A warehouse is now under construction for storage and workshop, and the park also has a fenced-in section for storage of boats and buses, and trailers owned by park residents.

The park contains a clubhouse, and Warner Creek, at the park entrance, has been landscaped.

Adjacent to the park is the Samaritans Ambulance House, and land for the structure was donated by Tilton.

WAGON'–Jensen Beach Realtor-Developer Ransom s shown with his 550-gallon "fire wagon" which he has Pinlake Village Park on South Savanna Road. The water wagon has 150 feet of hose and a gasoline engine, and Tilton says the wagon can "get to a fire in a hurry," pulled by a Jeep. Tilton and his wons, Randy and Ren, developed the mobile home park.

Here we are again. Just pay attention for a few minutes. It's either feast or famine. One week you drill a dry hole and the next a gusher.

If you haven't already seen it on the bulletin board, the one by the mail boxes, remember, here it is again. Don Mock, our secretary-treasurer of th. Florida Mobile Home Owners Association, would like everyone alredy enrolled to attend a meeting of the Association at the clubhouse on January 21 at 7 p.m. Bring along a non-member and have him signed up. You are not only asked to attend but to be punctual about it as it promises to be a quickie meeting lest it run into Card Night a half hour later. Heaven forbid that anything would interfere with cards. So please, try to make it before 7 p.m. and meet a few people you don't know.

Got it? Jan. 21 at 7 p.m.

Sale of tickets to our Valentine Day Party set for February 12 is in progress. This is warning number two. Better get your tickets now or for sure, you are going to be shut out. For the reason of space along, and the need for planning for eats and entertainment, this is necessary before the affair takes place. Try to make this a Pinelake Village thing as much as possible. The information on tickets is also on that same bulletin board. See the ticket agents already designated or ask Sharyon Tilton to brief you. I have bad eyes, too.

Under the "You may not know this" department, Gene Gray has graciously undertaken the job of writing a history of Pinelake for our residents and will probably put it into pamphlet form, Morocco bound with gold, embossed letters.

He wants anecdotes, pictures, bric-a-brac, artifacts, skeletons of alligators dug up when their unit was placed, records of incidents which happened since the early Spring of 1974. Remember our Bicentennial Parade? Any pictures of that? Our ducks? The clubhouse various stages of construction, and so on. Please contribute, eh?

Found out that there is another square dancing group in the park, under the calling direction of Woody Woodcock. An advanced-ds well as a beginners' class, Sunday night 6-8 p.m. and 8-10 p.m. Hope that is right.

Try to make the Open Air Osceola Street show on January 22 and 23 (Saturday and Sunday). Two Pinelake residents will be., exhibiting, Kate Ramsey and Bam Bruyn. Have a look.

For you newcomers, this is the old, downtown section of Stuart. Anyone will direct you, or driving south over the Roosevelt Bridge, take the first left on the south side, cross the railroad tracks, and you are there, baby.

Jim and Bam also had the Wisconsin Bruyns down from Silver Lake, Dave, Jessie and Davey. This item then goes on to say that little Davey is the most gorgeous grandchild in the world!

In writing this, we are about to unleash about fifty odd proud grandparents in Pinelake Village on the Bruyns. Want to take it back, or are you still prejudiced, Bam?

JOEL M. CRIDER

JENSEN BEACH–Joel M. Crider, 69, of 2094 N.E. Barbara Drive, passed away Thursday, January 13, at St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach.

A native of Illinois, he had been a resident here for three and a half years, coming from Wood Ridge, New Jersey.

Prior to his retirement, he was an iron worker employed by Local 483, Paterson, New Jersey.

He was a member of Eclipse Chapter Lodge, East Rutherford, N.J.; Royal Arch Lebanon Chapter, Lafayette Commandry, Rutherford, N.J.; Shrine of Livingston, Livingston, N.J.; and the Council of Ridgefield Park, Ridgefield Park, N.J.

Survivors include his wife, Georgina Crider of Jensen Beach; one daughter, Mrs. Shirley Anne Baker, Wood Ridge, N.J.; three sisters, and two grandchildren, Harry and Debbie Baker, Wood Ridge, N.J.

Services were held Saturday morning at the Aycock Funeral Home Chapel, Jensen Beach, with Reverend D. Clark Thompson, Trinity United Methodist Church, Jensen Beach, officiating. Burial followed in All Saints Cemetery.

JEWELL M. PATE

FORT PIERCE–Jewell M. Pate, 71, of 7005 So. Indian River Drive, passed away Sunday, January 16, at Martin Memorial Hospital.

A native of Glen Wood, Arkansas, he had been a resident here for 13 years, coming from Elizabeth City, North Carolina.

Prior to his retirement, he was a Captain with the U.S. Army. He was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church, Jensen Beach, and a member of the Retired Servicemen's Association.

Survivors include his wife, Anna Pate of Fort Pierce; three daughters, Mrs. Judy McRae, Hot Springs, Arkansas, Mrs. Billie Proctor of Virginia Beach, Virginia, and Mrs. Suzanne Reid, Belhaven, North Carolina; three brothers; one sister; and 10 grandchildren.

Services were conducted Tuesday morning at the Aycock Funeral Home Chapel, Jensen Beach, with the Reverend D. Clark Thompson, Trinity United Methodist Church, officiating.

Those who wish may contribute to the Trinity United Methodist Church Building Fund, Jensen Beach.

WALTER E. BRUNBECK

JENSEN BEACH–Mr. Walter E. Brunbeck, 73, of 3423 N.E. Palm Avenue, Jensen Beach, passed away Friday, January 14, at Stuart Convalescent Center.

A native of Yonkers, New York, he had lived here since 1966, coming from Lake Owasa, New Jersey.

Prior to his retirement, he was employed by the New York Bell Telephone Company for 50 years as an electrician.

He was a member of The Sons of Norway, Brooklyn, New York.

Survivors include his wife, Agnes Brunbeck of Jensen Beach; two daughters, Mrs. Florence Varall of Somerville, N.J., and Mrs. Grace Bauer, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania; two brothers, one sister, and five grandchildren.

Services were held Monday afternoon at the Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach, with Reverend Thomas Zehnder of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Stuart, officiating. Interment was in All Saints Cemetery, Jensen Beach.

CRYSTAL DIXIE SUMNER

JENSEN BEACH–Mrs. Crystal Dixie Sumner, 83, of 1 Lil Bit Lane, Ocean Breeze Park, passed away Monday, January 17, in Martin Memorial Hospital.

A native of Illinois, she had been a resident here for nine years, coming from Juno Beach, Florida.

She was the owner of Crystal Specialty Shop in Mt. Vernon, Illinois, and a member of the Second Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon.

Survivors include her husband, Johnnie Sumner of Ocean Breeze Park; one son, Robert Sumner, Mt. Vernon, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. Walter Olin of Boulder, Colorado, and Mrs. Wanda Cummings of St. Albert, Alberta, Canada; and six grandchildren.

Services will be held at the Hughey-Fuller Funeral Home, Mt. Vernon, Illinois, with burial in Memorial Gardens, Mt. Vernon.

Local arrangements are under the direction of Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach.

Firemen select new officials

JENSEN BEACH–Will Bowman, president of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, was elected assistant chief at the firemen's meeting last week.

Also elected to fire posts were Mike Quinn, deputy chief, and Nick Fiore, lieutenant. Both serve as fire commissioners.

NEWS FROM THE REC HALL

Mary Ellen Meacham finally got her wolves made and put up in the storage room. Lee Price obtained the materials for the, along with Bud Wirencke and Dan Morton, did a fine job of making and installing them. They also put up all the supplies, etc., on the shelves and incarcated all the unassitable junk in it.

It really is pretty and neat in there

Do you have your tickets for the Beer Bust on Saturday. This is not going to be a run-of-the-mill eat and run party. The entertainment that will follow is worth waiting for. To start out, happy hour will be from 4:30 to 5:30, and you can have beer of B.Y.O.B. Food at 5:30 to 6:30, and then the big, big excitement! With great effort and lots of planning, a world renowned, full of celebrities, famous Kitchen Marching Band will make its first, but we hope not last, appearance. They will play several numbers, including requests (we hope it won't be a request to cease and desist). After this wonderful concert, there will be group sing-along and later dancing to tapes. You can see this will be a memorable evening

Riverside Village

BY SALLY HOFFMAN

Just about everyone has arrived for the winter now. If not, they may have to hibernate until spring to get out of all the snow up north. We may be a little cooler than usual, but it's easier to slip a sweater on than shovel that white stuff.

Les and Marian Johnson of Clarkston, Michigan, returned on January 5 but, sorry to say, Les entered Martin Memorial Hospital as soon as he arrived, where he will have to rest for another week or so. We just know he will get along fine and this is the greatest place in the world to recuperate.

Agnes Fritz and Betty Frantz have been confined to their trailers with a virus. By the time this is in print, they will probably be all well again. They should know by now that you have to stay healthy because you never know when your northern friends and relatives will drop in to be entertained.

Last spring, Alma Grieselot purchased the French trailer on 4th Street and has just returned for the season.

Also, Delta Baker has just returned on 4th Street.

We have several new residents this year – Elnar Lystar of New Jersey on 4th; Steve and Marie Nawrocki of Petaskey, Michigan on 3rd; and Adelaide Wyatt of Rhode Island in a cottage.

Two of our residents have been moving into larger trailers right here in the park. Jim and Ann Baker have bought the DeHarges place, and John and Helen Githens the Pfanstiffs

I hope in the process of moving they have found lots of things for the White Elephant table at our Hobby Show.

Just a reminder – write it on your calendar – Hobby Show, Monday, February 7, from 1:00 p.m.

We will have hobbies to show and some to sell. Money made at the bake sale will be donated to the Jensen Beach Ambulance Fund. There will be White Elephants and free refreshments.

Our Hobby Club met on the tenth and discussed plans for the show. Dorothy Shapton and Fray Johnson were hostesses and served refreshments from a table centered with a basket of daisies.

Everyone thought it was time we went out to lunch again as a group. The Caboose is the place chosen and the date, Tuesday, January 25.

Since starting this column, the Githens have already sold their former trailer to Mr. and Mrs. Shinn of West Creek, New Jersey. The Githens are also from New Jersey but never knew the Shinns before. They just happened to drive through our park and noticed the "For Sale" sign.

William and Ann Hall of 5th Street returned New Year's week from New Jersey and, according to weather reports, left N.J. just at the right time.

"Did" Harden had company a week or so ago, her only nephew and his wife, Ray and Patricia Straub of Lexington, Mass. They were on their way to the Keys.

Carl and May Engevud's daughter, Ruth Ann Lasanle of Gladstone, N.J., is here for a visit.

The Bert Runnes had the Henry Johnsons, Virgils Robinsons and Marion Johnson in for cards Saturday evening.

The Ray Freebergs and "Biff" Hoffmans spent a pleasant evening at the Elks on Saturday night.

At our annual Association meeting held January 10, the following council members were elected: Keith and Dorothy Kraig; George and Betty Frantz; Ken and Irene Bigham; Helen Githens.

Irene will be president; Keith, vice president; and Helen, sec'y-treasurer.

No rain, no sleet, no 38 degree weather can keep our 8 o'clock lady shufflers from the court. They may have to put on their insulated long johns, several sweaters, quilted jackets, stocking hats and mittens, but they are faithful to the game.

The Githens had as their guest for the holidays Helen's sister, Alice Egan from Haddon Heights, N.J. They had dinner with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Egan, Jr., of North River Shores.

Mr and Mrs. Dan Harris of Kentucky were recent guests of his sister and husband, Mary and Wayne Morgan

Greenfield explains CAT to Auxilians

STUART–The Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary held its first meeting of the year January 3, with Dr. Drew Greenfield as guest speaker. Green-field's subject was "Total Body Scanning," giving in layman's terms an explanation of the CAT Scanner.

A total of 48 awards were presented with a 2,000-hour pin earned by Kay Ruppert, and a 1,000-hour pin to Irene Stephenson.

Five hundred hour pins were awarded to Edna Brown, Ned Cooper, Marion Daly, Verna Gibson, Beatrice Miller, Helen McGraw, Ethel Rulison, Lee Shurr, Allen B. Thomas and Florence Thomas

Earning 300-hour pins were Edith Beck, Mary Endlich, William Evans, Frances Parsons, Sue Satterlee and Elizabeth Schlobohm

Eighteen Auxilians reached 100-hour certificate level, including Ruth Burns, Barbara Caldwell, Neal Carlson, William Cisco, Virginia Doxanas, Maureen Driscoll, Betty Fowler, Helen Ganter, Alice Grey, Nella Lazzatto, Howard Peterson, Jr., Dorothy Petri, Dr. Hanford Petri, James Povall, Elizabeth Ruffner, Della Saffer, Enid Stark and Lloyd Smith.

The first award earned by a new Auxilian is the emblem worn on the uniform. This takes 50 volunteer hours and twelve were awarded: Margaret Black, Horace Cole, Barbara Danz, Dottie Feuerbach, Alice Gray, Barbara Greenberg, Karen Hnapf, Fannie Lawson, George Manahan, Jr., Kay Prinkey, Evelyn Priore, and Beruice Stiles

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN ALAN STEWART

Stewart, Bowers exchange vows

STUART–The poinsettia banked altar of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, was the setting for the December 21 marriage of Anne Kathryn Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George (Jerry) Bowers of Stuart, to Stephen Alan Stewart, son of Mrs. Jane Shannon of Drexel Hill, Pa., and Eugene Stewart of Havertown, Pa.

Reverend Gerald Morris conducted the double ring ceremony. David Richmond served as pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown, with long puffed sleeves, scoop neckline, a fitted bodice coming to a V at the natural waistline, and flared long skirt. Her veil was three-quarter length ivory marquisette with a satin bow.

Serving as bridesmaids were Patricia Bowers, sister of the bride, and Rosanna Parella of Stuart. They were attired in emerald green velvet gowns with long sleeves, scoop neckline, gathered at the waist with casing and drawstring. They each carried a single white rose.

Martin Bardish of Havertown, Pa., was the best man. Attendant and lector was Robert Bowers, and Robert and Thomas Rosers served as ushers, both brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bowers chose a long gown of apricot, with small bouquets of multi-colored flowers, scoop neckline, fitted bodice, gathered long skirt and full sleeves gathered below the elbow.

The mother of the groom wore a two piece aqua creation, accordion pleated skirt and rib knit top with long sleeves, scoop neckline and a rhinestone buckle on belt.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 918 Krueger Parkway, Stuart. Mrs. Joseph Cody served coffee, Miss Nena Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. John Rigby, punch.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shannon, Drexel Hill, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Matheny of Palatka; Joseph F. Case and Susan Blackburn, Melbourne Beach; Mr. and Area students on dean's list

JENSEN BEACH–Four area students at Stetson University were named to the dean's list for the fall quarter.

Robert Porter, 127 Linda Drive, and Duane L. Stemle, 49 Sewall's Point Road, both of Jensen Beach, L.F. Emmick, 212 Olive Ave. and Marty Armato, 180 Solez Ave., both of Port St. Lucie, were among the 129 upper classmen named to the dean's list.

Woman's Club sets social meetings

STUART–The Literary Group of the Woman's Club of Stuart will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday, January 20, at the Club House on East Ocean Boulevard.

Current best sellers to be reviewed are "Trinity" by Leon Uris, and "Liberty Tavern" by Thomas Fleming.

At 1 p.m. of the same day, bridge games will be played. Refreshments will be served and players need not have a partner.

These meetings are for members only.

Mrs. Frank Younger of Merrill, Iowa, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Neumers of La Mars, Iowa, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The newlyweds are at home in Gainesville, Florida, following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination.

Spring Valentine, Easter Bazaar

JENSEN BEACH–A Spring Valentine and Easter Bazaar will be conducted by the Women's Auxiliary of the Fishermen's Village Sable Club Saturday, January 29, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will be held in the Sable Club House on East Parkway, one block south of East Ocean Boulevard, Stuart.

Gifts suitable for Valentine Day, Easter and birthday remembrances will be featured. The "Used Treasures" table may have some interesting surprises. Home baked temptations will be ready to take home for Sunday dinner tables.

Hot Sloppy Joes, doughnuts and other good things will be served during the sale hours.

Plant fanciers will find a good variety from which to choose a new one for their collection.

Mrs. Clyde Hanson is president of the Auxiliary. Co-chairmen of the bazaar are Mrs. Maurice Pendleton and Mrs. Ben Van Caro.

Other chairmen are Mrs. Frank Griffin, bake sale; Mrs. Roy Clous, lunch; Mrs. Robert Toffy, used treasures; Mrs. William C. Ellis, plants.

The public is invited.

Charms choose performers

BY BETH MARTIN, REPORTER

At the Jan. 6 meeting of the Lucky Charms 4-H Club of Port St. Lucie, Vicki Ewing, talent chairman, announced the following results of try-outs on Dec. 16 for the club skit: Sonya Goins, narrator; Maggie Bigge, dreamer; Beth Martin, Cindy Wicker, Diane Wilson, Renee Hebert, Tammy Reeser and Vicki Ewing, dancers. Mrs. Kathryn Gibson served as judge.

The club will enter its skit in the County 4-H talent show at the St. Lucie County Fair on Feb. 17. Members were asked to serve on committees to prepare the skit. Renee will help Maggie with scenery; Tammy and Diane, costumes; Sonya and Kathi Ewing, props; Cindy and Susan Petris, make up. Kathi and Susan will also assist as stagehands and Beth will be in charge of music and choreography. Vicki is the director and she announced the schedule for practices.

During the business meeting, which was held at the home of Diane Wilson on Banyon Dr., the treasurer, Renee, announced that the PSL Homemakers Club have given a money gift to the club. The executive committee will plan a budget before the next meeting.

The council delegate, Maggie, reported that six members went caroling on Dec. 11. They were Beth, Cindy, Diane, Kathi, Maggie and Renee.

The following demonstrations were presented for the club program: "Cheese Experiment" by Renee; "Peanut Butter Kisses" by Beth; and "Mitzi's Tricks" by Diane.

Preceding the business meeting, members toured and dined at the Burger King in Stuart. They were accompanied by their leader, Barbara Martin.

The next meeting will be at the home of Cindy Wicker on Feb. 3.

VOL. 8 NO. 3, JANUARY 19, 1977

ESENTATIVES–Representatives of St. Lucie and County organizations were present at the Port St. Community Center Monday to discuss plans and listen esentation of the CFC on how the group proposes to the requested rate increase of Florida Power and Light Company. Among the groups represented were the AARP, CURE, St. Lucie County Republican Club, South County Democratic Club, and Spanish Lakes Homeowners' Association. PSC public hearings are scheduled to begin March 8 in West Palm Beach. The CFC will rebut the requested rate hike.

FPL rate opposition is set

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–As the deadline date for opposing the FP&L Company's requested $349 million increase closes in, representatives from three homeowner associations and the Civic League agreed Monday to go full steam ahead in preparing the detailed rebuttal.

Although the group, now incorporated under the name of The Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., (CFC) has been been confident since the beginning they would find the needed support, that confidence was boosted this week when approximately thirty residents and community leaders from the two county area appeared at the Monday meeting.

Those attending the session admitted they could not commit their respective organizations at that time, but indicated they were impressed favorably with what they learned. Each agreed to report back after the issue had been presented to their own groups.

Meanwhile, the CFC instructed their legal counsel, Attorney harold Shear, to proceed with the incorporation. The necessary papers were filed with Tallahassee by late afternoon.

The group's financial expert, Frank Zendzian, who will complete his research of the voluminous FP&L application and prepare the detailed rebuttal, also got the go ahead sign.

The cost of opposing the FP&L request has been estimated at $7,000, which will include the services of a stenographer, supplies, and anticipated trips to appear at PSC public hearings in West Palm Beach (four days per week for four weeks), incorporation costs and legal counsel.

Since the rebuttal must be submitted to the PSC prior to the March 8 public hearings, the three homeowner associations and the Civic League committed themselves to raise the first $1200 to get things rolling.

Zendzian estimates the preparation of the rebuttal will take approximately six weeks.

Bob Brunton of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association, who chairs the CFC, Inc., is confident local consumers will come across with the necessary financial support.

"We are not asking consumers for large donations. While this would be nice, of course, it is the $1, $2 and $3 donations that will provide the necessary support we will be needing," Brunton said.

Zendzian, earlier in the meeting, estimated that, should the FP&L $349 million increase be approved, it will increase consumers' monthly electric bills by approximately one-third. Those residents now paying an average bill of $30 per month will be forced to pay $40.

According to Brunton, donations may be made to the Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., in care of the Port St. Lucie Bank.

Phil Thibedeau, representing the South County Democratic Club at the Monday session, said that, although he could not commit his organization, he was confident members would be receptive after hearing the presentation.

"If we can stop this requested increase, or at least hold such increase to a minimum, through the efforts of this organization, I believe it will be well worth a $5 donation," Thibedeau said.

Savannas purchase believed near

MIKE REEB

PORT ST. LUCIE–Purchase of the environmentally endangered savannas by the state is expected, according to an official of the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Norman McMillan, land acquisition agent for DNR was at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce office for three days last week talking to the people who own land in the savannas.

"I had real good response," McMillan said. He said that he talked to about 50 people who own between 60 to 70 per cent of the land that is available.

"We have a good sizable commitment on the wetlands area," McMillan said.

The major landowner is General Development Corporation (GDC) which owns more than 800 acres to be sold. The sale is being conducted for the state by the Trust for Public Land, a private negotiating firm.

McMillan said no contracts have been signed with owners and that he needs an indication of approval or intent to sell from the landowners before making his recommendations.

There are more than 200 landowners in the vast wetlands that extend from Jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR 707A) north to Midway Road in St. Lucie County.

No price tag has been placed on the project which is one of several environmentally endangered areas in the state being considered for purchase by the state Cabinet.

State funds for purchase of the marshland will come from the $200 million in bonds which were approved by the voters in 1972.

Purchase of the savannas has been a long process, with preliminary negotiations with some of the large land owners starting in early 1975.

There have been public hearings about the savannas land purchase, surveys of the area, and a "Save the Savannas Committee" that was organized several years ago.

Purchase of the savannas is expected this year and McMillan said, "The next time I come down I want to bring some checks."

eeb qualifies for Council

RT ST. LUCIE–While it would ar that most prospective candidates holding off, Mike Reeb became the person to qualify for the march election.

Reeb, who filed his candidacy papers paid the $25 qualifying fee to City Donna Petzold late Tuesday will seek election to Council Ward 3.

ieving to Port St. Lucie 4½ years ago Dearborn, Michigan, Reeb has played an active role in the community and served on many committees voluntarily. He was a member of the Charter Revision Committee and also served as president of the Civic League, a position he recently resigned to qualify in the March election.

Reeb resides at 727 S.E. Calmoso Drive.

Councilman Bill McChesney, who has filed for the office of mayor, submitted his resignation for Council Seat Four.

Mrs. Ida Morgan addresses Lioness'

PORT ST. LUCIE–At a recent meeting of the Lioness Club of Port St Lucie, Mrs. Ida Morgan, Student Service Dept. of St. Lucie County Schools, was the speaker.

Her subject concerned some of the problems confronting parents and pupils. As a social service worker, Mrs. Morgan described her function as a link between home and school staff, various community agencies and their efforts to help pupils to overcome problems of health, irregular attendance, poor academic achievement, parental neglect, aggressiveness and shyness.

Conferences with parents, teachers, guidance counselors, psychologists and nurses set up preventive procedures aimed at helping as many students as possible.

The Student Service Department of the St. Lucie County Schools, serving an enrollment of more than 3,000 pupils, is comprised of one supervisor, five social workers, two school psychologists, 25 guidance counselors, eight health aids and one public health nurse.

To obtain these services and detailed information, parents are urged to contact: Pupil Personnel Service Department, 1109 Bolton Avenue, Fort Pierce, telephone, 464-0208.

Civic League will elect Friday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Seymour B. Fleming will preside at the Annual Meeting of the Port St. Lucie Civic League, taking the place of Mike Reeb, who submitted his resignation as president last week. Reeb will run for a City Council seat in the March election.

Seven directors will be elected to the board at the Friday, January 21, meeting at the Convention Center of Sandpiper Bay. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

A nominating committee will propose names and members are invited to make nominations from the floor.

Directors for three-year terms will replace Roy Hannum, Reeb, Bert McDonnell, Herb Tschudy and Jean Duscher.

Directors for one-year term will replace two resigned directors: Charles Hayde and Robert Clemens. Each term has one year remaining.

The League is inviting City Manager Elmer Cox to talk on the upcoming election. Members of the Planning and Zoning Board will speak on some of the significant projects now being studied by the P&Z Board.

Non-members are invited to attend along with league members. There will be an opportunity to join the League at that time.

Gee, I really don't mind it at all. In my hometown of Dayton, Ohio, it was 21 degrees last night.

MRS. JOHN BUTLER

Yacht Club will elect

PORT ST. LUCIE–The election of the 1977 officers will highlight the January 25 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club.

A large turnout is expected at the 8 p.m. meeting which will be held at the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

According to Commodore nelson Howery, unless there are nominations from the floor, it will be Art Coulon, commodore, E.R. Shaw, vice commodore, and J. Walker, secretary, who will take over the leading positions for 1977.

George Jacobi, Ernie Genawein, Bob Clemens, William Hoover, Frances Lee, Clarence Frazer, Bob Cousins and immediate past Commodore Nelson Howery will automatically become the 1977 directors.

Outgoing directors include Mike Reeb, Joe Cornwell, Fred Adler and George Lindberg.

The installation of new officers will be conducted in April at the annual Commodore's Ball.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting by hostesses Maxine Smith, Betty Hall and Johanna Howery.

I think it is cold and certainly not what I thought it would be here in Florida.

FELICIA HILL, TENN.

Lions plan Feedfest

PORT ST. LUCIE–Plans are now underway for the Flapjack Feedfest which is sponsored semi-annually by the Port St. Lucie Lions Club.

The event will be held at the Community Center (CESA) from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Sunday, February 6.

While tickets may be purchased at the door, advance tickets for the breakfast may be purchased at a considerable savings from any member of the club.

In conjunction with the Feedfest, the Glaucoma Screening Unit will be at the site for free examinations from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On February 2, the unit will be on location in Spanish Lakes and on February 8, it will be located in the Port St. Lucie Shopping Center. Free testing will be given at both locations from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Vets Bunko, Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Barracks 2936, Veterans of World War I, will hold its first 1977 Bunko Party Thursday, January 27, at the North Port Marina.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Six prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. A nominal fee will be charged.

The Bunko parties are open to the public. Membership in the organization is not a criterium for attendance.

Mardi Gras is success

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Friday Nite Gang staged one of its periodic Mardi Gras sessions last week. Some 25 special prizes were awarded to lucky players of the successful event.

The snooper reported one visitor: Sister Marie Agnese, from Kent, Ohio, visiting Philomena Loperfido and after a long absence. Amanda Tomlinson was on hand, visiting her daughter Mrs. David Shenandoah.

The evening's main prize was won by Marie Bent.

"It really isn't cold at all to me. When I got on the plane just one week ago in Marion, Va., I had to walk through snow.

VIRGINIA RIDDLE

SL Homeowners to elect officers

PORT ST. LUCIE–The election of 1977 ers and directors will highlight the nary 26 meeting of the Port St. Lucie ement Homeowners' Association.

eeting time is 7:30 p.m. at the Port Lucie Elementary School.

uest speaker for the evening will be mped Neighbors, chairman of the Planning and Zoning Board. bbers will speak to the group on the ng recommendations which will de for the development of the city, to hear as the proposed city hall, the partment and the overall ehensive development of the city ave discussed.

ficers to be elected include president, vice president, secretary and the directors of areas 1,2,3,7,8,11 and 13.

The nominating committee will present a slate of candidates but, according to President Vern Forrar, nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

PSL Presidents' Council will elect officers

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Presidents' Council of Port St. Lucie will hold its annual meeting at the Community Center Thursday, January 20, at 2 p.m.

A Nominating Committee, appointed by current President Cedric Bent, will report a slate of officers and the Council will elect officers for 1977.

The annual membership dues are now due and may be paid at the meeting.

The Homeowners' Association has been responsible for many improvements in the city over the past few years. The continued support of the residents is important.

Notices have been sent to all current members of the Council on record but, because many clubs have elected new officers, it is suggested that old heads advise their successors and have them attend.

VERSAL INTERSECTION++While city fathers ion situation, thru truck traffic in the City of Port St ns to be picking up at a study pace. Area residents ntersection of St. James and Airoso ewsplain of the damage to their yards as the huge tractor trailers try to maneuver the narrow intersection. Pictured above, a large delivery truck and a passenger car at the intersection would indicate the problems a tractor trailer might have in making the turn which will lead them down Bayshore Drive to the Port St. Lucie Turnpike Interchange.

NEW CENTURY 21 OFFICE OPENED IN WHITE CITY!

Mr. Dale W. Johnson has opened a new office at 371 Midway Rd. This location was chosen to serve Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie, and Fort Pierce.

Mr. Johnson came to Florida in January, 1969, from Kensington, Conn., where he had a successful Real Estate office for 18 years. He served as president of the New Britain, Conn. Board of Realtors in 1965 and as president of the Berlin, Conn., Lions Club in 1966.

Locally, Mr. Johnson built Kingman Acres Condominium in Stuart and served as president of the Stuart Lions Club in 1974. Currently he is president of the Treasure Coast Builders Association serving Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River counties.

The new CENTURY 21 office offers great opportunities for Real Estate Salesmen. If you are interested in this kind of work, call Mr. Johnson at 461-0464 or 546-4668 for details.

ETTY BROCHURE--The Village of Jensen Beach, a colorful brochure produced the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, is checked by pretty Diane Backer. e brochure, with color pictures and information about the area, is designed to tell a story of the Village of Jensen Beach to solicit out-of-state visitors, and will be rributed to northern agencies.

Chamber brochure promotes 'Village'

JENSEN BEACH--A colorful brochure has been prepared by the Tourism Committee of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, and will be used to solicit out-of-state visitors and will go to northern agencies.

The "Village of Jensen Beach" brochure has colored pictures, featuring many of the recreational facilities of tennis, golf, fishing, and, of course, a giant sea turtle, since the community is known as the "sea turtle capital of the world."

Chamber leaders point out that, while the brochures are not intended for local distribution, members of the chamber may pick up 10 copies at the chamber office.

The committee has been working toward increasing the number of visitors during the summer months, and is seeking the cooperation of travel and related organizations.

Three major promotions are planned by the chamber committee, including the June Turtle Festival, a circus in July to tie in with the Independence Day celebration, and a boat show and water sports activities in August.

Another promotion that is on the chamber drawing board is car bumper stickers, promoting the village.

In a letter to chamber members, it is pointed out:

"Somehow, we have always been aware of Rock City, Mammoth Caves, Lookout Mountain, and many other places. After seeing these names enough times, you decide to stop there. On leaving, you found yourself with a bumper sticker. That is how you hear about it."

If there is a satisfactory response from chamber members regarding purchase of bumper stickers, the chamber committee hopes to "flood the snowbird trail with Jensen Beach -- sea turtle capital of the world."

Jensen gets snow job

JENSEN BEACH--For the record, snow fell in Jensen Beach during the early morning hours of Wednesday, Jan. 19, 1977. Snow flurries were reported between 5 and 7 a.m. for the first time anyone in the area can remember.

Snow flurries were reported through out Florida, all the way to Miami.

It was the biggest news of the year, and many residents reacted the same way -- "I don't believe it."

The snow story was such big news that thousands of people got on the telephone to spread the news, and before many Jensen Beach residents could get their calls through to relatives and friends up north, they heard Southen Bell recording telling you that because of a heavy volume of calls, yours didn't go through.

Not only did it snow Wednesday morning, which is a record for the area -- there were record smashing cold temperatures reported.

Many area residents, taking a look at their thermometers during the early morning hours, reported temperatures in the 20's, and all sorts of ice formations.

Because of record demands on electricity, Jensen Beach residents reported power outages during the week, and both West Palm Beach Television stations went off the air Wednesday because of a power failure at a transmission site.

Martin County Schools were closed Thursday and Friday of last week, and School Superintendent James Navitsky said the closing of schools was the first time that schools were shut down because of cold weather.

Navitsky said the reverse-cycle air conditioners in some schools couldn't keep up with the cold weather.

After a bitter cold week, and snow, and warming trend set in the first of the week.

After a week of mid-20 temperatures, a warming trend of mid-50's is a good start.

DRI fees talked

Price heads regional council

JENSEN BEACH-The Treasure Coast gional Planning Council elected 1977 ers at the Jan. 21 meeting, picking Lucie County Commissioner George re as chairman.

alm Beach County Commissioner l Medlen was elected vice president Tom Higgins, Martin County mmission, was named treasurer.

d the monthly session of the r-county council -- Indian River, St. e, Martin and Palm Beach -- a fee rum for review of various types of jects was discussed.

iggins was critical of the fee edule proposed by Sam Shannon, rative director. He said that he didn't k developers should pay for staff ew of documents of regional impact h considered by the council.

DRI is a project such as an airport, pital or housing project proposal that nsidered by state guidelines to have ional impact. All DRIs must go ore the Regional Planning Council for iew before they are considered by the al government.

mmon said DRIs coming before e regional planning councils in the e cost between $2,000 and $20,000 for peration of their applications.

Higgins said he believes $2,000 is too much to charge a developer building a 500-unit housing project, but Medlen pointed out that it only works out to $4 a house, which isn't too high a price to pass on to the consumer.

Martin County Commissioner William Myers suggested that the council consider not charging developers for the council's first year in operation until it can be worked out what it costs to handle a DRI.

Whether a proposed housing project is a DRI depends on the population of a county, according to Shannon. In Martin and Indian River Counties, anything over 500 units is a DRI, in St. Lucie County the figure is 750 units. Palm Beach County, the largest county in the council, the DRI is 2,000 units.

The council members also discussed a coastal zone management plan, and voted to authorize Shannon to begin negotiations with the state Bureau of Coastal Zone Planning for a planning contract to become effective in April.

Shannon will begin to pick members of a citizens advisory committee. The state funds of $12,500 will be available to the council as of April 1 for the coastal studies.

FUND CHAIRMAN--Mrs. Arline L. Signore, president of A.L.S. Builders, Inc., Stuart, and first vice president of the Treasure Coast Builders Association for Tri-County (Martin County, St. Lucie and Indian River), has been named chairman for the Martin County Committee of the Indian River Community College's first annual Fund Drive. College president Herman Heise, shown with Mrs. Signore, said the drive goal is $300,000.

Resources board meets to elect Friday at F.I.T.

STUART--The Martin County Resources Development Board will hold a dutch-treat luncheon Friday at noon at the auditorium of Florida Institute of Technology in Jensen Beach, according to Gene Van Curen, temporary chairman.

The buffet luncheon is open to "all persons interested in helping to rejuvenate our industry-seeking board," Van Curen said. The charge will be $3 per person.

Two committees named by Van Curen at a meeting on January 5 will report on a proposed new name for the group, a slate of officers, a proposed budget and plans for operations in the year ahead.

Persons interested in attending the meeting can make reservations for the luncheon by calling Mrs. Vivian Brown at 334-4200 before noon on Thursday.

'Fiddler' opens February 4

JENSEN BEACH--One of the best and most beloved musicals of all times opens at the Barn Theatre in Stuart Friday, February 4. "Fiddler on the Roof," with performances scheduled through out February.

"Fiddler" is romantic, funny, with glorious music. Bernie Selkin plays Tevye with all the verve, feeling and professionalism of Zero Mostel, the original Tevye. His performance of "If I Were a Rich Man" is outstanding.

Professionalism is the sinecure of The Barn. All of the Martin County Players are amateurs, although some have acted in the professional theatre, and still others have had extensive experience in community theatre. The resulting high quality of sets, costuming and acting are often mentioned by newcomers to The Barn Theatre.

Wayne Wells, "Fiddler's" musical director, has assembled a full orchestra with the mellow sounds of strings, clarinets, a bassoon and a French horn. John Fulton is the show pianist.

He has participated in several barn shows since his return, including "Dracula", "South Pacific", "Carousel", and "Bye, Bye, Birdie."

For an exciting evening, beautiful music, superb performances, plan to see "Fiddler on the Roof." Call 287-0676 for information and-or reservations.

"Fiddler" will run every Friday and Saturday in February as well as the two middle Sundays. Curtain time is 8:30.

Dr. Myers is council speaker

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County Commissioner William Myers will address the quarterly meeting of the Martin County Council on Aging at 1:30 p.m. January 27 at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Haas goal wins title for Angelo's

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH--Pete Hass' goal n five minutes remaining in Angelo's son gave them a miracle 4-2 win over Lions Club in late soccer action oday night.

he goal did not win the game for gelo's, because with a 3-2 edge, they eady were in the driver's seat, but it give them something much more portant -- the Upper Division mpionship, and the favored position he season-ending tournament behind d this week.

by Brock had three goals - a "hat k" - in the game, which Angelo's had to win by two goals or more in order to gain the title.

Things looked bleak for them after Chuck Arreni got the Lions out to a quick 1-0 advantage.

John Haas, Pete's brother, scored after 25 minutes of the first half, but saw Manuel Maldonado tie it up after five minutes of the second half. The teams played 20 minutes of overtime, but nobody could manage a score. This was due to the sensational performance turned in by Angelo's goalie David Pearl and Rick Carroll shot-stopper "Tim Ouellette.

Finally, in a one-on-one penalty shot contest, Kenny Hughes scored for Angelo's, kicking it past Ouellette. Pearl had stopped Rick Carroll's tiebreaker attempt, so Angelo's was given the 2-1 nod. This eliminates Rick Carroll from the Lower Division tournament, which now features Lord's Texaco, Kiwanis, and Angelo's. The only team with a loss if Angelo's. That came last week in a 3-0 game against Kiwanis.

Action continues through Friday at Langford Park.

A social hour will precede the banquet.

Jensen students on dean's list

JENSEN BEACH--Two Jensen Beach students were among the approximately 2,500 Florida State University students on the dean's list in the fall quarter.

Listed among the honor students are David Duffy and Jane Lopilato.

NOT TO NAG YOU, but Bob McKinley, chairman of the Jensen Beach Lions Club annual fertilizer sale, is getting in a plug by going directly to the source. The sale will be held Saturday and Sunday, March 5 and 6, at Langford Park in Jensen Beach. Orders prior to sale dates may be placed with any member of the Lions Club. Posing prettily with McKinley is Toni Coffing, daughter of John Coffing, owner of the Broken Wheel Live Stock Hauling Co., who graciously cooperated in this reminder.

OPEN HOUSE ANNOUNCEMENT—Jay Jarrett, director of the Environmental Studies Center, is shown with an information sheet about the center's open house this Sunday, Jan. 30, from 1 to 4 p.m. "Many people have expressed an interest in the center, but are unable to visit the center during the school week, and the open house Sunday afternoon should solve the problem," Jarrett said. Open houses are scheduled for the last Sunday afternoon of each month.

EMT Course is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH—Applications for Advanced Emergency Medical Technician Training (EMT-II) are now being accepted at Indian River Community College for a special registration class. This course is open to all EMT-I's with a current certificate and who have had at least six month's experience in emergency medical service during the past year. All EMT's who are interested should contact the Municipal Services Division as soon as possible at 464-2000, extension 446

A special registration will be held January 31 at 7 p.m. in Room J-134. Classes will be held each Monday and Wednesday evening from 7 until 10 p.m. The course will end on May 18.

The advanced emergency medical technician training programs have been underway for one at Indian River Community College. Three student classes have complete the EMT-201 course and one class has completed the EMT-202 clinical course. The need for this advanced training is recognized throughout the country and the State of Florida has been active in encouraging community colleges to make this advanced training available.

Many ambulances, both municipal and volunteer, are now being equipped with telemetry to transmit ECG's via radio waves to the hospital Students are instructed through classroom and hospital experience to interpret ECG's and to provide advanced life support assistance on the field.

North-south winners were Elmer and Gladys Nordstrom, 178½; Bill Pruim and Mike Dryer, 168; Elwood Spickard and George Heath, 155½; Vicky and Al Richard, 148; Bill Martin and Sam Cedrun, 148.

East-west winners were Oscar and Dot Ehrehhaft, 163½; Joe and Lorraine Woodward, 153; Betty and Al Dinger, 153; Sonia and Ben Libson, 140; Bebe Emerson and Fran Wilson, 138.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday at the Youth Center. Roger White is director and a partner is guaranteed

Police Cadet open house is planned

STUART—The Stuart Police Cadets, Explorer Post 878, will hold an open house featuring the Stuart Police Cadet program, Thursday, January 27, at 7 p.m. at the Stuart Police Department headquarters — East 7th Street in Stuart.

The Stuart Police Cadets are an active high school age youth organization sponsored by the Stuart Police Department. The group is dedicated to service to the Police Department and the community, in addition to encouraging careers in law enforcement, as shown by such activities as its Commercial Information and Help Stop Crime programs held in conj-

WE'RE PUTTING A NEW BANK IN JENSEN BEACH
(That's 44 years old).

When we got started in the banking business back in 1933, many of our customers were from Jensen Beach. Now, 44 years later, thanks to a new Florida law, we will be able to better serve our many customers in Jensen Beach with our new Jensen Beach Branch on Commercial Street.

Although, we're Martin County's oldest and largest financial institution, we still believe in personal and professional service to our customers. Watch for our grand opening in January. If you're not now a customer, please drop by to check out the First National difference.

This week nothing more will be said about the unmentionable weather, period. However, it does seem as though the "word" had gotten around, as only four snow birds blew in this week on that invigorating northeast wind. They were Sophia Thompson, Kenneth and Kathleen Cooley, and Martha Miller.

PARK EVENTS

NOVELTY SQUARE DANCE of Tuesday, January 18, turned out to be a lot of fun, although the weather reduced the attendance to three sets. Ernie Curwen was M.C. and asked the dancers what tunes they wanted to dance to for each "rip."

CAMERA CLUB had to be cancelled last week as that "unmentionable" weather caused all sorts of problems, but Nellie Schnabach's Alaska slides will be shown at a later date. This Thursday, Jan. 27, Paul Felton gives "Iceland, the Land of Contrast."

SHUFFLEBOARD folks had lots of cancellations because of the weather, but Mike Schramm and Veronica Snyder were 4-game winners of the Sunday, Jan. 16, Round Robin. All league games were cancelled to be rescheduled at some convenient time. Watch the bulletin board. Remember, club meeting, Clement Hall, 8 a.m. Monday, Feb. 7.

SOCIAL DANCING at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 21, wasn't the least bit curtailed by the weather as so many showed up that instructor, Mrs. Estelle Bastin, is trying to arrange for a split class in the future: half from 1 to 3 p.m., and the other half from 3 to 5; and, believe it or not, a preference division came out about even. The dancers reviewed Alley Cat, Hustle, Fox Trot, and learned a German Waltz and how to dance sitting down. Fun for all, and now, room for more.

BINGO was cancelled, and when bingo is cancelled by weather, that must be some kind of a record.

TAG AND BAKE SALE

The Tag and Bake Sale was off with a hustle and bustle when the doors opened on the dot of 1 p.m. Everyone jostled his way to the table of his choice, while the clerks tended them off as they could answer questions and make change.

There were the following tables: bake and cake, books, clothes, jewelry, miscellaneous, knick nacks, hand bags, linens, drapery, shoes, men's dept., household goods, furniture, rugs, appliances and electrical.

Then, on display were grocery basket of afgan, poncho and shawl that were raffled off.

This event had the complete park cooperation and there were so many involved that, if all names can't be mentioned, it is best to mention none. That it was a huge success there can be no doubt, even greater than last year, when $2400 was raised for the Jensen Area Ambulance Fund.

CARD SCORES

Duplicate Bridge, Jan. 17: Winners, in order listed, were Don & Iva Crum; E Henderson and J.Ebenger; V.Wells and M.Dryer.

Duplicate Bridge, Jan. 22: N-S, T.Cadwell and C.Teal; M.Estin and R.Henderson; G.Whitehead and C.Mitchell; E-W, G.Wickes and B.Tourville; E.Henderson and G.Gilbert; L.Mayer and J.Ebenger.

Contract Bridge, Jan. 18: Mildred Skinner, Mike Dryer, Jay Ebenger.

FIVE HUNDRED, Jan. 18: Sarge Broughton, John Gartner, Frank Geerinckx, Warner Johnson, Bobbie Tucker.

PINOCHLE, Jan. 17: Mildred McPherson, Ruth Troger, Ralph Ortt, Sue Johnson, Evelyn Hillman.

Pinochle, Jan. 20: Harvey Hill, Raleigh McKibben, Mildred McPherson, Pete Hillman, John Gartner.

Pinochle, Jan. 23: Thelma Cuddy, C. Wiedemann, Evelyn Hillman, Betty MacNab, Clare Pfingsten.

AMBULANCE, HOSPITAL, ETC.

Donations to the Ambulance Fund were made by Mrs. Siene Stultz in memory of Sylvia Sanborn and by Johnnie Sumner in memory of Crystal Sumner.

Wilder Weeks of 25 NW Cross is in Martin Memorial Hospital, but Nena Moore of 15 NW Almond is back home.

Eva Donaldson of 34 NW Pepper passed away Sunday, Jan. 23, in Martin Memorial.

Crystal Sumner, 63, of 1 Lil Bit Lane was taken to hospital Monday, Jan. 17, and passed away that night.

There is a new Pink Lady in the park: Mrs. Bernie Taylor of So. 7th St. She will be on physical therapy duty 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. every Monday, assisting patients to x-ray and therapy. Bernie is a Pink Lady in Northampton, Mass., in the summer, so is well qualified. However, she does have a problem squeezing out enough time for her favorite avocations: square dancing. Good luck, Bernie.

RAMBLING AROUND

James and Nina Ziegelhofer of South Sixth have been entertaining their son Harold Roudebush and his wife Ruth for the past week. They are from Worcester, Ohio, where it was 11 below and a foot of snow when they left, but still feel that they must have picked the worst week of the year for their vacation in Florida. However, they did get to Key West, where they found folks laying out on the piers with little clothing, also the waters were fine for "shelling." They say one of the drawbacks in a Florida vacation is eventually they have to return to the bitter cold and snow.

Aldrich and Neva Forest of 29 So. 7th find they like it here, thanks to Barney Chase. They are both from around Pensacola, N.Y. Aldrich is a Master Music Man, and teacher, taught music in the public schools, plays all sorts of instruments: sax, clarinet, organ, harmonica, etc., and he is loaded with sheet music for all occasions.

Maybe he and Dick Aumiller and others can get together for a music "combo" for AARP or OBP events. Neva worked for the state and was asst. librarian in the schools, so they'll both have much to contribute to the park entertainment and activities.

Treva Kane of N. Sixth is visiting Val Wells (her sister) for a few days after spending the early winter up near Springfield, Ohio, visiting all her grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Next, Treva is off to Cape Coral to stay with her son and family for the rest of the winter. We'll be glad to have Treva back here with us by mid-spring.

Leta Keith reports that Fritz and Bunnie Springman have a new motorhome and they are spending more time in it listening to its superb stereo than in their mobile home. Fritz often has long weekends, so now they'll be able to take off at the drop of a bet and go places around the state. Soon they may have some stories to tell.

ST SPEAKER–Mrs. William Strout of Port St. Lucie, a nationally accredited er show judge and a member of the Capron Trail Circle, was the speaker e monthly Rio Lindo Garden Club meeting Monday. Speaking on the care of s, Mrs. Strout also provided an elaborate display. Pictured with the guest ker is Mrs. Mahlon Cline, left, club president.

Precinct changes are slated

JENSEN BEACH–Some redrawing of precinct lines were pointed out Tuesday by Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph.

"There are going to be some minor adjustments," Mrs. Randolph said.

One possible new precinct is in the north county area, according to Mrs. Randolph. She said the boundary of a possible new precinct would be U.S. 1 on the west, jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR 707-A)on the north, South Savanna Road (SR 723) on the east, and St. Lucie River to Roosevelt Bridge on the south.

"This is a growing area," Mrs. Randolph said. "There is going to have be some give and take by the commissioners."

Some of the "give and take" she referred to would be between Commissioners Tom Higgins' district and Maggy Hurchalla's district near the County Airport area; and between Commissioners William Myers and John Holt.

State law requires the supervisors to redraw precinct lines, and the plan is supposed to be in Tallahassee by March 1.

The law is intended to impose some uniformity among election districts in counties and to make reapportionment easier in 1981.

The law also requires the county to redraw the precincts so they are bounded by identifiable physical features, such as roads, rivers or railroad tracks.

Because of these requirements, Mrs. Randolph pointed out that some of the precincts will have to be adjusted.

Also, she points out that no precinct can be in more than one commission district.

SPORTS FIGURES–Charles Edgette, of Port St. Lucie, is shown with some of his paintings of sports personalities that he exhibited at last weekend's Osceola Street Art Festival.

ART FESTIVAL–The annual Osceola Street Art Festival had paintings in all media, including portrait works, wood and metal sculpture, leather work, jewelry, stained glass and the work of area and out-of-state artists was enjoyed by the several hundreds of persons who strolled Osceola Street the past weekend.

Computer firm halts program

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Property Appraiser's contract with Boeing Computer Services for programming and maintenance of the minicomputer apparently will be terminated in the next 90 days.

Boeing notified Property Appraiser Augie Malfregeot and Tax Collector Alvin Andrews of its decision to end the contract.

Malfregeot said he is looking around for another firm to take over the programming and other software services. He said he plans to review the entire computer situation in his office.

Belle wins with Gang

PORT ST. LUCIE–Belle Kaiser took home the main prize at the Friday Nite Gang session last week.

The Gang Snooper came up with the report that Mr. and Mrs. George Sweebe were celebrating their 45th wedding anniversary. They were properly saluted by the Gang.

The Gang Host served coffee during the break because of the cold weather, and was delighted when Mrs. Bill Stratton called and said she was bringing in a cake for the Gang's enjoyment.

The next Gang session is this Friday, Jan. 28, when refreshments will be served, celebrating the birthday of Thelma Weigel - 39. The refreshments will be provided by Marie Benz and Frances Bernota and Fran Lee.

A pleasant evening can be spent with the Gang every Friday night at the North Port Marina, beginning promptly at 7:30 p.m. All it costs is groceries valued at 75 cents. The Gang invites y'all to "come out, look us over, and have some fun!"

No pruning until March, gardening expert warns

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members of the Rio Lindo Garden Club were given a word of warning about the dangers of pruning freeze damaged plants too soon.

Mrs. William Strout of Port St. Lucie, a nationally accredited flower show judge and a member of the Capron Trail Circle of Fort Pierce, urged club members to postpone any pruning of plants that suffered freeze damage until after March 1.

"By leaving the plants intact, this would help to prevent further damage should another freeze occur between now and early March," Mrs. Strout told her listeners.

Mrs. Strout gave an informative program on the care of house plants and outside plantings including trees. She also provided an elaborate display and lectured on the care of plants from cactus to orchids for the group at their regular monthly meeting held Monday.

The Junior Garden Program is sponsored by the Rio Lindo Garden Club for students at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School will begin this week under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Howell. Distrust 10, and Mrs. Leon Hett of the local club.

According to a club spokesman, Mrs. Dora Edwards, a garden club book will be placed in the garden club library in memory of the late Kathryn Hoover.

In other activities, Mrs. Leon Hett and Mrs. Betty Cline will chair the club's Spring Festival Garden Club booth at the Port St. Lucie Community Center on March 5.

It was also noted that Mrs. Paul Wilkins will chair the club's Annual Horticulture Show scheduled to take place April 30. Mrs. Wilkins informed members their specimen should be in the entrants position for at least three months prior to the show.

Hostesses for the Monday meeting were Mrs. Leon Hett, who was assisted by Mary Scott, Vivian Mingue and Thelma Quick. Mrs. Mahlon Cline, president, presided over the business meeting.

Fishing outer waters is topic for Anglers

PORT ST. LUCIE–The techniques and successful practices of fishing in the outer waters will be the topic discussed at the next regular meeting of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club.

Bob Peters of Stuart, an expert on how and where to fish in the outer waters, has been engaged as the guest speaker for the evening. His informative lecture will include reef fishing, trolling for kings, sailfish, dolph and bottom fishing for snapper and grouper.

The group will meet Tuesday, February 1, at the North Port Marina on Prima Vista Blvd. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

The next big club event will be all day fishing for specs in Lake Okeechobee scheduled for February 10. Clyde Blunt is in charge of the all day fishing venture. For additional information, he may be reached by calling 878-1411.

CFC solicits contributions

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., (CFC), a representative group organized for the purpose of opposing the requested rate hike of Florida Power & Light Company, agreed Monday to solicit contributions by mail.

The letter, drafted and approved by the CFC board, will be mailed to consumers in St. Lucie and Martin Counties within the week if all goes according to plan. It has been pointed out in the letter that any contribution made will automatically entitle the contributor to be a member of the coalition.

The estimated cost of rebutting the FPL rate hike request is $7,000. This will include the services of a stenographer, supplies, incorporation fees, legal counsel, and the anticipated trips to appear at the Public Service Commission public hearings in West Palm Beach (four days a week for four weeks).

The public hearings are scheduled to get under way March 8.

The letter states the requested $346 million increase as requested would result in an approximate 33 per cent increase in the monthly bills of residential consumers.

"We feel a grass roots organization of concerned consumers should participate in the PSC hearings. Last year several members of our organization were active in defeating a rate increase requested by General Development Utilities in Port St. Lucie. We have enlisted the services of Frank Zendzian, who prepared the rebuttal which successfully blocked that increase, to prepare a brief in connection with the request by FPL," the letter noted.

The group also pointed out in the letter the effect the requested increase would have on the monthly bills and asked that consumers make a reasonable contribution based on that difference.

At the meeting, $104 was turned in by the local AARP representative, bringing the total of the CFC account at the Port St. Lucie Bank to $179.

Also prior to the start of Monday's meeting at the Port St. Lucie Community Center, the directors of the coalition selected Bob Brunton as president, Vernon Forrar as vice president, J. Richard Werges as treasurer, and Seymour Fleming as secretary.

These officers will serve in that capacity until the CFC holds its next meeting slated for February 7. At that time officers will be elected to serve a one year term.

ON–Mrs. Valerie Prime, a representative of the CURE organization and M. Lindsley, vice president of the Spanish Lakes Homeowners' Association ent the planned opposition to FPL's request for a $346 million increase following ting of the Coalition of Florida Consumers Inc., conducted Monday at the Port Lucie Community Center.

Girl Scout cookie sale begins on Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale of the Palm Glades Girl Scout Council will get under way Thursday, January 27.

Forty-two Junior Scouts from Troops 219 and 36 in Port St. Lucie will canvass the area starting Thursday to sell seven varieties of cookies. The sale will continue through February 6.

Since the troops keep part of the profit on every box of cookies sold, residents are urged to support the local troops with their purchases.

According to Mrs. Butch Post, scout leader for Troop 219, the girls will also man booths throughout the area shopping centers during the eleven day period.

Proceeds from the sale make special program activities available on the troop level.

Anyone wishing to order cookies by phone may do so by calling either of the two local leaders, Mrs. Butch Post at 878-3279 or Mrs. Patti Charest at 878-0975.

he recommendation that the City ld establish its own police tment was repeated by John ckarek, of the Planning and Zoning rd, who along with Tony Jarose-wicz, carried on the board's studies of the police matter.

Huncharek stated that a 10-man department could be set up for about the same amount of money the City now spends on a protective force of Sheriff's deputies assigned to the City. He suggested that all citizens ask themselves these two questions:

1. How much protection citizens want.

2. How much citizens are willing to pay for it.

He explained that the police force recommended would be essentially a patrol force operating as a deterrent to petty crime, that the obligation of the Sheriff's forces to provide protection, and particularly to pursue crime catalogued as felonious, would still be present.

"We are paying for the Sheriff's department through out county taxes," he said, "and we have every right to expect to continue to use the department's services."

Ray Neighbors, chairman of the P&Z Board, outlined the projects of the board during the past year, and presented the board's list of basic rules governing its planning and procedures.

DRI fees talked

Price heads regional council

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council elected 1977 officers at the Jan. 21 meeting, picking St. Lucie County Commissioner George Price as chairman.

Palm Beach County Commissioner Bill Medlen was elected vice chairman and Tom Higgins, Martin County Commission Chairman, was named treasurer.

At the monthly session of the four-county council – Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin and Palm Beach – a fee system for review of various types of projects was discussed.

Higgins was critical of the fee schedule proposed by Sam Shannon, executive director. He said that he didn't think developers should pay for staff review of developments of regional impact (DRI) considered by the council.

A DRI is a project such as an airport, hospital or housing project proposal that is considered by state guidelines to have regional impact. All DRIs must go before the Regional Planning Council for review before they are considered by the local government.

Shannon said DRIs coming before other regional planning councils in the state cost between $2,000 and $20,000 for preparation of their applications.

Higgins said he believes $2,000 is too much to charge a developer building a 500-unit housing project, but Medlen pointed out that it only works out to $4 a house which isn't too high a price to pass on to the consumer.

Martin County Commissioner William Myers suggested that the council consider not charging developers for the council's first year in operation until it can be worked out what it costs to handle a DRI.

Whether a proposed housing project is a DRI depends on the population of a county, according to Shanoffoo. In Martin and Indian River Counties, anything over 500 units is a DRI. In St. Lucie County, the figure is 750 units. And in Palm Beach County, the largest county in the council, the DRI is 2,000 units.

The council members also discussed a coastal zone management plan and voted to authorize Shannon to begin negotiations with the state Bureau of Coastal Zone Planning for a planning contract to become effective in April.

Shannon will begin to pick members of a citizens advisory committee. The state funds of $12,500 will be available to the council as of April 1 for the coastal studies.

Local Lions will host cabinet meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE–Certain to be a red letter day for the local Lions Club will be January 30 when the Port St. Lucie Lions Club will host the third quarter Cabinet meeting.

The event will be held at the National Guard Armory, 28th and Delaware Avenue in Fort Pierce.

Starting the day off from 9:30 til 11 a.m. there will be an eye bank meeting. Guest speaker will be Dr. Durbin of the Bascom Palmer Eye Institute at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami. Dr. Curtin will show slides regarding various eye problems and will discuss the eye bank in general.

A lunch consisting of roast beef, mashed potatoes, gravy, vegetable, coffee or iced tea and dessert will be served between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. for a minimal cost of $4.50.

The cabinet meeting will get under way at 1:30 p.m. with welcoming addresses to be given by Port St. Lucie Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and Mayor Buell Brown of Fort Pierce.

District Governor Chuck Geist will conduct the meeting which will include reports from all 36 districts in the immediate area from Titusville south to Boynton Beach, Fla. Other notables scheduled to attend the affair include Lions International Director Howard Towns of Orlando, Lions State Secretary John Boese, and other district governors as well.

The ladies will be entertained during the afternoon with a three-part vaudeville show in the Delaware Avenue School Auditorium. The afternoon will include an act by Wes and Kay Frank, one by Mike Hellstrom, and the final act will consist of the Gould Dancers of Fort Pierce.

Door prizes will be awarded following the show.

The next major event on the Port St. Lucie Lions Club agenda will be the Pancake Feedfest scheduled for February 6 at the North Fort Marina from 7:30 a.m. til 1 p.m. In conjunction with the Feedfest, the mobile screening unit will be on the scene to provide area residents with free glaucoma screen tests.

The unit will remain in the area through February 8.

In rounding out their January activities, the local club recently had James McCarthy, District Manager of the Social Security office, as their guest speaker. Speaking on the benefits of the program, a question and answer period followed.

CB'ers meet Wednesday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Jim Thaxton, who is in charge of the 911 operation in St. Lucie County, will be the guest speaker when the Sandpiper C/B Club meets Wednesday evening (tonight) at the North Port Marina.

The official club emblem will be unveiled for the first time during this meeting, according to a club spokesman.

Visitors are welcome to join in the meeting which will start at 8 p.m.

Precinct changes are slated

JENSEN BEACH–Some redrawing of precinct lines were pointed out Tuesday by Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph.

"There are going to be some minor adjustments," Mrs. Randolph said.

One possible new precinct is in the north county area, according to Mrs. Randolph. She said the boundary of a possible new precinct would be U.S. 1 on the west, Jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR 707-A) on the north, South Savanna Road (SR 723) on the east, and St. Lucie River to Roosevelt Bridge on the south.

"This is a growing area," Mrs. Randolph said. "There is going to have be some give and take by the commissioners."

Some of the "give and take" she referred to would be between Commissioners Tom Higgins' district and Maggy Hurchalla's district near the County Airport area; and between Commissioners William Myers and John Holt.

State law requires the supervisors to redraw precinct lines, and the plan is supposed to be in Tallahassee by March 1.

The law is intended to impose some uniformity among election districts in counties and to make reapportionment easier in 1981.

The law also requires the county to redraw the precincts so they are bounded by identifiable physical features, such as roads, rivers or railroad tracks.

Because of these requirements, Mrs. Randolph pointed out that some of the precincts will have to be adjusted.

Also, she points out that no precinct can be in more than one commission district.

Dessert-card party at JBWA Monday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members of the Rio Lindo Garden Club were given a word of warning about the dangers of pruning freeze damaged plants too soon.

Mrs. William Strout of Port St. Lucie a nationally accredited flower show judge and a member of the Capron Trail Circle of Fort Pierce, urged club members to postpone any pruning of plants that suffered freeze damage until after March 1.

"It's leaving the plants intact, this would help to prevent further damage should another freeze occur between now and early March," Mrs. Strout told her listeners.

Mrs. Strout gave an informative program on the care of house plants and outside plantings including trees. She also provided an elaborate display and lectured on the care of plants from cactus to orchids for the group at their regular monthly meeting held Monday.

The Junior Garden Program is sponsored by the Rio Lindo Garden Club for students at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School will begin this week under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Howell. District 10, and Mrs. Leon Hett of the local club.

According to a club spokesman, Mrs. Dora Edwards, a garden club book will be placed in the garden club library in memory of the late Kathryn Hoover.

In other activities, Mrs. Leon Hett and Mrs. Betty Cline will chair the club's Spring Festival Garden Club booth at the Port St. Lucie Community Center on March 5.

It was also noted that Mrs. Paul Wilkins will chair the club's Annual Horticulture Show, scheduled to take place April 30. Mrs. Wilkins reformed members their specimen should be in the entrants position for at least three months prior to the show.

Hostesses for the Monday meeting were Mrs. Leon Hett, who was assisted by Mary Scott, Vivian Mangue and Thelma Quick. Mrs. Mahlon Cline, president, presided over the business meeting.

PSL Shuffleboard Club News

PORT ST. LUCIE–Due to extreme cold, the league games were postponed until Monday, January 24. On that date, Indian River League played Ocean Breeze at Ocean Breeze, and Central league played Ocean Breeze at the PSL Marina.

New members of the club are Helen and Gilbert Heine. Mildred Green and Eleanor Myers.

All members are invited to join the club's Fun Day on Thursdays at 1 p.m., with play starting at 1:30. This is for old, new, good players and not so good players. just fun for all.

A new class of instruction will soon be starting. If interested, contact Ruth McDonnell at 878-2137.

The Sandy Shoes Shuffleboard Tournament has been postponed until January 27.

ST. LUCIE WOMAN'S GOLF

PORT ST. LUCIE–A reorganization meeting and luncheon was held by the St. Lucie Woman's Golf Association on Tuesday, January 11.

Anne Fisher was elected president. Helen Jeffrey, vice president. Mary Jacobi, treasurer and Anne Buzarit, secretary.

The women meet Wednesday mornings at the Santa Course of Sandpiper Bay, playing either 18 holes or 9 holes in tournament competition.

Fishing outer waters is topic for Anglers

PORT ST. LUCIE–The techniques and successful practices of fishing in the outer waters will be the topic discussed at the next regular meeting of the Fort St. Lucie Anglers' Club.

Bob Pelosi of Stuart, an expert on how and where to fish in the outer waters, has been engaged as the guest speaker for the evening. His informative lecture will include reef fishing, trolling for kings, sailfish, dolph and bottom fishing for snapper and grouper.

The group will meet Tuesday, February 1, at the North Port Marina on Prima Vista Blvd. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

The next big club event will be all day fishing for specs in Lake Okeechobee scheduled for February 10. Clyde Blunt is in charge of the all day fishing venture. For additional information, he may be reached by calling 878-1411.

P.S.L. CHAPTER 2696

If you're planning to take advantage of the free income tax counselling service which the chapter will offer, please be sure to bring your last year's tax return with you. The service begins Monday, Jan. 31, at the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan building, across U.S.1 from the entrance to Port St. Lucie.

Tom Carlile, Tax Assistance Program (TAP) coordinator, and his crew will set up shot on that date and be on duty from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from then until as close to April 15 as is needed.

The tax counsellors, with fellow AARP members from Martin County, attended a three-day training session last week at the HCC Roseman Site, Stuart. George Lehrman and Les Engwall, from Port Malabar, conducted the training.

Counsellors from Port St. Lucie are Morgan Jones, Matt Helbach, Esther Thompson, Estelle Rashis, Muriel and Peter Sysak, Wayne Lambertson, James Chester and Hugh Jencks.

Neither of the scheduled speakers for the January meeting was able to appear, but plenty of other matters made it a lively and interesting affair. Sam Lawder, executive director of the St. Lucie Council on Aging, was ill; and Irene Wamsley, administrator of the St. Lucie County Home Health Agency, had to take care of patients at the hospital in Fort Pierce. Maurie Arlack, program chairman, said the program would be made up later.

Esther Thompson, treasurer, reported that Herb Tschudy and his audit committee had duly audited the books and found them in impeccable order. She also announced that membership total now stands at 288. Esther and Eva Homan collected $43 worth of dues after the meeting. She asked that all members who pay their dues bring their cards with them so the cards can be receipted upon payment of the dues.

Nelson Howrey, chairman of the legislative committee, introduced Bob Brunton of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners' Association, who has been spearheading the consumer revolt against the higher rates sought by Florida Power & Light. He said that if the FPL petition is granted, homeowners will be paying approximately one-third more for their electricity than they are now. He also detailed what has been done so far to oppose the rate increase and asked the support of AARP members in the fight.

Brunton estimated that some $7,000 will be needed to finance the job and, while not actively soliciting contributions, said any such would certainly be appreciated. After he finished, Nelson passed around a petition for members to sign in support of the resistance movement.

It seems likely that a good many trips and excursions lie in the chapter's future. Henry Warmsar, who organized the recent junket to Fort Lauderdale for the trip aboard the Jungle Queen, presented a list of four possible future trips. He asked those who were interested to write their names on sheets of paper that he left for that purpose.

Jim Kearney, chairman of the community service committee, said that Art Gerhardt, recently named chairman of the recreation committee, also is studying the possibility of trips.

Elsa Schenk, who already has a meals-on-wheels program operating in Spanish Lakes, volunteered to take charge of a similar project in Port St. Lucie. Elsa now has 27 drivers in her group who make the trip to Fort Pierce and return with the meals which they deliver to people in the program. For anyone who is interested in lending a hand, here is her telephone number: 878-4060.

A large number of members showed interest in the possibility of a defensive driving course, which was discussed by Gordon Long, who had been asked by President Fred Wiggin to look into the matter.

Gordon talked to the people who administered the course in Martin County and said it was possible for it to be given in Port St. Lucie. An important factor in people's interest in this program is that some insurance companies offer a 10 per cent reduction in automobile insurance premiums for those who have taken the course. However, Gordon pointed out, an even more powerful attraction is that knowledge of the course increases one's chances for survival. The National Safety Council estimates that 85 per cent of highway accidents could be avoided if drivers had a good knowledge of crash avoidance techniques.

Gordon is going to follow up on his investigation and may have something definite to announce at February's chapter meeting.

The first issue of the chapter's monthly news bulletin was distributed at the meeting last week. Maurie Arlack, who is running the operation, said he expects to obtain the required mailing permit in time for the next issue.

Another first is a possible fund-raising project. Muriel Sysak proposed, and agreed to take charge of, a 50-50 lottery at future meetings. This will bring in some funds and permit us to strengthen the treasury. May you all be winners.

Tigers derail Bartow express, 72-59

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART–Most teams would rather have a couple of days off after beating one of the top-ranked AAA team, but not the Yellow Jackets.

They are eager for all the competition they can get, because after a dismal start without their top player, the Jackets are coming on strong. They even hope to go as far as the state finals in Gainesville.

The Martin County basketball team caught them a thing or two last night, thrashing Bartow 72-59 in one night after North Shore had lost the same team.

The boosters put on a magnificent show for the always-impressive crowd of Martin County fans, as four players hit double figures.

Tiger Campbell, the improving Tiger forward, poured in 18 points for the winners, while Moses Johnson and Delancy each contributed 17 apiece. Lavern McFadden, the whose scoring has given way to balance, had 15.

Campbell's back-to-back buckets gave the County a quick 13-7 edge, which ballooned to 14-7 when Charley Jones hit two of his eight points.

The Tigers (8-11) came back near the end of the first stanza, getting successive scores from Ron Glover and Frank Hamilton, making it 16-13 after a period.

The Yellow Jackets continued their hot streak, as Downer Campbell two free throws but scoring three straight hoops to take the lead for the second time in the game, 19-18.

The game continued to see-saw until late in the first half, when Martin County began to go as far as the state finals in Gainesville.

The Yellow Jackets continued their hot streak, as Downer Campbell two free throws but scoring three straight hoops to take the lead for the second time in the game, 19-18.

The game continued to see-saw until late in the first half, when Martin County (17-3) broke it open. They scored 16 points while allowing only two in the final two-and-a-half minutes to hold the lead at halftime 35-29.

Bartow spent the third quarter trying to catch up, and they succeeded, cutting the margin to only two points on five different occasions before the quarter ended that way. It was 47-45 after three canics, and the fans were beginning to sweat a bit.

But any sweat was simply a waste, because in the final quarter, an explosion in the MCHS gym caused the game to get out of hand. The explosion came from the fired-up Tigers who smacked the Yellow Jackets with 25 markers, causing them to lose their composure – and the game.

Leading the visitors in scoring was Glover, who threw in 21 points, while Myron Dilworth had 17. Hiram Green, the much-ballyhooed center who had been hurt the first part of the year, could manage only four markers against the aggressive Tiger zone defense.

At press time, the Tigers had not yet taken the court in their next adventure, a conference showdown with Lake Worth. But Tuesday's game is now over. If Lake Worth won, it means that the Tigers are in deep trouble, and can only hope for a tie for the title if Lake Worth loses to them in the rematch and to somebody else (possibly Fort Pierce Central).

If Martin County won, then the next couple of weeks should set the stage for the season-ending conference games against Lake Worth, which could then decide the conference winner.

HOW THE BALL BOUNCED

BARTOW (8B)–FG, FT-FTA, FOULS, POINTS: R. Glover 10, 1-2, 4, 21; Dilworth 7, 3-4, 3, 17; Lott 3, 0-0, 1, 6; Hamilton, 3, 0-0, 0, 6; Green 2, 0-0, 3, 4; Wright 0, 3-4, 0, 3; Jones 1, 0-0, 0, 2. TOTALS 26-69 (38 percent), 7-10 (70 percent), 11, 59.

MARTIN COUNTY (72) – FG, FT-FTA, FOULS, POINTS: Campbell 7, 4-8, 3, 18; Johnson 7, 3-4, 0, 17; Delancy 8, 1-2, 3, 17; McFadden 6, 0-1, 4, 13; Jones 3, 3-3, 3, 9. TOTALS 31-58 (82 percent), 11-14 (78 percent), 12, 72.

Halftime score: Martin County 32 Bartow 29.

Texaco cops title, is favored in tourney

JENSEN BEACH–Lord's Texaco, which won the Lower Division Soccer championship when arch-rival Kiwanis failed to score enough goals in the last game, is favored in the season-ending championship tournament now underway at Langford Park.

Players on the winning team will receive trophies from sponsors, symbolizing their championship effort for the season.

But the biggest aim held by the regular season champs will be the tourney, which will decide the regional champion in the Optimist Club sponsored league of four teams.

In first round action last week, Lord's negotiated a hot streak with a 4-1 rout of Rick Carroll. In other action, it was: Kiwanis 3, Angelo's 0.

Monday's game featured Angelo's against Rick Carroll. The loser was eliminated from the double-elimination tourney. Monday's winner will play tonight against the loser of last night's Lord's-Kiwanis showdown.

The finals will be on Thursday, with another game on Friday if needed. The Lord's-Kiwanis winner will play the winner of Wednesday's final elimination. Thus, Lord's and Kiwanis could meet as many as three times in the title tourney.

There will be a game Friday only if the loser's bracket team wins on Thursday. Then each team in the finals would have one loss, and Friday's game will decide the championship.

FIRST ROUND BOXSCORES

Lord's 2-2-4, Rick Carroll 0-1-1; Lord's: Richie Lord 10:00; Lord's, Courtland Brock 28:00; Lord's, Richie Lord 5:00; Lord's, Richie Lord 10:00; RC, Manuel Maldonado 15:00.

Kiwanis 1-2-3, Angelo's 0-0-0; Kiwanis, John Swyryn 25:00; Kiwanis, Eddie Justice 10:00; Kiwanis; Derick Jochem 15:00.

Tennis tourney will benefit heart drive

STUART–Plans for a tennis tournament to benefit the Martin County Heart Association were announced this week by Bill Oughterson and Jim Grossnickle, co-chairman of the event.

The tourney will be held on February 5 and 6 at the Martin County High School courts, and a blanket invitation for all who play tennis to take part has been issued.

There will be men's and women's singles and doubles (18 and over), and junior (under 18) singles and doubles for boys and girls.

Oughterson pointed out that ability was not a criterion for play, as consolation matches will be held in all divisions. Play is limited to Martin County residents.

Donations of $10 for singles and $5 for doubles ($10 per team) will be charged, and application forms can be obtained from local tennis sports shops in Jensen Beach and Stuart.

Trophies will be awarded to winners.

Middle All-Stars meet Freshmen

STUART–Martin County Head Coach Dan Walker will get a chance to sample some of the talent he will soon be getting Tuesday night at the MCHS gymnatorium when the Martin County freshmen team will meet the middle school All-Stars in the annual Middle School vs. Frosh basketball game.

Most of the talent on the eight-grade team will be provided by the undefeated Murray Lions. Murray could place as many as four or five players on the All-Star team.

Bobby Burden, perhaps the most dominant players in the area's pool of eighth graders, will certainly be on the team. Burden had a great game early in the season against Clewiston, when he scored 22 points. Milton Dennis, another of the Murray Lions, got 18 points in that game, which Murray won 59-32.

PINE LAKE VILLAGE
Pine Cones
BY BOB RAMSEY

Rachel LaCloyse reports that the ladies of LaVaughn Circle enjoyed Carmel as a fashion show at Frances Langford's last week. Included were Mrs. Burt Hodges, Marge Streeter and guest Beatrice Grenlee, Rachel LaCluyse, Kay Dwyer, Jean Ballisch and her guest Theresa Reilly.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Van De Walle of South Bend, Indiana, were weekend guests of the LaCloyses. Elsie and Camiel are cousins. She was also a bridesmaid at their wedding back in 1931. Don't get weary, there's more....

Mr. and Mrs. Frances O. Streeter and sons Brian, Kevin and Paul were holiday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orason Streeter of LaVaughn Circle. Mrs. Beatrice Grinbel of Herkimer, N.Y., is now visiting the Streeters. (There goes Herkimer again....who was the Herkimer Hurricane?) (Ray Bates can tell you.)

George and Esther Yost entertained Marie and Harry Meyer and Helen and Dick Snider over the weekend with a luncheon at Lord Chumley's. Both additional comments come from Dwyer-ance (Betty). Pa. Harry Meyer was George's boss at one time and Helen and Dick worked with George for years. That should take care of all visitations.

Please pay close attention to this one - Betty Taylor at Lot 40 is asking for players of small instruments. Time is 10-13 a.m. on Tuesdays. If you want further details, call Betty on 334-0834.

I would like to add something to that notice as well. From various approaches in research, it has been determined that there are several musicians within the park. At this very moment there is a desperate need, in view of some upcoming events, for piano players, particularly those good at improvisation as well as taking the whole bit. We're not looking for any Liberaces but just someone to get us over some rough spots in the near future.

So, in responding to Betty's request, you'll be doing the whole park a favor for a two week stay. Seriously, your services are needed in our next project - Grace Bertelsen, Bob Palmer, Lucille Berbenig and Bob Rossbrow. Will you help?

Seen walking along Osceola St. at the Arts and Crafts Show - Norma and Chet Quillen. They both look great. Hope to see a lot of them this winter. Also the Seccias, the Stevens, Mocks, and Sharyns.

Will have a lot more for you next week. Keep our Valentine Party in mind on Feb. 12. See the ticket seller in your area or pick up at the office.

May you all be blessed for your good cause, and what was Pilsner McGee and Molly's address?

D&M Park
BY MILDRED TICE STINNETT

The Hobby Class had its regular meeting Tuesday, Jan. 18, Alice Eastlack and Grace Steiner plying us with more than ample portions of their delicious goodies, from a beautifully decorated table.

Our president, Ethel Phillips, presided and welcomed two guests, Bonnie Roberts' cousin Verna LaMar from Lansing, Michigan, and my sister, Ida Emerity from Jackson, New Jersey.

Next week Flossie and Marguerite Ritenour were to have been the hostesses, but we've just learned that Marguerite is in Martin Memorial Hospital. She is rarely absent, so we will miss her, and we all send hearty good wishes for her complete and rapid recovery.

Mona Wendt, chairperson for our annual Hobby Show, is a very well-organized woman, and has everything lined up for the event which will occur February 22. There will be door prizes, lots of handmade things to "oh" and "ah" over, home made fudge, a White Elephant, and chances to be purchased for a bewildering variety of gifts. Got the date marked down? We'll be looking for you.

During the meeting, in popped Orville Conrad who, with his wife Donna, is visiting various friends and former neighbors in our park.

John McBriar did his usual fine job of calling for bingo Tuesday night, with Ethel Phillips and Nettie Keefer helping with the calling back. Lucille Masters won the jack pot.

Martha, Julie and Gene Ebner, accompanied by their poodle Paco, came down from New Jersey on the 17th to get away from the cold and snow, but did the weather man have a surprise for them!

Mrs. Helen Wells, our art instructor, brought a beautiful shell for us to work with last Thursday and, inspite of the biting cold outside, we painted joyously.

Alice and Walter Reeder are off to the sport car races in West Palm Beach this weekend, and when they get back, we'll be eager to hear how things went.

Our guardian angel whispered in my ear that Flossie Roberts will be celebrating her birthday Jan. 27, and since I know she always reads The Mirror - Happy Birthday, Flossie, from all of us!

...Elected to serve as new officers of the Martin ...Resources Board, these members discussed future ...of the board at the luncheon meeting Friday at FIT. Left to right are Gene Van Curen, temporary chairman; Ray Navitsky, secretary; Al Epstein, president; and Adon Jefferys, treasurer. Not present was the new vice president, Jim Zuzi.

Precinct changes session is set

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County commissioners will discuss a proposal for redrawing voting precinct lines with Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph at a 9 a.m. workshop session Thursday, Feb. 3.

Mrs. Randolph was scheduled to discuss the proposed precinct changes Tuesday, but was unable to attend the session because of a previous commitment.

Mrs. Randolph discussed the precinct changes with commissioners at the Tuesday, Jan. 25, meeting and observed after the meeting that "commissioners responded favorably to the proposed changes."

The proposal stems from a state law requiring counties in Florida to redraw the lines by March 1. The law is intended to impose some uniformity about election districts and to make statewide reapportionment easier.

The law requires counties to redraw precincts so they are bounded by identifiable physical features, such as roads, rivers, railroad tracks, ditches, etc.

"Precinct lines have to be visual and not imaginary lines," Mrs. Randolph said.

Some of the 20 county precinct boundaries are section lines, which are not permitted under the new law.

"Anderson looking at a map of his precinct can visualize his precinct," she said.

Commissioner Frank Wacha said he would like to have more precincts in the Jensen Beach area because of the growth, and the more precincts, the better job the county can do in redistricting.

Under the tentative plan, one new precinct would be formed in the jensen Beach area -- south of SR-707A (Jensen Beach Cutoff Road), east of U.S. 1, east of SR-723 (South Savanna Road), and north of St. Lucie River.

Also, Mrs. Randolph said there had to be some minor adjustments in the commission districts.

"It is going to be a bit of give and take in some areas," she said.

Mrs. Randolph said that approximately 1,500 to 2,000 residents would be affected by the proposal.

esources Board elects l Epstein as president

...'S BEACH--Al Epstein, owner ...ine Casuals in Jensen Beach, ...ected president of the newly ...ed Martin County Resources ...ment Board Friday at the ...ing of the group.

...nterested business and indus...leaders gathered at Florida ...e Technology auditorium for a ...session to hear reports of two ...ees that have been meeting for ...nths to bring the industry seek...up to life.

...ther officers elected include ...e Jim Zuzi, vice president of ...Grumman Aerospace Corporation; Ray Navitsky, executive director of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, secretary; and Adon Jeffreys, a retired banker, treasurer.

The officers met on Monday to seek fifteen persons to serve on a board of directors and discuss a change of name for the group. Included in the meeting were the former officers of the group and leading members of the resolution committees.

The change of name for the MCRBD was the only item not accepted in the committee reports. The suggested "Martin County Business and Industrial Committee" name was turned down by the group.

The Aims and Goals Committee suggested that four committees be immediately set up to get the organization moving. Directors would serve as the heads of the committees.

The Inventory Resources Committee would seek information on sites, transportation, medical facilities, recreation, schools, residential areas and taxes to be readily available to prospects.

The Promotion and Public Relations Committee would prepare flyers, mailing pieces, slide-film presentations, advertising and a promotional package, and build a speaker's bureau for the county promotion.

The Membership and Dues Committee would establish an operating budget and a dues structure.

The Prospect Search Committee would decide where best to seek industrial and business prospects.

Jack Robinson, Indiantown Company, made the report saying that the board should emphasize full employment as the goal of the board, and recommended that the board work as an "arm of the four county Chambers."

Gene Van Curen, Florida Power and Light manager, was temporary chairman and expressed gratification with the favorable response of the people who indicated an interest and who attended the meeting.

Ransom Tilton reported for the nominations committee.

Epstein called the Monday noon meeting of the group, to be held at Florida Power and Light Company, "so that we can report back to the potential membership as soon as possible."

ater control board viewed by county

...'S BEACH--Martin County ...missioners are seeking people with ...and knowledge of water ...ment and control to serve on an ...committee.

...missioners Tuesday discussed the ...Management Board, and Com... Myers observed that mem... the old board didn't have ...in water management.

...had concern about the ..., but no technical knowledge."

...mer Myers said.

...missioner Myers suggested that ...e Management Board duties be ...the Planning and Zoning Board, ...ing another level of govern...

"We are losing a lot of fresh water daily," Commissioner Frank Wacha said, "from canals, creeks and from the sea areas."

Commissioner Wacha said there should be retired persons who have talents in the water control field.

Commissioners didn't take any action on the Water Management Board.

Commissioners voted to advise for a public hearing on vacating a portion of MacArthur Boulevard. Attorney Tom Thurlow Jr. representing the applicant Indian River Plantation Company, said work is under construction on a new section of the road, which is to be vacated.

The date for actual vacating of the old road isn't expected to be set until after the public hearing.

HALF ARCH--A car, traveling at a high rate of speed, smashed into the south side of the Jensen Beach Arch on SR 707 near Langford Park. The rubble has been cleared away, but one side of the Arch and about a third of the other side remain. Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha said Tuesday that the question on the insurance has to be cleared before any decision is made on repairing or replacing the Arch.

SNEAKY SNAKE--Members of the Martin County Resources Board were startled Friday as County Commissioner Maggie Hurchalla walked through the group wearing a small boa constrictor over her shoulders. Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton found the snake to be charming.

Jensen Art League meets February 10

JENSEN BEACH--The Jensen Beach Art League will meet Thursday, February 10, at the "Little Louvre Studio" at Dorothy Stafford's home, 585 S.E. St. Lucie Blvd., Stuart, at 10 a.m.

County engineer to resign

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County Engineer Ken Ferrari has resigned, effective Feb. 28. Commission Chairman Tom Higgins Tuesday praised Ferrari for his "hard work" during the past four years.

Ferrari told commissioners that applications for his job have been received and would be turned over to the Personnel Committee.

He said he plans to open his own office in the area as a consulting engineer after he leaves employment with the county.

Zoning code on agenda

SEWALL'S POINT--More discussion on revisions of sections of Ordinance 95 is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 2, workshop session of the Sewall's Point Commission.

At last week's special meeting, commissioners voted to suspend enforcement of strict zoning regulations which bar some vehicles from public view.

Sections of the code which require residents to keep such vehicles as pickup trucks, vans, boat trailers, motorcycles and motor homes hidden from public view have come under fire in recent weeks from town residents.

Only passenger cars and station wagons are permitted in public view under the ordinance. All other vehicles must be in garages.

Other items on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. workshop session include discussions on dock specifications, lot clearing, and Southern Gulf Utilities, regarding water problems.

River Road has question settled

SEWALL'S POINT--The question of construction of South River Road has been selected, and residents can give their view on the issue February 15.

Commissioners held a special meeting last week and picked the "yes or no" proposal that will be on the straw ballot.

The ballot question approved by the commission states:

"The Town of Sewall's Point currently owns approximately 3,200 feet of South River Road right-of-way which is now unpaved. An additional 600 feet of right-of-way has been offered to the Town by private owners at no cost to the Town other than the cost of paving. The Town Commission proposes to pave the southerly 2,980 feet of right-of-way now available to the Town and to continue with its plans to acquire and pave additional right-of-way for this road as it becomes available."

Voters will mark a square indicating whether they favor or do not favor the proposal.

Commissioners approved the proposal submitted by two members of a three-man committee. Commissioner John Rossiter and Town Attorney Tom Thurlow Jr., drew up the proposal.

David Dickinson, committeeman, who circulated a petition to force commissioners to hold a referendum, proposed that voters be asked to endorse the 2,900 feet to be built now, but require commissioners to vote again before additional work is done.

Commissioners rejected Dickinson's proposal, and Commissioner Bob Russell said, "Let's have a vote and get it over with. I don't want this constantly coming up to upset the Town."

Dickinson said he agrees the road will be needed but thinks it is premature to build it now. Dickinson and others have expressed concern at several meetings that South River Road will become another high-speed artery requiring additional police patrol.

Many residents favor either building the road and allowing only pedestrian and bicycle traffic in normal time and open to motor vehicle traffic only in emergency.

Proponents of the road say the road is needed to accommodate future growth of the Town, and to provide an escape route for residents in case of flooding or other emergency.

The proposed road parallels Sewall's Point Road to the south end of the Town.

In other action at the special meeting, Commissioners suspended enforcement of strict zoning regulations barring some vehicles from public view.

Sections of the zoning code which require residents to keep such vehicles as pickup trucks, vans, boat trailers, boats, motorcycles and motor homes hidden from public view have come under fire in recent weeks from residents.

Only passenger cars and station wagons are permitted in public view under Ordinance 95. All other vehicles must be in garages.

Several weeks a "do you know that..." letter was circulated in the Town, asking questions about some Town issues, including Ordinance 95.

One of the "do you know" questions stated:

"You may be in violation of Ordinance 95 if you momentarily leave your door open exposing such vehicles as trucks, boats, motorcycles or any type of trailer."

"This board and previous commissioners spent two and a half years revising the zoning code and there was little comment about these provisions," Mayor Ed Glueckler said. "But once the new ordinance was adopted, we really got clobbered."

The ordinance will be revised after at least two more public hearings.

NEW BUILDING—Badcock Home Furnishing Center holds its grand opening this weekend on U.S. 1 just north of Stuart. The three day celebration ends Saturday.

Badcock opens new store this weekend

JENSEN BEACH—Jim Conrad and his staff put the finishing touches on the new Badcock Home Furnishings Center today in preparation for the three-day grand opening of the new 15,000 square foot building at 1525 NW Federal Highway. The opening will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"We're ready to go," Conrad said as he put up the banner signs on the front windows of the new facility.

The grand opening includes free coffee and soda, hot dogs, and gifts, and hours of browsing will be able to register for grand prizes to be awarded at the end of the opening celebration.

The store will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily.

Badcock Home Furnishing Centers are located throughout Florida with 125 stores. The company features brand name merchandise for all areas of the home.

Brand names include General Electric, Maytag, Hotpoint, Philco, Zenith, Hamilton Beach, Kelvinator, Eureka, Kroehler, Sylvania, Brookwood, Westinghouse, Bassett, Singer, RCA, La-z-boy and Broyhill.

Conrad moved to Fort Pierce from his boyhood home in Plant City in 1954 to work for the W.L. Evers Badcock store. Following two years in the army in 1954-55, Conrad returned to work for the firm, met and married the former Elsie Wilson of Fort Pierce.

Badcock expanded to Stuart in 1956, opening a store on East Fourth Street. Conrad bought the Evers interest in 1958, and in 1960 moved the location to Colorado Avenue, where the store remained until November 10, 1976.

NEW STORE—Jim Conrad, owner of the local Badcock Home Furnishing Center, stands in front of his new store building on U.S. 1 north of Stuart. Conrad is celebrating his grand opening this week.

The Hobby Class met as usual on Monday, Jan. 25, with Flossie Roberts and Lucille Masters acting as hostesses for, because it was two days before her birthday, Flossie arranged a party complete with cake and ice cream, and surrounded her with the birthday Precedent Ethel Phillips welcomed Jack Martha and Julie Ebner. Celia Carr brought her house guest, Nellie Cunningham of Lansing, Michigan, who is also visiting her niece Connie Donald in Ft. Lauderdale.

At the suggestion of Mona Weedt, we decided to have a baked goods table at our Hobby Show on Feb. 22 - a mouth-watering treat to look forward to.

We also prepared a list of hostesses for the month of February so, just in case your memory needs jogging, check the calendar in the rec hall. This week it's Martha's and Julie's turn.

Lois and Don Wininger went to a furniture show in Atlanta, Georgia, then drove over to Annville, Kentucky, to pick up Lois' father, Luther Riggs, and bring him back with them for a long visit.

Doc, Marvin and two friends went fishing in Doc's boat and hit the jack pot - 137 Spanish mackerel, most of which went into their respective freezers.

My sister and brother-in-law, Ida and Al Emerzy, came down here to get away from frigid New Jersey, but were caught in our cold wave. They, poor innocents, brought bathing attire, but settled for their wooly coats instead until the day they left, when the temperature was in the 70's.

Alice and Emil Tweit are all set to welcome Alice's mother, Mrs. Nellie Carter, who is flying down from Clinton, Wisconsin, Sunday.

Alice's niece Katie and her husband Carl Kohler, from Beaumont, Texas, landed in Miami after a cruise and will visit her for a few days. Alice hopes they can stay long enough to have a reunion with Katie's grandmother, Mrs. Carter, who hasn't seen her granddaughter since she was a baby.

NARFE meets February 8

JENSEN BEACH—The regular meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) will be held Wednesday, February 9, in the Community Room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart. Meeting time is 1:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Lt. Scott of the Martin County Sheriff's Department who will present a program on self defense, particularly as it applies to senior citizens.

There will be reports from the delegates who recently attended the District Convention at Hollywood.

Environmental Studies planned by Center

Jensen Beach–The Adult Education Department and the Environmental Studies Center are cooperatively sponsoring three informative courses concerning the environmental problems of Martin County.

Leading off the three-course offering on Tuesday, February 8, will be a study of the Ecosystems of Martin County; a study in local ecological processes. There will be six two-hour lectures supplemented by three Saturday field trips exploring and studying the local environment and problems related to preserving and conserving the delicate interrelationship of the ecosystems. The class will be limited to the first 25 students to enroll and pay the $6 registration fee.

The following evening, February 8 at 7 p.m., the Human Environment course will begin. This will be a guest lecture and film series which will investigate current trends concerning transportation, city planning and land use, economics, politics, and population and stress on the social order. The focus of this course will be on the impact these areas have on the environment of Martin County. The registration fee the eight lecture series will be $5 for those adults paying their fee before the third lecture. A fee of $1 per lecture will be charged for those attending from the third session on.

The third course offered is the Development of Sources and Conservation of Energy Resources. The 12-week course, covering 36 hours of instruction, will relate to alternate energy sources applicable to Florida. This should enable class participants to learn ways to conserve energy and save money through proper utilization of existing construction and home appliances. The highlight of the course will be the "how to" build a solar water heater. A $2 registration fee is payable at the first class session, 7 p.m. Thursday, February 10.

For more information or to pre-register and pay the applicable fee, you can go to the Adult Education office at 500 E. Ocean Boulevard, Stuart, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., or call 287-6400, extension 130, or the Environmental Studies Center at 334-1362.

Real Estate course starts Monday

JENSEN BEACH–The Adult Education Department of the Martin County Schools announces that a new course in Real Estate Sales Promotion will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Martin County High School on Monday, February 7.

Field trips to model homes will supplement subject matter relating to the listing, selling and closing procedures and real estate research and office procedures.

The 14-week course is limited to the first 25 students who enroll by paying a $25.50 fee. The fee includes the cost of textbook, study guides and registration fee. Enrollment may be made at the Adult Education Office, 500 East Ocean Blvd., Stuart, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

VIEWING DISPLAYS–Marge Hespos, of 325 North Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, looks over some of the marine organisms in the museum of the Environmental Studies Center. Mrs. Hespos was one of several area residents attending the open house at the Center Sunday, Jan. 30.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

Young people deserve praise for efforts for a job well done and I'm afraid don't get enough, so though it is a bit late better late than never - I'd like to express thanks and appreciation for the lovely Christmas Trees in East Ocean Mall that were decorated by the children of Jensen Beach Elementary School.

They did a beautiful job. That project called for lots of time and effort on the part of the children and teachers.

Let us not condemn young people all the time. Seek for things to praise them for and give it when deserved.

Thanks for publishing this.

Sincerely,
s-May R. Griswold

National awards are won

JENSEN BEACH--The Treasure Coast Builders Women's Auxiliary won two awards at the National Association of Home Builders Women's Auxiliary Convention held in Dallas, Texas.

The auxiliary won second place in the scrapbook competition, and second place as "auxiliary of the year."

Members of the association, which includes Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River Counties, include Arline Signore, Julie Johnson, president, Nancy Brown, Brenda Leamng and Dorothy Carson.

Mrs. Signore, auxiliary president in 1976, said Mrs. Brown, as auxiliary historian in 1976, was "largely responsible for the auxiliary winning the scrapbook award."

Also, Mrs. Signore received a 50-member pin, and Mrs. Johnson received the 16-member pin.

Many visit at open house

JENSEN BEACH--"The people were very impressed with our operation," Jay Jarrett, director of the Environmental Studies Center, Jensen Beach, said Monday.

The first in a series of monthly open houses at the center was held Sunday, Jan. 30 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Staff members were on hand during the afternoon to explain the center's operation, and Jarrett observed, "The people seemed to have an enjoyable afternoon."

"We had visitors all afternoon and it was a very pleasant open house," Jarrett said.

Open house will be held on the last Sunday of each month, and Jarrett said the center may designate each open house as a specific community day.

"We are working on plans to have residents of certain communities come to the center on a Sunday, designating each open house as 'Jensen Beach Day' or 'Port Salerno Day' or Hobe Sound Day'," Jarrett said.

Jarrett pointed out that many people have expressed an interest in the center, but were unable to visit the center during school week.

"These Sunday afternoon activities should solve the problem," he said.

The center's program has received national prominence as one of only seven environmental education projects sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education for national distribution.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTION–With the opening of new businesses on Commercial Street west of the downtown section, traffic on the street is increasing, and making the Skyline Drive-Commercial Street intersection one of the most dangerous intersections in the area. Several fender-benders occurred last week.

Cancer victims meet Thursday

JENSEN BEACH–Alice Steadman, author and sculptor, will be the featured speaker at the Thursday, February 3, meeting of the Tri-County Chapter of Cancer Victims and Friends. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Jensen Beach.

A lecturer from North Carolina, Miss Steadman has in print 125,000 copies of her book "Who's the Matter With Me." She will present examples of mental-emotional cause of bodily disease, discussing how to re-program the mind for, in many cases, instant healing.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Jung Spells is president of the group. Meetings are held monthly.

Car driver suffers fatal heart attack

JENSEN BEACH–A car veered out of control on SR-707A (Jensen Beach Cutoff Road) at about 12:30 p.m. Monday after its driver apparently suffered a heart attack at the wheel, according to the Highway Patrol.

Walter H. Schroeder, 78, of 9710 A-1-A, Apt. 405, Jensen Beach, was dead on arrival at Martin Memorial Hospital, according to the patrol.

According to the patrol, Schroeder was traveling east when he lost control of his car and struck a vehicle driven by Joseph Hrupeho of Fort Clinton, Ohio. Hrupeho was not injured.

Chorus starts Good Friday rehearsals

JENSEN BEACH–Adults who enjoy singing good music are invited to join the Community Chorus Monday evening, February 7, at 7:30 p.m.

The chorus will meet each Monday evening at Jensen Beach Community Church, Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach, to rehearse Faure's "Requiem" for presentation during Good Friday services at the church.

The Community Chorus will be under the direction of Mrs. Esther Plyler. Mrs. Plyler holds a Master's degree in music and has had more than 25 years experience in choral direction in the states and abroad.

Chorus members will be required to purchase the music for the presentation and there is a registration fee of $3.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Plyler weekdays at 334-8780.

Special course is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–A course in the construction of draperies, slip covers and curtains will be offered at Martin County High School, beginning Wed., Feb. 9, at 7 p.m.

The course includes a study of the ways in which attractive and livable interiors can be planned in relation to family housing situations and incomes.

Practical information concerning choice of furnishings and equipment will be included.

Students will have the opportunity to design and construct window and wall draperies and curtains.

HORTICULTURAL BEAUTY–While Robert L. Schweiger of 1740 S.E. Clearmont maintains the growth in his yard (pictured above) is nothing short of horticultural beauty which is compatible with his home, the City of Port St. Lucie stands firm on the claim it is undergrowth and weeds. Since the parties involved have reached an impasse, City Manager Elmer Cox on January 21 filed an application with the State Attorney's office for an arrest warrant. Cox, who is responsible for enforcing all city ordinances, made the administrative decision to have the owner arrested rather than send in City equipment to clear the property.

Bunko resumed by WWI Vets

PORT ST. LUCIE–Barracks 2936, Veterans of World War I, resumed its program of playing Bunko, with a nice group turning out for the first session since October.

Bob Sherrill took home the booby prize and, for this accomplishment, he was allowed to pick the door prize winner, who turned out to be Mildred Engleman.

Other winners were Lelia Benson, first; Katherine Sherrill, second; R.W. Benson, third; Marvin Alloway, fourth.

Bunko is played every fourth Thursday.

Chairmen for the special event are Marilyn Marr and Jean Wiley.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL VOTE

TOWN OF SEWALL'S POINT

There will be a SPECIAL STRAW VOTE at the Town Hall on Tuesday, February 15, 1977 - 7:00 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the Registered Voters of the Town of Sewall's Point.

THE BALLOT:

The Town of Sewall's Point currently owns approximately 3,200 feet of South River Road right-of-way which is now unpaved. An additional 400 feet of right-of-way has been donated to the Town by private owners at no cost to the Town other than the costs of paving. The Town Commission proposes to pave the southerly 2,940 feet of right-of-way now available to the Town, and to continue with its plan to acquire and pave additional rights-of-way for this road as it becomes available.

☐ I AM in favor of the above proposal.

DAR plans history month

JENSEN BEACH–American History Month will be featured at the February 11 meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), with a film, "Uncle Sam - the Man and Legend."

The business meeting for Chapter members only will be held at the Holiday Inn, Stuart, at 11 a.m. Final plans for the Scholarship Fund benefit card party, to be given on February 22 at the Stuart Woman's Club, will be discussed.

Guests and members of other chapters are welcome for the luncheon at 12 noon and the program. Call for reservations before February 9. Members: Mrs. R.E. Terry, 334-8084 or Mrs. E.O. Bair, 287-8846. Guests, call Mrs. Dewey Hayes, 287-3298.

Church World seeks clothing

JENSEN BEACH–The Church World Service Clothing Drive is being conducted this week, sponsored by the Church Women United of Martin County.

New or good used clothing is urgently needed on a year-round basis, especially for men and children. Clothing is distributed to needy persons in this country as well as in the mission field.

Bring clothing, boxed and taped, to the First United Methodist Church of Stuart Fellowship Hall February 4, 5, and 6. Include the name of church or organization on the box and 10 cents per pound for shipping.

Donations of $3 are needed for purchase of blankets for disasters, and another Church World Service project is sewing kits, used to help student seamstresses and tailors learn the trade, also to instruct.

Further information on Church World Services is available by calling Eleanor Funk, 283-4066.

Eight qualify for city election

PORT ST. LUCIE—By the time the Monday deadline rolled around for prospective candidates to qualify for the march election, only eight persons had tossed their hats in the political ring.

In what might well have been considered a surprise move, incumbent Councilman Larry Kimmel did not seek re-election to seat number five.

Kimmel's seat, however, is the most hotly contested of the three seats up for grabs.

Vying for seat number five are vice mayor Frank Rose, whose term on seat number one experies; A. Merle Anderson of 508 SW Lakeburst Drive, a former member of the new districting commission; John J. Kmuly of 280 Sagamore Terrace; and Sam Feigenbaum of 840 Degan Drive, also a former member of the districtmt commission Feigenbaum and Charles Hayde were defeated by Rose two years ago.

Mike Reely of 727 SE Caloosio Drive, former president of the Civic League, will vie with Harrison St. John of 196 Estuare Avenue for Council seat number four.

Only two candidates entered the race for mayor, Council Bill McChesney of 2901 SE San Jeronimo Road, and Charles Hayde of 1430 San Souci Lane. McChespey resigned his council seat to run for the office of mayor. Hayde, who was a candidate two years ago for seat number one, is a former president of the Civic league.

There is little doubt the politcal pace will pick up considerably as candidates hit the campaign trail to seek enough votes to put them in office come March 16

CHURCH SITE--The City's Planning and Zoning Board has recommended the rezoning of a 9.12 acre site to C-1 for the construction of the Morningside Friends Church (Quakers). The site is located just north of the Morningside-Port St. Lucie Blvd. intersection. While the City Council has favored the P&Z Board's recommendation for rezoning, they will await preliminary construction plans before taking action in the matter. The plans are expected at the next regular session of the Council, February 8.

ntributors are asked to mail or r their contributions to the bank. contribution made will automati- entitle the contributor to be a ber of the coalition.

e CFC's letter soliciting contribu- tions has been printed and is now being distributed house-to-house throughout St. Lucie County. Distribution, got underway in Spanish Lakes, Lakewood Park and Port St. Lucie this week and officers are hopeful the entire county will be covered within the week.

The letter explains the basis of the group and asks money to help pay the cost of printing, buying a voter list from the supervisor of Elections, the services of the group's financial Frank Zendzian, his secretary, and the costs of equipping and renting the office where the work of analyzing the company's proposals is now under way.

The estimated cost of rebutting the FPL rate hike request is $7,000.

Time is of the essence since the rebuttal must be turned over to the office of the Consumer Advocate not later than February 22 for study prior to the scheduled Public Service Commission hearings on North Palm Beach which will commence March 8.

The completed study will fortify the initial rebuttal filed by the CFC at a recent North Palm Beach meeting.

Should FPL be granted the $349 million increase, it has been established by Zendzian the average residential consumer's monthly electric bill will jump approximately 83 per cent. Based on that, consumers are asked to support the protest by making a reasonable contribution based on that difference.

City cleanup is planned

PORT ST. LUCIE--While the record breaking freeze has taken its toll her in south Florida, Councilman Bill McChesney Tuesday announced his plans for a city-wide pruning and cleanup effort.

Since the experts have recommended pruning be postponed until the first week of March, McChesney said he would contact the sanitation firm's servicing the area to seek their cooperation in the cleanup drive tentatively scheduled for mid-March.

"We have an emergency fund of approximately $5,000 and I am of the opinion a portion of this money should be used to pay the haulers for their services," McChesney said, adding the cost of having the debris from the area should be born by the city.

APPEAL--Dale W. Johnson, president of the Treasure Coast Builders Association, appealed to the Port St. Lucie City Council during a workshop session Tuesday to reconsider an earlier decision requiring all building contractors operating in the city to furnish a performance bond or a waiver signed by the property owner having the work done. Also appearing with Johnson at the meeting was Harry Wilson (seated), executive officer of the builders association.

Builders object to city's bond request

PORT ST. LUCIE--When the City Fathers agreed the best protective measure to deter unreliable building contractors from operating in the city would be to require a performance bond or a waiver signed by the homeowner having work performed, officials of the Treasure Coast Builders Association appeared before a workshop session Tuesday to protest the move.

Dale W. Johnson, president of the builders association, appealed to the Council to table the proposed ordinance and agreed at the same time to present alternate measures which would accomplish the same purpose, but would still make it possible for the reputable builder to operate.

Johnson pointed out that for a builder to acquire a performance bond, he would have to have two sets of working capital, one for the bond and the second for the construction. Aside from the tremendous hardship this would place on all builders, there are no insurance companies in the area who will issue such bonds, Johnson explained.

He suggested one alternative to the city's desire to protect its residents would be to require proof of workmen's compensation and general liability indurance from the contractors. Johnson said this alone would insure the city the contractor had been thoroughly investigated and he reminded the bank who was doing the financing would also be concerned and investigate the contractor.

Another possible solution to the city's problem was forthcoming from David Lloyd, executive director of Home Owners Warranty Council of the Florida Gold Coast (HOW).

Builders who operate under the HOW program are screened not only for financial stability through the banks, the credit bureau, sub-contractors and suppliers, but also for the quality of construction and ethical conduct.

If the builder is a member of the Treasure Coast Association, the fee for joining the HOW program is $300. Under this program the homeowner is provided with a ten year warranty for major structural defects and the warranty is transferable should the home be sold within that period.

The city council agreed to table their proposed ordinance and met with the representatives from both the Treasure Coast Builders Association and the HOW program at the February 15 workshop session in order to come up with reasonable protective measures for the residents of this south county municipality.

Winter ball is a huge success

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Woman's Club held its second annual Winter Ball Saturday at the Sandpiper Bay Resort Hotel. The gala affair was planned by Mrs. Kay Prinkey and her committee.

Mrs. Gretchen Ebeling and her magicians changed the club room into a winter wonderland. Lovely silver and gowned ladies and their elegant gentlemen.

Howard Smith was the Master of Ceremonies, and he announced the winners of the door prizes, some of which were complimentary dinners for two at top area restaurants. Business patrons of the ball were General Development Corporation, Sun Bank of St. Lucie County, Bill Schultz Chevrolet, and Al Johnson Motors of Fort Pierce.

Woman's Club member patrons were Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ciampaglio, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Howery, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston, Col. and Mrs. Donald McDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ursin, and Col. and Mrs. James Waldie.

The money raised by the Winter Ball will be used for the club's various charities -- Tri-County Rehabilitation Center, Hacienda Girls' Ranch, and the Community Improvement Project of landscaping for the Port St. Lucie Elementary School.

Each dining table was centered with a snow sprayed evergreen wreath with red bows resting in the greens and a white candle rising out of the middle. When plans for decoration were made, it was not known here would be a winter wonderland outdoors as well.

The dance floor was filled with lovely

PORT ST. LUCIE--The St. Lucie Catholic Women's Club is sponsoring a card party with refreshments Wednesday, February 9, at 1 p.m. in the Church Hall on Prima Vista Boulevard.

Tickets are available by calling 878-1005 or 878-1250. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Montessori trainer will speak in PSL

PORT ST. LUCIE--Mrs. Kathy Bowser, director of the Montessori Teacher Education Center of Palm Beach Junior College, will be the guest speaker at the PSL Montessori Preschool Monday, February 7. She will explain how the Montessori classroom allows each individual child the freedom to develop to his fullest potential.

According to Barbara Martin, administrator of the PSL Montessori Preschool, everyone is welcome to hear Mrs. Bowser. Parents of young children and educators in early childhood are encouraged to attend.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Goddard Hall of the PSL United Methodist Church. It is sponsored by the parents of the local school and serving as hosts will be the Fred Apels and the Skip Heckendorns.

NAVY BOUND--Andrew Saffioti, who will celebrate his eighteenth birthday February 4, will leave just two weeks later to begin a six-year Navy hitch. Andrew will receive his basic training in Orlando and will then study advanced electronics. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Saffioti of 123 N.E. Airoso Boulevard, Port St. Lucie.

...grand opening includes free coffee ...oda for dogs and gifts, and ...one attending will be able to register ...grand prizes to be awarded at the end ...of the opening celebration.

The store will be open from 8:30 a.m. ...5:30 p.m. daily.

Badcock Home Furnishing Centers ...re located throughout Florida with 125 stores. The company features brand name merchandise for all areas of the home.

Brand names include General Electric, Maytag, Hotpoint, Philco, Zenith, Hamilton Beach, Kelvinator, Eureka, Kroehler, Sylvania, Brookwood, Westinghouse, Bassett, Singer, RCA, a La-z boy and Broyhill.

Conrad moved to Fort Pierce from his boyhood home in Plant City in 1954 to work for the W.L. Evers Badcock store. Following two years in the army in 1954-55, Conrad returned to work for the firm, met and married the former Elsie Wilson of Fort Pierce.

Badcock expanded to Stuart in 1956, opening a store on East Fourth Street. Conrad bought the Evers interest in 1958, and in 1960 moved the location to Colorado Avenue, where the store remained until November 16, 1976.

NEW STORE–Jim Conrad, owner of the local Badcock Home Furnishing Center, stands in front of his new store building on U.S. 1 north of Stuart. Conrad is celebrating his grand opening this week.

Environmental Studies planned by Center

Jensen beach–The Adult Education Department and the Environmental Studies Center are cooperatively sponsoring three informative courses concerning the environmental problems of Martin Counter.

Leading off the three-course offering on Tuesday, February 8, will be a study of the Ecosystems of Martin County: a study in local ecological processes. There will be six two-hour lectures supplemented by three Saturday field trips exploring and studying the local environment and problems related to preserving and conserving the delicate interrelationship of the ecosystems. The class will be limited to the first 25 students to enroll and pay the $5 registration fee.

The following evening, February 9 at 7 p.m., the Human Environment course will begin. This will be a guest lecture and film series which will investigate current trends concerning transportation, city planning and land use, economics, politics, and population and stress on the social order. The focus of this course will be on the impact these areas have on the environment of Martin County. The registration fee the eight-lecture series will be $5 for those adults paying their fee before the third lecture. A fee of $1 per lecture will be charged for those attending from the third session on.

The third course offered is the Development of Sources and Conservation of Energy Resources. The 12-week course, covering 36 hours of instruction, will relate to alternate energy sources applicable to Florida. This should enable class participants to learn ways to conserve energy and save money through proper utilization of existing construction and home appliances. The highlight of the course will be the "how to" build a solar water heater. A $2 registration fee is payable at the first class session, 7 p.m. Thursday, February 10.

For more information or to pre-register and pay the applicable fee, you can go to the Adult Education office at 500 E. Ocean Boulevard, Stuart, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., or call 287-6400, extension 130, or the Environmental Studies Center at 334-1262.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

Young people deserve praise for efforts for a job well done and I'm afraid don't get enough, so though it is a bit late - better late than never - I'd like to express thanks and appreciation for the lovely Christmas Trees in East Ocean Mall that were decorated by the children of Jensen Beach Elementary School.

They did a beautiful job. That project called for lots of time and effort on the part of the children and teachers.

Let us not condemn young people all the time. Seek for things to praise them for and give it when deserved.

Thanks for publishing this.

Sincerely,
s-May R. Griswold

WE'RE PUTTING A NEW BANK IN JENSEN BEACH
(That's 44 years old).
When we got started in the banking business back in 1933, many of our customers were from Jensen Beach. Now, 44 years later, thanks to a new Florida law, we will be able to better serve our many customers in Jensen Beach with our new Jensen Beach Branch on Commercial Street.
Although, we're Martin County's oldest and largest financial institution, we still believe in personal and professional service to our customers. Watch for our grand opening in January. If you're not now a customer, please drop by to check out the First National difference.

National awards are won

JENSEN BEACH--The Treasure Coast Builders Women's Auxiliary won two awards at the National Association of Home Builders Women's Auxiliary Convention held in Dallas, Texas.

The auxiliary won second place in the scrapbook competition, and second place as "auxiliary of the year."

Members of the association, which includes Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River Counties, include Arline Signore, Julie Johnson, president, Nancy Brown, Brenda Leaming and Dorothy Carson.

Mrs. Signore, auxiliary president in 1976, said Ms. Brown, as auxiliary historian in 1976, was "largely responsible for the auxiliary winning the scrapbook award."

Also, Mrs. Signore received a 50-member pin, and Mrs. Johnson received the 16-member pin.

Many visit at open house

JENSEN BEACH--"The people were very impressed with our operation," Jay Jarrett, director of the Environmental Studies Center, Jensen Beach, said Monday.

The first in a series of monthly open houses at the center was held Sunday, Jan. 30, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Staff members were on hand during the afternoon to explain the center's operation, and Jarrett observed, "The people seemed to have an enjoyable afternoon."

"We had visitors all afternoon and it was a very pleasant open house," Jarrett said.

Open house will be held on the last Sunday of each month, and Jarrett said the center may designate each open house as a specific community day.

"We are working on plans to have residents of certain communities come to the center on a Sunday, designating each open house as 'Jensen Beach Day' or 'Port Salerno Day' or 'Hobe Sound Day,' Jarrett said.

Jarrett pointed out that many people have expressed an interest in the center, but were unable to visit the center during school week.

"These Sunday afternoon activities should solve the problem," he said.

The center's program has recessed national prominence as one of only seven environmental education projects sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education for national distribution.

Cancer victims meet Thursday

JENSEN BEACH–Alice Steadman, author and sculptor, will be the featured speaker at the Thursday, February 3, meeting of the Tri-County Chapter of Cancer Victims and Friends. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Jensen Beach.

A lecturer from North Carolina, Miss Steadman has in print 125,000 copies of her book "Who's the Matter With Me." She will present examples of mental-emotional cause of bodily disease, discussing how to re-program the mind for, in many cases, instant healing.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

June Spells is president of the group. Meetings are held monthly.

Car driver suffers fatal heart attack

JENSEN BEACH–A car veered out of control on SR-707A (Jensen Beach Cutoff Road) at about 12:30 p.m. Monday after its driver apparently suffered a heart attack at the wheel, according to the Highway Patrol.

Walter H. Schroeder, 79, of 9710 A-1-A, Apt. 405, Jensen Beach, was dead on arrival at Martin Memorial Hospital, according to the patrol.

According to the patrol, Schroeder was traveling east when he lost control of his car and struck a vehicle driven by Joseph Hrupeho of Fort Clinton, Ohio. Hrupeho was not injured.

Chorus starts Good Friday rehearsals

JENSEN BEACH–Adults who enjoy singing good music are invited to join the Community Chorus Monday evening, February 7, at 7:30 p.m.

The chorus will meet each Monday evening at Jensen Beach Community Church, Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach, to rehearse Faure's "Requiem" for presentation during Good Friday services at the church.

The Community Chorus will be under the direction of Mrs. Esther Plyler. Mrs. Plyler holds a Master's degree in music and has had more than 35 years experience in choral direction in the states and abroad.

Chorus members will be required to purchase the music for the presentation and there is a registration fee of $3.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Plyler weekdays at 334-7190.

Special course is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–A course in the construction of draperies, slip covers and curtains will be offered at Martin County High School, beginning Wed. Feb. 9, at 7 p.m.

The course includes a study of the ways in which attractive and livable interiors can be planned in relation to family housing situations and incomes.

Practical information concerning choice of furnishings and equipment will be included.

Students will have the opportunity to design and construct window and wall draperies and curtains.

HORTICULTURAL BEAUTY–While Robert L. Schweiger of 1760 SE Clearmont maintains the growth in his yard (pictured above) is nothing short of horticultural beauty which is compatible with his home, the City of Port St. Lucie stands firm on the claim it is undergrowth and weeds. Since the parties involved have reached an impasse, City Manager Elmer Cox on January 21 filed an application with the State Attorney's office for an arrest warrant. Cox, who is responsible for enforcing all city ordinances, made the administrative decision to have the owner arrested rather than send in City equipment to clear the property.

Bunko resumed by WWI Vets

PORT ST. LUCIE–Barracks 2308, Veterans of World War I, resumed its program of playing Bunko, with a nice group turning out for the first session since October.

Bob Sherill took home the booby prize and, for this accomplishment, he was allowed to pick the door prize winner, who turned out to be Mildred Engleman.

Other winners were: Lolita Benson, first; Katherine Sherrill, second; R.W. Benson, third; Marvin Alloway, fourth.

Bunko is played every fourth Thursday.

Phi Beta Psi fashion show is February 8

STUART–The Phi Beta Psi annual fashion show, benefit of local cancer patients and the cancer loan closet, will be presented at the Elks Club February 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Adult fashions from the She Shoppe will be modeled by Nancy Anderson, Elna Marr, Susan Burns, Barbara Bush, Jo Perham Holt, Lillian Hall, Millie Pennington and Ruth Cooper.

Children's fashions, featuring Easter outfits and bathing suits, will be provided by the Pied Piper and modeled by Cindy Wiley, Shawn Plymale, Ken Brotherton, Michael Harris, Chad Hall and Susanna Smith.

Door prizes, donated by area merchants, will include dinner for two at nice restaurants, plants and gift certificates.

Homemade refreshments will be served at the end of the evening.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any Phy Beta Psi member.

Chairmen for the special event are Marilyn Marr and Jean Wiley.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL VOTE

TOWN OF SEWALL'S POINT

There will be a SPECIAL STRAW VOTE at the Town Hall from Tuesday, February 15, 1977 - 7:00 a.m. to 7 p.m. for Registered Voters of the Town of Sewall's Point.

THE BALLOT:

The Town of Sewall's Point currently owns approximately 3,200 feet of South River Road right-of-way which is now unpaved. An additional 600 feet of right-of-way has been offered to the Town by private owners at no costs to the Town other than the costs of paving. The Town Commission proposes to pave the southerly 3,760 feet of right-of-way now available to the Town, and to continue with its plan to acquire and pave additional rights-of-way for this road as it becomes available.

☐ I AM in favor of the above proposal.

☐ I AM NOT in favor of the above proposal.

DAR plans history month

JENSEN BEACH–American History Month will be featured at the February 11 meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), with a film, "Uncle Sam - the Man and Legend."

The business meeting for Chapter members only will be held at the Holiday Inn, Stuart, at 11 a.m. Final plans for the Scholarship Fund benefit card party, to be given on February 22 at the Stuart Woman's Club, will be discussed.

Guests and members of other chapters are welcome for the luncheon at 12 noon and the program. Call for reservations before February 8. Members: Mrs. R.E. Terry, 334-8084 or Mrs. E.O. Bair, 287-8848. Guests, call Mrs. Dewey Hayes, 287-3398.

Church World seeks clothing

JENSEN BEACH–The Church World Service Clothing Drive is being conducted this week, sponsored by the Church Women United of Martin County.

New or good used clothing is urgently needed on a year-round basis, especially for men and children. Clothing is distributed to needy persons in this country as well as in the mission field.

Bring clothing, boxed and taped, to the First United Methodist Church of Stuart Fellowship Hall February 4, 5, and 6. Include the name of church or organization on the box and 10 cents per pound for shipping.

Donations of $3 are needed for purchase of blankets for disasters, and another Church World Service project is sewing kits, used to help student seamstresses and tailors learn the trade, also to instruct.

Further information on Church World Services is available by calling Eleanor Funk, 283-4066.

Jensen Beach Garden Club is 27 years old

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Garden Club celebrated its 27th anniversary January 19, at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

After the traditional cake cutting ceremony, in which all past presidents of the club participated, Mrs. Mildred Copeland, current president, welcomed members and presented new member Mrs. Harry Sealock.

Speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Edward Morris who demonstrated and instructed the members in the making of corsages from both live and dried materials. Mrs. William Ellis presented horticultural tips and illustrated her talk by showing the bird's nest fern and staghorn plant.

Winners of the special Birthday Party arrangement class were Doris Taylor, first; Bea Zdancewic, second; Laura Johnson, third; Arlene Bradley, honorable mention.

The nominating committee was appointed by President Greenland to draw up a slate of officers for the coming club year. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Edward Morris, aided by Mrs. Harold Copeland and Mrs. Melburn Murray.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames William Hammond, Richard Kupp, Fred Diehl, Donald Whitson and Leon Zdancewic.

Waterway Show at library

JENSEN BEACH–Arrangements are now being completed for the local showing of the Okeechobee Waterway Landscape Art Show, featuring scenes pertaining to the waterway.

The show will be held from February 14 to February 28 at the Martin County Public Library, according to art show coordinator Mrs. Victoria Johnson.

Ribbons will be awarded by the Okeechobee Waterway Association and the winning picture will be shown at the final judging in Fort Myers on March 8. Cash grand prizes of $300, $125 and $75 will be awarded at that time.

The purpose of the show is to make people aware of the beauty along the waterway.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY–The golden wedding anniversary celebration of these and other couples at Holiday Out, Hutchinson Island, was observed at a party Sunday, Jan. 23, at the recreation center. From left are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Whitfield, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Vansant, Mr. and Mrs. T.A. Grauel, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. John Wolfe.

PENNY'S CORNER

COSTOLETTE ALLA PARMIGIANA
(Veal Chops Parmigiana)

½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
4 large loin veal chops (2 to 2½ pounds)
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons butter
4 thin slices of Mozzarella cheese
2 cups well seasoned tomato sauce

Mix crumbs, Parmesan, salt, and paprika. Dip chops into egg and roll in crumb mixture. Heat butter and brown chops on both sides. Cover each with a slice of Mozzarella. Pour tomato sauce over chops. Cover and simmer for about 45 minutes. If sauce is too thick, add a little hot water. Makes 4 servings.

The January 25 meeting of the Martin County Council on Aging was highlighted with a talk by County Commissioner Dr. William Myers on what he learned about transportation and retirement centers at the National Association of County Commissioners meeting in Washington, D.C.

The commissioners were told how Cape May, N.J., solved part of their transportation by the use of school buses in off hours. For those retirees who found school buses difficult, radio controlled vans were used as a supplement. This equipment was used for special excursions on Saturdays. Last year, 100,000 free rides were supplied at a cost to the county of only 43 cents per ride.

Dr. Myers reported that numerous surveys showed that Seniors prefer independent living and housing and this they should bear in mind. There are federal funds for Senior Centers and housing and the first step should be to form a committee to determine the "needs" and not the "wants." He said, maybe a Department on Aging at the county level would be a step in the right direction.

TOURIST CLUB had 290 at the Jan. 17 meeting in the Stuart Youth Center. A roll call by states showed Pennsylvania with the most. After a pot luck meal, they were "entertained by a 7-piece Senior Swinger group and Charlie Pierce, president, sang "Down in the Ol' Cherry orchard" - a real old timer. Next meeting, Feb. 3, 6:30 p.m.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES CLUB had over 200 at last Friday night's dance and sing-along in Ocean East Mall. Next one, Friday, Feb. 11, 7 to 8:30 p.m. They're great fun, bring your own chair.

Joe Forsberg, president (recently elected for the fifth time) says don't forget their Valentine Party Monday, Feb. 14, at the Youth Center. One dollar per person for cake 'n' coffee and dancing to the Senior Swingers. Also, regular meeting every Wednesday, 1 p.m.

Martin County AARP No. 2223

THE TAX AID program is the hottest project. It started Monday, Jan. 31, 9 to 12, at First Federal S&L, Jensen Beach, and Stuart National Bank, E. Ocean Blvd., and will continue every Mon., Wed. and Fri. through Fri., April 8.

There will be two trained tax counselors on duty to answer questions and help with your tax forms (but not to fill them out). It has been suggested that you read the instructions first and make out your return in pencil as far as possible, then bring them and other documents with you. This is a FREE service, so it's up to the Senior Citizens to take advantage of it. For information call Paul Berglund, Stuart, 287-2990; and L.M. Latchaw, Jensen Beach, 334-0561.

A BOOTH at the Martin County Fair is under consideration. If it's possible to go ahead with the idea, fast action will be required because of time element. Leon LaRoche, first v.p., has signs ready with booth trim and make-up planned out. There'll be literature for AARPers and non-AARPers, and maybe some of the 6775 county, national members will join the chapter. There can be a TV raffle, sale of small senior items, a county music combo, projector for viewing travel and tour scenes. However, they'll need many AARPers to man the booth. This is to be discussed at the next ExCom meeting. Please attend if interested.

DEFENSIVE DRIVING class time has been set by Esther Kildea of Martin County Adult Education. It will be every month, Monday and Wednesday of the third and fourth weeks, with a self defense class on the fourth Friday. All classes will be at 2 p.m. in the Environmental Studies Center auditorium, Jensen Beach. For info, call 334-0756, or 287-6400, extension 130. Lt. Bill Scott, Sheriff's Dept., instructor.

A RETIREMENT complex has been discussed endlessly with practically no action, except to accumulate materials and ideas. Now, with the appointment of Frank Kirk as coordinator, we have moved one step closer to realization. Frank will continue to gather and list all pertinent materials, contact others who have been involved in similar centers, and work with other local agencies, clubs and organizations that could help with the project or benefit from it. All members with ideas and information, please get in touch with Frank, telephone 546-7748.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

Thursday, Feb. 3: Regular AARP Day at Langford Park. Committee meetings: Health, 10 a.m.; Budget, 10:30 a.m.; and Membership at 1 p.m. Lunch and entertainment 11:30 to 1:00 (bring your own lunch). Sports and games in the afternoon. Make it a habit to drop by on the first Thursday of each month, get acquainted and have fun.

Friday, Feb. 4: Tax Aid 9 to 12, 1st Federal, jensen, and Stuart National Bank, E. Ocean Blvd., and every Mon., Wed. and Fri. until April 8. It's FREE.

Monday, Feb. 7: Tourist Club, 6:30 p.m. Pot luck supper and entertainment, Stuart Youth Center, and every first and third Mondays.

Tuesday, Feb. 8: Swimming Class at Martin County High School pool, 3:30 p.m. and every Tuesday and Friday until further notice.

Wednesday, Feb. 9: Senior Activities 1 p.m. at your center. Smart Cards games and crafts, until 4:30. Every Wednesday.

Thursday, Feb. 10: AARP ExCom meeting, 1:30 p.m. in the First National Bank of Stuart. All members and committees must attend - your help and ideas are needed to get projects underway before the season ends.

Friday, Feb. 11: Sing-along and dance at Ocean East Mall, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Music by the Senior Swingers. Bring your own chair.

Monday, Feb. 14: Valentine Party at Youth Center. Also, the start of Defensive Driving Class, 2 p.m. at the Environmental Studies Center, Jensen.

Thursday, Feb. 17: Regular monthly meeting, 1:30 at the North River Shores Presbyterian Church. Carl Wahlquist, AARP insurance consultant, will talk and answer questions and so will Marion McNally. It's one of the Home Health Service Refreshments, door prize and raffles.

Port St. Lucie Chapter 2696

A regional AARP workshop will be held Feb. 8 at Palm Bay, just south of Melbourne at which programs for the coming year will be reviewed. Bill Rodriguez assistant AARP director for the region of which Port St. Lucie forms a part, will preside. The seven chapters in the region will be represented.

These get togethers are always beneficial because they give representatives of the different chapters the opportunity to exchange views and experiences and any chapter that has tried a program that proved effective shares its know-how with those present.

Jim Kearney, Morgan Jones and Maurice Arluck will attend as well as President Fred Waggin if he can arrange to put off an earlier commitment he had that day.

TAP, tax assistance program, project got under way Monday at the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Association building, with a total of ten members acting as counselors. Ten being on duty Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Tom Carlile, program coordinator, said last week that everything appeared to be in good shape and that all counselors who took the training program had received their "grades."

Irwin George Lachman, instructor in Carlile again urged that people who plan to take advantage of the program bring with them their 1975 income tax returns!

Maurie Arluck reports that the request for a mailing permit which will allow low-cost mailing of the chapter's monthly news bulletin is now in the works and should be here in plenty of time to permit mailing this month's issue. In addition to going out to all members of our own chapter, the bulletin will be sent to other chapters in the surrounding area, from which similar bulletins are now being received. This exchange, like the meeting at Palm Bay, proves very useful because the bulletins contain many ideas that might be applied here.

One things that stands out in a perusal of the information, Maurie said, is that the longer-established chapters appear to have a much more active social program that Port St. Lucie does. For example, several chapters have annual banquets which give members a better chance to get to know each other than the regular meetings.

"We're going to take this and other activities into consideration in thinking about our own programs in the future," he said.

Volunteers are still needed from Port St. Lucie for the meals-on-wheels program, President Wiggin said. He commented that there are people in the community who need and want this service, but in order to put it into effect, volunteers are needed who will drive to Fort Pierce, pick up the meals and return with them to Port St. Lucie.

"Some people have been helping others on a neighborly helping-hand basis for quite a while," Fred said, "but it should be put on an organized basis."

Individual members of the chapter contributed more than $100 to the campaign mounted by the Coalition of Florida Consumers to fight the rate increase requested by Florida Power & Light. As reported last week, Bob Brunton, who has been spearheading the drive, appeared before the January meeting to request the support of AARP members.

Don't forget that annual dues are payable. A great many people apparently have forgotten or just haven't gotten around to paying. Treasurer Esther Thompson reports that only about 25 per cent of the membership has fulfilled its obligation in this respect, which is really a minor problem when you consider that the dues are only $2. Esther recalled that the chapter standing rules provide that members who have not paid their dues by March 31 will be dropped.

Lake Worth upset by charging Tigers

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART—The Lake Worth Trojans came to Stuart last Tuesday night with a perfect record, an unbeaten Suncoast Conference Shooting Division record, a number four ranking in the state AAAA ratings, and a chance to virtually wrap up the conference title.

But many well-laid plans are quickly put to rest, as the Trojans found out in the third quarter of the conference contest. The Tigers simply had too much going for them. They had the home-court advantage, and a fire-up offense which wouldn't quit firing.

The Tigers' size had Lake Worth's Jeff Campbell, their 6'6" All-American prospect who is finally getting his touch back after a slow start. Campbell, who is one of the most sought-after high school players in the United States, getting offers from such prestigious schools as Ohio State and Florida, scored 29 points. His performance, along with the second half explosion of Moses Johnson, was the key to the Tigers' 78-70 victory, a win which propelled them into first place in the Suncoast East.

But Lake Worth put up an admirable fight before surrendering in the final seconds. In fact, Martin County led 67-64 with only five-and-a-half minutes to go in the game. But at this point, Lake Worth employed a full-court press. Martin County allowed the Trojans to outscore them 14-3 in the next four minutes, bringing the score to 78-68.

Campbell sank four free throws in the next thirty seconds to make it 76-68, but Winfred Patrick tallied for the Trojans to cut the margin to only 76-70. Charley Jones then put the game away, scoring on a slam dunk with just three seconds to go.

Campbell turned in his best performance of the season as his 29 points topped his previous high of 27 against Palm Beach Gardens only a week-and-a-half earlier. In short, it is quite fair to say that Campbell has hit his peak for the year, and if Martin County is to advance to the uncanny heights of the state playoffs, he will have to continue at his torrid pace.

Lake Worth's leading scorer against the Tigers (18-2) was Oscar Taylor, who pumped in 22 points. Ronald Taylor and Patrick each contributed 12 points to the Trojans' (16-3) attack.

HOW THE BALL BOUNCED

MARTIN COUNTY (78)—FG, FT-FTA.

Luckie makes 'All-State'

FORT PIERCE—Dock Luckie, the 6'3", 225-pound tackle for the tenacious defense of the Fort Pierce Central Cobras, made the first string "all-state" team for the second year in a row last week.

Split end Jackie Robinson made the second team, while Alvin Chavis earned a spot on the same squad, as a defensive back. Alvin Miller, the Cobras' top runner, was accorded a third-team berth.

Danny Garland, the Martin County running back who earned an all-conference berth earlier this winter, was given honorable mention, as was tackle Ted Cipra.

Jim Sakels, the punter from Palm Beach Gardens who averaged 41.3 yards per kick against Martin County in the season opener, and the man who led the state in punting for most of the season, finished with a third-team position as punter.

In high school soccer action, Martin County downed Fort Lauderdale Westminster 5-2, as Larry Davis tallied a pair of goals for the 2-9 Tigers.

Ken Tugi had the other goal for the Tigers. The outstanding performers on the defense were Chip Winton and Steve Orazi.

The Tiger kickers will play at home today, when they host Vero Beach-St. Edward's. Friday the Tigers will go against Miami Central.

Our six million dollar man.

Come meet the six million dollar man. He's the friendly installment loan officer at Stuart National Bank. We have over $6 million just waiting to get out and circulate. We want to put some of it to work for you, to help you get a little more out of life.

Our money can make it possible for you to take a vacation, install central air conditioning, buy a new car, boat, mobile home or recreational vehicle, or enjoy any one of a dozen purchases. Whatever your needs, you'll find that you can borrow our money at low interest rates, lower than most other methods of borrowing.

Visit the home of the six million dollar man, the installment loan department of Stuart National, where we'll be glad to arrange a loan that's within your means.

RECREATION COMMITTEE NEWS: Tropic Gas Company informed the park that we cannot heat the swimming pool until the cold weather emergency is over. We are sorry for the inconvenience this will cause some hardy folks, but knowing them, we know they will understand.

THE PANCAKE BREAKFAST, scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 6, is in limbo at this writing. The committee for the Beer Blast is the same as for the Pancake Breakfast - and we can't have the Beer Blast until the weather stabilizes. Tickets will be available this week for the ABE'S Birthday Dance, from Mary Ellen Meacham or Venture Three Office, lot 801.

Please check the bulletin board in the rec hall for special events, change of plans, etc. Thanks.

JACKIE PHILLIPS, Lot 732, 334-4168, reports the following from the St. Lucie area:

Kay and Ray Kileen are back on V-734 for the remainder of the winter. Their plans were to leave Illinois Jan. 6, but due to their home being located in an area back far enough that snow creates a problem to move a trailer, each time they plowed away the snow, another accumulation would prevent their leaving. On Jan. 18, their good neighbors plowed the snow away and Jan. 19 they hooked the trailer up in 23 degree BELOW zero weather! There were several inches of snow on top of the trailer. During the drive down the Florida Turnpike, this snow created a lot of attention. One family at Fort St. Lucie exit had never actually touched snow, and making snowballs was a rare treat for them. The "Tail Gate Lady" said she thought she would never see that stuff again. The Kileens will trade any weather Florida has to offer in exchange for the weather they left back home. Thanks Ray for that nice report!

Helen and Boyd Kilts of Swordfish Lane have left for a few days of fishing with Boyd's brother at Lake Okeechobee. We're looking forward to Boyd's report that he caught one "that big!"

Margie and Bob Owen attended the Experimental Aircraft Assn meet in Lakeland, Florida. Everyone expected Bob to come home with an antique plane to pull apart, but Margie was lucky, he came away empty handed. They went on to Brooksville, Florida, to see an uncle of Margie's. A nice trip, but they said they're glad to be back.

Red and Alice Fitzgerald's son Jerry arrived by bus from Cleveland on Saturday. Mom and Dad were on pins and needles 'til their pride and joy arrived safely.

May and Earl Eisenhard of lot 751 had their friends Frances and Al Reinsmith of Allentown, Pa., as their guests for a few days. They were entranced with our park, especially Al who did a lot of fishing. He sings in a barbershop quartet, so they left here to attend the Barbershop Quartet Convention in Orlando.

Welcome back Ethel and Jim Rupert (Larry Bowling's brother and sister-in-law)! So sorry that sister Margie will not make it this year due to the weather. They're all such a wonderful bunch.

MARION ULDRIKS, Indian River, Lot 833, reports the following:

LeRoy Merrin, son Rob and his wife Holly, and their son Robby arrived this week for at least a month's stay. His wife Ardath will arrive later in February.

Happy to report that Charlotte Kerwin, mother of Red Kerwin, is gradually improving since her fall which resulted in two broken legs. Therapy sessions have begun, but she will be in traction for another four weeks at Martin Memorial.

Rose Corth enjoyed a few days visit with her son and his wife, Harry and Mary Corth, in Buffalo, N.Y. Rose is waiting for a thaw so that she can get a telephone message through to Buffalo.

With more snow in the forecast, residents here may expect flurries of relatives and friends drifting in as many as six at a time!

Among those who had to fly home are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson to Minneapolis due to the death of her mother; and Cap Uldriks, to Battle Creek upon the death of his father. Our sincere sympathy to them.

Jim Alker, who has been hospitalized several days, has undergone surgery and is reported to be in fair condition.

Good new for all of Evelyn Sterling's friends: she is feeling much better and we are hoping she'll go on doing so from now on.

Gail Lawson's mother is with her for a visit. Hope she stays 'till the sun comes out in search of our visitors.

Jim DeHaseth just returned from a trip to the West Indies to visit his brother. Glad to have you back, Jim and Dorothy.

JESSE SHAVER, Venture Harbour, 334-2714, reports the following:

Jean and Gil Van Willigen had an enjoyable five day visit with old friends, Amy and Ken Weiss, at Bradenton on the west coast. Always glad to get back to our island, though.

Don and Faye Smith left the cold and snow of West Virginia to come to Venture Harbour and have been enjoying our sun by riding their motorcycles all over the island.

Edith and Dick Painter have as their guest Mrs. Jean White of Rhode Island. Aunt Jeanie enjoys her annual visit and can be seen sitting in the sun almost every day.

Larry Bell is home from a three day stay in Martin Memorial after surgery on Tuesday. He is doing very well and recovering very rapidly.

Happy birthday to Jean Reynolds, Feb. 1, and anniversary congratulations to Barbara and Stanley Clark, Feb. 3. Happy birthday, also, to Shirley Brittain on Feb. 7.

BETTY PEABE, Venture Harbour, 334-6787, reports from Sneak Street:

George Gleason was all set to fly home to Indiana until he discovered that, though the plane could deliver him to Indiana, there was no way that he could get from plane to home. Hence, he is still happily dwelling on Snook Street. We're glad he is.

Max and Thelma Dickey are due this week for the Auto Train is back in operation. Welcome!

Louise Shepherd has guests, Charlotte and Bill Curran from Cheverly, Maryland. Welcome aboard.

Watch the bulletin board for change of hours for the Exercise Class. What happened to Women's Lib!!!

announced, last week that Development Corporation
had agreed to sell the acreage to the Trust for Public Land. The trust would then sell to the state for $120 an acre, or a total of $100,920.

When it was announced that the trust had obtained an option on the land, it was called "terrific news" by Marjorie Alder, a long-time proponent of saving the savannas.

Mrs Alder was an original member of the "Save the Savannas Committee" with members in Martin and St. Lucie Counties, and a member of the St. Lucie County Conservation Alliance.

The land to be acquired was called the key of the area, and is almost wholly within St. Lucie County and is about one-third of the area the state is considering for purchase.

The state has been negotiating for the purchase of about 6,500 acres in the savannas, which is between Jensen Beach Cutoff Road (SR-707A) and Midway Road in St. Lucie County.

Norm McMillan, land acquisition agent for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), was in Jensen Beach a few days ago talking to savanna landowners, and said last week that he has concluded agreements to purchase from property owners more than 3,500 acres.

The agreements, which must be approved by the Cabinet, were reached with 40 individual owners. And McMillan said the GDC plan to sell some of its land is important because it is located in the extremely sensitive center of the vast wetlands area.

McMillan said that state officials might question his purchase arrangements because the areas GDC and others plan to turn into subdivisions could have the effect of marring the preserve the state wants to create.

One condition of the state purchase is that the property is to be managed by separate Savannas Wilderness Trust.

A member of the trust said there is precedent for selling the land to the state and retaining the management rights. The trust will establish guidelines for the preservation and maintenance of the wetlands area.

Members of the trust are Martin County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla, Jim Pioway of Fort Pierce; Mayor Ed Gluckler of Sewall's Point; Betty Lou Wells and John Brooks, both of Fort Pierce; Trudy Bernhard, Jupiter. Art Harper, GDC, Peter Pritchard of the Florida Audubon Society, and Jerry A. Outlip, manager of Corkscrew Wilderness area of the everglades.

Approximately $9 million is earmarked for purchase of the savannas and the total price McMillan has agreed to pay the land owners is $4.6 million.

RUMMAGE ITEMS—Mrs. Frank Wacha is shown with a chair and bird cage at the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department. These two items were some of the hundreds of items at the rummage sale last Saturday sponsored by the department's Auxiliary.

When county commissioners visited DOT officials in Tallahassee last January, they were told that new hearings would be held in the county, and private consultants would make environmental studies on three proposed routes.

More talk on parking ban

SEWALL'S POINT—More discussion on restriction of recreation vehicle parking will be held at tonight's Wednesday 7:30 session of the Town Commission. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m.

Commissioners have suspended enforcement of strict zoning regulations under Ordinance 95, which bars certain classes of vehicles from public view, until new rules can be adopted.

At the workshop session last week, residents gave commissioners suggestions on new regulations.

New rules probably will be adopted in March, commissioners indicated after the workshop session.

Sections of the zoning code require certain types of vehicles, such as pickup trucks, vans, boat trailers, boats, motorcycles and motor homes, hidden from public view.

Only passenger cars and station wagons are permitted in public view under the ordinance. All other vehicles must be in garages.

Residents pointed out at the work session that visitors who arrive in motor homes and vans were unable to stay because of the current strict regulations.

Some suggestions by residents included limiting the time for vehicles to be parked, requiring a special permit from the town for parking vehicles overnight, and residents agreed that some compromise is needed.

The three route proposals to undergo additional study are Alternate 6, the far western route, Alternate P-1, which is east of Florida's Turnpike, and the Ransom Tilton route.

Jensen Beach Realtor Tilton's route is an eastern route through the county. His plan calls for I-95 to parallel the turnpike and swings directly north to cross SR 708, and then curves up to Cove Road and onto SR 76.

The route crosses the St. Lucie River south of Riverland Trailer Park and connects with Mapp Road, and it then runs directly west and crosses SR 714 through the M&W properties.

At that point, Tilton points out, the route could either connect with the turnpike or cross to the western side and link up with the route selected for St Lucie County.

DOT officials were upset by what they considered the eleventh-hour nature of Tiemann's action, and hope to block the move.

Taxpayers will hear Malfregeot

STUART—Augie Malfregeot, Martin County Property Appraiser, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Martin County Taxpayers Association, Friday, February 18, at 4 p.m. at the Stuart Woman's Club.

The public is invited to the meeting, which will feature some information about property assessments relative to county and school taxes.

VWW1 Auxiliary extends invitation

JENSEN BEACH—The Auxiliary of Barracks 854, Veterans of World War I, invites the public to its card parties held on the second Thursday of each month.

This month's party will be held at 12:30 p.m. February 10 at the clubhouse in Langford Park.

Admiral is program speaker

JENSEN BEACH—The U.S. Navy Chief of Chaplains will be the principal speaker for the annual God and Country Day Sunday, Feb. 20, at Florida Institute of Technology auditorium beginning at 3 p.m.

Rear Admiral John O'Connor, CHC, USN, became the 16th Chief of Chaplains on July 1, 1975. Chaplain O'Connor was selected for the rank of rear admiral in September of 1974.

Chaplain O'Connor is a Catholic priest of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia who was elevated to the rank of Monsignor by Pope Paul VI in 1966.

He began active duty as a Navy chaplain in 1952, and he was educated at St Charles College, St Charles Theological Seminary, Villanova University, Catholic University of America, and at Georgetown University.

Virgil Rathbone, publicity chairman for the program, said the program will get under way at 2:30 p.m. Sunday with a concert by the U.S. Navy Band at Orlando.

Also, all county organizations, churches, schools, civic groups will display their colors in the grand procession.

Rathbone said transportation will be provided to and from the auditorium.

"People should leave their cars either at Langford Park, First Federal Savings and Loan Association parking area, or at the American Legion Post on South Savanna Road," Rathbone said.

"We will have station wagons at these locations beginning at 1 p.m. to drive the people to FIT," he said.

Rathbone pointed out that there is a limited number of parking spaces at the school site and they will have to be used for people taking equipment to the auditorium and for people involved in the program.

Co-sponsors of the program are All Saints Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, and American Legion Post 126, Jensen Beach. Rathbone said that the two sponsors are paying all expenses and are asking for no assistance.

The Martin County Commission has declared Sunday, Feb. 20, as God and Country Day.

REAR ADMIRAL JOHN O'CONNOR

Woman's Club rummage sale is Saturday

STUART—The Woman's Club of Stuart will hold its annual rummage sale Saturday, February 12, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The sale will be conducted at the club house on East Ocean Boulevard and will offer clothing, housewares, and many more used, but not abused, articles.

Donations for the sale may be delivered to the club house between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Friday, February 11.

Two more precincts

JENSEN BEACH—There will be two new precincts in north Martin County under the proposed redrawing of voting boundary lines.

One new precinct would be all of Hutchinson Island north of Elliott Museum, and the second new precinct would be west of the Florida East Coast Railway tracks to U.S. 1, and south of Commercial Street (SR 707A).

Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph discussed the redrawing of voting precincts with County Commissioners Tuesday and they gave basic approval to the plan.

Legal descriptions of boundaries and establishing of voting places should be completed in time for commissioners' final approval at next Tuesday's meeting.

The precinct changes stem from a state law requiring counties in Florida to redraw the lines by March 1. And the law requires counties to redraw precinct lines so they are bounded by identifiable physical features, like rivers, roads, railroad tracks, etc.

The Hutchinson Island precinct will be removed from Precinct 19, which is north of Commercial Street and was recently moved out of Precinct 1.

Mrs. Randolph said a voting location must be established on the island, but Commissioner Wacha is expected to have one by next Tuesday.

Preliminary plans called for the other precinct to be west of Savanna Road, but Mrs. Randolph moved the boundary east to the railroad track to take in some of the new development on Savanna Road.

"It should take between 300 and 350 persons from Precinct 1," Mrs. Randolph said.

Precinct 1, with voting at Langford Park field house, is one of the largest precincts in the county, and kept growing even with splitting the north end and creating Precinct 19, with voting at Jensen Beach Community Church.

Other changes in the north county area will put residents west of U.S. 1 and north of Roosevelt Bridge in Precinct 2, with voting at the United Presbyterian Church.

Other precincts will be changed and created in other sections of the county, and shifting of some communities into different precincts to "balance the populations" in each precinct.

"There will be no changes in the Rio and Ocean Breeze Park precincts," Mrs. Randolph said.

Also, with the creation of new precincts, Mrs. Randolph said more voting machines will be needed. "I'm going to ask for five new machines next week."

Hartman-Tilton adds Wilson

JENSEN BEACH—The Hartman, Tilton Insurance Agency, Inc., has changed its name to Hartman, Tilton and Wilson, according to an announcement by Ralph Hartman and Ransom Tilton.

Norman Wilson, general manager for four years, was recently named president of the firm which includes the oldest insurance agency in Martin County, dating back to 1921.

Located in the Bessemer Building, Sewall's Point, with a branch office in the Citizens Federal Building, Port St. Lucie, the firm is an Independent Agency that represents many old line stock and mutual companies covering all facets of insurance.

According to Wilson, Hartman, Tilton and Wilson Insurance Agency plans to continue to expand and update its professional insurance services in order to keep pace with the growth of the area.

Art Festival is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH—The 11th Annual Jensen Beach Art Festival, sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, will be held March 5-6 at Langford Park.

"We always have about 100 artists exhibiting their work at our festival," Ernie Baker, chairman of the festival, said.

"Already we have 69 entries," Baker said, as he put up the festival sign Monday at the park on SR-707.

"We have sent applications to the artists who were here last year, and we have artists from all sections of the country, from California to New England," he said.

The two-day festival, which is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day, attracts a large crowd, and especially on Sunday, March 6, when the Jensen Beach Lions Club holds their annual pancake fry.

FIRST CUSTOMER–Ralph Woodrich, chairman of the Kings Kids Church Group of the First Methodist Church in Stuart, became the first person to open an account at the newly-opened First National Bank Jensen Beach office.

First National opens

JENSEN BEACH–The new Jensen Beach Branch of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart was officially opened last Monday morning when County Commissioner Frank Wacha cut the ribbon.

The official grand-opening celebration will be held this Saturday, February 12, at the branch located in the new Commercial Plaza. The Grand Opening is also being held in observance of First National's 44th Anniversary.

Starting at 1 p.m., the festivities will feature the famous "Clarence Sherrington Invaders Steel Band." Free popcorn and soft drinks will be provided at the event which will last until 5 p.m.

Richard B. (Dick) Grant, branch manager, has issued an invitation to all area residents to attend the grand opening and to be sure and register for the many prizes to be given away.

The Jensen Beach Branch of First National is a full service facility including a complete loan department, safe deposit boxes, drive-in tellers and "Pat" 24-hour banking service.

Construction began in November and was completed last week. General contractor was Werner Bela Construction, Stuart.

All are Sweethearts! Thursday Feb. 10, will be the Valentine dance at the rec hall with the Fred Lewis Trio. The committee for the evening are Dee and Don Pinch, Doris and Ken Berry, Dorothy and Sam Foote, Jean and Carl Kurz. Tickets go on sale at the rec hall Wednesday, 1 to 3 p.m. for a BYOB affair.

Accordionist Russell Desserich accompanied Bill Hendricksen at the evening Sunday night. A special treat was provided by two granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, four and seven years old, who sang and danced marvelously.

Charles Ullmann is doing an excellent job arranging these events. More should use the rec and enjoy the affairs which are at 8 p.m.

Lawton Memorial Report: Joe Vandenbroek, room 223, is recovering. Horace Parker, room 305, is progressing. Gordon Wilson, in 303, had surgery Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowen went home Sunday after six months and two days....all good news.

The first VHO (Volunteer Help Organization) meeting of the season was held in the H.O. rec hall on January 31. Sixteen members from Holiday Out and Venture Out attended. Because of illness, Mr. and Mrs. William Grugling were forced to resign as co-presidents. Mrs. Alpha Koepsell has asked to be relieved of her duties as secretary-treasurer as soon as a replacement can be found.

Clarence Guthell and Frank Lawson volunteered to serve as a nominating committee to find replacements. They ask for your help in this difficult task.

VHO is sponsoring a Red Cross course in cardio pulmonary resuscitation which started Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, and will continue for seven consecutive Wednesday evenings at the H.O. rec hall, 7 to 9 p.m. Forty-one persons signed up for the first night, but it is not too late to join this (could be) life saving course.

VHO is again sponsoring blood pressure tests at H.O. rec hall every third Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. under the capable leadership of Mrs. Mary Neff, assisted by several other RN's in Holiday Out-Venture Out parks.

Carrie and Charlie Ullman are having so much company that it is interfering with Carrie's social life! She missed the luncheon at the Japanese Steak house but 32 other ladies from the park enjoyed the delicious food and excellent service.

Block Captains and other volunteers will be visiting each trailer in the park soon to solicit funds for the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance. Residents of our park have been most generous in their contributions to this worthy fund in the past, we hope this year will be the best yet.

Sorry to hear Lillian Schraff fell and broke her wrist at the Jensen Beach Post Office.

Anniversary congratulations are extended to Dick and Dot Clark, Feb. 8; Geoff and Tena Van Raay, Feb. 13; and on Valentine Day, Feb. 14, to George and Olive Taylor, Robert and Jean Davis.

Happy birthday wishes go to Mable Weintraub and Robert David, Feb. 9; Scott Sykora, Feb. 10; Howard Kirkpatrick and Kate Green, Feb. 12; Violette O'Neil and Bob Leister, Feb. 13; Rita Strehs, Marietta Brocklebank and Jean Aubin, Feb. 13.

Venture Three

The following is reported by Marian Uldrikx, Lot 893 - Indian River:

Frank Nolin has returned from a Miami hospital and is feeling so much better with his pacemaker.

Keith and Barbara Crowell are here for the third season, enjoying their old friends, as well as many new ones.

Ken and Lee Horton of Battle Creek, Michigan, are here on lot 852 again for an extended stay. Welcome back!

The Cooks, lot 854, had a very short visit last week from Thornton's sister Rita and her buband Bob. Also Mabel's cousin Clementine and Guy Hood.

Jim Aiken is home after surgery. Good luck for a speedy recovery.

We told you last week that Mrs Charlotte Kirwin, lot 845, had a fall and broke both legs. Her sister, Jane McGinnis, who lives with her, believe it or not, also had a fall this week and is in the hospital, too. Hope they are both doing well.

Jackie Phillips, lot 152, reports the following for V.O. at St. Lucie.

Louise and John Campbell, Helen and Chuck Ward, Gloria and Derwood Dickinsen had a glorious three day sojourn to Disneyworld - stayed at the Polynesian and visited the Pioneer House in Ft. Wilderness. They highly recommend the excellent show offered there.

Let 753 welcomes Izzy and Ken McKee from Youngstown, Ohio. Their hair-raising reports of the trip from home to Venture Out would make an excellent adventure story for TV.

LaBelle Barrett won the "E" for effort last week. Dropped husband Wayne off at the West Palm Beach airport to attend the National Auto Dealers Association convention in New Orleans, then soloed to Miami. Son Dick received the Time Magazine Award for Outstanding Dealer of the Year, in New Orleans.

Helen and Boyd Hitts welcomed Helen's brother John and wife Opal, from Morristown, Tennessee. John and Opal look forward to their annual visit to Venture Out. We hope that Lady Luck presents them with beautiful weather and happy days.

Ginny and Bill Thompson have as their guests, Leonard and Louise Nimro from Bethesda, Maryland. Louise is Bill's sister - first time in Venture Out area - love it - want to buy.

Gloria and Derwood Dickinson are enjoying a visit from son Richard and his wife. They are in their fifth wheeler on lot 754. They say that after 10 consecutive days of below freezing weather, it seems like we have a heat wave here.

Jessie Shaver (234-2714), Venture Harbour reports:

Barbara and Stanley Clark spent a delightful weekend with longtime friends, Jeannette and Bill Torno, at Leisureville, Boynton Beach.

Sadie and Robert Grover arrived at Venture Harbour this past weekend - welcome!

Sam Tucker is on a trip to the Florida Keys in his Airstream. He will be there about a week and then will return to V.H. before going on another trip.

The Jewelry Fashion Show by Ruth Gillespie was very well attended and some money will be forthcoming to add to the recreation fund. The Russian tea and cakes that were served were delicious.

had to bow out after a three day hospital stay, so Mary Ellyn stepped in and directed the debacle.

The Music? was ear-shattering and the following members are eagerly looking forward to their next appearance, which the audience would just as soon be never: Marvelous Mary Ellyn was Mary Ellyn Meachum, Rotten Love was Love Rawdin, Ernie was Ernestine Pence, Joltin Jan was Jan Dedaker, Beautiful Betty was Betty Davis, Grizzly Gail was Gail Lawson, Hot Lips was Eleanor Teitama, and Charo was Jessie Shaver.

The Hobby Class met in the rec hall Monday, Feb. 1, for the monthly business meeting, led by our president, Opal Phillips. Julie and Martha Ebner were the hostesses, and next week Edie Thompson and Marie Johnson will serve refreshments.

Edna Weedt reported that all committees are working diligently to make the Hobby Show on February 22 a big success, and we increased the number of door prizes to four at her suggestion. Ethel asked Marie Johnson to be responsible for the displays, and acceptance precludes success.

Ethel welcomed Isabel Ware who has "come home" recently with her husband Norman from snow-clogged New York, and we were happy to have June Ware, Grace Stetser's daughter, with us.

GDC agrees o savanna sale

RT ST. LUCIE–State purchase of environmentally endangered savanmoved a step closer to reality ay when the state's Inter Agency cil (IAC) recommended that 841 be purchased.

e recommendation will go to the Cabinet. The IAC, which is posed of representatives from ral state agencies, voted to mend purchase of the 841 acres are immediately available.

was announced last week that eral Development Corporation had agreed to sell the acreage to rust for Public Land. The trust then sell to the state for $120 an re a total of $100,920.

en it was announced that the trust obtained an option on the land, it alled "terrific news" by Marjorie , a long-time proponent of saving savannas.

s. Alder was an original member of "Save the Savannas Committee" members in Martin and St. Lucie nties, and a member of the St. Lucie ty Conservation Alliance.

e land to be acquired was called the of the area, and is almost wholly n St. Lucie County. The state has negotiating for the purchase of 4,500 acres in the savannas, which tween Jensen Beach Cutoff Road 76A) and Midway Road in St. Lucie ty.

m McMillan, land acquisition for the Department of Natural urces (DNR), was in Jensen Beach days ago talking to savanna landowners and said last week that he has concluded agreements to purchase from property owners more than 3,500 acres.

The agreements, which must be approved by the Cabinet, were reached with 40 individual owners. And MacMillan said the GDC plan to sell some of its land is important because it is located in the extremely sensitive center of the vast wetlands area.

Also, McMillan said that state officials might question his purchase arrangements because the areas GDC and other plan to turn into subdivisions could have the effect of marring the preserve the state wants to create.

One condition of the state purchase is that the property is to be managed by a separate Savannas Wilderness Trust.

A member of the trust said there is precedent for selling the land to the state and retaining the management rights. The trust will establish guidelines for the preservation and maintenance of the wetlands area.

Members of the trust are Martin County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla; Jim Pioway, Fort Pierce; Ed Gluckler, mayor of Sewall's Point; Betty Lou Wells and John Brooks, both of Fort Pierce; Trudy Bernhard, Jupiter; Art Harper, GDC; Peter Pritchard of the Florida Audubon Society; and Jerry A. Cutlip, manager of Corkscrew Wilderness area of the Everglades.

Approximately $9 million is earmarked for purchase of the savannas, and the total price McMillan has agreed to pay the land owners is $4.8 million.

Solid support

Brunton named CFC president

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Coalition of Florida Consumers (CFC), organized in the Port St. Lucie area to fight the rate increase asked by Florida Power & Light Co., held its first annual meeting Monday night, elected directors and officers, and reported what could be the beginning of a "ground swell" of support.

The indications of growing support were reflected in reports that contributions have now passed $2,000, and that a number of spontaneous, unsolicited offers of help have been received.

Over the weekend, volunteer workers began hand distribution of 10,000 letters that set forth the aims of the group and solicited financial support. It was expected that when delivery of the letters is completed, the flow of contributions will be stepped up. Contributions may be sent to the CFC in care of the Port St. Lucie Bank, 900 East Prima Vista Boulevard.

In the organizational phase of the meeting, the following were named CFC directors: Hughes Brininger, Donald White, Herb Tschudy, Mrs. Virginia Ellsworth, John M. Lindsley, Rabbi Mel Hecht, Robert Brunton, Vernon Forrar, J. Richard Werges, Seymour Fleming, Frank Alexander, Mrs. Mary Rosenberger, Harold Abbott and Phil Thibedeau.

The board then proceeded to elect officers, with the following results. Brunton was elected president; Lindsley, vice president; Mrs. Rosenberger, secretary; Alexander, treasurer.

Brunton said the two chief concerns of the group now were fund raising and publicity. Mrs. Ellsworth and Fleming were named fund raising co-chairmen, and Hugh Jencks was named public information director. The board also formally named Frank Zendzian its financial analyst and Harold Shear its legal advisor, functions which the two men have been fulfilling on an interim basis.

Brunton said the CFC wants to take advantage of the growing indications of support and asked that any organization that wants to join the program contact him or any of the directors.

"We will speak with a much louder voice if we can list a number of groups and organizations that are with us in this fight," he said.

The board will hold its next meeting on Monday, February 14.

City ponders police force

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the City Fathers ponder a recommendation of establishing a police force in the City of Port St. Lucie by the year 1978, City Manager Elmer Cox has issued a plea for volunteers to complete the city's 10-member police auxiliary unit.

Although an auxiliary force has been operating within the city for the past several months, by and large the members of that force are loaned to the area by the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department.

There are presently only five members of the force from Port St. Lucie.

City residents interested in volunteering their services on the auxiliary force are asked to file application at the City Hall. Persons, male or female, between the ages of 18 and 55 and physically fit, are eligible.

Some months ago a police committee was formed to look into the feasibility of establishing a city police department. The group, headed by Cox, included Doug Stout, safety director; Col. John Huncharek, a member of the Planning and Zoning Board; and Vice Mayor Frank Rose, an ex officio member.

Last week the committee presented its detailed report along with a recommendation the city take immediate steps to establish a ten-man force by October 1, 1978.

According to the committee's fiveyear projection, it would cost the city approximately $222,964 in installation and operating expenses for the first year. This is about $22,000 more than the city is now paying for the contracted services through the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department.

Presently the city pays the Sheriff's Department $178,000 per year for police protection. Other police-related costs, however, including salaries for city personnel and vehicles, bring the figure over the $200,000 mark.

Several shortcuts were included in the projection. For example, rather than establish a dispatcher system, the city will tie into the 911 system at a cost of $15,000, utilize the sheriff's crime lab, and use the sheriff's patrol cars for back-up if necessary. While the city does not plan to construct a detention facility it is possible a small holding center will be considered with two cells in which persons may be held for a period not to exceed six hours.

Biologist will speak to anglers

PORT ST. LUCIE–Lothlan Ager, a marine biologist for the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, will speak at the Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club meeting Tuesday, February 15, 7:30 p.m. at the North Port Marina.

Ager is involved in extensive research in the artificial culture and release of snook. Considerable progress has resulted as the researchers have succeeded in making the transition from the larvae stage through metamorphosis to snook fry. The remaining hurdles before a release program can be initiated are raising fingerling snook in large numbers and transfer of the operation to outdoor tanks.

A report on the project to tag 6,000 snook by a Collier County organization, a heavy contributor to the snook research project, will also be made at the meeting.

The Anglers Special Events Chairman, Morgan Jones, has announced that the club's fishing trip to Lake Okeechobee has been postponed until February 24, with Clyde Blunt in charge of the affair.

Exchange Club is forming

PORT ST. LUCIE–A group of local citizens who are involved in forming the Exchange Club of Port St. Lucie are hopeful of acquiring enough members to receive the organization's charter by mid-March.

At the club's initial meeting, Louis Noa was elected president; Hal Roberts, treasurer; and Dr. John Sisson, was selected for the secretary's post.

Persons interested in joining the organization are encouraged to attend the weekly meetings held each Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at Ray's Inn.

To qualify for a charter, the club must have at least 25 members.

The new club is being jointly sponsored by the Exchange Clubs of Fort Pierce and Stuart.

The National Exchange Organization is the largest exclusively American service club in the United States.

Homemakers plan Spring Bazaar

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Homemakers Club will present its annual Spring Bazaar on Sunday, March 20. The festivities will start at 11 a.m. at the Port St. Lucie. Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m., and drawings for door prizes will take place at 4 p.m.

PSL Blvd. is truck route

PORT ST. LUCIE–The vote was unanimous Tuesday morning when the City Council passed an ordinance designating Port St. Lucie Boulevard as the city's only through truck route, exclusive of U.S. 1.

The move was designed to prevent heavy trucks from entering or leaving the city by way of Bayshore, Airoso and St. James Avenue, enroute to and from the turnpike interchange.

The ordinance limits the weight of trucks to 20 tons or less.

Rebuttal is under way

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the February 22 deadline for submitting the formal rebuttal to the $349 million requested rate increase by Florida Power and Light is drawing near, it would appear the Coalition of Florida Consumers, Inc., has the matter well in hand.

According to the group's president, Bob Brunton, the rebuttal is approximately 50 percent completed.

The rebuttal must be turned over to the office of the Consumer Advocate not later than February 22 for study prior to the scheduled Public Service Commission hearings in North Palm Beach, which will get under way March 8.

Frank Zendzian, the CFC's financial analyst who is preparing the rebuttal, has completed approximately fifty pages of the rebuttal and is nearly half way through the voluminous FPL report at this time.

While time is of the essence, Zendzian anticipates no difficulty in meeting the February deadline.

The completed study of Zendzian's will fortify the initial rebuttal filed by the CFC at a recent North Palm Beach meeting.

Clean-up campaign set

PORT ST. LUCIE–Accepting the recommendation of Councilman Bill McChesney, the City Council Tuesday set the week of March 13 as Cleanup Week in Port St. Lucie. In order to promote the principle of "Keeping Port St. Lucie Beautiful", the city will pay the cost of picking up late winter tree, shrubbery, fallen palm fronds and grass clippings.

Just last week McChesney and City Manager Elmer Cox met with the four sanitation companies which serve the area to outline the campaign for removing the trimmings that are usually cut during mid-March.

Although the hauling firms have agreed to cooperate with the city's efforts, a schedule for the extra service has yet to be decided.

YOUTH ACTIVITY–These youngsters in the Flora Drive and Linda Avenue neighborhood are helping to promote the Volunteer Auxiliary rummage sale since all proceeds from the sale will be used for the club's youth activities. The sale will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Feb. 19 at Langford Park Fieldhouse, and persons having rummage to donate should call Marie Roberts at 287-4349. Holding the poster are, from left, Kent Hughes, Billy Mang, Doug Hughes, Bruce Tucker and Linda Manz.

Defense is key to Tiger romp

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART–Offense is always a major part of the Martin County basketball story game, but last Tuesday night in the defense which was the story, as fourth-ranked cagers romped past Forest Hill 69-34.

The win was the 20th of the season for Tigers, who still have a chance to win their six games. It was their 10th straight Eastern Division triumph against only one defeat.

Forest Hill could only manage a paltry 21 percent shooting performance from the field, while Martin County hit the nets apart with a sizzling percentage of 43 percent.

Walker Campbell led all scorers with 20 points, while Chris Young hit 17 for the winners – half of their points for the night. Lavern McFadden continued his scoring revival with 16 markers.

In preliminary action, the MCHS Tigers ran their record to 15-1 with a 49-45 victory over the Falcons from Langdon Parks hit 28 for the winners, while Peewee Sward had 23 and Jerryl Jackson meshed 21.

The Martin County freshmen concluded their season with an impressive 49-win over the middle school Stars. The Stars led 15-14 after the first quarter, but after that the frosh powered them 73-11. The key to the win was the second quarter explosion by the Tigers, who scored 33 markers in this stanza, while allowing only four.

Moses Rogers was the game's leading scorer with a glittering 26 points.

HOW THE BALL BOUNCED

MARTIN COUNTY-(69)-FG, FT-FTA, FOULS, POINTS: Campbell 10, 0-0, 1, 20; McFadden 7, 2-3, 0, 16; Jones 4, 1-1, 2, 9; Johnson 3, 2-2, 0, 8; Smith 0, 0-0, 1, 0; Delancy 3, 1-2, 1, 7; Bethel 3, 0-0, 2, 6; Raines 3, 0-0, 1, 6; McIntyre 2, 0-0, 1, 4; McKagen 1, 0-0, 1, 2. TOTALS: 40, 6-7, 8, 69.

Halftime Score: Martin County 41, Forest Hill 16.

Junior Varsity: Martin County 115, Forest Hill 68.

Freshmen: Martin County 87, Middle Stars 36.

Cobra grapplers win conference

BY DONNIE WILKIE

FORT PIERCE–The Fort Pierce Central Cobras were forced to battle the Lake Worth Trojans right down to the final match before finally clinching the Suncoast Conference Eastern Division dual meet title last Tuesday evening.

Dock Luckie, the 6'3", 235-pound unlimited wrestler, who was named the Florida High School Athlete of the Year in 1976, pinned his opponent after only 1:13 of the first period. The win protected a 25-20 lead and the Cobras took the match 28-20.

FPC spent most of the wrestling season locked in a three-way duel with Martin County and Lake Worth. The Cobras knocked off Martin County two weeks ago 31-25 at Stuart, and the Tigers dealt a serious blow to Lake Worth's title hopes by beating them three nights before.

Lake Worth was hoping to down FPC and finish in a three-way tie for the championship. Jerome Slater, Christopher Ingram, and Luckie all had pins for Central, while Anthony Piasecki, Gregory Parrish and Michael Bellamy won by decision. Dexter Daniels wrestled to a 2-2 draw, and Alvin Yearby was disqualified. Losses were suffered by Gregory Russ, Dennis Lewis, John Gordon and Danny Pressley.

There will be plenty more action this Friday and Saturday as the eight [illegible] teams head into the District championships.

Optimist Club is organizing baseball

JENSEN BEACH–Every year at this time, Jensen Beach Optimist Club members begin scurrying around in all directions, organizing what is certainly one of the most efficiently-run junior baseball programs in the state.

Baseball's sign-up program began at Langford Park last Saturday, and will continue this week, with one of the largest turnouts expected.

The season will not officially get underway until March 21, when the Mustang, Pinto and Bronco leagues play their first scheduled games. The Pony League will start its season one week later, on March 28.

Among some of this year's changes is the experimental rule that no Jensen Beach all-star teams will compete in the Boys, Inc. national championship tournament series. Jensen Beach continues to be a Boys Inc. member.

The Mustang League has revamped its base-stealing rules. They will use the same rules that Little League Baseball uses. There will be no need for a stretch by pitcher, because there is no stealing before the pitch crosses home plate.

Teams will be balanced by the respective coaches in the three middle leagues – Mustang, Bronco, and Pony – during the week of February 20-26, and then the coaches will pick their own teams in a drawing.

Langford Park will again be the center point for an incredible amount of games, featuring doubleheaders every night except Sunday. The Mustang League will play games at 5:30 p.m. on Vince Bocchino Field, with no new innings starting after 7 p.m. Games will end at 7:30 p.m., with the score reverting back to the last completed inning.

Bronco League games will be played at The Cow Pasture beginning at 7:30 p.m., with the action terminating at 8:30 p.m. In the Pony League, games will begin at 8 p.m. on Bocchino Field, with no new inning starting after 10 p.m. The game will end at 10:30 with the score reverting back to the last completed inning.

The Pinto League makes its return after a tremendous debut season, with games starting at 5:30 p.m. on The Cow Pasture. They will conclude at 7 p.m. What days the leagues will play on will be determined at a later date.

The All-Star series will be replaced by double-elimination tournaments scheduled for the conclusion of each season. There will probably not be a "first half" or a "second half" to the season, and thus there will be no championship series.

The growth of AARP has been phenomenal and here are some very recent figures issued by the (AARP) Florida Joint State Legislative Committee:

There is a new AARP member every 7 seconds, which multiplies out to be 1.2 million per year, bringing the current total to over 10.2 million. That comes out to be approximately 5 percent of the total population and about 45 percent of the senior citizens.

Then, at the state level, there are 791,725 AARPers out of a 1,982,741 senior citizen population. (considering the rapidly changing nature of the figures, this is the same percentage as for national). However, as this age group has a much better than average record for registration and voting, AARPers constitute as much as 40 percent of the total vote in many elections.

Therefore, with those figures in mind, the Joint Legislative Committee is concerned with the following:

1) Establish a health care and hospital cost containment committee.

2) Cost of living pension adjustments for public employees.

3) Provide "Life-Line" utilities law,

HUGH JENCKS, 878-3856 — ERNIE CURWEN, 334-0756

equalizing rates of small and large.

4) Tax relief for low income persons based on "Circuit-Breaker" approach.

5) Protect deposits of elderly in life care centers.

Martin County Chapter 2223

A MULTI-CHAPTER workshop was attended in West Palm Beach February 2 by Ernie Curwen, president; Ruth Woodruff; Ass't treasurer; and Dot Beck and Kitty Perryman, directors. Seventy-five persons from 17 chapters broke up into smaller groups to work out problems of duties and responsibilities of the different officials. Many forms were worked on to bring back to the members.

The chapter "Golden Eagle" monthly publication is being read on exchange basis by other groups and there was a request for additional copies.

It was decided to substitute "Cluster Meetings" for the multi-chapter in the future, as smaller groups are more manageable and require less travel for the members. It will work this way: 2 to 4 members from 2 to 4 adjacent groups will meet with the assistant state director four times a year at some central locations.

This brought up the point of transferring Martin County Chapter from Area XI (West Palm) to Area VIII (Melbourne) so that an easy cluster of Martin, Port St. Lucie, Fort Pierce and Vero Beach could be made. However, there's additional travel to Melbourne to consider, if multi-chapter workshops are resumed. The members will be asked to vote on this at the next meeting, so they should think it over.

Also, members will be asked to consider a resolution proposed by John Adams (Hollywood) and Alan Becker

Memorial services were held Tuesday afternoon at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, with the Reverend Arthur A. Smith officiating.

Arrangements were under the direction of Aycock Funeral Home, Stuart.

(North Dade) to establish a "Commissioner of Elderly Affairs" for the Florida Cabinet.

AARP DAY, or Picnic Day, is working out very well. Last Thursday, Feb. 3, a number of committees held meetings: first, Budget, Ruth Woodruff, chairman; then, the new Health Committee, Pearl Wyse, chairman; then, Frank Kirk, chairman of the Senior Center Committee, talked with prospective coworkers and Al Tucker, chairman of membership, helped to up-date the Golden Eagle address file.

Soon it was noon time and 35 or so began to set up luncheon places. The members at this time were brought up to date on current activities and asked for suggestions (attend ExCom, Feb. 10, for this info). However, in between times a new committee was forming itself, maybe to be called "Fun and Games." Cecia Mae Greene, Lottie Lee Deberry and Viola Nielson discussed games, entertainment, etc., for the members at meetings and especially at picnics, so next month there may be many interesting things to try out.

TAX AID is off to a good start, according to Paul Berglund and R.M. Latchae, coordinators. They report 35 requesting assistance in Stuart and 20 in Jensen. It looks at this time as though this was going to be a very successful project and those who are going to need help are advised to do so now. Don't wait for the last minute rush. See below for time and place.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

Thursday, Feb. 10: ExCom meeting, 1:30 in the First National Bank of Stuart Community Room. Any member can attend and is urged to do so, as your help and suggestions are needed.

Friday, Feb. 11: Tax Aid, 9 to 12, First Federal S & L, Jensen, and Stuart National, and every Mon., Wed. and Fri. until April 8. Also, the Swim Class, 3:30 p.m. at the Martin County High School pool and every Tuesday and Friday. At night, Senior Swingers, Ocean East Mall, 7 to 8:30, sing-along and dancing.

Monday, Feb. 14: Start of Defensive Driving, 2 p.m., Environmental Studies Center, Jensen (balance of course, Feb. 16, 21, 23 and 25). Senior Activities Club will have a Valentine Party, Stuart Youth Center, 7 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 16: Regular Senior Activities Club card party and crafts, 1 p.m. and every Wednesday.

We received a call last week from Esther Kildea, who is in charge of the defensive driving program in Martin County. She said that, until Port St. Lucie gets its own program, our members are welcome to enroll in the defensive driving program at Jensen Beach. The course there consists of four sessions of two hours each, given by Lt. Bill Scott of the sheriff's office.

The next course will take place on Monday and Wednesday, Feb. 14 and 16, and on the following Monday and Wednesday, Feb. 21 and 23, at the Environmental Studies Center on Indian River Drive just south of Commercial Street. The classes run from 2 to 4 p.m. each day.

PSL Chapter 2696

Five members of the board of directors go to Palm Bay for a regional workshop this week. Fred Wiggin, Maurie Arluck, Morgan Jones, Mrs. Lillian Heeseman and Jim Kearney make up the group. The agenda wasn't disclosed prior to the meeting, but Bill Koolage, assistant AARP director for this area, said it was "important to all chapters in the area."

It's a trip of about 50 miles to Palm Bay, and some thought has been given to the possibility of having these meetings a bit closer. That may be in the cards for the future.

Art Gerhardt had to resign from his job as recreation committee chairman because of health reasons, according to Jim Kearney, chairman of the membership service committee. His place has been taken by William Armet, who is now working on plans for a trip on the boat that goes up the Indian River, leaving from Stuart. At present, about 20 members have indicated interest and Bill hopes to double that number. The trips are made every other Saturday and are all-day affairs, leaving at 9:30 a.m. and returning around 5 or 5:30 p.m.

As reported earlier, Gordon Long has been investigating the defensive driving question to see whether a course can be set up for the Port St. Lucie area. Until that is done, people from here who want to take the course may join the Martin County group.

The income tax assistance program got under way as scheduled last Monday, Jan. 31, with Morgan Jones and Esther Thompson handling the first day's duties at the Citizens Federal Savings & Loan building. Tom Carlile, program coordinator, said the first week went fine. He suggested that if people have only a simple question they need answered, they could call the bank (878-3100) and ask for the AARP tax assistance desk, thus saving a trip. Counsellors in addition to Morgan and Esther are Muriel and Peter Sysak, James Chester, Hugh Jencks, Estelle Baskin, Wayne Lambertson, Matt Helbach and Carlile.

Just to refresh memories, the tax help people are at the bank Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The mailing permit for the chapter's monthly news bulletin has now been received, after a couple of minor bugs were ironed out, and operations in that sector appear to be booming. Maurie Arluck said it is possible that the March issue may expand to two pages to permit more news items and also to make room for advertising. A very modest fee is charged advertisers, just about enough to carry the expense of printing and mailing the bulletin.

Speicher addresses MMH Auxilians

STUART—Members of the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary heard a talk by Dr. Matthew R. Speicher on the functions of the heart and some of the malfunctions which can afflict that organ at the regular meeting held January 27 at St. Mary's Parish Hall.

A short business meeting was held, during which refreshments were served by hostesses Virginia Bagcle and Grace Easton, with Marion Cole, hostess.

Obituary

EDWIN SOPHIS FREDRICKSEN

JENSEN BEACH—Edwin Sophis Fredricksen, 69, of 7 East Court, Jensen Beach, passed away Sunday, February 6, at his home, following a lengthy illness.

He was a native of Jensen Beach where he spent his entire life. He was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church of Stuart.

Survivors include his wife Nancy and two daughters, Brenda and Jenny Sue, Jensen Beach; a sister, Sue Howard, Jensen Beach; his parents, Willard and Marguerites will meet same time and place.

Monday, Feb. 14, at 12 noon, a luncheon is planned at Buccaneer Inn, Stuart.

Friday, Feb 18 is Ladies Night. A roast beef dinner will be served at the Jensen Beach Women's Association clubhouse on Indian Hill Road, Jensen Beach. Social hour will start at 6 p.m., with dinner served at 7 p.m.

For reservations, call James Griffith 283-0444 or Ed Schaperow 287-6169.

A highlight of the session was presention of an 8,000-hour pin to volunteer Connie Bauman, an all-time high of service for any single volunteer at Martin Memorial.

In all, a total of 42 awards were presented. Mary Adkison and Bernice Webber received 2,000-hour pins and 1,000-hour pins went to Margaret Bush, Josephus Killheffer and Margaret Walker.

Three 500-hour pins were awarded: to Rosemary Alexander, Evelyn Dull and Hazel Morris. Three hundred-hour pins were given to Thurpes Bell, Evelyn Brosnac, Hazel Cherry, Myra Fitch, Ila Fuller, Shirley Gingrich, Mary Grant, Grace Hearns, Donald Hunsicker, Frances Rosier and Paul Roesch.

Certificates for 100 hours were presented to Larrie Bart, Ellen Carroll, Mary Carroll, Sandra Creighton, Thelma Hagadorn, Victoria Minnie, Jennie Millas, George Mannahan, Sr., Selma Oglinger, Janet Pinard, Bernice Stiles, Hazel Thompson and Northam Warren.

Emblems for 50 hours were earned by Sue Bentley, Jan Blackford, Gene Brasch, Edward Coleman, Paula Freund, Margaret Gibbs, Doris Hickman, Jean Sands and Eileen Yeager.

Shrine activities are announced

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Shrine Club activities slated for February are as follows.

Friday, Feb. 11, 8 p.m. at the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, the State meeting will be held.

Coke heads management group

FORT PIERCE—Frederick W. Coke of Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Association of Fort Pierce has been appointed to the 1977 Management Committee of the United States League of Savings Associations.

The appointment was announced by John H. Hardin, president of the League, who is president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Rock Hill, S. C.

Woman's Club meets Feb. 16

STUART—The Woman's Club of Stuart will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Wednesday, February 16, at the clubhouse on East Ocean Boulevard.

Refreshments will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Builders attend national meeting

JENSEN BEACH—A delegation of the Treasure Coast Builders Association recently returned from attending the annual convention-exposition of the National Association of Home Builders.

Members of the delegation included Mr. and Mrs. Wilford B. Brown, Jr., and their son Larry; Chester Chambers; Mrs. Julie Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leaming; Bruce Mintzer; Robert Morace; Mrs. Lois Ray; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Signore; and Tom Sylvester.

TV program starts Monday

JENSEN BEACH—Martin Countians will have their own television news program "The Six O'Clock News - In Color and Color" on Perry Cable Channel 11, starting Monday, Feb. 14, Producer Jerry Bowers said Monday.

"It will have local news, weather and sports, featuring action recorded on videotape," Bowers said.

Tommy Yates of radio station WSTU and Adrienne Moore of the Palm Beach Post-Stuart Bureau will be the anchor teams for the program.

Dr. F.E. Tealey and his assistants of the Jensen Beach Campus, Florida Institute of Technology, will provide the daily weather report and forecast.

Sports reporters will be Fred Dushanek and Lucian Miner.

"We'll have sports coverage from Mike Sandy, Chris Randell and various other reporters, specializing in different activities," Bowers said.

An unusual feature of the program will be a "sidewalk survey" in which local residents will be asked their opinions on consumer topics.

Bowers and Perry Cable have signed a contract for the program.

Bowers is producing the action videotapes and news content, and Perry is expanding the cable firm's studio capacity for the newscast.

Bowers conducts his videotape operations from an office in Suite 325J of the Stuart Plaza building, 961 Colorado Avenue, Stuart.

The telecast will be made from the Perry studio in Stuart.

Before entering the video field, Bowers had been Stuart Bureau Chief for the Miami Herald since 1968.

"The TV medium is new, fascinating and exciting for me," he said.

Quilt Show is this weekend

JENSEN BEACH—Quilters throughout Florida are converging on the Indian River Community College Library in Fort Pierce this weekend as the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation (JDF) presents its Second Annual Quilt Show and Sale.

The show will run from 1 to 9 p.m. Saturday, February 12, and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday, February 13.

Quilts to be displayed include many which are more than 100 years old, and many unusual patterns.

This year's feature quilt is pictorial, the "Spirit of '76," made and displayed by Quilting Bees, a West Palm Beach group, whose humble thimbles earned the First Runner-Up in a national Centennial Quilt Contest.

Demonstrations will be given during the show, which this year is sponsored by the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) of the Indian River Community College.

Shirley Fallin, IRCC quilting instructor, will provide an insight into the new "3 As-You-Go" method at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. John and Kay Reynolds of Palm Beach will present their private collections, and John will be quilting the "old-fashioned" way on a frame throughout the show. Mrs. Helen Vogt of Fort Pierce will demonstrate quilting by the hoop method.

Quilting to be sold will be silent auctioned with open bidding. Bidding will close at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Admission of one dollar will be asked at the door.

Florida Marine Department is moving

JENSEN BEACH—Florida Marine Patrol Department of Natural Resources is moving to a new location on February 15.

The new address will be 4315 North Shore Drive, Lake Park Beach, the new headquarters will be at 19100 S.E. Federal Highway (U.S. 1), Jupiter.

The new location is readily accessible to the public since the building is situated on the west side of U.S. 1 at the Martin-Palm Beach Countyline. The building is known as the Old Welcome Inn.

The telephone company will release the new telephone number for one (1) month if anyone calls the old number. The digits are 844-4363 or 4364.

STUART, FLORIDA

The Bureau of Community Medical Facilities, Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, State of Florida, has established the sum of $109,613.00 as the level of uncompensated services to be made available by Martin Memorial Hospital in the period of October 1, 1976 to September 30, 1977.

This determination has been made pursuant to the requirements of the regulations of the Public Health Service, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 141 CFR, 53.111 and the applicable provisions of Florida Medical Facilities Construction Act.

"Uncompensated services" means services available in the facility which are made available to persons unable to pay therefor, without charge or at a charge which is less than the reasonable cost of such services. The level of such services is measured by the difference between the amount paid by such persons for the services and reasonable cost thereof.

The level set out above meets the presumptive compliance guidelines of the federal regulations and is 10 percent of all federal assistance provided the facility under the Hospital and Medical Facilities Construction Act.

Martin Memorial Hospital has the right to determine how, when, and to whom hospital services will be provided.

There are no guidelines which positively identify a person or family as eligible to receive full or partial uncompensated services. Each case must be evaluated on its own merits.

Chaplain is speaker

God and Country Day is Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–The third annual God and Country Day will be held Sunday, Feb. 20, at Florida Institute of Technology Chapel with Rear Admiral John H. O'Connor, U.S.N., chief of chaplains, the principal speaker.

A concert by the United States Navy Band of Orlando will give a concert preceding the program. The concert will start at 2:30 p.m. and the grand procession with civic, religious, patriotic and service groups taking part.

Sponsored by the All Saints Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, and American Legion Post 126, Jensen Beach, the theme of the program is "In God Is Our Trust."

The program will include songs, reading of the scripture, reading of essays, and Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha will read the proclamation which the County Commission passed declaring Sunday, Feb. 20, as "God and Country Day."

Master of ceremonies will be Gene Greenwood of FIT, and Louis Villano, commander of Legion Post 126; and Father Frank Alvarez of All Saints Episcopal Church will welcome the guests.

Principal of Martin County High School Clara Fulton will introduce the principal speaker.

Chaplain O'Connor is a Catholic priest of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia who was elevated to the rank of Monsignor by Pope Paul VI in 1966.

He was selected for the rank of rear admiral in September, 1974, and became the 14th chief of chaplains in July, 1975.

Last year the speaker was Col. Donald H. Peterson, United States Air Force, an astronaut. Commander Murray H. Voth, USN, was the speaker for the first program.

Persons attending the program are urged to park their cars at the Legion post on South Savanna Road, First Federal Savings and Loan Association parking lot or Langford Park on SR-707 and be transported by school buses or station wagons.

Virgil Rathbone, publicity chairman, said St. Michael School will provide a bus and will make stops at the Legion post, First Federal and pick up people at Ocean Breeze Park.

"Station wagons will be used for transportation from Langford Park," Rathbone said.

"Transportation will begin about 1 p.m. and residents will be returned to their cars after the program," Rathbone said.

The committee on arrangements includes:

Father Alvarez, Mrs. Irene Stewart, Mrs. Earl Lauder, Clifford Hunting, Malvin Swensen and Gerald Wilkinson, all of All Saints Episcopal Church; and Virgil Wilson, William Herzog, Edward Douglas, William McCabe, Cyrus Still, Dick Neeson, Rathbone and Villano, all of the Legion post.

BUMPER STICKERS–Members of the annual God & Country Day Committee are distributing posters and bumper stickers, letting the residents know that the third annual God and Country Day is Sunday, Feb. 20, at 3 p.m. at the Florida Institute of Technology chapel. Putting a bumper sticker on her car is pretty Melissa Grieger of Jensen Beach.

River Road gets voter's approval

SEWALL'S POINT–Voters gave approval to the development of River Road in a 216 for, 155 against referendum on Tuesday.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said, following the election, the vote "gives the commission a vote of confidence and they will proceed with the road."

Town commissioners earlier this year agreed to the special referendum after residents packed the Town Hall to capacity to demand a chance to vote on the proposed road.

David Dickinson, who initiated the push for the straw vote, circulated petitions in the town on the issue.

The question on Tuesday's ballot read: "The Town of Sewall's Point currently owns approximately 2,200 feet of South River Road right-of-way which is now unpaved. An additional 600 feet of the right-of-way has been offered to the Town by private owners at no costs to the Town other than the costs of paving. The Town Commission proposes to pave the southerly 2,960 feet of the right-of-way now available to the Town, and to continue with its plans to acquire and pave additional rights-of-way for this road as it becomes available."

Proponents of the road construction project say the road parallel to Sewall's Point Road is needed to accommodate future growth of the town and to provide an escape route for residents in case of flooding or other emergencies.

Some residents favored either building the road and allowing only bicycle traffic or pedestrians in normal times, or no building at all.

Opponents expressed concern that the road would become another high-speed artery requiring additional police patrol.

The road has been discussed at several meetings and over the past few years.

In the history of the road, it is noted that on May 9, 1962, Elvin H. Killhefer, chairman of a special committee on the north-south road project reported that:

"We suggest two points of definite value in such an additional road. First, as an emergency road in case of severe storm. Second, as a fire break, should a serious fire occur. In fact, more fire breaks east-west would be very desirable."

Town records through the years contain scores of references to the road, according to the fact sheet.

Also, commissions have allotted money for the road project. Town records show that the commission in office when the 1973-74 budget was adopted, allotted $15,000 for the road. Later commissioners budgeted $16,510 in fiscal year 1974-75, $37,213 in fiscal year 1975-76, and the current board allotted $35,000.

Flu shots are available

JENSEN BEACH–Free swine flu shots will be available from 2 to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays until all those requesting the vaccine have been treated, according to the Martin County health director.

Dr. Archie McCallister said the shots will be given at the Martin County Health Department.

Inoculations against A Victoria flu will be available. The health director said persons who have had the bivalent vaccine before, and this includes those over 65 and the chronically ill, will not need anything.

Fleet parade is Saturday

JENSEN BEACH–The annual Blessing of the Fleet and marine parade will be held Saturday, Feb. 19, in the St. Lucie River just south of the bridge on East Ocean Boulevard. The parade will start at about 1:30 p.m.

Boats from area yacht clubs and the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will parade, and area clergymen will bless the fleet.

Town seeks SGU representation

SEWALL'S POINT–The Town of Sewall's Point wants representation when the Public Service Commission (PSC) holds hearings on Southern Gulf Utilities (SGU) which supplies water to the town.

A public hearing is slated in Stuart at the Women's Club of Stuart beginning Feb. 28.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said the session would be a "glorified gripe session," with nothing permanent resolved, but said the town should be represented.

Many of the town residents lose water pressure at peak use periods during the day.

In other action, commissioners authorized letters to the County Bar Association and Board of Realtors advising the boards on the town's subdividing laws.

Commissioner Earl Crawford noted that landowners have sold half of their lots, creating a minor subdivision, without going through proper channels in the town.

Crawford pointed out that once the deed is [illegible] there is nothing the town can do about it but fine the landowner $100.

President, governor send messages

JENSEN BEACH–President Carter and Gov. Reubin Askew have sent messages in God and Country Day Committee.

"President Carter was interested to learn that All Saints Episcopal Church and the American Legion Post 126 are planning a God and Country Day service, and he is pleased to send warm greetings to you and all who attend on this special occasion." The message was signed by Khalie Hatek, director, Office of Presidential Messages.

Gov. Askew wrote:

"As governor, I am pleased to extend best wishes to those participating in the annual God and Country Day services. Commendations are in order for All Saints Episcopal Church and American Legion Post Number 126 for sponsoring this event.

"Although it has become a hallowed American principle that government must never become the tool of religions, it is obvious that religion has been an indispensable partner and state complement to the other and, although we believe in their separation, we do not believe in separation of church and statesman.

"May your observance of God and Country Day be most successful in providing renewed inspiration as we seek to serve our Maker and America."

President Carter's message concluded:

"Efforts such as your sustain the President's belief that bound by a new spirit and a new commitment, we can build a better America and a more peaceful world. He is confident that your observance will be inspiring and beneficial for all who participate and he sends you his best wishes for every success."

Inlet funds in works

JENSEN BEACH–The state Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) has recommended to the Congressional Appropriations Committee partial funding of the St. Lucie Inlet.

Martin County Commissioner Tom Higgins said he had received a message from U.S. Rep. L.A. (Skip) Bafalis' office that the project may receive partial funding in "the 1978 presidential budget."

The funding would be approximately $1 million, which is the amount the Army Corps of Engineers feel they can use in the first year's construction, according to Higgins.

In order to get the congressman reported that he had contacted Col. Donald Wisdom, of the corps regarding the priority of the project and was told the corps rates the St. Lucie Inlet project number one in the 18th Congressional District (Bafalis' district), and one of the highest priorities in the state.

While former President Ford's budget contained no funds for new public works projects, the Congressional Appropriations Committee will consider proposing new public works projects to President Carter.

The current breakdown on cost of the inlet project is $3.6 million (federal share: $1.8 million (non-federal); with the county's share of the non-federal share will be approximately $1.6 million.

Property Appraiser to speak

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Property Appraiser August (Augie) Maffregest will be the speaker at the annual meeting of Martin County Taxpayers Association Friday, Feb. 18, at 4 p.m. at the Stuart Woman's Club building.

Directors will be elected at the meeting, according to E.C. Wareheim, association president.

Baseball registration closes Saturday, Feb. 19

JENSEN BEACH–Youngsters who wish to play baseball at Langford Park must register on either Thursday, Feb. 17, from 6:10 to 7:30 p.m., or Saturday, Feb. 19, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Jensen Beach Optimist Club, sponsors of the baseball program, has announced that registration will be officially closed at 1 p.m. on Saturday. After that date, no more registrations will be accepted. Due to a shortage of playing facilities, coaches and umpires, the club now must limit the number of teams it organizes.

Those youngsters who register on Feb. 17 and 19 should bring a copy of their birth certificates. Their parent's signature must be notarized at the park.

Boys and girls born between August 1, 1960, and July 31, 1970, are eligible to register.

New Port Jensen held opening

JENSEN BEACH—A major new residential project for Hutchinson Island, characterized by its developers as an entirely new concept for this part of the Florida Atlantic coast, opened last Sunday.

"New Port Jensen," according to E.L. Ball, the man behind the project, "was conceived to provide single family residences, as opposed to hi-rise or apartment structures, for a most beautiful area of Florida that would be in complete harmony with the natural attributes of the surroundings."

The resulting "villas" blend into the surroundings with abundant use of natural woods for exteriors and roofs, so that the "homes are perfectly suited to the trees, foliage and waterways that surround the 12.5 acre property," Ball said.

Steve Ball, vice president and director of operations for New Port Jensen, adds that the basic concept was broadened to provide single family residences with fee simple ownership and, at the same time, offer some of the advantages of condominium living, such as full maintenance and swimming pools and docks on the Indian River.

The result of that careful planning opened last week. Situated directly on the Indian River at the Jensen Beach Causeway (route 707A), New Port Jensen villas sell from $39,900 to $69,900, with four separate one-story or two-story models ready for viewing.

The developer of New Port Jensen, E.L. Ball, has had more than 27 years background in the construction industry, having built numerous homes, office buildings, shopping centers and warehouses. He is a director of banks in Florida and, as alumnus of Oklahoma State University, is one of the youngest men ever appointed as a member of its Board of Governors.

THE GRAND OPENING of the New Port Jensen single family villa development on Hutchinson Island last weekend was climaxed by a drawing for a Micro-Wave Oven, a stereo tape deck and a portable TV set. Doing the honors in the drawing was Linda Palmer of the sales staff of Port Salerno Realty, flanked by the developers, Herb Ringe, right, and E.L. Ball, left.

Adult Ed offers defense seminar

JENSEN BEACH—A Self-Defense and Safety Seminar will be presented at the Environmental Studies Center, Indian River Drive, Friday, Feb. 25, at 2 p.m.

The seminar, conducted by Lieutenant Bill Scott of the Martin County Sheriff's Department, will include demonstrations and methods of dealing with unexpected attacks, muggers, purse snatchers and robbers.

Tips on how to avoid burglary of home, automobile and boats will also include suggestions about protection of personal property such as jewelry, television sets, radios and other equipment.

A highlight of the seminar is the showing of a color film which vividly depicts typical situations in which attacks take place, and how to avoid these situations.

To pre-register for the one session seminar, call the Adult Ed Office, 287-6400, Ext. 130. There is no registration fee and enrollment is limited.

Solar energy lecture set

JENSEN BEACH—An illustrated lecture on the technical aspects of solar energy and its application for Florida homeowners will be presented by Roy Massena at Thursday evening's meeting of Free Energy, Inc. The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Environmental Studies Center.

Massena is a partner in Enerdyne, a Jupiter-based solar equipment firm and a member of the board of directors of Free Energy, Inc., a non-profit educational corporation which has its goal the education of the public to the benefits of solar and other alternative energy sources. He holds master's degrees in engineering sciences and industrial administration from Purdue University.

Massena's program, while dealing with the techniques of solar energy utilization, will be presented in terms suitable for the general public. Also slated for discussion at the meeting will be the group's information and education booth to be erected at the Martin County Fair.

New tennis club is set, now seeking memberships

JENSEN BEACH–The North River Shores Tennis Club has been announced by Heiko Voges, as the new organization kicked off a drive for 100 members.

While the location of the club is currently being negotiated, Voges said that the need for a private tennis club has been demonstrated by the increasing popularity of tennis in the Martin-St. Lucie County area.

Voges has established a trust fund at the First National Bank and Trust of Stuart, being handled by Chuck Shad, first vice president of the bank, and a member of the new club.

Initiation fees will be $200 per person for the first 100 members, Voges said. Checks will be held at First National Bank until construction starts. 100 members is the minimum to start the club, he added.

No date set February 28 as the date to close off applications.

"The only way to make the club work properly, and be financially secure, is to have 100 members. If we don't get that number, we cannot expect it to be economically feasible," Heiko said, indicating that initial response "fairly well assures that we will make the goal."

Upon reaching 100, memberships will close until a second phase of construction is begun.

Voges plans six courts, four clay and two hard surface, surrounding a clubhouse. There will be a children's playground area and a swimming pool.

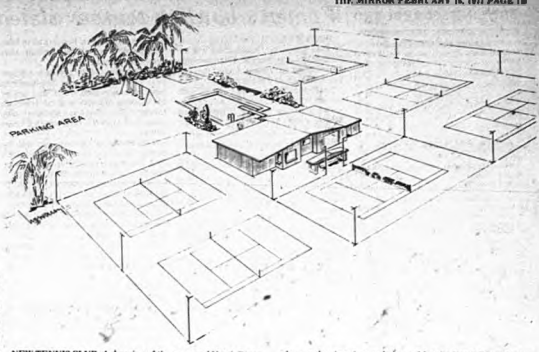
"We hope to have the courts ready for play by summer, and the clubhouse ready in the fall. Membership dues will be effective on December 1, 1977."

The annual dues will be $195 for a single membership, $295 for a couple, and $350 for a family membership, including children to age 21.

The club will be owned by Mr. and Mrs. Egon Lucas and Voges.

Voges, a winter resident of Port St. Lucie for twelve years, operates a landscape business in Toronto, Canada, during the summer months. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas are residents of Muenster, Germany, and are investors in the area.

For further information, interested tennis players can contact Voges at 334-5327, or Shad at 287-4000.



NEW TENNIS CLUB–A drawing of the proposed North River Shores Tennis Club indicates the six courts, clubhouse and pro shop, and swimming pool planned for the North River Shores area. Heiko Voges is promoting the private club.

Tigers lose, would get rematch

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART–The Martin County basketball Tigers came a cropper last Friday night in the state's most competitive game of the week, losing to undefeated DeLand 76-62.

Coach Luther Campbell, the pride of Martin County, faded out for the first time since New Year with 5:32 to go in the game, which never was quite the same after.

Tigers McFadden and Campbell each scored 18 points for the Tigers, now 23-4 on the season. This the same record they carried into the District Championships last season. The Bulldogs of DeLand are 27-1.

The Friday night action, the Tigers split apart the Rams of Twin Lakes Academy, led by the savage attack of Jeff Mitchell, who netted 38 points, high for any high school caliber.

The Twin Lakes stayed close for most of the first half, but were no match for the Martin County Tigers, who were ranked number two in the Class AAAA ratings at the time.

The entire state was stunned last Saturday afternoon when it heard of Jacksonville White's upset of previously undefeated and number one ranked Jacksonville Raines. White won that one 54-53 in overtime, prompting Martin County fans to think of what could have been if their cagers had overcome DeLand.

Instead, conference arch-rival Lake Worth was awarded their first number one rating in years, followed by Raines (22-1) at third, and MCHS at number five. It was a major shake-up for high school basketball, as all four top-ranked squads fell from their perches, all victims of the upset.

Martin County got their chance to even the score with the Lake Worth Trojans (23-3), as they headed to Lake Worth to take on the Trojans in what was the "conference championship game." However, Tuesday's game was not as important as it sounded, because the teams might have to do it all over again next week, as the District Championships get underway. In fact, all eight Suncoast East teams will be in the tourney, which will be played at Palm Beach Junior College.

For, complete details on the tournament, see next week's Mirror.

...iling course starts next week

STUART–Registration for the seven week course in sailing techniques will take place next Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 7 p.m. in the headquarters building of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary flotilla 18, located at the foot of Flagler Avenue in downtown Stuart.

The four week course, sponsored by flotilla 18, will include subjects such as what to know your boat, theory of sail, basic boat handling, types of seamanship in fair and foul weather, and safety tips.

Enrollment will be limited to 40 students due to the limited facilities of the building, according to Vice Commander Joseph Freitag. There will be a nominal charge of $5 for text books and materials.

The classes will be conducted every Wednesday and Friday through March 16, starting at 8 p.m. February 23. A final examinations will take place on March 11.

Mrs Leach died Monday

Mrs. Anne Winship Bates Leach, philanthropist who originally owned the Leach Estate to St. Joseph Monday.

Mrs. Leach has maintained contact with the local campus of FTF, and was discussing further contributions to the $140,000 renovation of the Leach mansion into the FTF student center at the time of her death.

The Coca-Cola heiress was one of the founders of the Stuart Garden Club and an active member of the D.A.R. and Stuart Woman's Club while she lived in Stuart, from 1938 until the 1950s.

Just recently, Mrs. Leach gave $3 million to the Palmer Baskin Eye Clinic at the Ann Bates Leach Hospital at the University of Miami.

She was the only child of the late Elizabeth Winship and Wilson Allen Bates of Atlanta, Ga. She had been a resident of Florida since 1938, a member of the First United Methodist Church of Atlanta, Georgia.

She is survived by her husband, Willaford Ransom Leach; two daughters, Mrs. William Carnes of Sawnee, Georgia, and Mrs John H. Henry of North Palm Beach; and the later Elizabeth Winship Spears and William J. Leach.

Funeral services were held at the Vliet Chapel of the First United Methodist Church, West Palm Beach Tuesday, with the Reverend John M. Fletcher officiating. Further services will be held at St Marks United Methodist Church, Atlanta, Georgia, on Wednesday afternoon, with interment at Oakland Cemetery.

BY RUTH BOWES 334-4946

Assisted by Elizabeth O'Donnell and Peg Ray

Congratulations on your anniversaries to: Roy and Bea Leonard, Feb. 13 (belated greetings); Pat and Marion Kime, Feb. 17; Jack and Evie Faust, Feb. 18; Don and Martha Shetron, Feb. 23.

Happy Birthday wishes go to Betty Nagy, Feb. 19; Earl Bowes, Feb. 23.

Ringwood, N.J., visiting for a few days.

Harold and Doris Butler of Lucan, Ontario, Canada, staying at ORA, visited Edie and Steve Pointon Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon May of lot 117 have their daughter Margaret, her husband Steve Brown, and children Mike and Niki from Conklin, Mich., visiting until Feb. 25.

Mrs. Elsa Heins has her son Herman, Jr., wife Barbara, grandchildren Fred, Tim and Jenny visiting for three weeks. They left the cold country of Long Island, N.Y., arriving Sunday on a nice warm day.

Oscar and Bea Lupke are enjoying the visit of daughter Betty Shelly and granddaughter Chris Lupke from Monroe, Mich. Chris will stay a week and Betty a month.

News of H.Outers in Martin Memorial:

Joe Vansant has a possible week more in the hospital, taking daily therapy treatments on his knee. Gordie St. Louis is expecting to be released in a few days, and Joe Trupiano returned Sunday to the park. Jean Davis returned home after a few days in the hospital for tests.

Horace Taylor has been transferred to Stuart Convalescent Center, Room 409, for recuperation and therapy treatments.

Mrs. June Carleton and daughter Lila Marie and son Joel Earl visited Aunt Ruth and Uncle Earl Bowes on Sunday. June's broken arm is healing well.

Howard Clugstone and Clancy Gutheil teamed up to take fourth place in the Cocoa Beach Shuffleboard tournament on Feb. 10. It was a novice competition and their trophies were won in the main event.

Don't forget: March 5 is the Hobby Show, so get busy producing masterpieces for sale and display.

Tequesta Towers will never be the same since the George Bares, Lee Prices and Al Rays had an organ recital when they were dinner guests of Bob and Ruth Stewart in their beautiful condo there. Two ladies from the floor above heard the tantalizing music and invited the players upstairs to join their parties. Friends of the Rays from Tequesta joined the lively group and played a wicked piano.

Charles and Carrie Ullmann are enjoying their daughter Ethel and her husband's visit. Ethel is the daughter whose skill with a needle keeps Carrie looking so stylish.

Ralph and Jean Taylor were going to tell us about their two week tour around Florida, but the nasty flu bug has kept Ralph confined to bed the past week.

The Cecil Roys have had company on top of company, and now their number one son and his wife are here. The Kissin Kousin Korner with true Southern hospitality got together and had a chicken dinner to celebrate their arrival.

Everyone will miss Debbie Quillan, Norma Boyher's charming niece. She taught the ladies many interesting crafts and she was also a gourmet cook.

Debbie will be joining her doctor husband in San Diego in June, where he will open his first office. We all wish this fine young couple well in their new career.

Several couples from Holiday Out joined the fun at Ocean East Mall Friday night for the dancing and sing-along. The Al Rays and Alice Perrault, who were in the group, went to the Barn Theatre to see "Fiddler on the Roof" after the sing-along, and thought it was a great show, very well directed.

No news from Bertie Harrison about Bill for two weeks. We all miss them so much, as we do Dot and Bill Blair and Horace Taylor, who is still hospitalized.

Benihana Restaurant is very popular with H. Outers. The Louis Winters lunched there twice last week and the Boyhers, Quillans and J.C. Freemans enjoyed it Saturday night.

The Byrnes, Wises and Longs spent four days at Disney World last week.

Mom Allison is leaving for a cruise to South America. Lucky lady!

The James Allens were honored on their wedding anniversary by a dinner party at the Lupkes.

The Marvin Terrys hosted a cocktail party for the Rays and the Roys and served shark hors d'oeuvres to the delight of their guests. Did not hear who caught the shark.

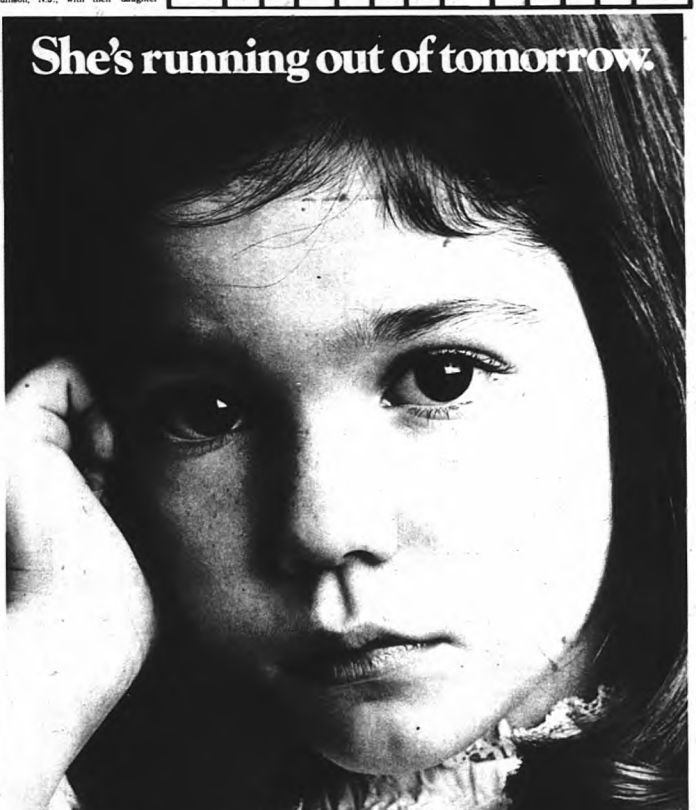
She's running out of tomorrow.



The future of our children depends on energy. And America is running out of some of its primary energy sources.

We can no longer depend on natural gas and oil. In fact, some experts say we only have enough of these to last until the end of the century.

There's not much time. We must actively develop new energy technologies and refine and improve existing ones. And we have to do it now. Today.

That's why FPL has committed scores of planners and researchers and a multi-million dollar budget this year.

It's that important to all of us.

Nuclear energy. Solar energy. Liquefied coal. We're working on all of them and more, to find the most economical way to produce electricity.

Because, unless we plan properly today, we simply won't have the electricity we need tomorrow.

And then what would her future be like?

TAX & ID Counseling according to Coordinator Paul Berglund at the Jensen First Federal and Stuart National on Mon., Wed. and Fri., 9 to 12, is catching on in great style, for at one time "three members" had to be used and more waiting chairs had to be set up. For info, 283-2980.

TUTORS were suggested by a "HAARPS" item in the February Golden Eagle, and County Commissioner Maggie Hurchalla noted it. She suggested that Louise Carnevale or Capt. Castle might be interested, and they were. Father Kildea, education chm., will see about a tutor orientation seminar for all interested in tutoring those who have "3R" problems, past teaching experience helpful but not necessary. Call Father for info, 283-8077.

HEALTH committee has a chairman finally, Pearl Wyse, R.N. She explained her hopes and aims and asked for volunteers (male sensed). For health problem info, call 334-5606.

At Palmetto local Red Cross Director says there will be FREE blood pressure checks at the Red Cross center of 5th St., Stuart, Monday and Friday, 8 to 12, with registered nurse on duty.

CHAPTER transfer from Area XI (West Palm) to VIII (Melbourne; was not considered advantageous at this time and a motion to this effect was approved. This and two other motions will be brought before the members at the regular February meeting for their consideration. The others were: write to Dr. Archie McCallister urging him to start a Geriatric Clinic as is being pushed by MCCA; and the approval of a resolution to establish a "Commissioner of Elderly Affair" for the Florida Cabinet, as is being sponsored by Hon. John Adams of Hollywood and Hon. Alan Becker of North Dade.

A SENIOR Center is moving along step by step, according to Frank Kirk, overall chairman. A land survey is underway to determine where there might be available land in the county, central to population, that might be donated to start the project.

DO-IT-YOURSELF (with help) is all ready to go, as chairman Frank Edwardson has six men waiting for a call to help out on small jobs for a small fee (to cover transportation and a buck or two for the effort). They are Edwardson, out by the Locks, 302-0473; Martin Meyer, Ala St., 283-0214; Ronald Walker, Palm City Rd., 283-6886; Clyde LaRarge, Palm City Rd., 283-0873; and Charles Crannell, Cedar Point, 287-8644. This should be a very handy service.

MEMBERSHIP chairman Al Tucker says he's not getting a new member every 30 seconds as National is doing, but each week there are a few new ones, bringing the dues paying total to 688. All others, please send checks to P.O. Box 1238 ($1 per person per year). Don't forget, a family membership of 2 is included with each subscription to the Jensen Beach Mirror of $7.50, if made through the chapter telephone to 334-0756 for info.

Ladies and men, too, can learn how to use handy household items for their protection in the home, on the street and in the car. Also, the Senior Swingers will have a dance and sing-along at Ocean East Mall, 7 to 8:30 p.m., bring your own chair.

Port St. Lucie Chapter 2696

Because of the interest shown in defensive driving, Gordon Long made a thorough investigation of the possibilities of attendance by chapter members at one of the several courses being offered in the area. His recommendation, approved by the board of directors, was that the March course at the Environmental Center in Jensen Beach be chosen. This course will be offered Monday and Wednesday, March 14 and 16, and the following Monday and Wednesday, March 21 and 23, from 2 to 4 p.m. each day. The only fee is $2 which pays for the manual distributed to participants.

As previously reported, some insurance companies, including Colonial Penn which writes a great deal of insurance for AARP members, give a 10 per cent discount on premiums to those who receive a certificate stating they have successfully completed the course. Gordon commented that if a family has two cars, and consequently two insurance policies, both husband and wife must take the course in order to receive the discount on both policies.

A new feature has been added to the adult education program for the final week of the March course, and that is a self-defense instruction session on Friday, March 25. It, too, will be held at the Environmental Center, and the instructor is expected to be Lt. Bill Scott of the Martin County Sheriff's Department, who will also conduct the defensive driving classes. Incidentally, the latter consist of classroom instruction only - no actual driving is involved.

The last board meeting was a lively one with four committee chairmen and eight directors in attendance. The chairman were Bill Armet, recreation; Tom Dolan, nominating; Tom Carlile, TAP coordinator; and Nelson Howery, legislative. Directors present were Fred Wiggin, Gordon Long, Jerry Casperson, Maurie Arluck, Morgan Jones, Jim Kearney, Hester Pfau and Hugh Jencks.

A good part of the meeting was taken up with committee reports and discussion of the guidelines given chapters at the Melbourne area meeting. One such suggestion was that each chapter should draw up an organization chart, which would assign to each director primary responsibility for certain committees. Morgan Jones presented a draft of such a chart, and it is expected to be adopted at the next meeting.

Morgan reported that there are now 263 members in the chapter, of whom 163 had paid their 1977 dues up to last week. March 31 is not too far away, so any members who've neglected to see Esther Thompson, treasurer, and ante up the small dues should do so. Esther said warnings to those who are delinquent will start going out soon. After such notification, those who have not paid up by the end of March will be dropped from the membership rolls.

Most members received the February news bulletin last week. It was presented colorfully on bright orange paper. Maurie Arluck and Jim Kearney, who is handling the advertising, said that the March issue will expand to two pages in order to accommodate more news and advertising.

Bill Armet and Jim Kearney have plans in the works for recreation activities. Bill said 20 members have indicated interested in the Indian River boat trip and notes will be signed up at the chapter meeting, Feb. 17.

Jim suggested, and the board approved the idea, that a recreation and emergency fund be set up when sufficient funds are accumulated, to handle emergencies that may arise on any future trips. At the Melbourne meeting, several chapters reported they maintain such funds.

The fund would not come from the dues bank account but from extra-curricular sources such as the planned 50-50 drawings at chapter meetings and incidental revenue from the news bulletin.

Two new committees are to be set up. One is the telephone committee, which will call members when needed for meetings and other events. The other is a Sunshine committee, which will have the gentle/cheery function of calling those who are ill and sending condolences to bereaved members.

Tom Carlile told the board the tax assistance program is going along swimmingly. Assistance on the knotty task of filling out income tax returns was provided to 34 members during the first week of operation and 26 the second. He said that in almost all cases, the training given at Stuart enabled counsellors to answer all questions of taxpayers. In a few cases, where the complexity of the problem went beyond the training received, the taxpayer was referred to the IRS.

Maurie Arluck is working well ahead on lining up programs for the coming months.

This month's meeting will be addressed by Brad Cetverhouse, assistant in the Fort Pierce district attorney's office, on the important question of swindles and frauds, and how to guard against them.

In March Dr. Allen Siegel will talk about sight problems as they refer to the aging process. And in April, Port St. Lucie City Manager Elmer Cox will be the speaker, discussing the city's growth and what may lie ahead.

Maurie's announcement that Cox will speak at the March meeting touched off a very lively discussion about the incorporation of areas now in the county into the city.

Spring Festival is March 5

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Community Center Spring Festival and Bazaar will be presented this year on Saturday, March 5, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Center on Prima Vista Boulevard.

There will be two Boutique booths; one sponsored by the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club, members of which have been preparing for the event all year. Mrs. Frieda Cornetta is in charge of the booth.

The other Boutique will present items made by friends of the Community Center, under the leadership of Wanda Lundin. Anyone willing to donate handmade items or crafts to this Boutique is asked to call 878-3868 and arrangements will be made for a pick up, if necessary.

The Festival and Bazaar will have fun for all ages all day. There will be many activities for youngsters under the guidance of the Junior Woman's Club, committee members being Wanda Engledow, Kathy Coldren, Bonnie Reed and Roberta Hopkins.

There will be a Pantry Shelf with Florence Dabney in charge. The Yacht Club is sponsoring a Golf Clinic; Charles Brown will be assisted by Mike Reeb and Nelson Howery.

Charles White, well known for his activities in the community, is planning interesting fun things, too.

The Garden Club, under the direction of Betty Cline and Leone Hett, will set up lovely plants and garden goods and, of course, there will be a "Nearly New Nook" with Mrs. Agnes Forrar supervising. Contributions to this stock would be most welcome. No clothes or shoes, however, as there is no space.

The Browning Corner is scheduled again. This has been a popular booth to which the community has donated books, magazines, games, puzzles, etc. Mr. and Mrs. John Pugh, 878-2265, can make arrangements for donation pick-up if desired.

General Development Corporation is sponsoring a free cash door prize. There will be raffles and lucky winners will have prizes such as a "50-50" sponsored by the Anglers' Club, a strawberry pattern afghan, now displayed in the Community Center lounge, a set of golf clubs from the Yacht Club, a prize winning broomstick afghan donated by Mrs. A. Anderson for the Beautiful Waters Boutique, and a lovely gift by the Garden Club. Tickets for these will be available all day, with drawings between 7 and 8 p.m.

The Snack Bar, directed by Ethel Krall, will provide breakfast and lunch from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the Lions Club will be serving beverages on the grounds all day, with Bill Bannister in charge.

The Outdoor Art Exhibit, with community artists showing paintings and specialties, will add to the fun day.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the growing Port St. Lucie Community Center.

?und drive n FPL rate tepped up

PORT ST. LUCIE–The drive for ributions to the Coalition of Florida sumers protest move against the rida Power & Light Co. rate increase is to be stepped up and expanded, ording to Mrs. Virginia Ellsworth, chairman of the drive.

a meeting of the board of directors the CFC Monday night, Mrs. sworth told of plans to intensify the ve efforts. It was also disclosed at the eting that the formal rebuttal to the E petition is now in its final stages. should be completed by the end of week. The rebuttal, running 35 to 40 es, was prepared by Frank Zendzian, ancial analyst of the consumer group. ill be submitted formally at a March hearing by the Public Service mmission at Palm Beach Gardens. e will be the first of a series of 16 rings to be held statewide by the PSC r a period of four weeks.

lbert Brunton, CFC president, told board the fund drive to date has been erally satisfactory, but emphasized t advancement of the PSC hearing e, originally scheduled for late May, at but us two months of time in which ould have worked on contributions."

rs. Ellsworth said fund workers will on to consumers that it is to their est interest to support the CFC.

As we said in our letter to all users of r electricity, if the increase is sted, it will mean a one-third bigger ervcal bill," she said. "If your nary bill was $90, it would be $120 er the proposal. Contributions have raged $7, and we would certainly that level can be raised, for we need the ney to carry on our struggle against Goliath."

ntributions are now approaching 00. The largest individual contribu- was one of $500 made by the Spanish ss Homeowners' Association.

unton pointed out that business, as ll as individuals, should be supporting CFC because "the increase will hit ness hard." As part of the expanded drive, an effort will be made to seek ness contributions under Don White, mber of the board.

enten services planned

PORT ST. LUCIE–Rev. W.H. Winkler ovide over the weekly Lenten ice planned for St. Andrew ran Church beginning Ash Wed- y, February 23, with Holy munion being celebrated.

ekly Lenten services will be held Wednesday starting at 7:30 p.m., ding to a church spokesman. The church is located on West Prima Vista Boulevard.

The regular Sunday services are conducted at 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Sunday School is held at 9:30 a.m. and an adult Bible study course is conducted at 9:45 a.m. with Rev. Winkler in charge.

Twenty-one persons were received into the church membership during the February 13 services.

Civic League to sponsor candidates forum Feb. 23

PORT ST. LUCIE–Candidates for the City Council and for the post of Mayor will be given an opportunity to address a city-wide gathering of voters when the Civic League sponsors a Candidates' Forum at 7:30 Wednesday evening, Feb. 23, at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School.

Each candidate will be allotted 10 minutes for his presentation. Each is asked to provide brief biographical material which will be used in the introduction, so that the candidate can devote his full time to his views on civic matters.

A general question and answer period will follow the candidates' speeches.

Candidates will be invited to speak on topics of their choice. Possibilities suggested by the League are the matter of a new City Hall; the proposed police department; development of parks and a recreation program, surplus city funds, and the need for an assistant City Manager and for a full-time City Planner.

All voters are urged to attend.

The League's board of directors voted last week to not endorse any specific candidate in this year's election.

Utilities Co-op files petition

PORT ST. LUCIE–During a special meeting Tuesday, Francisco Renta, president of the Port St. Lucie Utilities, Inc., filed a petition containing 457 names requesting the City challenge the legality of the General Development Utilities franchise, insisting the matter be placed on the March 15 ballot for the city election.

Councilman Bill McChesney moved the item be deferred to a future session where it could be thoroughly studied.

"We are playing with the life blood of the people of this city....water. When you change the source of supply, you must investigate this new source, where will they get the money and how will they operate.

"I am a believer in free enterprise and I am also very familiar with co-ops. Not all co-ops are successful.

"If this co-op takes over the utilities and is unsuccessful, then we will find the City is in the utility business," McChesney said in making the motion to defer the matter until a later session.

The motion carried four-to-one, with Vice-mayor Frank Rose, a former member of the Port St. Lucie Utilities, Inc., casting the only negative vote.

For over a year, Renta's 35 member organization has been questioning the legality of the GDU franchise and his cause was bolstered several months ago when Spencer Gilbert, the city attorney, issued an opinion the thirty year franchise was illegal due to a conflict of interest which existed. At the time the franchise was negotiated, councilmembers were also employees of General Development Corporation.

However, Gilbert pointed out the only true test of the matter would have to be in a court of law.

The object of Tuesday's petition, according to Renta, is to allow the city to grant a new franchise for utilities to another entity capable of providing proper maintenance and service of utilities.

According to Gilbert, if the city were to proceed with such a lawsuit, the litigation would go all the way to the Supreme Court and the expenses could easily climb to $10,000 or more.

Renta was requested to approach the Council with a how, why and when of his intentions.

Council seeks money

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council plans to apply for a federal grant to assist in regional comprehensive planning. Council members last week authorized executive director Sam Shannon to complete the application by March 1.

The grant is for more than $16,000 with matching funds from the council budget. The planning will be centered on land use and housing programs for the four-county area.

In other action last Thursday at its regular monthly meeting, members voted to create a citizens advisory committee to help prepare and implement a state-wide plan for coastal zone management.

Council members also heard from a member of the National Association of Regional Councils, and he urged the members not to view the new council as an "enemy" of local governments.

Jack Simmers, who is also chairman of the Central Florida Regional Planning Council, said that a "collective voice is stronger than any one individual government opinion."

"If regional councils are only marginally accepted in an area, the irresponsible actions of one or more of their members could prove to be the death blow to the regional council concept," he said.

"Communication, cooperation and coordination by all governments is needed for the good of the people living in your community," he added.

"The planning council is a strong and valid shield to protect the sanctity of local governments," Simmers said.

He cited problems such as mass transportation, air pollution, water quality and solid waste as being regional in nature.

Catholic Women's Club schedules busy week

PORT ST. LUCIE–Wine, cheese, baked goods and a rummage sale add up to a busy week for members of the Catholic Women's Club, according to a group spokesman.

A Wine and Cheese Party is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on February 22. While there will be no tickets sold, a minimum donation will be requested.

Friday, February 25, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 12 noon, the club will sponsor a garage, rummage and bake sale.

Both events will be held at the new church hall located next to the St. Lucie Catholic Church on Prima Vista Boulevard.

PSL Women plan fashion show

PORT ST. LUCIE–Preliminary plans for the annual Port St. Lucie Woman's Club Fashion Show were discussed at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Harold Brodie, chairman for the event. Her committee members are Mesdames A.C. Hofmeister, Robert Johnston, Roy Hannum, Jack Schleif, Henry Deible, A.B. Bowman, Oscar Schenk and Donald Bouck.

The luncheon show is scheduled for March 30 at Sandpiper Bay, with the social hour at 12:30 p.m. and luncheon at 1:00.

Theme of the show will be "April in Paris" with fashions from selected local shops modeled by club members.

Proceeds from the gala affair will benefit the Tri-County Rehabilitation Center.

For further information or tickets, call Addie Hannum, 334-2513, or Nona Johnston, 334-1369.

Fleming heads League

PORT ST. LUCIE–Seymour B. Fleming was elected president of the Port St. Lucie Civic League by the league's directors at their monthly meeting February 10.

Herb Tschudy was named vice president, Mrs. Jo Walker, secretary; and Wm. G. Muller, Jr., treasurer. The officers will serve through 1977.

The board discussed plans for the Candidates' Forum planned for Feb. 23 at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School when all city candidates will be invited to speak.

The board also voted unanimously not to endorse any specific candidate in this year's election.

New directors welcomed to their first meeting were Jo Walker, Harold Shear, Darlene Gaskill, Frank Alexander, Edie Rogers and Ken Beckman.

Rogers, Beckman, Gaskill and Bob Johnston will serve as the new membership committee. Bill Muller and Marvin Waldhillig will be the finance committee keeping in touch with city finance matters.

Shear, Frank Alexander and Paul Faber will comprise a committee to study and revise the League by-laws.

SATURDAYS TOO?–I don't know how many days a week Roy Warren, the new maintenance supervisor at Sportsman Park, is supposed to work, but he was busy Saturday morning removing the old fence and posts from around the kiddie park when the Mirror photographer was in the area.

Mirror wins Freedoms Foundation 1976 award

JENSEN BEACH–The Mirror Newspapers have been notified of selection as a recipient of the 1976 Valley Forge Honor Award from the Freedoms Foundation for "Vignettes of American History."

The award was announced as being made for "an outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of the American Way of Life," according to Robert Miller, president.

Sen. Lawton Chiles wrote, "I am proud that you have earned the recognition of the Freedoms Foundation, and I would like to take this opportunity to join with your families and friends in extending to you my hearty congratulations on this occasion."

He added that "the future of our nation rests on the will of responsible citizenship, as demonstrated by people such as yourselves."

Congressman L.A. "Skip" Bafalis also congratulated The Mirror staff, writing, "To be selected for such an honor is high praise indeed. It gives me a great deal of satisfaction to know I have the pleasure of representing individuals such as you for whom patriotism is a living, breathing feeling."

"Vignettes of American History" was a colorful collection of drawings by Carl Engel. The sketches depicted scenes from the past in Martin and St. Lucie Counties, Florida and the United States. It was The Mirror's bicentennial effort.

The alliance appointed a committee to determine whether the alliance should request the Cabinet to hold a hearing.

On the latest water study, Tom Groover, director of engineering for William M. Bishop Consulting Engineers in Tallahassee, said about 159 apartments or 84 single family houses can be built on the island with only minor work by the utilities firm which provides water to the island.

Groover recommended that Southern Gulf Utilities (SGU) install another pump at its storage on Sewall's Point.

Commissioners imposed a building moratorium on the island in late 1975 due to poor water pressure and other problems with the SGU system. The Tallahassee firm was hired to study the water system and make recommendations.

And back in September of 1971, consultant David Smith advised the County Commission to buy SGU–then known as Ecological Services, Inc.

Smith said he wasn't ready to quote a specific price, but noted it would be somewhere under $1 million.

Baker said that artists have sent in applications from all sections of the country, including Canada. "I even got a letter from a French painter who is expected to enter."

There will be between 1,500 and 2,000 paintings at the two-day event, which is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

The Jensen Cubs of Langford Park will serve food and beverages Saturday, and the Lions Club will serve their famous pancake and sausage Sunday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Jimmy Dean is chairman of the pancake fry, and will be assisted by members of the club.

PRECINCT MAP–Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph is shown with a map of the county which has the new precinct boundaries. Mrs. Randolph has met with County Commissioners several times in an effort to redraw the lines before the March 1 deadline.

Hot I-95 issue still roaring

JENSEN BEACH–The hot Interstate 95 issue has heated up again with state senators saying the county faces the loss of federal money and various groups backing different routes.

The threat of losing federal money for I-95 came from state senators Harry Johnston and Don Childers who appeared before the Stuart Board of Realtors last week.

They pointed out that if money from the federal agencies is approved and plans are not ready, then the area loses the money.

Realtors were told by the two West Palm Beach state senators that the agreement on I-95 must be made in the county. They suggested a letter writing campaign.

A straw vote was taken during a recent Stuart election, and the vote favored a route east of Florida's Turnpike.

Also last week, members of the county's Conservation Alliance said they will resume their fight to locate I-95 west of the turnpike.

One member noted that the alliance has been fighting five or six years for a westerly route of I-95 in the county.

Another member noted that an eastern alignment would decrease business by making it more convenient for county shoppers to travel to the Palm Beach Mall in West Palm Beach.

The I-95 discussion by the alliance was prompted by reports that the Federal Highway Administration had revoked approval for the western route in northern Palm Beach and Martin Counties.

Norbert Tiemann, the outgoing federal highway director, revoked the approval granted two years earlier for building I-95 west of the turnpike from PGA Boulevard in Palm Beach County through Martin County SR 70 in St. Lucie County.

Then last week Lester Lamm, acting head of the federal agency, didn't change Tiemann's revocation of the western route. The federal action comes as state officials are negotiating a contract to study three alternatives for I-95.

Bill Ekey, state Department of Transportation (DOT) engineer, said the department has chosen the St. Petersburg firm of H.W. Lockner, Inc., to study the routes.

The firm will restudy the western route, and a route east of the turnpike near Tequesta but sending it west in Martin County after crossing the turnpike near where it intersects the Loxahatchee River.

The third route was proposed by Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton. The so-called Tilton Plan was designed as an eastern route which removes the environmental grounds state officials found for objecting to an earlier eastern alignment by skirting the Loxahatchee River, Jonathan Dickinson State Park and the St. Lucie River.

"I think DOT can come up with a plan that is very close to mine," Tilton said Monday. "I believe that 75 per cent of the people in the county favor an eastern route."

Tilton said that a strong case can be made for an eastern route when DOT holds public hearings off the route for I-95.

Tilton also said his plan would not ruin the two rivers in Martin County as charged by some members of the Conservation Alliance.

Tilton's plan was to meet environmental objections raised to the eastern route.

When county commissioners William Myers and Tom Higgins met last January with DOT officials in Tallahassee, they were assured that new environmental impact studies would be conducted by private consultants on the three proposed I-95 routes.

Also, when the last I-95 public hearings were held by DOT in Tequesta, county officials requested that public hearings be held in Martin County.

The last study of the highway location was held in 1972 by W. Smith and Associates. It led to state and federal approval of the western route. That approval remained on record until Tiemann revoked it just before leaving office last month.

mmercial rking plan clarified

SEN BEACH–Plans to seek al of only four angle parking on Commercial Street in Jensen was emphasized this week by Klett, president of the Jensen Chamber of Commerce.

Mirror incorrectly reported that ion of the Chamber directors last was to remove all angle parking on rding to Klett, the parking area ld would be in the narrowed of the street at Cee-Bees rant, which includes four parking , and the area along Palmetto at Home Maintenance.

Mirror regrets the error.

Allen Tilton will receive Eagle award

JENSEN BEACH–Presentation of Scouting's highest award, The Eagle, to Allan Tilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Tilton, will be a highlight of the Americanism Program to be held Monday, Feb. 28, at the Legion Hall on South Savanna Road.

Sponsored by the Jensen Beach American Legion Auxiliary Unit 126, the program will be the "Youth Betterment Program" of the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Florida. Participating will be Boy Scout Troop No. 811, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Fred Kahl; and Girl Scout Troop No. 35, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Matthews.

Many department awards will be given to units presenting the best program.

Parents, friends and Legion members are invited to attend.

The guest speaker at the Auxiliary's regular meeting was Kenneth Taft, Martin County Veterans Service Officer. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

RPC seeks federal planning grant

JENSEN BEACH–The Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council plans to apply for a federal grant to assist in regional comprehensive planning. Council members last week authorized executive director Sam Shannon to complete the application by March 1.

The grant is for more than $16,000 with matching funds from the council budget. The planning will be centered on land use and housing programs for the four-county area.

In other action last Tuesday at its regular monthly meeting, members voted to create a citizens advisory committee to help prepare and implement a state wide plan for coastal zone management.

Council members also heard from a member of the National Association of Regional Councils, and he urged the members not to view the new council as an "enemy" of local governments.

Jack Simmers, who is also chairman of the Central Florida Regional Planning Council, said that a "collective voice is stronger than any one individual government opinion."

"If regional councils are only marginally accepted in an area, the irresponsible actions of one or more of their members could prove to be the death blow to the regional council concept," he said.

"Communication, cooperation and coordination by all governments is needed for the good of the people living in your community," he added.

"The planning council is a strong and valid shield to protect the sanctity of local governments," Simmers said.

He cited problems such as mass transportation, air pollution, water quality and solid waste as being regional in nature.

RUMMAGE ITEM–Proceeds of the rummage sale of the Jensen Beach Optimist Auxiliary go to the club's youth activities. Holding one of the toys that were on display at the sale held Saturday at Langford Park is Beth Dieffenbach, 11, of 181 South River Road.

Second open house Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–The second in the series of Sunday afternoon Open House observances is scheduled for 1 to 4 p.m. at the Environmental Studies Center this Sunday, Feb. 27.

The Center, which has received national recognition for its program of environmental education, will open its doors to the general public to visit the museum, wet lab and other displays.

A colorful slide show, "Architects of the Dune", will be offered in the Center's auditorium at 2 and 3 p.m. The teaching staff will be on hand to answer questions and discuss the program.

While the Center is open to all residents and visitors this Sunday, a special invitation has been extended to students of Port Salerno Elementary and Murray Middle Schools to bring their parents for a tour of the facilities.

The Center holds Open House on the final Sunday afternoon of each month during the school year.

Chaplain calls program 'fantastic'

COUNTRY DAY–Father Frank Alvarez, of All Saints Episcopal Church in Ranch, is shown with Rear Admiral John H. O'Connor, U.S.N., at the God and Country Day program held last Sunday at Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne. Father Alvarez was ch-chairman of the program and Admiral O'Connor, chief of Navy chaplains, was the principal speaker.

JENSEN BEACH–The Third Annual God and Country Day was called a "fantastic program" by the Navy chaplain that was the principal speaker.

"I think it is an absolutely fantastic program," Rear Admiral John H. O'Connor, U.S.N., replied when asked what he thought of the program.

"I hope it continues for many, many years," the chief of Navy chaplains said. "More communities should have such a program."

And many people and members of the Committee on Arrangements praised the admiral's address.

More than 1,000 persons packed the Florida Institute of Technology auditorium to hear the Sunday afternoon program of patriotic songs, scripture reading and essays.

There were more than 200 persons, representing some 50 organizations, taking part in the grand procession, carrying flags and banners.

"It was a good program," Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha said.

Wacha read the proclamation which the County Commission passed, declaring Sunday, Feb. 20, as God and Country Day.

"It was a beautiful program," Dick Neeson said. Neeson, a member of the Committee on Arrangements for the program, served as sergeant-at-arms for the grand procession.

"It was more successful than any program we ever had," Neeson said.

And he praised the admiral's address, saying the admiral "painted a beautiful picture in words in life from World War II to the present time."

Publicity chairman for the God and Country Day Virgil Rathbone had high praise for persons who participated in the program.

"The program was successful, and the admiral's address was beautiful and very descriptive," Rathbone said.

Rathbone said that the committee is very grateful for the people who assisted by putting chairs in the auditorium, driving station wagons and buses, transporting people to the chapel from parking areas.

Rathbone also urged that anyone having a tape of the admiral's remarks to contact him.

The admiral didn't have a prepared text, and Rathbone said the committee would appreciate a recording of the address.

"It was the greatest program we ever had," Virgil Wilson, committee member, said. "I hope we have it for years to come."

"It was an excellent program," Mrs. William Stephenson said. She took part in the grand procession.

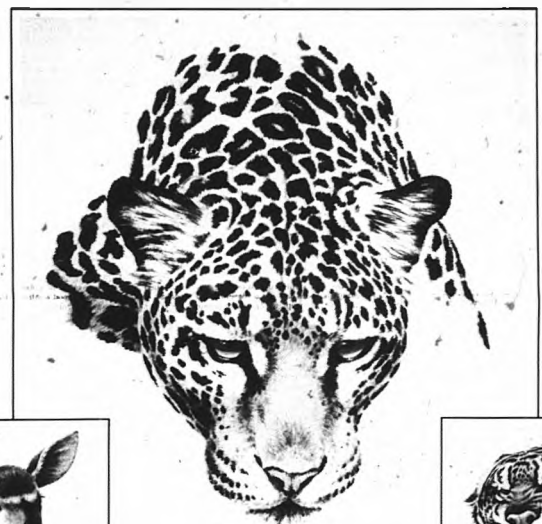
COHELEACH IS BACK!



"Foam Head"

"Tiger Head"

Due to the many requests of our customers and friends we've once again invited Guy Coheleach (pronounced Ko-lee-ak), to First National to present a special wildlife art exhibit.

You'll see over a half million dollars worth of the finest wildlife original paintings and limited edition prints that Guy Coheleach has turned out. Guy is acclaimed as one of the world's foremost wildlife artists.

One of Guy Coheleach's paintings hangs in the White House. Prints of another are given to visiting heads of state by the State Department. And because he truly believes in the cause of conservation, Guy Coheleach has given over two million dollars worth of his fine wildlife prints to raise funds for the protection of wildlife.

Stop by First National* during regular hours (9:00 A.M. - 3:00 P.M. weekdays, 9:00 A.M. - 6:00 P.M. Friday) from February 24th through March 11th to see our fantastic Guy Coheleach display. This is an art show you'll enjoy. At the close of business on March 11th, a drawing will be held for a b/w print of Guy's famous "Mute Swans." To be eligible, just register at First National or our Jensen Beach Branch. There is no obligation and you need not be present to win.

*Limited exhibit on display at our Jensen Beach Branch.

Special Offer of Coheleach Prints

During the Guy Coheleach exhibit you may purchase for $5.00 including sales tax, a Fawn Head or a Tiger Head print when you:

Open a new checking account or add to an existing checking account. $200 minimum deposit.

or

Apply for a First National Master Charge account or a PAT 24 hour banking card.

This offer good until supplies are exhausted.

You may purchase other Coheleach prints on display at the bank without above deposit requirements. (Ask any of our staff members for details)

Mr. Coheleach is scheduled to be at First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart on March 9 and 10, 1977, to personally autograph any Coheleach prints. Scheduled hours will be announced.

...since a number five quartet ...set in a fast start, gaining a 15-6 ...lead by through the first period. ...Jones' five points helped the ...to their early advantage, while Walter Campbell and Oscar Delaney each had four. But baskets by Anderson Lindsey, Winfred Patrick and Ronald Taylor gave Lake Worth the last six points of the quarter, and cut the margin to only 15-13.

Campbell's two baskets early in the second stanza gave the Tigers a 19-16 edge, but Louis Fuentes' slam dunk capped another three-hoop rally that brought the score to 21-20.

Martin County held leads of up to five points throughout the second canto, including a 31-26 advantage with 2:19 left in the half. But yet another three-bucket spurt gave Lake Worth their first lead of the game at 32-31. The teams played evenly through the remainder of the half, with the Tigers taking a 35-34 lead into the locker rooms.

Campbell went crazy in the third quarter, beginning with five unanswered markers in a ninety second gap that helped his team to a 43-38 lead. All told, Campbell had 18 points in the third quarter, and 18 in the second half. His 36 points was his third highest output of the season, surpassed only by his 38 point effort against Twin Lake, and, ironically, by his 38-point output against the Trojans in Stuart.

A 31-41 edge was still not enough to stun Lake Worth, who just the day before had been awarded the number one spot in the state's AAAA poll. Taylor and David Chafin combined for seven quick points to bring the score to 53-48.

Campbell hit for six markers in the first 2:13 of the final period to give the Tigers a 59-53 edge. But Taylor hit for four of his own in a six-point comeback effort, including a ram-jam dunk which brought the crowd to its feet. The comeback gave the Trojans new life, as they trailed by only two at 60-58.

Jones' hoop with 9:56 remaining made it 62-58, but Taylor scored only fifteen seconds later to again narrow the gap to two. Campbell then dunked one off a missed shot, but Patrick's hoop offset his effort. Finally, with 1:08 left, Jones scored to make it 66-62. But still Lake Worth refused to quit.

After Taylor's basket with 52 seconds to go, they regained possession of the ball. But their game-tying efforts were unsuccessful, and a last-second mid-court heave by guard Linton Black settled into the grasp of Lavern McFadden, who used up the final four seconds.

The win gave Martin County a 15-1 Suncoast East record, and the top seeding in this week's Districts at Palm Beach Junior College. Only North Shore had a better conference record, and that was in the West, where the Mustangs ran off 10 straight victories over conference foes.

Martin County hopes to play one more home game before concluding the 1977 playoffs. If they are successful in the Districts the Tigers will return home to play the winner of the Broward County area district in the Sectional final. The probable opponent then would be Fort Lauderdale News, the number one ranked team in the final poll of the year.

Boaters get lake aid

JENSEN BEACH—The U.S. Coast Guard has agreed to add a red daybeacon midway between Port Mayaca and Dan Beach Number 7 near Rocky Reef to aid boaters in crossing Lake Okeechobee, it was reported by Don Bottorff, president of the Okeechobee Waterway Association.

Vessel operators report that magnetic fields in the lake make it difficult to run a compass course. The new marker, which is designed for at least two miles visibility, will help both the experienced and inexperienced boatmen traverse the lake safely.

The [illegible] Association, sponsored by chambers of commerce and other organizations across the state from Fort Myers to Stuart, strives to promote the general welfare and use of the waterway by spreading knowledge about its recreational use, monitor safety conditions, cooperate with the Corps of Engineers and D.O.T. to work out new bridge clearances, and with the Department of Natural Resources in matters of water storage and protection of the environment.

FPL backs bond issue

JENSEN BEACH—The sale of $10,250,000 in St. Lucie County Florida Pollution Control Revenue Bonds to help finance environmental facilities at Florida Power & Light Company's new nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island took place February 8.

The 30-year bonds, backed by FPL, carry an interest rate of 6.15 percent and were underwritten by John Nuveen & Co., Inc., for resale to the public and to institutions. The closing will take place March 3.

John J. Hudiburg, FPL executive vice president, said the company seeks to take advantage of this type financing whenever possible because of the long term savings to customers.

News from Round Street, Venture Harbour, by Betty Pfabe:

Edsel and Betty Pfabe, along with Ruth and Bob Stewart from Venture Out, traveled in their motorhomes to the west coast last week. After attending an old car auction (didn't buy any), they did the tourist bit seeing Ringling Museum, Busch Gardens and Cypress Gardens.

Max and Thelma Dickey, who just joined us a short time ago, are taking off on a short journey to the west coast. However, they will be back next week.

Several from our park took their boats over to the St. Lucie River for the Blessing of the Fleet Saturday. Over 200 boats participated and it was quite an impressive sight. From Venture Harbour, Bob and Yvonne Wieneke took the Winkydick, with Les and Harriet Price as crew. Edsel and Betty Pfabe took Betsel, with Jim and Dorothy deHaseth as crew.

Lacies Shepherd has old friends visiting her, Laura and Roy Hersey from Edgewater, Maryland.

Marion Uldrks, lot 892, Indian River, reports as follows:

Bob and Lynn Goss have a visitor from their home town in New York, Jack Margitan. Next week they expect Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eades.

We had a surprise visit this week. Bernice Waddell is here for about a week. I am sure she'll get around to see some of her friends.

Among those attending the Liberace concert, recently in West Palm were Lydia and Milton Mills and Mary Spivak.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Sherwood, from Gresling, Mich., came down this week to stay for the rest of the winter. They are friends of Glen and Evelyn Terry.

D&M Mobile Park

BY MILDRED TICE STINNETT

When the Hobby Class met last Tuesday we had a short business meeting after Esther Critchley and Ethel Phillips served cherry cake, cookies and red and white candies at a table decorated for Valentine's day. Edie Andreason, chairperson of the White Elephant table, reminded us to bring our contributions either tother or to Nettie Keefer, and Ethel Phillips, president, requested Gene Ebner, Harold Johnson, Andy Andreason and George Grindley to do their usual fine job of parking cars.

Twenty three members were present and two guests: Eleanor Barber and Dolores Rilenour.

Marguerite and Herschel Rilenaur have their son Thomas and his wife Dolores with them from Evans City, Pa., whose daughter Amy is a life guard at Disney World, so of course, they made a trip to Orlando to see her.

Edna May has a new great granddaughter, born Saturday, Feb. 12, to Dody and Dan Enright who live in Akron, Ohio. Dody is Edna's grandaughter.

Please Roberts is either going places or entertaining friends, and thus time she had two cousins visiting her from Lansing, Ill. - Geneva and Dale Youngblood. Before them, Clara Lyman from New Jersey and Peg Gress from New York.

Ida and Jim Garden, neighbors of the Ebners in Jackson, N.J., are staying with their daughter in Stuart, but get over here frequently, so they can go fishing together, and they have been lucky, catching plenty of bikes, etc.

Luther Boggs, who is staying with his daughter and son-in-law, Lois and Don Wininger, is in Martin Memorial for tests. Get well soon, "Cy."

Alice and Bob McBriar have sold their home to Eva Boussord who will take possession March 1.

It was Alice Twell's turn to win the jack pot last week with John McBriar doing the calling. Celia Barr and Nettie Keefer helping on the calling back.

For the past three weeks Leon and Mabel Proctor have been hosting their daughter Mildred Donor who came down from Erie, Pa., with her brother Richard, and Monday evening Mildred's husband Elmer flew in. They all expect to spend another month in Florida. For the first time in 12 years, all five Proctor children were here at one time and the happy occasion was duly photographed. Beside Mildred and Richard, there were Betty Jean Wurst from State College, Pa., Lloyd who lives in Jensen Beach, and Laverne from Orlando.

The Fosters - Gertrude and Lowell - are entertaining their grandson Tim Booth from Boswell, and his friends Steve Beutler of Otterman and Jim Murphy from Fowler, all in the state of Indiana.

Gertrude told me that Lowell and Kathleen Hogue, also from Boswell, are here visiting in the park, that they called our former resident Rachel Hogue on Feb. 15 to wish her a happy birthday. Both Rachel and Rose are in the Care Nursing Home in Ladafayette and Rose is recovering from surgery. How nice to hear about former neighbors.

That big smile you see on Adrian Snyder's face these days is occasioned by the arrival of his daughter Eleanor and son-in-law Warren Barber from Albertson, Long Island, who come down every year around this time to enjoy a bit of Florida living. They are always accompanied by their canine companion Mitzi.

Jane and Marvin Wininger have as their guests Zenos and Evelyn Wininger, their daughter Marily and her husband Stanley Abel, from Paoli, Indiana. The Abels brought along their two children, Eric and Shawna.

Jane and Marvin went to the west coast the other day to bring back Bertha Wininger who has been over there visiting her grandson Paul Williams and his family in New Port Richey.

Jane's brother Jack telephoned the good news that she now has another grand nephew born to Brenda and Mark Jackson who live in Colorado.

Grace Stetser's namesake - her daughter Grace Mellow and her husband Bob are here for a two week vacation, so young Grace came to Art Class with us Thursday morning and joined in making a collage under the guidance of our instructor, Mrs. Helen Wells. She will also be here for the Hobby Show.

The pot luck supper on the 16th was a gastronomic success, and second helpings of the delicious food were a "must." Our hostesses were Stella Dobrowolski and Jenny Levingood, the coffee brewer, Merle Conklin.

Afterwards John McBriar and his wife Hanna showed slides of the Black Hills, the Bad Lands, the Big Horn Mountains, Yellowstone, East Glacier and Estes Parks and across into Canada. They managed to take many beautiful slides in spite of 'Il bit of inclement weather, and we all agreed they added to the enjoyment of the evening.

We sang "Happy Birthday" to Julie Ebner and to Ruth Conklin, whose birthday and 61st wedding anniversary to Merle occurred on the same day.

Alice and Chris Willoughby have had their son Bob from Oshawa, Canada, with them for his vacation, and being an ardent fisherman, he has plenty of opportunity to catch lots of fish and crabs.

...dy awards go to Stuart National

...PALM BEACH—The Stuart ...Bank was the recipient of seven ...wards for advertising excellence ...ere held by the Ad Club of the ...ounties. The awards were given by the Fourth District of the American Advertising Federation.

The seven awards placed Stuart National Bank first among financial institutions entering the competition. The award winning presentation was prepared and submitted to the competition by The Impact Group of Stuart, the bank's advertising agency.

Two affiliates of Stuart National Bank, Port Salerno National and Jupiter-Tequesta National Bank, which also have their advertising prepared by The Impact Group, won one award each.

Stuart National Bank won a First Place award for newspaper advertising campaign; a First for full-page black and white newspaper ad; a First, Second and Third for newspaper ads, black and white, less than full-page; a Second for outdoor boards and a Third Place in coordinated campaigns, more than one medium.

The ads were written by Kip Myers, president of The Impact Group, and designed by John Wilson, art director of the firm. Myers and Wilson won individual awards for copywriting and art direction than any other participants in the competition.

The Stuart firm, with 16 Addy Awards and nine best of category, placed second in overall judging. The nine top award winners in each of the categories will go on to Miami for additional competition in the Fourth District of the American Advertising Federation. Winning entries in this competition will go on for national judging.

Stuart National Bank, which won four awards last year, has won a total of 11 Addy Awards in two years.

Church carnival is cancelled

JENSEN BEACH—Because a parking problem developed Tuesday, the carnival scheduled for Feb 23-27 has been cancelled, Father Kevin of St. Martin de Porres Catholic Church said late Tuesday evening.

"It is up in the air," Father Kevin said. "We hope to get a donation for a location Wednesday (today)."

He went to the County Commission meeting Tuesday afternoon in an attempt to use the Jensen Beach Causeway, but reported, "It wasn't a suitable location."

"We won't go ahead," he said.

The carnival, Royal East Shows, began setting up the show Tuesday morning on the church site which is on South Savanna Road, immediately adjacent to the Jensen Beach Elementary School campus.

Principal Dale Clark said he asked some of the cars and trailers parked on the campus to leave, that the buses were due.

"I was concerned about the safety of the children," Clark said.

School Supt. James Navitsky, when told of the parking problem, noted that "I don't see how we can grant parking, there is liability involved."

Navitsky said he had not had time to poll school board members and ask for permission for people who would come in the carnival to park on school property.

NORTHPORT MEN'S GOLF

PORT ST. LUCIE—At the conclusion of Tuesday's play for the Northport Men's Golf Association Roy Black took the flight A honors with a net score of 60 and Earl Graham came in second with a 61.

In flight B it was Ralph Fry with a 61 and Joe Carnes 63; flight C Jim Hensel had a 54, Henry Sewell a 59; and in flight D, R.D. Tew scored a 58 and Carl Hynek came in with a net of 60.

Ed Rombach came the closest to the pin on Holiday's number 2 and Joe Zazac came the closest on number 15.

...H BEACH—The prevention of ...and some comments on the ...of crime in Martin County, as ...in the United States, was the ...Sheriff Jim Holt, as he spoke to ...e Beach Kiwanis Club Monday ...Langford's Outrigger ...

...and the rising crime rate in ...fifteen years on the move from ...ed to rehabilitation to the ...

...$72 a day to warehouse an ...Florida, and $72 in Texas. We ...have built a country club atmosphere for criminals. They get out and brag to their buddies," he said.

Holt added, "There is something wrong with our system."

He said that Florida is letting criminals out of prison too fast, saying, "We arrest people who say that they don't mind going back to prison."

Holt said that the new Kiwanis program of community help in burglaries will make people aware so that they will advise us if something is wrong."

He pointed out that if a neighbor is gone for the weekend, citizens should let the sheriff's department know if a strange auto is at a home, or if someone is there that shouldn't be.

"We need your help. Call us and we will investigate," Holt said.

He suggested having a neighbor pick up mail, newspapers and delivery items so that potential burglars wouldn't know that the house was empty. He also mentioned that lights could be left on, as long as there were automatic devices to turn them off at late evening hours.

Holt said that the state should enlarge on the three-year mandatory sentence for firearm felonies by making mandatory sentences for burglaries. He equated that with the 10 percent drop in firearm felonies due to the new law.

On the death penalty, Holt said that "murders will drop when it (the death penalty) is implemented."

Under questioning, Holt said the new "911" telephone system, when implemented in Martin County, would allow all citizens to call one number when an emergency arises.

He praised CB radio operators for providing a "real service" in helping law enforcement officers both prevent crime and help persons stranded on roads.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Jean McCabe, Feb. 25; and to Allyn Scott and George Taylor, March 1.

The open house at Frisbees was well attended Sunday, with Eloise giving all her guests the five cent tour of her lovely new trailer. Refreshments were served in the new screen room.

A small group met on Arena's nice porch Sunday and really exercised their vocal cords while Henry Traylor and Tom Culligan played the banjo and Al Ray, the uke. After a delicious pizza, they all joined the sing-along at the rec hall.

Wednesday evening the Traynors, Arenas and Al Rays went to Outdoor Resorts to help celebrate Tom Culligan's birthday. The boys played their music and the girls danced to keep warm, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

+ + +

Thursday evening, Beryl and Cecil Roy were the charming hosts to 70 guests at the rec hall. Their son Bob and his lovely wife were guests of honor, as it was their 22nd wedding anniversary.

Many friends of the Roys from Michigan were guests and enjoyed the marvelous food and the music played by Bud Roy, George Bares and Al Ray on the new organ.

The Roys' grandson and his friend had to fly back to Michigan Sunday to reenter school. All good things have to end.

PICKUP ARMS AND SLIDE--Those were the instructions given by Coach Bill Moore during a pre-season practice session with Little League players Saturday morning at Sportsman Park. Robert Griffith is shown above hitting the dust.

Bad weather can't stop 'em

PORT ST. LUCIE--The foursome of Ed Feasel, Pat Lepore, Ray Daigle and Frank Blalock teed off first on last week's wind-chilled Thursday and had the worst of the day's bad weather, but their 202, 14 under par, beat three balls of foursome stood up for the rest of the day to win the weekly golf tournament of the Port St. Lucie Men's Golf Association, played on the Saints Course of the Sandpiper Bay Resort.

Leading foursomes were:

Feasel, Lepore, Daigle and Blalock, 202; Tom Chapman, Ed Hill, Denny Sullivan and Will Hyde, 203; Walt Wilmas, Roy Rutherford, Al Jones and Miles Harvey, and also Bill Coane, Les Goodrich, Mel Gibson and George Row, 205; Don McConnell, Hal Roberts, Tom Ryan and Ev Stabler, 206.

The weather made golfing difficult and only McConnell at 75 and Chapman with 79 managed to turn in gross scores under 80.

This week, it's partners, Stableford, best ball.

Win some, lose some

PORT ST. LUCIE--Port St. Lucie shuffleboarders play an Indian River League match at Vero Beach Wednesday, Feb. 16, with Port St. Lucie winning six matches to Vero's four.

Winning teams for PSL were Judd Reading and Al McDonnell, Guyn Haydon and Doc White, Dom Bergamini and Harold Hazell, Larry Heit and Beaver Rinehart, Art Tondreau and Les Troutman, Yvonne Tondreau and Jean DeKeulenaere.

In the Central League, Port St. Lucie played at Orchid Acres, winning one match to Orchid Acres' three.

Bob Dobler and Frank Merrill were the PSL winners.

Vets will meet and play bunko

PORT ST. LUCIE--Veterans of World War I, Barracks 2936 of Port St. Lucie, will meet at the North Port Marina Thursday, February 24, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Following the meeting, at 8 p.m., the Barracks and friends will hold one of its periodic Bunko Parties, at which six prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. The prizes include a door prize, a booby prize and four other prizes.

The public is invited.

Anglers meet on Tuesday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club will meet at the North Port St. Lucie Marina Tuesday, March 1, beginning at 7:30 p.m. A film on fishing will be shown.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
Pursuant to Public Law 92-500, Section 401(a)(1), Federal Water Pollution Control Act (1972 Amendments), this agency has received an application for certification that the following project(s) will comply with the applicable water quality standards of the State of Florida as prescribed in Chapter 17-3, Florida Administrative Code.
File Number: 43-20-3725-M, Martin County
Applicant: Ransom Titus
Description: To construct an inssed permit which called for the construction of a marina, to allow extension of the protective rock jetties at the marina entrance from 100 feet to 200 feet, and 40 feet to 100 feet, respectively, and to reduce the width of the marina from 120 feet to 115 feet, and to shorten the marina length by 15 feet, at the foot of Rocou Boulevard on State Road 707, on the Indian River, in Jensen Beach, Section 22, Township 37 South, Range 41 East, Martin County. The project lies within the Jupiter Inlet Aquatic Preserve.
All interested persons are hereby informed that this agency is considering the issuance of a certification to the applicant.
Interested persons are hereby notified that objections may be filed within 20 days from date of this publication. Objections must be submitted in writing to the below address and must be supported by evidence which would indicate that the subject project(s) would have an adverse effect on water quality standards of the above described waters.
Details of the locations and plans for the above project(s) and other relevant information may be examined during the hours between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Mirror wins Freedoms Foundation 1976 award

JENSEN BEACH–The Mirror Newspapers have been notified of selection as a recipient of the 1976 Valley Forge Honor Award from the Freedoms Foundation for "Vignettes of American History."

The award was announced as being made for "an outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of the American Way of Life," according to Robert Miller, president.

Sen. Lawton Chiles wrote, "I am proud that you have earned the recognition of the Freedoms Foundation, and I would like to take this opportunity to join with your families and friends in extending to you my hearty congratulations on this occasion."

He added that "the future of our nation rests on the will of responsible citizenship, as demonstrated by people such as yourselves."

Congressman L.A. "Skip" Bafalis also congratulated The Mirror staff, writing, "To be selected for such an honor is high praise indeed. It gives me a great deal of satisfaction to know I have the pleasure of representing individuals such as you for whom patriotism is a living, breathing feeling."

"Vignettes of American History" was a colorful collection of drawings by Carl Engel. The sketches depicted scenes from the past in Martin and St. Lucie Counties, Florida and the United States. It was The Mirror's bicentennial effort.

...ayde, McChesney ...e for mayor job

BY ALICE HICKEY

...ST. LUCIE–For the first time ...istory of this south county ...ality, the people will go to the ...March 15 to elect the top official ...city, the mayor.

...he adoption of the new city ...last November, members of the ...ncil elected one of their own to ...mayor.

...nes, Charles Hayde and Bill ...ey, are campaigning for the ...seat. Both are highly qualified ...ess excellent business back-...

...'s campaign approach is based ...y's need for strong leadership. ...Hayde agrees that such items as ...tion of a city hall, the ...tement of a police department, ...al budget and whether or not an ...city manager is needed are all ...y facing the city at this time, he ...feel these are the real issues in ...tion.

...uld appear to me what the city ...ore than anything else is people ...governing body capable of ...g the leadership, management ...nd judgment which is so ...ely needed at this time," Hayde ...ing that his years of experience ...eld best qualifies him for the ...

...proposing a new city hall, ...advocates an indepth study, ...ssed by a ten year projection, to ...ine the real needs of the city ...o space requirements, staffing, ...d future expansion.

...e heard little or nothing about ...w facility is planned or what the ...of this city want, even though ...as been considerable talk ...the city manager and council ...about how the facility could be ...," Hayde said.

...Hayde favors the establishment ...y police department and ...the indepth study by the police ...e to be a fine report, he ...n the city phase in such a ...ort over a two year period as ...to an abrupt change. Hayde's ...long this line would be the ...an experienced police chief so ...man would be in on the ground ...olve to planning the depart-...selection of personnel and just ...department would be ...

...ort would be a tremendous help ...g an effective organization ...," Hayde said.

...Hayde's list of priorities is the ...ment of a citizens advisory ...e, comprised not of Home-...sociation presidents nor Civic ...ficers, but of various citizens ...st the community. This, Hayde ...uld go a long way toward ...ng a more direct line of ...nications between the people and ...rnment.

...His Hayde's priorities is unity. ...d hope through my leadership ...can bring some unity to the ...body, encourage independent ...d objective and at the same ...courage the "clique voting," ...ed.

C.L.U. was senior vice ...and general manager for the ...sion of Sun Life Assurance Co. ...d prior to his retirement in ...8. He also held a number of ...posts in sales and general ...ment with Prudential of Ameri-...ng a vice president of the ...vice president of Canadian ...and president and director of ...da's Canadian Mutual and its ...t management company.

...resides with his wife, ...at 1430 San Souci Lane. ...ving to Port St. Lucie, Hayde ...ve in city affairs and served ...as president of the Civic ...He is also a member of the VFW, Country Club Golf Association, Country Club Homeowners Association, Palm Beach County Chapter Chartered Life Underwriters, Realtor-Associate, and Notaries Public Association.

Although Bill McChesney is a former executive of Sear Roebuck and Company, for the most part he is basing his campaign on experience gained as a former Port St. Lucie council member.

McChesney has served the people of this community in that capacity for the past 28 months, resigning his council seat to seek the city's number one post.

McChesney and his wife Margo moved to this area eight years ago. They reside at 2901 SE San Jeronimo Road.

"There is no substitute for experience," McChesney said, adding that it is only through constant study and evaluation that a law maker can come forth with a position that the public at large can recognize as wise, workable and productive.

According to McChesney, the six points he emphasized in his 1975 campaign have been delivered: integrity in government, prudent expenditure of city funds, improved law enforcement, improved communications between council and citizens, a planning and zoning board removed from council, and evening meetings when necessary and practical.

The former councilman said he is looking forward to a still better working relationship with state, county and officials of the adjoining municipalities.

McChesney takes pride in the fact he initiated or changed policies that have resulted in saving thousands of dollars annually and pledges continued study of city finances which last year led to the reduction in Ad Valorem Millage tax rate by 44 percent.

Speaking on the subject of road take-over by the city, he maintains rigid specifications must be met before the city agrees to take over the roads.

"The road take over does present a problem but it is not insurmountable," McChesney said, adding that he will continue to seek financial aid in maintenance of key roads from state and county officials.

As for a police force and a new city hall, McChesney said these will come only if it is proven economically feasible and will not affect the low tax rates.

"Should I become the next mayor, I shall not rely entirely upon my personal judgment, but will continue to encourage the people of this city to become involved by letting the Council know of their desires, their wants and, thus, assist the Council in fashioning policies that will keep the city safe, healthy and beautiful.

"Protection of our environment and property values are among the keystones of my campaign," McChesney said.

Indicative of his community involvement, McChesney is a past president of the Country Club Homeowners Association, one of the founders of C.E.S.A., member of V.F.W., serves on executive committee of Martin Memorial Hospital Advisory Council, past commander of St. Lucie River Power Squadron, and District Lt.Cdr. U.S. Power Squadrons.

In city government he has served as chairman and organizer of the city's first planning and zoning board and chaired the city's finance committee.

McChesney was first appointed to the City Council in November, 1974, and was elected to the Council in March, 1975.

Port St. Lucie citizens will elect the mayor during the March 15 non-partisan election.

The primary will be held on March 1.

WELCOME VISITORS–Judy and George Meltzer of Lynnfield, Mass., were the welcome guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayde of 1430 San Souci Lane. Following Hayde's retirement as Senior Vice President for Sun Life of Canada, Meltzer was appointed to the position. However, it was politics, not insurance, that highlighted the couples' conversation. Judi recently ran for the office of selectman in her hometown, while Charlie Hayde is currently vying for the office of mayor in Port St. Lucie.

CFC files rebuttal to FPL

PORT ST. LUCIE–The rebuttal to Florida Power and Light Company's request for a $349 million rate hike was mailed Tuesday by the Coalition of Florida Consumers (CFC), it was announced today by Robert Brunton, president.

The massive document, over forty pages, detailed objections to the rate hike, and outlined the potential increase in consumer rates that could be from 27 percent to 36 percent higher than present rates, and was sent to 21 interested governmental officials, from the governor to Public Service Commissioners, down to the mayor of Port St. Lucie.

The brief met the Tuesday deadline of the PSC for rebuttals to the rate hike, and offered the only private consumer objection to the FPL hike.

Brunton suggested the action of CFC was a part of the reason that the PSC awarded FPL only $87.7 million in interim rate relief in action Monday, in lieu of the $225 million asked by FPL, calling it a "token" amount.

"We are not opposed to a rate hike. We only want to see that whatever hike is awarded is warranted," Brunton said.

Brunton added that the CFC was the only group protesting the rate hike on the east coast of Florida, and said that the effort and study put forth might save the consumers of the area served by FPL considerably in rates paid by them.

"While the interim rate has been approved, we must not forget that the original request for $349 million is the real issue," Brunton said.

The comparison of rates does not include fuel adjustment costs, franchise taxes and escalation clauses, he added.

Four points are major in the consumer objection to the rate increase:

The first point deals with the FPL rate relief position, in which CFC objects to the premise that the company (FPL) wants a 16 percent return on investment to receive a 14.75 percent return to profit, a figure too high for CFC.

The second point dealt with the emphasis on capital investment instead of operating costs in figuring profit. CFC figures that capital investment should be a loan value, rather than an operating cost, much the same as in private enterprise, with the capital investment being in bonds and borrowing power, rather than in customers paying for the borrowed money, especially in the case of the development of nuclear power.

The third point dealt with the fact that CFC says that FPL already has a 25 percent excess generating capacity.

"It takes twelve years to build a nuclear power plant," Brunton said. "Making today's customers pay for tomorrow's customers is wrong." Brunton added that PSC Commissioner Paula Hawkins even pointed out as recently as Monday that FPl was carrying plants already shut down on their books as capital, thus adding to their capital return on investment.

The fourth point dealt with the reason for the CFC making the brief in rebuttal to FPL's request. Brunton said that in past hearings there was no information presented to be considered besides the FPL position.

"This is a legal proceeding, and the only information to be considered is that which is presented. We feel that we are presenting information that must be a part of the public record," Brunton said.

A KISS FOR THE BRIDE–Dick Leiberth planted a big kiss on the cheek of his bride during an open house celebration held at the North Port St. Lucie Marina February 15. Dick and Virginia Leiberth, married in 1977, were joined by friends and family for their fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration.

Yacht Club plans luau

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the final details have yet to be worked out, the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club will hold a Luau tentatively planned for March 11.

Approximately 350 members and guests were in attendance when the Club held its third annual 'Directors Party' at the Fort Pierce National Guard Armory this past week.

The music of Charlie Bloehm and the Sound Investments was featured and the main event of the evening was Edie Smith and her 'Rockettes'.

There were 23 door prizes distributed to the lucky winners throughout the evening.

The committee for the affair were co-chairmen Rita Todd and Francis Lee assisted by Warner and Helvie Blekkola, Carl and Lillian Hoffman, Knute and Selma Bisseth, Rick and Nancy Vernola, Ward and Neta Davis, and Vi Conley. Social director was Ernie Geswein.

Civic Club will sponsor rally

PORT ST. LUCIE–For those who plan to 'attend the Candidates' Forum sponsored by the Civic League may get home about ten minutes earlier than expected Wednesday evening (tonight).

What was originally planned for eight candidates may now be down to seven, as one Port St. Lucie Council candidate appears to have evaporated.

The League will go ahead, however, and the remaining seven candidates will be presented to voters at a 7:30 p.m. meeting at the Port St. Lucie Elementary school.

League President Seymour Fleming will preside.

Candidates will be presented in alphabetical order, and each will be allotted a 10-minute period. The audience is invited to ask questions after all candidates have spoken.

The public is urged to attend this meeting since it appears to be the only time and place when all candidates will be presented to the general public at one time.

Voters will select a new Mayor and two Councilmen.

Utilities co-op calls for consumers meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE–Francisco Renta, president of the Port St. Lucie Utilities Co-op, announced a general meeting of all consumers of gas, water and sewer will be held February 26 at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School.

Meeting time has been set for 3:30 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting, according to Renta, is to discuss and analyze those matters pertaining to the utilities rate increase which has been requested by General Development Utilities, Inc.

Reminding the GDU requested rate hike would affect every consumer in the area, Renta encouraged residents to attend the general meeting.

For some time Renta has questioned the 30-year utility franchise between the City and General Development Uilities, saying the franchise was illegal based on a conflict of interest, at 'he time the contract was negotiated.

Last week Renta presented a petition containing 457 names to the City Council, requesting the city renegotiate the utilities franchise and place the matter on a referendum.

At the conclusion of the Council session, Renta was requested to gather his facts, figures and other data together and meet with the Council with the how, why and when of his intentions.

CFC seeking more funds

PORT ST. LUCIE–Half of the funds needed to pay for the rebuttal to Florida Power and Light Company's request for higher rates has been collected, according to Bob Brunton, president of the Coalition of Florida Consumers.

With a total cost estimated at $7,000, Brunton said that an additional $3,500 would be needed to pay for the brief now presented to the Public Service Commission.

Consumers who haven't donated can do so by sending a check to the CFC, Inc., Port St. Lucie Bank, Port St. Lucie, Fla. 33453.

ddy awards go to Stuart National

PALM BEACH—The Stuart ...ank was the recipient of seven ...ards for advertising excellence ...ent held by the Ad Club of the ...Beaches. The awards were given by the Fourth District of the American Advertising Federation.

The seven awards placed Stuart National Bank first among financial institutions entering the competition. The award winning presentation was prepared and submitted in the competition by The Impact Group of Stuart, the bank's advertising agency.

Two affiliated Stuart National Bank, Port Salerno National and Jupiter-Tequesta National Bank, which also have their advertising prepared by The Impact Group, won one award each.

Stuart National Bank won a First Place award for newspaper advertising campaign; a First for full-page black and white newspaper ad; a First, Second and Third for newspaper ads, black and white, less than full-page; a Second for outdoor boards and a Third Place in coordinated campaigns, more than one medium.

The ads were written by Kip Myers, president of The Impact Group, and designed by John Wilson, art director of the firm. Myers and Wilson won individual awards for copywriting and art direction than any other participants in the competition.

The Stuart firm, with 14 Addy Awards and nine best of category, placed second in overall judging. The nine top award winners in each of the categories will go on to Miami for additional competition in the Fourth District of the American Advertising Federation. Winning entries in this competition will go on for national judging.

Stuart National Bank, which won four awards last year, has won a total of 11 Addy Awards in two years.

Church carnival is cancelled

JENSEN BEACH—Because a parking problem developed Tuesday, the carnival scheduled for Feb 23-27 has been cancelled, Father Kevin of St. Mario de Perres Catholic Church said late Tuesday evening.

"It is up in the air," Father Kevin said. "We hope to get a donation for a location Wednesday (today)."

He went to the County Commission meeting Tuesday afternoon in an attempt to use the Jensen Beach Causeway, but reported, "It wasn't a suitable location."

"We won't go ahead," he said.

The carnival, Royal Exotic Shows, began setting up the show Tuesday morning on the church site which is on South Savanna Road, immediately adjacent to the Jensen Beach Elementary School campus.

Principal Dale Clark said he asked some of the cars and trailers parked on the campus to leave, that the buses were due.

"I was concerned about the safety of the children," Clark said.

School Supt. James Navitsky, when told of the parking problem, noted that "I don't see how we can grant parking, there is liability involved."

Navitsky said he had not had time to poll school board members and ask for permission for people who had come to the carnival to park on school property.

Southern Gulf hearings lively before PSC staff

STUART–The long awaited hearings before the Public Service Commission on water problems of Sewall's Point and Hutchinson Island will end today (Wednesday), as the last pressure testimony adds to the already complicated problem.

Southern Gulf Utilities, already in receivership, faces complaints of Martin County Commissioners on Hutchinson Island water service, complaints from condominium owners and the Island Pool low pressure, and even water pressure failure on top floors of some condos, and complaints about inadequate storage facilities for both the island and Sewall's Point.

The complaint plagued company also is being sued by the City of Stuart over water rates, and is complaining itself about the failure of the City of Stuart to get new well sites to boost production of water.

The City of Stuart, while suing Southern Gulf, is complaining about the failure of the state to approve twenty new well sites south of the city so that Stuart could increase water production. The state wants Stuart to go north for water, rather than south.)

Others have complained that Southern Gulf charges different rates for different areas, creating a credibility issue.

Tied into the middle of all this is Dolphins Bay, a condominium-turned-time-sharing development on the east end of the Jensen Beach Causeway. It is in receivership. Martin County commissioners have withdrawn its certification of occupancy from Dolphins Bay, objecting to the lack of improvements in the project which have created, according to the county, "a health hazard."

The county is also objecting to the sale of the second phase of the development as time sharing, rather than as a condominium in the accepted sense. The Florida Land Sales Commission is presently studying the problem.

The developer has been asked to add a 40,000 gallon water storage tank and booster pumps to get water to the top floors of the condominium.

All of Hutchinson Island is under a building moratorium due to the water problems of Southern Gulf Utilities.

As the Public Service Commission staff hears the arguments and receives information for later evaluation and consideration by the commissioners, the Martin County Commission has asked the Florida Legislature to withdraw the county from PSC jurisdiction, due to the PSC failure to consider the problems of the county.

County Fair opens Monday

STUART–The annual Martin County Fair, featuring the amusements and rides of the Deggeller Magic Midway, opens at the Martin County Fairgrounds with the traditional ribbon cutting ceremony at 2 p.m., Monday.

Monday marks the opening of the magic midway and the Martin County Fair Lady Competition in the fairground arena. The competition is to be judged by Michael Cole, former television star of the show "Mod Squad."

The second day of the fair, Tuesday, is officially designated "Senior Citizens Day." Senior Citizens will be admitted at half price up until 6 p.m. At 6:30 p.m. there will be a beef show, at 7:30 p.m. there will be a 4-H Dairy show, and the annual cow milking contest will be at 9 p.m.

Wednesday will be "Kids Day." From 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. children from grades K-12 will be admitted free. From 2 p.m. until 9 p.m., the schools of Martin County will provide entertainment for fairgoers and intermittently, from 4 p.m. until 9 p.m., Lipko's Comedy Chimps will perform in the arena. At 7 p.m. there will be a drawing in the arena for two new bicycles.

The fair will continue through March 12.

Lions' fertilizer sale is Saturday & Sunday

BY JACKIE OTT

JENSEN BEACH–One of its many fund raising activities to aid the blind and near blind, the Jensen Beach Lions Club will hold its annual fertilizer sale at Langford Park next Saturday and Sunday, March 5 and 6.

It will consist of a 666 mixture and 50 percent organic fertilizer in 50 pound bags. The cost will be $4 per bag and delivery will be available in lots of six bags or more.

Bob McKinley, chairman of the sale, stressed that with plant damage due to the frost and days of freezing weather this winter, many of the plants and shrubbery in South Florida need an application of fertilizer plus a good soaking after application.

The sale will be held in conjunction with the Lions pancake breakfast Sunday, March 6, which will give people a feast for themselves and a chance to feed their lawns and gardens as well.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Jensen Beach Lions Club, or by calling Bob McKinley at 287-1202.

Art festival is this weekend

JENSEN BEACH–"It will be the biggest show we have ever had," Ernie Baker, Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Chairman for this weekend's Art Festival at Langford Park, said.

Baker said that artists have sent in applications from all sections of the country, including Canada, adding, "I even got a letter from a French painter who is expected to enter."

Paintings numbering in the thousands will be on display at the two-day event, open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, March 5 and 6.

It is anticipated that several thousand persons will attend the show.

Adding to the pleasure of the popular event will be the Jensen Beach Lions Club Pancake Breakfast, with pancakes and sausage served from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

Squadron to install at 'Change of Watch'

STUART–New officers of the St. Lucie River Power Squadron will be installed at a "Change of Watch" dinner meeting to be held at the Yacht & Country Club of Stuart Saturday evening, it was announced by Dumas H. Boardman, Jr., outgoing commander.

Heading the new "bridge" as it is termed by Power Squadrons, will be Lincoln S. Grant, who was elected commander at the Feb. 17 meeting. Joining him in office will be Lt. Cdr. Willard G. MacIntosh, executive officer; Lt. Cdr. Nathan Putchat, education officer; Lt. Cdr. Gerald E. McMaken, administrative officer; Lt. Cdr. William R. Donahue, secretary; Lt. Cdr. Don A. Button, treasurer; 1st Lt. Walter M. Martin, asst. education officer; 1st Lt. Edward J. McCabe, asst. secretary, and 1st Lt. Roger W. Tallman, asst. treasurer.

K. K. Kinsey, Ft. Lauderdale, commander of District Eight, United States Power Squadrons, will officiate as installing officer. The area covered by the district extends along southeast and south Florida from Vero Beach to Key West.

More than 150 Squadron members, their ladies and guests are expected to attend the occasion.

Robbie Bedell named news editor at Mirror

JENSEN BEACH–Robbie Bedell, 27, has been named news editor of The Mirror, according to Dick Campbell, editor.

Bedell is a director of the Martin County Anglers' Club, and is editor of the club bulletin, Anglers Angles. He is also a member of the National Press Photographers' Association.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bedell, of High Point, and spent his early years between his home in Long Island and in Stuart and Jensen Beach. He graduated from The Bolles School in Jacksonville, and received a communications degree from Loyola University in New Orleans.

His experience includes stints with the Stuart News, the Palm Beach Post, and as a free-lance photographer.

Bedell lives at Seminole Shores.

ROBBIE BEDELL

CHICKEN–Chef Jack Scranton and Assistant Chef Jim Weisbacker work to prepare some of the over 1,500 chicken dinners served last Sunday by the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club at Langford Park. The fund-raising project will benefit the Kiwanis youth program.

Angling award named for Fletcher

SEWALL'S POINT—C. Scott Fletcher of Sewall's Point has been notified by the Board of Governors of the Miami Rod and Reel Club that a perpetual trophy has been created in his name for his contribution to the art of saltwater fly-fishing.

In a letter from the club Fletcher learned, "We all thank you for starting the chapter of the Salt Water Flycasters of America and for helping so many of our members become fly fishermen."

Fletcher said the trophy will be awarded annually to the member of the club who most advances the art of salt water fly fishing and who has also caught an specific species of saltwater fish with a fly rod.

Fletcher, who is known by his friends as "Scotty", fished in the Keys and in the Miami area before going in 1932, but did not join the Rod and Reel Club, the second oldest fishing club in the country, until 1961. While a member of the club he served for several years as Director of Angling Activities.

The Miami Rod and Reel Club keeps the extensive records of the Miami MET Fishing Tournament which just last year spread its boundary lines to include Martin County.

Register paintings Friday for fair

JENSEN BEACH—All artists who are planning to exhibit paintings in the Martin County Fair are asked to bring them to the Levi Johnson Agricultural Center on south A-1-A, Friday, March 4, between 1 and 5 p.m. A committee will be on hand to accept and register paintings and sculpture.

Each artist is permitted to submit only one painting or sculpture and it must be an original work of the artist who signs the work. Art which has been exhibited previously in the Martin County Fair will not be accepted. Paintings must be suitably framed and wired for hanging with the title, medium used and name of artist shown on the back of each work.

Ribbons will be awarded in the following categories: figures and portrait, abstract, still life, landscape, collage, pastel, sculpture, watercolour and photography. There will also be a Best of Show ribbon awarded.

St. Joseph Guild meets Monday

JENSEN BEACH—The regular monthly meeting of St. Joseph Guild will be held Monday, March 7, starting with Rosary and Benediction in the church at 1 p.m. The business meeting will follow immediately after in the parish hall.

All women of the parish are invited.

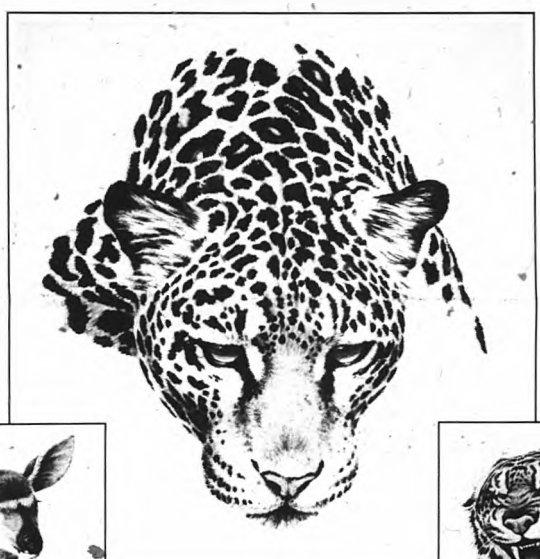
COHELEACH IS BACK!



"Fawn Head"

"Tiger Head"

Due to the many requests of our customers and friends we've once again invited Guy Coheleach (pronounced Ko-lee-ak), to First National to present a special wildlife art exhibit.

You'll see over a half million dollars worth of the finest wildlife original paintings and limited edition prints that Guy Coheleach has turned out. Guy is acclaimed as one of the world's foremost wildlife artists.

One of Guy Coheleach's paintings hangs in the White House. Prints of another are given to visiting heads of state by the State Department. And because he truly believes in the cause of conservation, Guy Coheleach has given over two million dollars worth of his fine wildlife prints to raise funds for the protection of wildlife.

Stop by First National* during regular hours (9:00 A.M. - 3:00 P.M. weekdays, 9:00 A.M. - 6:00 P.M. Friday) from February 24th through March 11th to see our fantastic Guy Coheleach display. This is an art show you'll enjoy. At the close of business on March 11th, a drawing will be held for a litho print of Guy's famous "Mute Swans." To be eligible, just register at First National or our Jensen Beach Branch. There is no obligation and you need not be present to win.

*Limited exhibit on display at our Jensen Beach Branch.

Special Offer of Coheleach Prints

During the Guy Coheleach exhibit you may purchase for $5.00 including sales tax, a Fawn Head or a Tiger Head print when you:

Open a new checking account or add to an existing checking account. $200 minimum deposit or

Apply for a First National Master Charge account or a "PAT" 24 hour banking card.

This offer good until supplies are exhausted.

You may purchase other Coheleach prints on display at the bank without above deposit requirements. (Ask any of our staff members for details).

Mr. Coheleach is scheduled to be at First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart on March 9 and 10, 1977, to personally autograph any Coheleach prints. Scheduled hours will be announced.

Edsel and Betty Pfabe welcomed their good friends from Willoughby, Ohio, Bud and Martha Babcock, who are staying in Venture Out. The four of them took an overnight trip on the Betsel to Indiantown, enjoying our beautiful weather.

Helsle and Warner Biekkola of Lakehurst Drive entertained Helsie's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Konki of Chassell, Michigan. The Konkis are newlyweds and enjoyed being in Florida away from the cold of Michigan.

Mrs. Eleanor Zeni and Mr. and Mrs. William Ranta of Marquette, Michigan, also visited with the Biekkolas. I think the Biekkolas are luring all their friends from Michigan down here to Port St. Lucie.

Mary and George Jacobs, of Tranquilla Avenue, had a visit from George's sister Doris and her husband Howard Gillis, from Franklin Lakes, N.J. The Jacobs also had visitors from Algona, Iowa, Don and Jean Hemmingsen. Don and George served together in World War II.

Friday Stevens takes first in Waterway Art Contest

JENSEN BEACH--From a total of 29 entries submitted by local artists in the Okeechobee Waterway Landscape Contest, awards were given as follows:

Friday Stevens was awarded first place.

Well known Jensen Beach artist Marguerite Duston took second place; Gilbert LeMoal, third place, and honorable mention awards went to Emil W. Kraus, Martha Seifred, Betty Elsaesser and Horace B. Cole.

Stevens' first place painting depicts the turbulent wake following the course of the sightseeing craft Easi Chop along the St. Lucie River. It is titled "Aboard the East Chop."

Ten areas along the waterway are represented in the contest. The primary requirement was that all entries be scenes along the waterway.

The exhibit, which has attracted much attention, has been on view for two weeks in the new multi-purpose room of Martin County Public Library.

Cancer group will meet

JENSEN BEACH--The Tri-County Chapter of Cancer Victims and Friends invites the public to a meeting on "Curative Powers" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 3, at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association meeting room in downtown Jensen Beach.

A panel of five speakers will discuss non-toxic therapies used in the treatment of cancer.

Jim Maley of Fort Pierce will talk on Laetrile, the vitamin now unaccepted by the Food and Drug Administration, in the treatment of cancer. Lou Brown of Jensen Beach will discuss her recovery with the "Kelly" treatment.

Episcopal parishes sponsor program

JENSEN BEACH--All Saints Episcopal Church of Jensen Beach and St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Stuart, will observe the Lenten season by having joint services each Wednesday, starting tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Lenten Dinner Friday by Friendship Circle

JENSEN BEACH--The Friday night Lenten series of dinner programs at the Jensen Beach Community Church continues, with this week's menu featuring spaghetti by the Friendship Circle.

Dinner is served promptly at 6:30 p.m. There are no tickets sold. The dinners are strictly free will offering events, with proceeds going to CROP.

Beginning this Friday, a nursery will be provided so that young families will be able to attend.

Friday's program, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., is "How the Bible Came To Be", conducted by Reverend Robert P. Cooper, who says it will be "a brief and interesting overview of how the Bible evolved, who wrote it, assembled it, and decided on what would go in and what would stay out."

The public is invited. Reservations are needed. Call the church office at 334-0716.

Barracks 854 and Auxiliary meet Friday

JENSEN BEACH--Veterans of World War I, Barracks 854 and Auxiliary will hold their regular meetings Friday, March 4, at Langford Park. Meetings start at 1:30 p.m.

All veterans of World War I and their wives are invited to attend the meetings and enjoy refreshments.

Highlighting the session will be the celebration of the Barracks' 20th anniversary. Fourteen of the original Buddies and eight Sisters are still active with the group.

The Auxiliary sewing session is set for Wednesday, March 9, at 10 a.m. in the Langford Park Field House. Those attending are asked to bring a sandwich, coffee and cookies will be furnished.

The public is invited to the Auxiliary card party on March 10 at 12:30 p.m. at the Field House. Call Henrietta Horton at 334-1071 for reservations.

Noted artist will give demonstration

STUART--Edward C. Praediger will demonstrate and describe his interesting technique of painting at the Art Associates of Martin County meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 4, in the community room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart.

Praediger was born in Philadelphia and received his education in art at the Grianna Art School, Wanamaker Institute of Art, and Samuel Fleisher Memorial Art School in Philadelphia. After his preliminary schooling, he studied privately with Helen K. McCarthy, Robert Suzanne and Clarence Snyder of New York and Philadelphia.

Praediger taught, lectured and demonstrated art for 38 years in Philadelphia and New Jersey before moving to Florida. He has exhibited in leading shows and many of his paintings are in private collections and have won a number of major awards.

His palette is a simple one, using only six colors. He is known for his vigorous paintings of skies and water.

Water color show at Library

STUART--The Art Association of Martin County is sponsoring a show of watercolor paintings by Dr. Michael Auleta at the Martin County Public Library during the month of March.

Auleta is a noted author and retired professor of early childhood education. He was on the staffs of the State University System of New York and the University of South Florida in Tampa. He studied watercolor with the art departments of the colleges with which he was associated.

Dr. Auleta's principle work is landscapes and seascapes. He was a premium award winner in last year's Martin County Fair.

NEW CLUB—Indian River Plantation Racquet Club Tennis Director Tom Falkenburg stands on a bare piece of ground which will soon be topped with a dozen new tennis courts and a clubhouse. The site is on MacArthur Blvd., south of the Elliott Museum. The club will be private with openings for about 300 members.

Island tennis courts now under construction

JENSEN BEACH—"It will be like a Rolls Royce with every accessory available. They will be clay courts with the best of everything."

These are the words of tennis professional Tom Falkenburg describing the quality of the new Indian River Plantation Racquet Club on Hutchinson Island.

The private club with a proposed membership of 300 members should be ready for use in about five weeks, he said.

"It's planned so members will be able to come out here on the spot and get a court. They won't have to make a reservation three weeks ahead of time."

The soil base for the dozen new courts has already been created and you can see the site where they will be located along MacArthur Blvd. south of the Elliott Museum. There will be 11 regulations tennis courts, one exhibition court and a number of platform or paddle tennis courts.

Falkenburg said the courts will have "perpetual maintenance", a plan which will allow the courts to be open year-round without the need to be closed down for a seasonal maintenance period.

"Some courts close down for from two to three weeks in order to repair the surfaces and to do other needed jobs," he said. "But here at Indian River Plantation we will have perpetual maintenance. The courts will be fixed every day, every week."

The courts will be surfaced with the Har-tru clay court surface, the same surface as in Forest Hills, N.Y., where the U.S. Open is played.

"It allows the young and old to have longer rallies, get more exercise and be less tired," Falkenburg said.

In addition to the 12 tennis and paddle tennis courts, there will be a clubhouse and individual tents near the courts to allow players a rest area or a shelter during sudden summer showers. The whole complex is surrounded by the natural palm and pine foliage of southern Hutchinson Island.

ING IS SLOW--By late afternoon Tuesday, poll workers Port St. Lucie reported a small turnout of voters for the 's primary election. Pictured above, poll workers Mrs. ys Schade, Mrs. Mary Perdomo and Mrs. Gretchen Ebeling check the registration of local voters. With less than two hours remaining before the polls closed, only 350 votes had been cast at the Community Center, Precinct 23, and 333 at the City Hall, Precinct 22. There are 3,746 registered voters in the two city precincts.

Anderson-Koroly win primary

PORT ST. LUCIE--Merle Anderson and John J. Koroly were the top vote getters when they defeated two other candidates for next number five on the Port St. Lucie City Council during Tuesday's primary election.

Koroly and Anderson will square off in the March 15 election.

While St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections James Brooks had predicted a 70 per cent turnout through the day, less than 31 per cent of the city voters bothered to go to the polls.

Of the 857 votes cast, Anderson led the race with 373 votes, followed by Koroly who received 257.

Sam Fleischmann received a total of 117 votes, while former vice-mayor Frank Rose picked up 90.

Within minutes after the polls closed, Frank Rose said, "The voters have spoken. May the best man win in the city election on March 15."

A precinct by precinct breakdown indicated Anderson was the strongest of the candidates in the southern area of the city while Koroly's strength was mainly in the northern portion.

At the City Hall, Precinct 23, the voting was tabulated as follows: Anderson, 206; Koroly, 76; Feigenbaum, 33, and Rose, 41.

At the Community Center, Precinct 23, Koroly picked up 181 votes; Anderson, 167; Feigenbaum, 84; and Rose, 48.

Rose was elected to the council in 1975 and served as vice-mayor of the city during the two year period.

Spring festival is set for Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE--All systems are go for the Port St. Lucie Community Center Spring Festival and Bazaar which will be presented Saturday, March 5, at the Center on Prima Vista Boulevard.

According to all reports, the festival this year will include more attractions, including boutique booths, a pantry shelf, golf clinic, a garden shop, an outdoor art exhibit, a browsing corner and search bar.

There will be fun for all ages throughout the day. The doors will be opened at 8 a.m. and planned activities will continue until 8 p.m.

There will be many activities for youngsters under the guidance of the Junior Woman's Club. Girls Scout Troops 219 and 36 have been involved with the total community effort. By distributing special flyers throughout the community, the girls will receive credit towards their "community badge."

General Development Corporation will sponsor a free cash door prize. Lucky ticket holders will receive such prizes as a "50-50" sponsored by the Anglers' Club, a strawberry patter afghan from the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club, a set of golf clubs from the Yacht Club, a prize winning broomstick afghan, and gifts donated by the Rio Linda Garden Club. Prize winners will be determined by drawings conducted between 2 and 8 p.m.

A total community effort is evidenced in the festival and bazaar.

Mrs. Ethel Krall, who heads the Center's Snack Bar, said breakfast and lunch will be available between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m.

As for cool beverages, these may be purchased from members of the Lions Club who will be on the grounds serving all day.

All proceeds from the event will benefit the growing Port St. Lucie Community Center.

Cleanup week is March 14-19

PORT ST. LUCIE--In an effort to keep Port St. Lucie beautiful, the week of March 14 has been designated as citywide cleanup week in this south county community.

This action was firmed recently when the City Council unanimously agreed to pick up the $1,150 tab from the three local sanitation companies who will cooperate in hauling off the dead vegetation for city residents.

Following the record breaking freeze, it was Councilman Bill McChesney who recommended the city shoulder the financial responsibility of a citywide cleanup campaign and indicated the money should come from the city's emergency fund.

Receiving Council approval, McChesney met with local sanitation companies and worked out the details.

The cleanup will start March 14 and run through March 19. Residents have been asked to put their clippings at curbside, bundled in 3 to 4 foot lengths.

Do not place loose trash with the dead vegetation. It is expected the local haulers will be picking up in various areas every day during the week, making their final pickup Saturday, March 19.

McChesney noted that such items as stumps and large roots will not be picked up. Residents will have to make their own arrangements for the disposal of such items.

Costs for the special pickup services which the City will pay to the haulers will be $400 to Milton Sanitation Company, $250 to All County Sanitation Company, and $400 to St. Lucie Sanitation Company.

Depending upon the success of this cleanup week campaign, it is quite possible the city will consider some type of annual cleanup program as was suggested by Mike Reeb, a North Port resident and candidate for Council Seat No. 4.

Councilman Larry Kimmel, in applauding the idea, proposed the Council provide limited help.

DISPLAYING--Chairmen Mrs. Nicki Porter of the community boutique, Mrs. Betty Cline of the Garden Shop, and Mrs. Agnes Ferree of the nearly new department, were on hand to display a few of the many items that will be sold at the Community Center Spring Festival and Bazaar when the doors open at 8 a.m. Saturday, March 5.

School reflects growth

PORT ST. LUCIE--While building permits, voter registrations and updated census reports reflect the rapid growth of Port St. Lucie, the city's elementary shool enrollment is also indicative of this well established fact.

When the doors were opened at the Port St. Lucie Elementary for the 1976-77 school year, 676 students were registered.

According to Mrs. Pat Gillen, secretary, the enrollment at the end of January had climbed to 791.

While one might attribute the steady increase to families coming into the area from the northern states, Mrs. Gillen said that of the additional 115 new students, approximately fifty per cent of the children are from the south Florida areas.

Gang will sponsor Pancake Breakfast

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Friday Nite Gang will sponsor a Pancake Breakfast on Sunday, March 27, at the North Port Marina, for the benefit of the Knights Templar Eye Foundation. Pancakes and sausage, with all the trimmings, will be served from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

P&Z Board pushes for engineer

PORT ST. LUCIE--When the time is right, if the city does not come up with a qualified engineer, it won't be due to the lack of applicants for the position.

City Manager Elmer Cox said Monday before a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Board that 88 applications had been received.

After careful review, those in the running have been narrowed to six applicants, four from Florida and two from out of state.

These six, according to Cox, will be submitted to the P&Z Board where a committee will reduce the applicants to three.

At that point, Cox will arrange for interviews in an effort to fill the position, and all applicants will receive a reply from the city.

G.S. Montooth, who chairs a P&Z sub-committee studying streets and roads, has urged the city employ an engineer before the year is out.

While Montooth was unable to provide the lengthy street and road report he had planned because of the lack of clerical help, he did speak briefly on the subject.

"General Development Corporation will be constructing some 60 miles of roads in our city this year and it is our recommendation that the city's consulting engineer should begin conducting on-site 'control' inspections immediately," he said.

Submitting a 12 point check list for controlled inspections, Montooth made it clear that these inspections will not relieve the builder of his own control inspection responsibilities.

It was further recommended that the results of the inspections and the corrections be reported to the council on a weekly basis.

When the report is typed, it will be presented at a special joint meeting of the P&Z Board, the City Council and General Development officials.

Yacht Club Luau planned

PORT ST. LUCIE--Plans for a Luau, complete with Hawaiian style dress, guest and sour pork, barbeque and music for dancing, have been finalized by the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club.

The affair, which will be held at the Stuart Elks Lodge, has been scheduled for March 11, according to publicity chairman George Lindberg.

The evening will start with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. and be followed by a buffet of sweet and sour pork, barbequed ribs and chicken, rice and all the trimmings.

Music for dancing will be provided by Charlie Bloehm and the Sound Investments.

Tickets, already at a premium, will be limited to 225 and the deadline for purchase is March 5.

Co-chairmen for the social event are Art and Marge Gerhardt, who will be assisted by Anthony and Irene Jarnaviez, Sam and Gemme Kerley, Herb and Marguerite Feller, Spencer and Ruth Eddy, and Walter and Anna Dill. Ernie Geauvein is the social director.

Ralph Conley, Earl Graham, Helvie Bleiknha and Gus Herrmann split the fifty-fifty at the last meeting.

TOP GOLFERS--Concluding the final round of the Presidents Cup Tournament, an annual event of the Sandpiper Bay Women's Golf Association, Mrs. Bunny Leybourne, right, held a one point lead over Mrs. Betty Nardone to become the new champion. Betty Nardone, left, won the second place honors after defeating Mrs. Rosalind Vroman in a play off held recently.

Sally loves Johnny Bench

Just a short note about our trip to Miami to see the Mike Douglas Show. If you're a Mike Douglas fan, as we are, you would love every minute of the taping. It's very informal and his personality is just as pleasant in person as he comes across on the TV. It was taped outside and the audience sat on temporary bleachers set up at the 72rd Street beach. His co-host for the week was Lynda Carter, Wonder Woman on TV, and guests were Tammy Wynette, Arlo Guthrie Group, and Johnny Bench of the Cincinnatti Reds. Being baseball fans, Bench really made our day and I kept wishing I was 30 years younger as he is single – he did let me take his picture, so I'll just have to keep it under my pillow and dream. By the way, Tammy Wynette is a neighbor. She lives in Jupiter.

The Hobby Group met on the 14th with Helen Githens and Betty Frantz as co-hostesses. Naturally, they used a very pretty Valentine theme to decorate their serving table, but for something different in the refreshment line, they had homemade doughnuts...very, very tasty.

On Feb. 21, 34 hobbyists were in attendance. A cherry tree theme was used to decorate the table and, of course, their dessert was also topped with a cherry. A mother-daughter team were the hostesses - Ann Gilbert and Dorothy Kreag. They were assisted by Adelaide Wyatt.

Fifty-five attended the Hobby luncheon at Benihana. They were very impressed with the way of cooking and serving the food at the tables. It was very good and something different from the usual restaurant atmosphere. Thought you would like to know that you do not have to sit on the floor or remove your shoes.

One foursome was made up of ex-President Jerry Ford, Jackie Gleason, Bob Hope and Jack Nicklaus, an awesome foursome, to say the least.

Three of our ladies in the park went to West Palm Beach to see well known TV personality Liberace. Katie Smith, "Did" Harden and Hazel Brown had a very enjoyable evening and said the show was great and they are ready to go again.

VITAL SPOT–Martin County Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Scott shows a vital area to strike an intruder on the face of local reporter Rick Smith. Scott said one of the best weapons around the home to drive off an attacker is an ordinary household mop. The talk was given at the Martin County Environmental Center.

Senior citizens hold self defense class

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH–It is nighttime. The television is casting its colors against the wall and suddenly you have the feeling there is someone outside your home. Above the noise of the television you hear someone fumbling with the lock on your front door.

What do you do?

If you're a former Marine or Green Beret you won't have too much problem handling an intruder. But if you're old and alone, such an experience could have serious consequences.

On Friday, at the Environmental Studies Center, Martin County Sheriff's Sgt. Bill Scott demonstrated the basic moves of self defense for use in the household.

"If you're like myself, most of us have been raised in a western influence with some sort of a Christian background," Scott said. "We have a deep seated feeling of right and wrong and of hurting people if they happen to hurt you. Based on that, each of us has a moral obligation to protect our bodies and our immediate families."

Scott told the group of mostly senior citizens that there are a number of tools in the home which can be used to combat an intruder. He advised, however, never to stand up to an attacker unless it is absolutely necessary.

"See that you have adequate locks and a method of seeing out the front door," he said. "Make sure there are large screws on your locks. You don't want to confront these people. You have to face the fact they might hurt you."

Some things which can be used to deter an attacker are aerosol cans around the home such as Raid, Pledge or some types of spray oven cleaner.

"If you spray Raid in someone's eyes it will blind them," Scott said.

He also demonstrated the proper method of defending yourself with a knife.

"Spread your feet apart, hold your knife low and hold your block up," he advised.

He said a regular household mop can be used a number of ways to fend someone away. The butt of the mop can be used to strike someone in the eye, bridge of the nose or the neck. Another vulnerable part of the body is under the arms, he said.

Though knives and hammers may seem to be good weapons to use around the house, Scott said he does not recommend they be used.

"The individual could take it away and use it on you," he said.

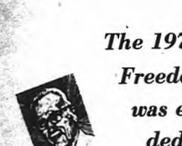
He recommended that people review the habits they may have of leaving and entering houses and cars.

"Do you keep your keys in your hand or do you wait until you get to the door of your car or home and then fumble in your pocket or purse for them?" he asked. "Someone could be waiting for an opportunity to come up behind you. Get your keys out at a place where there is some sort of light."

Scott advised individuals to plan ahead, to not carry large amounts of cash, and to keep an eye on the car gas tank so you don't find yourself out of gas in a bad neighborhood or on a dark lonely road.

He said strollers might consider carrying a whistle to blow in times of emergency, and, if something does happen, shout "fire" instead of "help." For some reason people tend to react faster to the word "fire."

"Statistics have shown that Martin County is one of the safest counties to live in in the state," Scott said. "But it's still a good idea to familiarize yourself with these points. Remember, none of it will be any good unless you are able to remain calm."



Our deepest appreciation to the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for the honor and recognition of The Mirror Bicentennial 'Vignettes of American History'

The 1976 Freedoms Foundation Honor Award was earned by the hard-working, dedicated members of The Mirror, of whom I am very proud, and by the talented patriot, Carl Engel, whose drawings so well depicted our America.

PARK EVENTS

ART & HOBBY SHOW is coming up March 19 and 20. Remember the date and get your paintings and craft work ready for exhibition.

CAMERA CLUB members had their usual "Redneger Treat" as Clyde wittily described his splendid slides of the northeast. This Thursday, Frank McDonough shows the far west of high mountains and wild animals.

March 10 is the election meeting. Dot Beck reports the slate of officers isn't filled for even started. Maybe a "Justa" of monthly program chairmen will have to carry on next year to keep programs going for the 200 or so that attend every Thursday night.

March 17 is the annual dinner meeting. Tickets will go on sale around the 7th. The pot luck will be as follows: Folks with last names ending in letters A thru L, the hot dishes; M thru T, the desserts; and U-Z, salads. The $1 tickets cover the meal.

SHUFFLEBOARD: Round Robin 4-game winners for Feb. 20 were Syl Garing, Ben DeFranco, Ruth Pfeils and Evelyn Farnham. The Round Robin Playoffs will be held March 3, 4 and 5.

Petticoat league February winners were Pearl Wheelcock, 1st; Evelyn Groves, 2nd; Irma Fair, 3rd. The Stag league finished their February games Monday. Winners will be listed next week.

Both league teams had "ties" last week; Indian River League 5-5 with Vero Beach and Central League, 2-2 with Orchid Acres.

The regular monthly meeting of the Shuffleboard Club will be held in Clement Hall Monday, March 7, at 9 a.m. All interested in shuffling are urged to attend.

Lie report: Guy Fusco of OBP and Oscar Coleman of Spanish Lakes took first place in the tourn...night at Vero Beach Saturday, Feb. 27.

HOSPITAL

Lucille Tyrree of S Cypress, Walter Neva of Key Lime, Winnie Henley of 28 Key Lime and Jo Bradley of Vista Drive are in Martin Memorial Hospital. Len Brunt of N. 8th came home Saturday.

Herb and Velma Wescott received a letter from Molly Butterfield saying she is getting along fine at her son's. She says she is happy there, but would like to hear from her OBP friends. Her address is: c o Wendell Butterfield 1805 Willow Ave., Orange, Calif. 92668.

Harry and Bernice Cavell had a nice letter from Mame Sneddy, now at 909 Front St., New Cumberland, PA 17070. She says her treatments are fine, she is glad to be home, but it's gosh awful cold, so she's going to get well and come back to OBP next winter.

RAMBLING AROUND

The Schillaces, Mike and Kathy, were honored guests after Sunday's reception at the Crow's Nest, hosted by Charles and Irma Fair. The others attending were George and Margaret Hindman, Tom and Dorothy Elliott, Guy and Marion Hosley, Harold and Rhea Woodbury, Pete and Evelyn Hillman, Ralph and Bobbie Tucker, Jerry and Honey Kryal, and Pete and Sallie Skurla.

Roy and Josie Daley, 8 S. Indian Dr., came from Wilmington, Ill., in 1954 and have been here ever since. But, although they don't care about going back to Illinois right now, they do like to meet their friends from there, so they went to a reunion at Largo, where 150 folks from Wilmington gathered (Wilmington only has a population of 5000 so that was quite a turn out!) They met friends that lived on the same street with them "back home," and had a great time renewing friendships. Then, on their way back they stopped off to visit Highland Hammocks and talke to the alligators, even a blind one, then on to see how the pinaphrous was strip-mined and how well the landscape was reclaimed to beautiful lakes and housing developments. They had a mighty fine trip and recommend it highly.

Sophie Thompson and Sue Johnson were given a birthday party Sunday, Feb. 20, with Orlee Eckland, Freda Cherrier, Ceil Shiels, Alma Clawson, Dot Beck, Harry and Jeannie Jewsbury, Mary Mulligan, Violet (Mary's friend) and Alice Anderson. It was at Jeannie's and Dot was pouring.

Bernie and Alma O'Neil, 13 Bay Drive, are from Worcester, Mass. and Rochester, N.H., and have been entertaining their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack and Diane Staples, Johnnie, Kathy, Jeffery, Kevin and Todd. This was their first trip to Florida and, even though the weather was not so good to us, it was wonderful to them. They tried to do it all, Disney World, Marine World, etc. and here, they found shuffleboard great fun.

All too soon they had to fly back to the cold and snow, however, they hope to do it again next year.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS!

JENSEN BEACH—Rod Aderheldt, Ben Custer and G.M. Robinson have birthdays this week, celebrating March 3, as are Ruth Freeman, Bill Hessler and Helen Ferguson. March 4 ...

Joyce Hathgeber, John Metcalfe, August Ruppel and Ray Blasdell will observe March 6 as their birthdays. March 8 is Ernie Rhubens' and Jack Godfrey's day, and Tom Cook will celebrate March 9.

Have a happy day and a good year!

St. Martin Church bazaar is planned

JENSEN BEACH—Despite the fact that St. Martin de Porres Catholic Church had to cancel its carnival scheduled for last weekend, church Pastor Fr. Kevin said plans for a church bazaar "in the very near future" are in the works.

The carnival, which was to feature church booths and a dozen rides owned by the Royal East Shows, was forced to be cancelled because of a lack of adequate parking at the Jensen Beach Elementary School on Savanna Road.

"It was going to be a big one," Fr. Kevin said. "We really would have gotten a big crowd. But there was really nothing we could do about it. We really could not get the parking."

Even though local carnival fans will not be able to seek thrills on the amusement rides, there will still be the booths, white elephant sale and other amusements associated with a traditional church carnival.

"We still have a lot of things we would like to offer in a bazaar at some other location in the very near future," Fr. Kevin said.

"Next year we will have a good parking lot on our own property and we will have everything we need."

Mortgage consultant to address inmates

FORT PIERCE–Ellen Klein, mortgage coordinator for Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Association, will be the guest speaker March 2 at a meeting of selected inmates of the Fort Pierce Community Correctional Center, it was announced by the center's administrator, Chief J.R. Albritton.

Mrs. Klein, who normally specializes in FHA and VA mortgages, will discuss the broader subjects of money management, establishing credit ratings and meeting financial obligations.

The audience for the one hour meeting will consist of 25 to 30 men who are due for release from the center in the next few months.

"These men have earned wages working at various daytime jobs outside the center while serving their sentences," Albritton said, "and Mrs. Klein's talk is part of our continuing program to get them ready for a constructive re-entry to society."

My Husband Thinks I'm a Financial Wizard.
He's Right!

My neighbor Joan told me about Community Federal's Key Account. How they got all the traveler's checks they needed for vacation without a service charge. But I found out I could get 10 more free financial services and interest, too. So, I opened a Key Account at Community Federal's Port Salerno office.

Jim says I'm a "financial wizard." Because these days, any time you can get a free service, it really helps the budget. The folks at Community not only help with free services they pay me interest while I use them.

I really do better at Community Federal.

Sheriff to enforce dune law

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County Sheriff James Holt said he will "step up" his routine patrol on south Hutchinson Island to prevent the public from using private property just north of Seminole Shores.

The property in question has been a topic at the Martin County Conservation Alliance recently. The Alliance has come out against the use of the land by beach vehicles which have crossed the dunes in order to get to the beach and the St. Lucie Inlet for fishing.

Several months ago, William Carlton of the State Department of Beaches and Shores told the Martin County Commission that there is no established dunes line on the property and, therefore, vehicles could get down to the beach without breaking the law. The law states that vehicles cannot drive on dunes or vegetation, but says nothing about vehicles driving on the beach itself. Since Carleton's statement, vehicles have continued to use the land, prompting the Conservation Alliance to file its protest with Florida Attorney General Robert Shevin and the Director of the Department of Natural Resources, Harmon Shields. The Florida Audbon Society has also voice opposition to the use of the land by vehicles.

Carlton was in town again last week to view the situation with county officials. He said he does not personally object to the use of the land but said he would not make any official comment on the issue until he speaks to attorneys.

"Apparently the owner does not object to the land being used," Carlton said.

"This land has been in continuous use since 1952. I really think it's a matter for the property owner and, from what I see, he must not care. I know of two fishermen who have used the land for the past 25 years. As for the number of dune buggies which drive on the dunes, that's a matter of law enforcement."

Virginia Forrest of the Conservation Alliance has said the outcome of the issue will set a precedent for further dune cases.

"This will be a test case whether the laws are going to be observed to save the dunes," she said.

Mrs. Forrest was a mainstay of the Save Our Beach Committee which, several years ago, raised funds to buy land for public beach use.

On Friday, County Commissioner Frank Wacha instructed Sheriff Holt to post the private property. Five wooden signs were erected but by Monday morning, after heavy weekend use, all of the signs were torn down.

On Monday, Sheriff Holt said he will increase patrol of the area

BEACH INSPECTORS--William Carlton, left, of the Florida Department of Beaches and Shores, and county and state officials visited the southern end of Martin County last week to inspect a private beach strip which has been used by the public for access by beach buggies. Here, the officials are looking south toward the area where the vehicles use the beach.

Turnpikers might miss Jensen Beach

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH--The Martin County commission has been turned down flatly by the Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) on a request to change the name "Jensen Beach" added to Port St. Lucie sign at the Port St. Lucie interchange of the Florida Turnpike.

The commission passed, about a month ago, a resolution requesting the change, and in a letter the DOT recently answered the request.

"Jensen Beach is not a defined area," the letter stated. "It is not a political subdivision and is not an incorporated area."

The letter said the reason Port St. Lucie was named on the sign at the interchange is because the city limits are contiguous areas on both sides of the interchange.

The letter went on to say that only one name is allowed at any interchange exit.

The name Port St. Lucie has been printed on the stock of tickets passed out at turnpike interchanges.

The last reason the letter gave was the name Jensen Beach would not give the best orientation to drivers because the Port St. Lucie Interchange lies in St. Lucie County while Jensen Beach is in Martin.

The DOT stated that a resolution by either Port St. Lucie or the St. Lucie County Commission could cause the state agency to reconsider the request.

Martin County Commission Chairman Tom Higgins said he agrees that Jensen Beach is not incorporated and, therefore, not a "defined area", but also stated that there "must be some sort of misunderstanding" on the part of the DOT. Higgins said the intent of the original request was not to have the DOT change the name of the interchange but to merely add the name of Jensen Beach in smaller letters or even on a smaller, separate sign to give drivers the chance to get off at the St. Lucie exit rather than drive the extra distance down to the Stuart exit and then drive back north.

"I think the DOT should look back into the matter," Higgins said. "There are many multiple names on the turnpike signs south of here."

He cited the Jupiter Indiantown sign as an example. Indiantown, like Jensen Beach, is neither incorporated or a "defined" area.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha, who originally instigated the idea, also said there might be a misunderstanding on the part of the DOT.

"I think they misunderstood what we wanted them to do," Wacha said. "We really have no desire to have Jensen Beach on the turnpike tickets. I think what we will do is look into the matter a little bit further. We will explore it some more. They gave us the option to talk to the St. Lucie County Commission and the City of Port St. Lucie and I think we will pursue that route."

Fair enters third day

STUART--The annual Martin County Fair today enters its third day, today celebrating "Kids Day" until 6 p.m.

All children from kindergarten through 12th grade will be admitted free from noon until six. Martin County schools will provide entertainment in the main arena from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. Earlier in the afternoon, at 3 p.m., the rides and amusements of the Deggeller Magic Midway begin. From four p.m. until six p.m., Lipko's Comedy Chimps will perform in the main arena. At 7 p.m. there will be a drawing for two bikes to be given away in the arena.

The fair will continue until 11 p.m., Saturday, with the Magic Midway open each day. Other events which will be held are a Steer sale at 7:30 p.m. and a 4-H fashion show at 8 p.m., Friday; a Rusty Spurs Horse Show at 1 p.m., and a dog show at 2:30 p.m., Saturday.

KoKo the strolling clown will appear the entire week of the fair.

JENSEN BEACH--Students from the through the fifth grades of the Jensen Beach Elementary School this was the Little Red Schoolhouse ard from the Florida Elementary Principals for their work in ducting a corporate hydroponic at is a hydroponic corporate farm, ay be asking yourself? According ensen teacher Ron Howells, it is a ration, complete with the sale of based on the growing of ables without the use of conven- soil. Howells said the students are to grow the vegetables in a heavy substance by pouring the ary nutrients on the plants twice a the liquid runs to the roots of the nourishing them, and is then re to put onto the plants once In this way the students are able up to 85 per cent of the 16 types of minerals the plants need in order to grow.

The students, without going to the school or the PTA, drew up $1 share of stock and sold 150 of them in the community to raise the money to go into business. The shares will pay a five per cent divident quarterly to the stockholders and a corporate report will be issued. The money for the dividends will be raised by the sale of the harvest.

So far the first crop of tomatoes is about ready for harvest. The students are also planning a crop of green beans.

"The corporation is very good for the students," Howells said. "It gives them some chemistry, the measuring is done in metrics, and they learn something about sales and stocks. We are getting a lot of miles out of it.

Howells said the hydroponic growing is practiced widely in other countries, especially in the Mideast, but is not used very much in the United States.

ny, many fishes in the itty-bitty sea, h many, many people legislating them

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH--While you are reading this newspaper, fishes of the sea are swimming in their watery world unknowing that the South Atlantic Fisheries and Management Council is planning potential laws which will protect those fish from the hooks and nets of foreign commercial fishing vessels.

Charles Council Member Trudy Rogers told members of the Martin County Anglers' Club Monday that, due to foreign vessels fishing close to U.S. waters over the years, the American Congress was prompted in April to extend the 200-mile extended jurisdiction to protect U.S. fisheries, both for commercial and recreational use.

Mrs. Rogers told the local sports anglers that foreign flags, such as the Russians, Japanese, Spanish and Romanians, fish with government-sponsored vessels that are highly efficient machines. Mrs. Rogers differs from the traditional fishing methods of fishing, which are employed on families or individually and not commercial efforts. The entire coast of the United States even has different methods than those used in other parts of the country, she said.

"There are very different types of philosophies of fishing on the east coast from North Carolina to Key West," she said. "Different from the California tuna fisheries or the Russian fleets off the northeast."

She said the efforts of the council are an attempt to save species from being over-harvested.

"We are trying to protect, save and develop our own fisheries for our own people," she said.

The U.S. government is attacking the plan in three phases.

The first place is to establish the 200-mile limit and order foreign vessels, which have traditionally fished off U.S. waters, to sign treaties with the U.S. to respect and abide by rules laid down by the government. If the rules are violated, the foreign vessels could be subject to penalties set by the United States.

Second in the fisheries management plan is to set up an optimum yield of fishes so it will be known how much fish can be taken without depleting stocks. A surplus of a specific species will be noted, if such a surplus exists, and only then will a foreign vessel be permitted to draw from the fish stock.

"Once a surplus is known, then foreign nations can take what is in an area above and beyond the fish stock," Mrs. Bernhard said.

Thirdly, the council will establish priorities for a different species of fish. Currently billfish, such as marlin, sailfish and swordfish are the top priority, Mrs. Bernhard said it could be illegal for any foreign vessel to have on board any type of billfish.

She said the immediate impact of the whole plan will be very slight for the first year, but after two years there will be a series of public hearings held.

"We want to have input at these public hearings," she said. "It is our responsibility to set up the restrictions, not the job of someone in Washington. I think we can work together to come up with a fisheries management plan for fishermen locally, regionally and nationally."

PRIZEWINNERS--A portion of the students of the Jensen Beach Elementary School pose in front of their hydroponic vegetable corporate farm. The project won them this year's Little Red Schoolhouse Award from the Florida Elementary School Principals.

...BLUE--This huge bluefish which weighed in at 12¼ pounds is the largest reported caught in Martin County waters this year, according to Johnny Crawford at the Snook Nook. Fred Hein, of Ocean Breeze Park, caught the whopper on a piece of cut ribbonfish while fishing near Walton Rocks north of the Jensen Beach. The largest blue caught before Hein's weighted 7¼ pounds.

Trackers place eighth in relay

BY DONNIE WILKIE

LAKE WORTH--Led by a sensational four mile relay team and a couple of surprises, the Martin County track Tigers captured an eighth place in last Saturday's John I. Leonard Invitational Relays, held at Jill Stadium.

Ace miler John Stasel joined distance runners Nick Mosesar, David Johnson and Bill Hascup to win the four mile relay. Their time of 19:30 defeated hard-charing Twin Lakes and fading Deerfield Beach. Hascup's time of 4:48.8 was the best of the four runners, but this was due to Stasel's recent bout with the flu, which took away some of his strength. The senior, who missed All-Conference Cross Country by one point, had run a 4:43 two weeks earlier at Fort Pierce.

Other Tigers to earn ribbons included the long jump relay team, which finished sixth. The two mile team race saw Martin County's boys finish second, as Mosesar took fifth, Johnson sixth, and reserve Laugenour seventh. But Deerfield's runners took first, second and eighth, and won the team points race.

The distance medley team of Mark Chadwick, Eric Hemion, Hascup and Strasel took fourth in their race, while the two mile relay team of Doug McDonald, Dannie Wilkie, Wayne Whitson and Clyde Price came up with a sixth place finish.

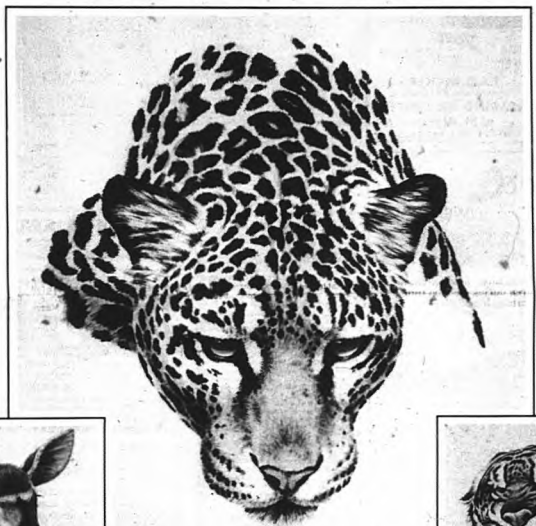
COHELEACH IS BACK!



"Faun Head"

"Tiger Head"

Due to the many requests of our customers and friends we've once again invited Guy Coheleach (pronounced Ko-lee-ak), to First National to present a special wildlife art exhibit.

You'll see over a half million dollars worth of the finest wildlife original paintings and limited edition prints that Guy Coheleach has turned out. Guy is acclaimed as one of the world's foremost wildlife artists.

One of Guy Coheleach's paintings hangs in the White House. Prints of another are given to visiting heads of state by the State Department. And because he truly believes in the cause of conservation, Guy Coheleach has given over two million dollars worth of his fine wildlife prints to raise funds for the protection of wildlife.

Stop by First National* during regular hours (9:00 A.M. - 3:00 P.M. weekdays, 9:00 A.M. - 6:00 P.M. Friday) from February 24th through March 11th to see our fantastic Guy Coheleach display. This is an art show you'll enjoy. At the close of business on March 11th, a drawing will be held for a litho print of Guy's famous "Mute Swans." To be eligible, just register at First National or our Jensen Beach Branch. There is no obligation and you need not be present to win.

*Limited exhibit on display at our Jensen Beach Branch.

Mr. Coheleach will be at First National March 9 and 10 from 10 A.M. - 12:00, and from 2 P.M. - 4:00.

Special Offer of Coheleach Prints

During the Guy Coheleach exhibit you may purchase for $5.00 including sales tax, a Fawn Head or a Tiger Head print when you:

Open a new checking account or add to an existing checking account. $200 minimum deposit.

New life division at insurance agency

JENSEN BEACH–Norm Wilson, general manager and president of Harryman, Dutton and Wilson Insurance Agency, announces the formation of a new life division to better serve clients in Martin County.

As managing general agents for Commercial Union Life Insurance Company, the firm will now offer a complete line of insurance services including Individual Life and Health Insurance, Group Life Insurance, Qualified Retirement Plans, Estate Planning.

Al Wiesers, C.L.U. (Chartered Life Underwriter), manager of the new division, who started his insurance career in 1960, is a member of the National Association of Life Underwriters, American General Agents and Managers Association. He served on the board of the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood chapter for two years as chairman of the Public Relations Committee, was a member of the Advisory Committee for the CLU insurance program of Broward Community College from 1974 to 1976, and was named Man of the Year in 1973, '74 and '75 by Commercial Union Life Insurance Company. He resides in Sewall's Point with his wife Doris and son David, who is a student at FTT.

Spring festival is success

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the final tabulation has yet to be completed, from all reports the Port St. Lucie Community Center Spring Festival and Bazaar was a huge success.

According to Tom Hillegas, the center's treasurer, approximately $2,500 had been reported as of Tuesday noon.

"This is a net earnings and I wouldn't be surprised if the final tabulation indicates a net of nearly $2,700," Hillegas said.

All proceeds of the event will be turned over to the Community Center operating fund.

Some of the lucky winners reported during the day long activities were as follows:

The $100 donation of General Development Corporation for the prize drawing was won by M.Vorler, $50; Helen Eberle, $25; Mary Ream, $15; and Peggy Petrie received $10.

Don Porter is now the proud owner of the golf clubs raffled off by the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, and Mrs. Frances Lee took home the huge cake donated by Mrs. Robert Jensen.

E.W. Gesswein, John Wells, R. Kinney and E. Jenkins shared in the 50-50 sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club.

50-50 WINNER–Miss Annette Sofoiti turns over the 50-50 winning to E.W. Gesswein at the close of the Spring Festival. Gesswein was one of four winners sharing the 50-50 take.

The City will pick up the $1,150 tab from three local sanitation firms to provide residents with the weeklong free hauling services. Residents are asked to bundle their clippings in bags, tie tree trimmings in three foot lengths, and refrain from mixing garbage with the vegetation. All debris will be picked up at curbside. Those needing assistance in moving their accumulation to curbside are asked to call the City Hall for assistance.

Five vie in Tuesday election

PORT ST. LUCIE–While six candidates will appear on the March 15 city election ballot, it would appear only five men will actually be in the running.

Mike Reeb, a candidate for Council Seat Four, will apparently make a clean sweep of the election since his only opponent, Harrison St. John, has failed to file the periodic reports as required by law.

Reeb is a former president of the Civic League and has been active in community affairs since moving to the area 4½ years ago from Dearborn, Michigan. Reeb served on the Charter Revision Committee and has attended City Council meetings on a regular basis for some time. He was instrumental in the city's adoption of the slogan "Keep Port St. Lucie Beautiful".

After defeating two other candidates in the primary, Merle Anderson and John Koroly will square off in the March 15 race for Council Seat Five.

Anderson was the top vote getter in the primary with a total of 373 votes. His major support was from the southern end of the city, while his opponent, John Koroly, picked up most of his strength from the northern area.

Koroly, a local contractor, received 257 votes.

For the first time in history, the voters of Port St. Lucie will elect the man who will fill the City's number one post...the mayor's seat.

Charles Hayde and Bill McChesney are campaigning for the number one office.

Hayde's campaign approach is based on the city's need for strong leadership. He has a business background which he maintains would qualify him for the office.

Bill McChesney resigned his council seat after serving 28 months in that capacity to seek the office of mayor. McChesney also has a business background and bases much of his campaign on his experience gained in city government.

Candidates in the March 15 election will be vying for their portion of votes from the city's 2,746 registered voters.

CC Homeowners meet Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The annual meeting of the Country Club Homeowners Association will be held on Thursday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Convention Center, Sandpiper Bay.

All candidates running for public office in the city have been invited to attend and each candidate will address the meeting.

This fast growing association now numbers over 700 members and a large turnout is expected.

New officers will be elected to the board to replace five directors whose terms will expire.

PSL-RP schedules Spring Cleanup

PORT ST. LUCIE–Following close on the heels of the City's cleanup campaign, the PSL-RP Homeowners Association announced this week they would conduct their annual spring cleanup the last week in March.

According to Phil Rodi, the community pride chairman, the cleanup will get under way March 27.

Milton's Garbage Service, St. Lucie County and General Development Corporation will once again supply the trucks for pick-up on Wednesday, March 30. This service will be provided free to all residents of River Park and the unincorporated areas of Port St. Lucie.

The annual drive provides residents the opportunity of cleaning out the winter trimmings and trash that has accumulated in and around the house.

The haulers have requested palm fronds, tree limbs and other debris be cut into five-foot lengths, bundled if possible, and placed at the curb for easy loading.

Those in need of assistance in moving such items as old hot water tanks, stoves and other heavy items to the curb need only to call their Homeowners director of Phil Rodi for help. Several men from the association have volunteered their services during the week.

George Powers, public works chairman, reported that bids are out by the county for the widening and repaving of Prima Vista and paving the crossover on Riomar west of the Exxon Station. The bids are scheduled to be opened March 15.

Powers is also following up with the county officials in an effort to get the drainage ditches in the community cleaned out in conjunction with the spring clean up. A list of street signs that need to be repaired or replaced has also been given to the county superintendent.

Community affairs chairman, Don White, reported the county is still having a problem with the Department of Transportation in efforts of the Homeowners' Association to have a traffic light installed on Route 1 and Riomar intersection. Weldon Lewis, county administrator, is working with DOT and a favorable answer is expected within the next week or ten days.

In an effort to protect the St. Lucie (North Fork) from uses that are likely to spoil its beauty and create pollution, the Homeowners Association is appointing a river committee for the purpose of approaching the State Legislature to declare the North Fork a native river. The organization will join efforts with the local Anglers Club and the Conservation Alliance in protecting the river.

House numbering was another concern of the directors who have agreed to make another effort to contact residents of the area and request homes be properly identified. While placing the identifying numbers on the home will take only minutes, in the event of an emergency it could possibly save a life or mean the difference between a total or partial fire loss. All residents are asked to cooperate in this effort.

In final action the Board agreed to sponsor a local Little League team and authorized the contribution of $150 toward this project. The Little League team sponsorship has been a project of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association for the past several years.

Open house is for newcomers

PORT ST. LUCIE–On Saturday afternoon, March 26, from two to five, the Port St. Lucie Community Center will host an "Open House for Newcomers", to which all those residents who have moved into the Port St. Lucie area within the past year are invited.

Families are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served. Staff personnel will be in attendance as well as trustees, directors and officers of the Center.

Serving as general chairman for the event is Mrs. Donald J. Porter, who will be assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Hett, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Vasey, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dow.

The Porter and Hett families are long-time residents of the Port St. Lucie area, while the Vaseys and Dows are relative newcomers who have shown great interest in the Center and have already served in a volunteer capacity.

Serving as honorary chairpersons for the open house will be Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. White, who moved to their home on Sandia Drive from Albany, New York, in January, 1964. Both have been active participants in the steady growth and development of the community. Don was one of the twenty original trustees for the Community Center and has additionally served as a director in the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association, the St. Lucie County Library Association, the Conservation Alliance, the Council on Aging.

COG to meet March 16

PORT ST. LUCIE–At the request of Port St. Lucie Mayor Schuyler Sharpe, the meeting date for the St. Lucie River Council of Governments has been changed to Wednesday, March 16.

The group will meet in the City Hall on Morningside Boulevard at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor Sharpe, who has been a moving force in trying to keep the organization together, has emphasized the importance of the Council's future as a forum for the productive exchange of ideas involving both county and municipal problems.

"I believe the work of this organization is not a tangible part of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council. In my opinion, the Council's objectives are vastly different from those at our own grass-roots level," Sharpe said.

On the March 16 agenda, should the group vote to keep COG in existence, a slate of officers will be nominated and future meeting dates firmed.

Designers stitch personal touch

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

STUART–Two Stuart women with a flair for a needle and thread have created a line of garments which have attracted the attentions of style-conscious Martin County women.

Catherine Monticello and Marie Bishop met after attending functions at the same church. Marie learned of Catherine's patchwork artistry at an exhibit at last year's Martin County Fair. The two got together, talked shop, and decided to work together to make clothing with a personal touch. For a little less than a year the two designed original dresses, blouses and skirts and sewed them at home. The pair has an agreement to sell their garments through the Jane Morris shops located in Palm Beach, Stuart, and Minnesota.

Just in time for Valentine's Day this year, Catherine and Marie made the big step from sewing to a location on North River Road just north of the Roosevelt Bridge to showcase their large inventory of clothes under one roof. Their business is known as "Unique Fashions".

"We are two creative people," Marie said. "We get new ideas each morning and work from there. It's very spontaneous."

The two have come up with a variety of themes: elegant, country, nautical and romantic.

"I love to put things together," Marie said. "Katherine is an artist with color. She actually paints with color."

Among the variety of clothing there is a dress which draws the eyes away from the upper and mid sections of the body to the lower portion where there is a bright, colorful design. There are wrap-around skirts which are reversable and there is one outfit which, by switching blouse, skirt and petticoats, can be worn eight different ways. Some of the dresses have appliques of apples, baskets and trees, but whatever the patterns come to be can only be a result of the pair's vivid imaginations.

"Each garment gets some special touch which makes it an individual thing," Katherine said. "There is handwork all around the garment to give it hanger appeal. If it does not have hanger appeal a woman is not going to take it off the hanger and go in the dressing room and put it on."

The two deal with the Jane Morris Shops but they also make clothing on special orders. One they are most proud of was made for the granddaughter of a Jensen Beach woman who attended the presidential inaugural ball in January.

The Mirror
MARCH 9, 1977 PAGE 1B

Katherine and Marie are proud of the work they produce and are happy they have gotten the chance to set up shop and work together. Both are of Hungarian descent. Marie is from a line of musicians, writers and artists, and the urge to create has followed the generations.

"In all my life I never dreamed that I would do this as a business," Katherine said. "I first wanted to be a theatrical designer, but when I was 17, one of my designs was stolen and I decided to get out of that business. Then I modeled at a department store in New York's Garment District. I hated it. Boy, did I hate it! But it was good money."

Now the two are working together at what they do best, create original designs for women's apparel.

"We want each woman to feel she is an individual unto herself," Marie said.

ORIGINAL WOMEN'S CREATIONS–Marie Hascap, left, and Katherine Monticello display in their Unique Fashions studio a woman's outfit which can be worn eight different ways. The two recently moved into their new studio to combine their talents with needle and thread.

Wildlife artist will address Audubon Society

JENSEN BEACH–Guy Coheleach, acclaimed as one of the world's foremost wildlife artists, will address the regular monthly meeting of the Martin County Audubon Society Wednesday, March 9.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart.

Coheleach's paintings are on display in First National this week, and he will make personal appearances March 9 and 10 to personally autograph prints.

Also, at the meeting, Mrs. Jean Henry will relate her experiences in caring for injured birds.

Refreshments will be served and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Jensen Art League meets March 10

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Art League will meet Thursday, March 10, 10 a.m. at First Federal Savings and Loan, Jensen Beach.

Members are asked to bring two large paintings to be approved for hanging in designated places.

'Little' rides are fun!

Cosmo John and Helen Githens are the type who like to do things on the spur of the moment. Sometimes it turns out to be more fun than something well planned.

Last Sunday, on the way home from church, they decided to take a "little" ride and ended up in Bradenton. They visited neighbors from New Jersey, then went on to Brooksville, where they stayed overnight with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow, also of New Jersey.

They returned home Monday night and had driven over 400 miles....guess you would call that the long way home.

Just returned from our trip to Clearwater to the annual "Pontiac, Michigan Day", so I'm a little behind on all the news of the park activities. Only about 600 attended the Pontiac Day this year and mostly from the west coast of Florida.

Our park was well represented- Agnes Fritz, George and Betty Frantz, Biff and Sally Hoffman, Ray and Muriel Freebury, their daughter and son-in-law Virginia and Fred Mueller and daughter Julie.

It's nice to reminisce with old friends about Pontiac – that is all we can do as Pontiac has changed so much down through the years. We can only remember the good times during our school and working years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Morse are visiting her parents, the Frank Lucias of 1st St. They are from Warren, Pa. Lucias' grandson Jason is also here, but has been ill with the flu so hasn't been out to enjoy our sunshine as much as he would like.

Milton and Mary Winant of 1st Street have also had visitors, their daughter, Mrs. Ira Ball III of North Bridgton, Maine. Also from Bridton for a short visit was their niece, Marjorie Beyea and her friend, Debbie Noble.

The Saturday Night Dance, Feb. 26, was the best attended this year. Ruth Robinson and Dorothy Kreag were the hostesses and served several varieties of sandwiches, punch and homemade cookies.

Although we aren't much good at dancing, we enjoy "yakking" with all our friends and neighbors and watching the fancy steppers, especially polkas.

Around 30 attended Hobby on Feb. 28. Hazel Brown and Louise Appel were hostesses. They served their dessert from a table decorated with a spring theme - a basket with fresh lilies...very attractive.

Don't know how good the fishing has been lately, but George Frantz tells me he recently caught a 9¼-lb. pompo. We were next to three men on the beach a week ago who said they caught 75 whiting. We only had eight and were there a long time. Talk about fisherman's luck -- of course, we were lucky as we didn't have to clean very many.

Don't know how true this is, but I heard Orville Gerdes didn't want Mary to go to the luncheon at the Benihana. He carried it a little too far, though. While she was at the shuffle court, he went fishing and locked her out. Gert Hume came to her rescue

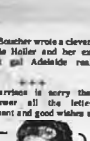
Holiday Outlines

BY RUTH BOWERS 334-4946

Assisted by Elizabeth O'Donnell and Peg Ray



On February 27, Evelyn Seban of lot 256 gave a surprise cocktail and dinner party for her husband Paul, who was celebrating his 70th birthday. It was quite a surprise, with 40 guests attending from Miami, Hollywood, Vero Beach and Pennsylvania, and many from Venture Out and Holiday Out.

He received many lovely gifts; one from his niece was a real surprise.

He had been missing one of his shoes, and it turned up bronzed on a plaque with a very nice message for him. He thought her son had hidden it. It was a great party, and everyone had a good time.

Arts & Crafts Festival this weekend at Pinelake

The public is invited to attend the annual Pinelake Village Arts and Crafts Festival this Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12, at the clubhouse from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

PINE LAKE VILLAGE

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY

Featuring works in oil, acrylic, watercolor, sculpture and mixed media, the by-invitation-only event has attracted more than 20 artists from a four county area. Among those participating are popular artists Carol Kepp from Port St. Lucie and Jim Rydberg from Vero Beach.

Also on display will be the unique woodcraft of John and Andrew Yajanyl along with sculptured slates and stained glass work. A highlight of the festival will be an array of original, hand crafted jewelry.

The Festival is free to the public and refreshments will be available. The clubhouse is located at 500 South Savanna Road.

+ + +

Is everyone here?
Got some news for you.

Jim and Kit Bartlett of Beverly, Mass., were guests of Milt and Myrt Penney for a week. Jim is a lobsterman, which is a good business to be in these days.

+ + +

Sue Mays visited her mother, Mrs. Bessie Hargett, in New Bern, N.C. for a week, came back to Pinelake Village for a change of clothes and then headed for the Keys to visit with her sisters. Right now, they are entertaining Sue's sister-in-law and her husband, Dorothy and Joe Jupin of Akron, Ohio.

Speaking of New Bern brings back memories of a couple of Navy years at Cape Hatteras across the Sound. Nice fishing.

Tois month's Anniversary and Birthday Party turned out nicely, as usual, with delicious fattening cake and cookies and coffee and tea served by hostesses Kay Dwyer and Mary Gray. Then the whole thing developed into a blackjack lesson.

Incidentally, the next and last blackjack lesson will be held at the clubhouse beginning at 1 p.m. Thursday, March 10. Want to see a bunch of fanatical women? Come on up.

+ + +

It's a good thing Ren came up with a lot of new chairs and tables. They are beautiful and Bingo is getting record crowds now.

Last week, Jane Sheehan split a jackpot with a visiting lady. Don't know if she was passing through on the way to the laundromat, was a guest, or what. Anyone know?

Sharyon would like the next item published in the interest of all Pinelake residents which we will take a little liberty with for the benefit of new folks in the park.

Tickets are now on sale at Sharyon's office for Pinelake residents only, through March 10. They will then go on sale to the public on March 14. This is an annual event and is always a complete sell out, so it is suggested you get your tickets early. And, remember, seating is limited. You are guaranteed a good time.

We're writing about the Pinelake Village Fashion Show, an affair to remember.

And a Happy Sayonara to you too! The convoy is still on, and the picture gets worse and worse. Little old ladies in Ria, wearing their sweaters and sneakers, peering out through drawn curtains while they clutch their pet dachsunds to their bosoms and watch the crowd go by. The husbands of Pinelake have put their affairs in order, checked their insurance and have reconciled themselves to the whole thing. Even Leroy is getting out of town!

D I. Mildred Gray says fall in and count off on the quarterdeck of the clubhouse at 11:30 a.m. on March 15. Of course, the second section goes the next day, March 16, under the same conditions, and guidance of Corporal Sharyon Tilton.

The lady on Lot 125 would like everyone to know that she is alive, well, and living at the same place after her close brush with disaster according to the rumor mill. She is willing to challenge anyone to six laps around the clubhouse any time.

+ + +

Remember the Fashion Show. Please get your ticket early. Requests are coming in from outside already.

See you next week.

LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR MARTIN COUNTY, FLORIDA
PROBATE DIVISION
File Number 77-43 CP

IN RE: ESTATE OF JOSEPH OLIVER HARWOOD,
Deceased.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION
TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST THE ABOVE ESTATE AND ALL OTHER PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the administration of the estate of JOSEPH OLIVER HARWOOD, deceased, File Number 77-43 CP, is pending in the Circuit Court for Martin County, Florida, Probate Division, the address of which is 100 E. Ocean Blvd., Post Office Box 779, Stuart, Florida 33494. The personal representative of the estate is NEIL W. MacMILLAN whose address is 1074 N.E. Commercial Street, Jensen Beach, FL 33457. The name and address of the personal representative's attorney are set forth below.

All persons having claims or demands against the estate are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file with the clerk of the above court a written statement of any claim or demand they may have. Each claim must be in writing and must indicate the basis for the claim, the name and address of the creditor or his agent or attorney, and the amount claimed. If the claim is not yet due, the date when it will become due shall be stated. If the claim is contingent or unliquidated, the nature of the uncertainty shall be stated. If the claim is secured, the security shall be described. The claimant shall deliver sufficient copies of the claim to the clerk to enable the clerk to mail one copy to each personal representative.

All persons interested in the estate to whom a copy of this Notice of Administration has been mailed are required, WITHIN THREE MONTHS FROM THE DATE OF THE FIRST PUBLICATION OF THIS NOTICE, to file any objections they may have that challenge the validity of the decedent's will, the qualifications of the personal representative, or the venue or jurisdiction of the court.

ALL CLAIMS, DEMANDS AND OBJECTIONS NOT SO FILED WILL BE FOREVER BARRED.

Date of the first publication of this Notice of Administration: March 2, 1977.

Causeway chosen for Corps plan

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach and Stuart Causeways have been chosen as part of six sites in the United States to be funded by a panel of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to test erosion prevention methods.

About 35 members of the Corps Shoreline Advisory Panel and professionals from businesses and universities met this week at the Holiday Inn Oceanside to study the local area and discuss the other projects in other parts of the country.

Bill Edge, vice chairman of the panel and a professor of civil engineering at Clemson College, said the local causeways were chosen for two of the sites because they are low enough in cost for the project to be carried out.

"We can't rely on massive projects," Edge said. "The causeways will be used to test a combination of vegetal and structural devices and beach nourishment."

Edge said the causeways are in danger now because of the severe erosion which has occurred, especially on the north side of the Jensen Beach Causeway. He said there is a problem there because the tall Australian pines which grow along the north side do not allow other forms of vegetation to grow beneath them and nourish the shoreline.

He said the Corps would pay for 75 per cent of the cost of the improvements, while the county would have to foot the remaining 25 per cent of the bill.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha told the panel that the county commission would support and cooperate with the plan.

"So far, we have no monetary figures at all," Wacha said. "Their panel will make recommendations and put it all together in a financial packet. We do feel very fortunate to be one of the few sites in the country to have been chosen."

EROSION FORCE–About 35 persons from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Shoreline Erosion Advisory Panel, County officials and experts met this week in Jensen Beach to study erosion on the Jensen Beach and Stuart Causeways. Above, the panel inspects concrete which has been dumped on the north side of the Jensen Beach Causeway to stop erosion. The Corps has agreed to finance 75 per cent of the cost of repairing both causeways.

ast DOT

NSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach ber of Commerce Board of ors rallied Monday to show se to the Florida Department of portation (DOT) after a refusal to "Jensen Beach" sign at the Port ace interchange of the Florida pike.

a letter several weeks ago from District Traffic Operations neer John Wilson, the Chamber and Martin County Commission were med that the name "Jensen Beach" ot be included at the interchange number of reasons, two being that e is "not a defined area," and "not ical subdivision."

Chamberbers took offense to the rements in the letter.

e can't afford to be called an ined area and then sit down ght a fight," Al Epstein said. "We sit back and pay taxes and let the ail us an undefined area. I think should stand up and let the county w know how we feel."

mber President Jack Klett said, can allow a number of Disney signs on the north part of the they should be able to give us a Beach sign."

Mysterious gas seeps from Indian River

JENSEN BEACH–Fishermen and those who just like to look out over the Indian River might be curious as to why, in some spots, there are air bubbles coming out of the bottom, emitting a sulphur-smelling gas.

The true cause for the bubbles was not learned on Tuesday, but a couple of Marine Researchers have some speculations.

Environmental Instructor Frank Pittman said the bubbles could be a type of swamp gas caused from rotting fish or vegetation that has begun to biologically break down in the warmer weather we have been having.

"A lot was killed during the cold spell and it settled down to the bottom," Pittman said. "It could be beginning to break down. Some fish which were injured from the cold are still beginning to die. Of course, that's only speculation. But it does emit a hydrogen sulfide type gas from the bottom."

Pittman said it could also be a result of very low tides in the area recently which trim back the natural vegetation on the bottom.

"If this is the case, we could soon have some strong smells in Jensen Beach again," he said.

Marine Biologist Ross Witham agreed with Pittman.

"It's probably some sort of decaying organic matter on the bottom," he said. "It could be that the fish killed in the area were too cold to break down and have only recently begun to in the warmer weather. It sounds reasonable, but we'd really have to check to know for sure."

Bumper stickers sell Jensen

JENSEN BEACH–The new "Village of Jensen Beach" bumper stickers are available now, according to George Duso, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce committee.

The attractive bumper stickers are available to Chamber members in bulk lots at Jensen 5&10, and are on sale singly throughout the community for forty cents.

50th YEAR–Mr. and Mrs. Garret Giebel of 2423 N.E. Palm Ave., Jensen Beach, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, March 19. The couple are planning to spend their anniversary with friends on the west coast and will enjoy a celebration given by their three children in April in Rochester, New York.

Trees for sale on Sewall's Point to open way for River Road

SEWALL'S POINT–Those who object to the removing of trees along the proposed River Road on Sewall's Point might find some consolation in that those located in the rights of way will be offered for sale.

"Last week we walked 3,000 feet of the road with our engineer, Dick Hellstrom, to stake out the trees," Mayor Ed Gluckler said. "We felt we had to save as many as we can, and what we can't save will will catalogue and offer bids to nurseries or individuals."

Last Wednesday the town council passed a resolution to go ahead with the engineering design of the river road with actual construction to begin sometime this summer.

"We hope to recoup at least some of the cost of the road by the sale of the trees," Hellstrom said. "We marked all of the trees. There are roughly 61 cabbage palms, three coconut palms, 14 citrus trees and a number of miscellaneous trees such as oak, hickory, gumbo limbo and pepper trees. Some of the trees are, of course, too large to move but most of them are O.K.

The River Road constructed this summer will run at the south end of the town from White Fence Acres to the Riverview subdivision, a distance of just over 3,000 feet. Much of the road north of that point has already been constructed or dedicated to the town. The road was planned by the original Sewall's Point Town Council in the late 1950s as an emergency route along the high ground of the point during hurricanes and extremely high tides.

Profiles is on sale in county

JENSEN BEACH–Persons desiring to buy copies of "Profiles, An Appreciation of Martin County Women" will find the books on sale in Jensen Beach at the Jensen Beach Bank and at Frances Langford's Outrigger Gift Shop, according to Helen Wells, chairman of the book committee.

There are only 500 of the books in print, and another printing is not likely, Mrs. Wells said.

The book was published under a grant to the American Association of University Women in the area.

The book, which sells for five dollars, is also on sale at First National Bank and Trust of Stuart, Stuart National Bank, the Elliott Museum and local book stores.

Free Energy talk given at Center

JENSEN BEACH–The public is invited to a meeting of Free Energy Incorporated on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Martin County Environmental Center on Indian River Drive in Jensen Beach.

Dr. Carlos Warren, the director of the Florida Energy Office, will speak on "Florida's Energy Future."

O'Conner dead on causeway

JENSEN BEACH–Daniel O'Conner, 39, of 2929 E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart, a former Sewall's Point Patrolman, was found dead in his car Friday on the Jensen Beach Causeway of an apparent self-inflicted gun shot wound.

O'Conner had resigned from the Sewall's Point Police Department to return to his former home of Chicago, and had only recently come back to Martin County.

FIT students host Earth Week

JENSEN BEACH–If, on the night of April 22, you should see a group of people marching with torches toward the Jensen Public Beach, it will not be a meeting of the Klans of America.

It will be highlight of Earth Week, a program created by the Naturalist Society of the Florida Institute of Technology in celebration of Earth Day.

The torchlight vigil, from the Jensen Causeway to the public beach, is just part of a number of activities the group has planned.

"Everybody seems to be getting behind it," Naturalist Vice President Mike McDavit said. "Hopefully it will become an annual event. We want the community to become really involved."

One of the major events of the week is a clean-up of all of the county beaches.

"We need more people for more impact," McDavit said. "We need a lot of support for the beach clean-up."

The Society is hoping for volunteers from local schools and from such community groups as the boy scouts to help in the beach clean-up. So far, the school has sponsored two beach clean-ups and has held a number of campus clean-ups at the school.

In addition to the clean-up and the vigil, there will be a six course natural food dinner, speakers, a showing of the movie "Hellstrom Chronicle", booths showing crafts and other displays, canoe rides, sailboat rides and birdwatching. There will be a folk concert at the end of the celebration.

For area photographers there will be a photo contest with the theme "Man in Nature". There will be two categories, color and black and white, with $50 gift certificates to Stuart Photo going to the winners. The prints should be mounted and no larger than 11 by 14 inches. Deadline for the entries is April 17. Those who wish to participate can drop their entries off at the Naturalist Society Office in the Students Center at FIT or Box 305 of the school mailbox.

ECOLOGICAL VOLUNTEERS–The Florida Institute of Technology Naturalist's Society will hold Earth Week, a celebration of Earth Day, April 17-24. Two of the organizers above are, from the left: Vice-president Mike McDavit and Head of Publicity, DeDe Wheat.

Chamber to begin drive

JENSEN BEACH—The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce officially kicked off its annual membership drive Monday and is seeking a goal of at least 50 new members by May 1.

The gaining of new members will be accomplished by mailing to all prospective new members and explaining to them the advantages businesses have being members," said Chamber Director Art Hansen. "This will be followed up by a personal contact with a membership committee person."

There are now over 200 members of the Chamber of Commerce.

By joining, new members have the advantage of hanging a membership plaque in the window, have the referrals of the more than 10,000 people who pass through the chamber building each year looking for information and are listed in the Jensen Beach Annual Fishing Guide. There are more than 25,000 of the guides sent yearly throughout the country.

In addition, the Chamber is host to the annual art show, Fourth of July fireworks display and parade, the turtle watch, and Christmas and Halloween programs.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the board of directors voted to ask the maker of the "Duff Map" of Jensen Beach to revise the the existing map to have it include Sewall's Point and a street directory.

The directors also agreed to hang a sign to advertise that copies can be made for a slight fee on the chamber's new copying machine and that the old mimeograph will be donated to the Jensen Beach Lions Club.

It was also decided that the money raised from the annual art show will be earmarked for the upcoming Fourth of July Parade.

psl homemakers plan Spring Bazaar

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Port St. Lucie Homemakers Club will present its annual Festival and Bazaar on Sunday, March 20, at the North Port Marina from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bazaar Chairman Mrs. Charles Conrad announced the Spring Bazaar will feature a boutique of art and craft items, while elephant booth, plants and a bake sale. Lunch will be available from 11 a.m.

Donna Privateer and her class will present an art show on the green, and a jewelry display and sale will be presented by Russell Privateer.

Drawings for door prizes will be at 4 p.m.

Proceeds from this annual event will go toward community work.

O'Neil heads shufflers

Leo O'Neil sez that the Pinelake Shuffleboard Club and guests had their luncheon at the King's Inn on March 7, at which time trophies were awarded to the winners of the first shuffleboard tournament held at Pinelake Village.

Rita Palmer of Pinelake Village, Wade is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brunson. Pamela is employed by Glades Memorial Hospital in Belleview, and Wade is with Glades Mercantile Co.

Out of town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Clayton Palmer of Venice, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest La Valley of Dunn Hill, Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. James Brunson of Sanford, Fla.

The wedding was followed by a reception and buffet for approximately 150 guests. The couple left for a honeymoon in the Bahamas

Stamas 32 Series
Sport Cruiser

Watch the dock fly away behind you when you hit the throttle on this superfast fishing machine. She's Stamas' ideal plan for the earnest sport fisherman who wants a huge, wide open fishing cockpit, plus comfortable sleeping quarters for a weekend getaway. Her graceful, raised sheer forward design flows back to a cockpit that is an unbelievable 16' long, and set down low to the sea. You're at the ideal height for boarding the big ones. She also features a molded-in bow seat on the forward deck area, and ample comforts for a cruising family -- there's a completely equipped galley, private lavatory and shower, and sink and vanity area that can be left open or enclosed as shown in the 32' Sedan above. Optional dinette. Order her tailored to suit you -- softop, hardtop, or flybridge. Optional twin screw gasoline or diesel powered inboard engines.

Port St. Lucie Chapter 2698

Gerry Casperson, a member of the board of directors, has taken on the additional duties of assistant treasurer to handle the recreation fund, a newly established account that is separate from the regular dues account. The money for this fund will come from the 50-50 ticket sales at the monthly meetings and from other similar activities.

Some of the benefits al belong to AARP are set forth in the March issue of Travel magazine, which publishes an article entitled "Senior Savings," recounting economies available in the field of foreign travel to people over 65.

That's where the AARP national organization comes into play. As those who read the national publications know, there is a constant flow of information on where AARP members can get special rates.

The article itself details savings available on adequate proof of age to U.S. citizens travelling to Austria, Britain, Canada, Denmark, Finland, Luxembourg, France, Norway, Sweden, and so forth.

It concludes with these nice words about AARP: "More than 8.5 million American over 55 pay $7 a year to belong to the American Association of Retired Persons. While its travel program is only one of the services offered by this organization, it has been most successful in organizing extended vacation stays for its members in Spain, Mexico, Italy and Morocco. These are modestly priced Airbark at the last board meeting, and anyone who is interested in either end of the idea—doing the job or having it done—should get in touch with Maurie at 334-1951.

Frances Lee is a new member of the nominating committee, of which Tom Dolan is chairman. Other members of the committee are Tom Carlile and Jean Petrone.

As reported last time, the March 19 trip to Lake Okeechobee was sold out well ahead of time. Jim Kearney, community service committee chairman, says the recreation committee is now planning for a group outing on the first trip in April of the Exxi Chop. Interest in this, as well as in other trips, is high. Many more requests for tickets were received than there were tickets available. Jim said, so if you want to go on the next one, get your name in early. The cost is $10 for AARP groups, as opposed to $12 regular rates.

At the last board of directors meeting, Frank Alexander was the one who called our attention to this article. He turned his copy over to Jim Kearney, who said he would have it available for anyone who wants to look up data.

Many AARP chapters have set up a handyman-for-hire service...people who are skilled with their hands and ready and willing to do small jobs around the house for an equally small charge.

The idea of setting up such a service in our chapter was raised by Maurie Gaudreau.

On March 18, a small surprise fiesta was held in honor of President Fred Wiggle's birthday, which comes up this week. Esther Thompson arranged the party and Fred's wife, Ruth, appeared for the celebration. It was a sincere tribute to Fred, who has done more work for the organization than anyone, a man who turns a willing hand and cheerful spirit to all problems. Happy birthday, Fred.

The latest count on chapter membership is 174. Esther reported that the payment of dues has gone quite well.

Venture Harbour News by Jessie Shaver, Ist Rd.:

The Third Annual Dinner to celebrate our becoming Venture Harbour was held saturday. An almost complete roll of V.H. residents attended Hazel Ramsay, Fran Tener and Betty Drinkard worked hard to find a place to accommodate the group and we extend our appreciation to them for their efforts. Greatly missed were Paul and Betty Drinkard.

The Drinkards left Saturday morning for Miami where Betty will check into Baptist Hospital for surgery. Our best wishes to Betty for a successful operation and quick return to Venture harbour.

Fran Tener and her many helpers put on a very beautiful fashion show Friday at the rec hall. The hall and refreshments were beautiful. The women who worked so hard to make this a huge success are so numerous I am not naming them individually for I might omit one by accident and that would be regrettable.

The door prizes were won by Helen Frederickson, Jean Paynter, Jane Richdale, Dorothy Herring, Shirley Miller and Kathleen Summers.

The beautiful models were Ruth Balash, Pat Belt, Barbara Clark, Betty Drinkard, Jane Richdale and Eleanor Teitsma.

John VanWilligen, who is a professor of anthropology at the University of Kentucky, is visiting her parents, Jean and Gil Van Willigen. He was attending a meeting in Miami and Gil and Jean drove down on Saturday, brought him back for a few days of fishing which he is enjoying.

Jackie Phillips, V.O. St. Lucie, reports:

Bowling scores, March 8, by Bill Thompson: Ken Horton, 432; Elmer Mauer, 447; CoraLee Irwin, 444; Al Suckow, 420; Ken McKee, 419; Ward Irwin, 383; Bill Thompson, 380; Toad Bowling, 369.

Anyone for tennis? John Richdale, a freshman at Lehigh University and a member of the junior varsity tennis team, is visiting his parents at V.O., Jane and Guy Richdale.

Marge and Bob Owen had a happy surprise this past week. Walt and Ethel Lanning of Petoskey, Michigan, paid them a visit as they were winding up their 10,000 mile cross-country trip. They are the in-laws of Joyce Lanning, the Owens daughter.

Evie and Bob Sechrist are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lauer of Prospect, Ohio, and Raymond Stone of Louisville, Ky. Jim and Raymond are Bob Sechrist's fishing buddies.

You've never heard a real fish story 'til you hear the three of them when they get together. They're positive that Northern Michigan is the fishing capital of the world!

Alda and Bill Goetz have a happy household! They are hosting their daughter and family...five boys and one girl! They're from the Chicago area, as our pretty green park looks good to them.

Helen and Chuck Ward left us for a few days to join a reunion of family and friends in Gainesville, Florida.

Gloria and Derwood Dickinson are happy to have Don and Phylis Dickinson of Mason, Michigan, visiting, especially since they have their adorable one and a half year old daughter, Elizabeth, with them.

Business called, so Ken Williams flew home for a few days.

Welcome back Floyd Reynolds! After delays due to fog, etc., the plane finally landed at West Palm, where Al Suckow met him. We're glad to have him here!

Marian Monroe will head MMH Auxiliary

STUART—Marian (Mrs. Vaughn) Monroe was elected president of the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary at the group's meeting last week.

Mrs. R.P. Daly is the new vice president; Mrs. Frederic J. Schroeder, second vice president; Mrs. R.E. McGraw, recording secretary; Mrs. Clifton S. Perry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H.G. Dupont, treasurer; and Mrs. J.C. Naller, assistant treasurer.

The Installation Luncheon will be held April 18 at the Stuart Yacht and Country Club.

ACS CHAIRMAN—Thomas Holmes has been named the American Cancer Society's educational and fund raising Crusade chairman this year in Martin County. The national effort to raise funds to fight cancer takes place every April. Holmes, branch manager for the Stuart office of a savings and loan association, is coordinating such special projects as residential and business mailings, the annual Bike-A-Thon and the ACS-100.

Audubon plan annual luncheon

STUART—The Martin County Audubon Society, Inc., will hold its annual luncheon meeting on Saturday, March 19, at Holiday Inn, Oceanside. Social hour will begin at noon, with the roast beef luncheon served at 1 p.m.

Reservations must be made to either Mrs. B.L. Foley, 283-3188, or Mrs. Carl Groepler, 287-8515.

Speaker will be Dr. Conrad Newmann, Professor of Marine Biology, University of North Carolina Marine Sciences program.

P-A Club meets Thursday

STUART—The monthly meeting of the Polish-American Social Club will be held Thursday, March 17, at the First Federal SAVings & Loan meeting hall in Jensen Beach, corner of Commercial Street and Indian River Drive. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

Stella Nowajewski said that it is important that all members attend.

Githens strikes it rich!

Helen Githens really had a big night at Bingo on March 4...had bingoed three times, then split the jackpot with Amanda McGuire Talk about striking it rich!

Gordon and Cecile Emery of Morristown, also, their daughter, son-in-l aw and granddaughter, Fred and Virginia Mueller and Julie of Drayton Plains, Michigan.

Riverside Village

BY SALLY HOFFMAN

Ruth Robinson of 3rd Street really went on a flying trip last week She accompanied her father, Delbert Dickinson, to Chicago, where they were met by her brother from Iowa. She then boarded a plane and returned to Jensen Beach the same day. Mr Dickinson will be in Rowley Memorial Masonic Home in Perry, Iowa He has spent most of the season in the Stuart Convalescent Home and they feel he will be much happier in his home area near his family and friends t

Charley Cocarey is resting a little more comfortably after his surgery in Martin Memorial. Get well soon, Charley everyone misses you

The largest group of the year attended Hobby March 7. 28 ladies Alma' Griswold and Mrs Carl McClintock were hostesses and served their dessert from a table centered with a beautiful pink and white azalea plant The Hobby group will attend a luncheon at Ocean Village on March 15

All the long time residents were happy to have Edith White and her daughter, Mary Matteson, of Fabius, N.Y., return after a year's absence. Hazel Brown and Did Harden had a luncheon March 9 in their honor and also to welcome Louise Appel of Marlette, Michigan, a newcomer this winter, and Ruby Sausaman of Warsaw, Indiana, who is spending a month in the park.

Have you ever noticed that all the pompano fishermen wear red caps? Ray Freebury is going to have to get one for his granddaughter, Julie Mueller, as she caught her first pompano last week.

My hat is blue and white – wonder if that is why I don't get many pompano.

The Freeburys, Morgans, Kreags, Hoffmans, Agnes Fritz and Katie Smith were at the Elks Club in Stuart for dinner and dancing Saturday. It was almost like a Pontiac, Michigan, Elks 810 convention...several from Nettles Island, Holiday Out, plus visitors and our group.

Lots of visitors in the park, too, recently. Alma Griswold has had Mrs. Dorothy Hall of St. Augustine and Connecticut for 10 days. The Carl McClintocks have had Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Swanson of Astabula, Ohio, and the Freeburys have been entertaining

The Muellers have been busy visiting Busch Gardens in Tampa and the Pontiac, Michigan day in Clearwater. Julie visited these places, too, but also fished and went to the Martin County Fair. Her big night was Saturday night She got to go to MacDonalds with Gordon and Vi Gale.

They must have run out of space for this column last week as they didn't print about the "Cookie Monster" that's on the loose in our park. Don't know who it is, but everyone is on the alert.

Was just reading an ad in The Mirror for green plants - philadendron, etc. The most expensive one was a "Spineless Yucca". Don't know what a "Yucca" is, but it seems to me that being called Yucca is bad enough without tacking on "Spineless."

Very little news to report this week. Bingo is twice a week; Hobby ladies are hobbying; shufflers are shuffling; fishermen are fishing; and lots of cards are played every night.

ING WAS STEADY–Poll workers at the two Port St. ie precincts reported that voting was relatively steady ughout the Tuesday City Election. While a big turnout had pected, by late afternoon only about 45 per cent of the registered had appeared at City Hall to cast their ballots. Pictured above, poll worker Jean Petrone checks the registration list for Francis O'Beirne, while Kay Harris assists Mrs. Gisela West.

McChesney, Anderson, Reeb elected in light voter turnout

PORT ST. LUCIE–Following Tuesday's city election, Bill McChesney became the city's first elected mayor when he defeated Charlie Hayde for the number one spot on the City Council.

In the race for council seat number four, Mike Reeb won out over his opponent, Harrison St. John, by an overwhelming majority.

Merle Anderson was the victor over John Koroly in the race for Council seat Number Five.

For the second time in as many weeks, the predictions of St. Lucie County's Supervisor of Elections James Brooks fell short. While the people of Port St. Lucie generally turn out strong, less than 40 per cent of the city's 2,746 registered voters went to the polls during Tuesday's election.

In the mayor's race Bill McChesney polled a total of 826 votes while Hayde picked up 371. In Precinct 23, the Port St. Lucie Community Center, McChesney received 400 votes, Hayde 249, and in Precinct 22 the vote was 426 for McChesney and 122 to Hayde.

The closest of the three races was between the two candidates vying for Council Seat Number Five, Anderson and Koroly. While Koroly was the strongest of the two in the northern part of the city, Anderson picked up more than enough power in the southern portion to win the election by a 221 vote margin.

Anderson picked up a total of 632 votes and Koroly poled 431. In Precinct 23 it was 310 for Anderson and 345 to Koroly. Anderson received 342 votes in Precinct 22 while Koroly gained 186.

As for the Reeb-St. John race for seat Number Four, Reeb walked away with 883 votes as against St. John's 119. In Precinct 23 St. John picked up only 79 votes and 49 more in Precinct 22.

Under the terms of the new City Charter, the newly elected city officials will take office April 5. The vice-mayor will be elected by council members at that time.

Nat Reed to speak to Alliance

FORT PIERCE–When the Conservation Alliance of St. Lucie County holds its annual installation dinner and membership drive on March 21, Nat Reed, who until recently served as the assistant secretary of the federal Department of the Interior, will be the guest speaker.

The affair will be a dinner meeting scheduled for 6 p.m. at the Tradewinds Cafeteria in the Searstown Shopping Center. The public is invited to attend.

In 1971 Reed received a presidential appointment to the office of Assistant Secretary of the Interior, was reappointed in 1972, and again by President Ford. He resigned from the office to pursue his interest in the environment of his home state.

In his wide range of authority and responsibility, Reed has dealt with every aspect of environmental concern.

New officers to be installed in the St. Lucie Conservation Alliance will include Walter Vitunac as president; Anne Dahlman, vice president; Lace Vitunac, treasurer; and John Bartlett, secretary.

Directors to be sworn in are John Arena, Ed Buffington, John Books, Jim Plowaty, Don Root and Marjorie Alder.

VFW Post-Auxiliary change meeting dates

PORT ST. LUCIE–A change in meeting dates has been announced by both the Andre Matton Post V.F.W. 10130 and their Auxiliary, effective immediately.

Both organizations will meet at the Port St. Lucie Community Center on the third Thursday of each month, starting March 17. Meeting time will be 7:30 p.m.

ey Williams, Steve McKee, Jim ne and Chris Cooper received ir arrow points for their accomments, while Harold Hagen and Tatusko each received two Silver le pouch.

ivity awards were presented to Todd Hutchinson for craftsman, outdoorsman and travel, and to Kevin Baker for athlete.

Two young men, David Lehnicht and Robert A. McIntyre, graduated to scouting.

Also at the meeting, new leaders were introduced as follows: Cubmaster W. Malcolm von Taborasky; Charles J. Dekker, assistant cubmaster; Howard L. Horton, Weblos leader; and Carl D. Romano, assistant Weblos leader.

Maria C. Vignier and Jackie Tribo are assistant den leaders; Eleanor von Taborsky, events chairman; Tina Tatusko, secretary; Steve Botsioukos, Tom Tribo comprise the pack committee, and Fran Whalen will fill the public relations post for the coming year.

The opening ceremony was conducted by the Weblos and the various Dens presented their hobbies to the group.

Yacht Club to hold party

PORT ST. LUCIE–A large turnout is expected at the March 22 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club when Nelson Howery will conduct his final meeting as Commodore.

The group will meet at 8 p.m. in the Community Center.

Vice Commodore Art Coulon announced that wine and cheese will be served by Mrs. Mary Sheehan following the meeting.

Over 225 members and guests attended the Luau held at the Stuark Elks Lodge recently.

Music for the evening was provided by Charlie Bloehm and the Sound Investments.

According to those attending the social event, the outstanding entertainment of the evening was provided by Millie Green and her Mu-u Mu-u Mamas.

Betty Grossman, Bernice Alexander, Irene Jaroszwicz and Ruth Eddy split the 50-50.

Door prizes were won by Henry Deible, Edna Garofalo, Lillian Royal, Florence Schwartz, Edie Smith and Thelma Graham.

The event was chaired by Art and Marge Gerhardt.

Covered dish planned

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Riverettes will meet at the home of Mrs. Marion Lepore on Ramie Lane, March 21.

This will be a covered dish luncheon, followed by a Chinese auction.

GDC will sponsor forum

PORT ST. LUCIE–General Development Corporation will sponsor a legislative forum in the Port St. Lucie area on March 22, it was announced earlier this week.

The public is invited to attend the forum which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the Port St. Lucie City Hall on Morningside Boulevard.

According to the announcement, Senators Don C. Childers and Harry A. Johnston of West Palm Beach will be on hand as will Representative Dale Cassens.

While final commitments have yet to be confirmed, it is likely Dale Padgett, Republican representative from Vero Beach, and William Taylor, Democrat from Tequesta, will also attend the session.

LIEBERTH INSTRUCTS BRIDGE CLASSES

PORT ST. LUCIE–Advanced Bridge and Beginners Duplicate Bridge classes are starting Friday, March 18, at 9:30 a.m. The instructor for the classes will be Dick Leiberth.

DEDICATION–Bishop Thomas J. Grady, of the Diocese of Orlando, conducted the dedication ceremony for the newly completed educational building of the St. Lucie Catholic Church. Sixty candidates were confirmed in services conducted earlier in the evening by Bishop Grady. An open house and reception was held in the new church hall immediately following the dedication. Pictured above with the Bishop are, left to right, Robert "Bobby" Bienduga, Paul Jenkins, and The Reverend Bernard J. Hickey. (MORE PHOTOS ON PAGE 16)

rea cleanup in full swing

RT ST. LUCIE–While the residents Port St. Lucie are finishing up their ide cleanup this week, the folks of Park are just beginning to get annual spring cleanup drive way.

the past several years, trucks for anup in the River Park area will ided by Milton's Garbage Service eneral Development Corporation (GDC). The drive will start March 27 with the pickup slated for March 30.

Phil Rodi, community pride chairman this year for the PSL-RP Homeowners' Association, reminds residents that palm fronds, tree limbs and other trimmings should not exceed five foot lengths, and be bundled and tied if possible.

Men from the association have volunteered to assist residents in moving larger items to the curb for pickup.

While the city picked up the $1150 tab from the three hauling firms for pickups during the cleanup campaign, residents showed their appreciation by cooperating one hundred percent of the way to "Keep Port St. Lucie Beautiful".

ANING UP–Mirror photographer caught Mrs. R.C. Cook Westmoreland Boulevard giving her all in the city-wide clean-up effort. Like the majority of city residents, the Cooks finished their cleaning projects early in the week.

South Port yachters plan Indiantown boat-a-cade

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Saints and Sinners Yacht Club of South Port St. Lucie, having had a somewhat cool but beautiful for its recent and highly successful boat-a-cade to Frances Langford's Outrigger, hopes to enjoy typical Florida spring weather for a scheduled outing to Indiantown on March 26.

Commodore Eldon Soetje reported that the 20 boats making up the river junket to the Outrigger on February 17 all made the voyage without mishap.

Gang's Mardi Gras a 'huge success'

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Friday Nite Gang staged one of its periodic Mardi Gras sessions at the North Port Marina last week. Twenty-seven special prizes were given away to lucky ticket holders. Host Cedric Benz was in his customary seat for the first time in two months because of a "busted ankle."

At the regular session the Snooper reported no birthdays or anniversaries, but came up with some visitors: Peg Bartlett from Lansing, Michigan, visiting the Kaisers; Elizabeth Beckett from Madison Heights, Michigan, also visiting the Kaisers; Roberta Wocher from Brewster, N.Y., visiting the Wyscenskis.

Visiting the Gang for the first time was Mrs. Janeen Schindler, originally from Orchard Lake, Michigan.

The main prize of the evening was taken home by Philomena Loperfido.

The boat-a-cade for Saturday, March 25, involves going through the St. Lucie Locks, and March Fleet Captain Bob Ellsworth points out that, because there is a 16 foot difference at the locks at this time, all boats must lock through together, both coming and going. He said that the passage through the locks will take at least 45 minutes each way.

All boats are scheduled to be at the locks at 10 a.m. and to reach Indiantown by 11:45 a.m. There will be bus transportation at the Indiantown docks to drive voyagers to the Seminole Inn where lunch will be served at 1 p.m.

The deadline for making reservations with Capt. Ellsworth is Saturday, March 19.

Those wishing to drive should go via SR 76 to the high bridge (SR 710), cross the bridge and then proceed north for about a half mile to the Seminole Inn, Ellsworth said.

Most boaters are planning to leave Port St. Lucie at 9 a.m., but those wanting to go slow should make an earlier start, according to the fleet captain.

Cocktails planned at Center

PORT ST. LUCIE–The next big affair planned at the Port St. Lucie Community Center will be a cocktail party and dance scheduled for Sunday, March 20, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

According to the Center's Social Committee, who planned the event, tickets may be purchased at the door or from the Center's office in advance.

Joseph Cornwell is in charge of the music and setups will be available for those who wish to bring their own liquid refreshments.

Those who serve on the Center's Social Committee are Mesdames Seymour Fleming, Thomas Gates, Carroll Everett, Robert Post, Wayne Gibson, Fred Johnston, George W. Jacobi, Art Coulon and Donald Porter.

St. Andrew services set

PORT ST. LUCIE–The regular Sunday services of St. Andrew Lutheran Church are conducted at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m., with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. "Gems for Daily Living" will be the topic studied by the Adult Sunday School class, which meets at 9:45 a.m.

Weekly Lenten services are held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and Thursday mornings at 10. The Lenten theme for the week of March 23 and 24 will be "The Way of Agony". The public is invited.

Open house, reception highlight Catholic church ceremonies

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Community of St. Lucie Catholic Church welcomed into full membership sixty candidates who were confirmed in the faith by Bishop Thomas J. Grady of the Diocese of Orlando this past Wednesday evening, March 9.

Immediately following the Confirmation Ceremony, Bishop Grady dedicated the new education building. The evening culminated with an open house and a reception for the newly confirmed.

Confirmation is one of the Sacraments of Christian initiation. In Baptism, the Christian becomes a member of the Christian Community. Confirmation completes the Baptism.

The ceremony was beautiful with the candidates taking an active part in the Liturgy. The scripture readings were by Robert Biendaga and Richard Forrest. Candidates John Eastman and Christine Jenkins represented the Confirmation Class and gave witness to the group by reading their own compositions entitled "Why I want to be Confirmed."

Music was provided by the entire congregation, accompanied by the Folk Choir and a five piece orchestra. On the bass violin was Joseph Russo. Joseph Poliwka played the violin. Jennifer Malleli, Mary Beth Larres and Lisa Biendaga were the guitarists. The music was under the direction of John Orange.

In addition to the usual gifts of bread and wine, the Offertory procession was enhanced by students carrying gifts symbolic of the end and purpose of religious education, Christian Service, worship and prayer.

A group of ladies from the parish made red stoles which were worn by the candidates to show their relationship between Baptism and Confirmation.

An estimated 700 persons joined in the reception and open house ceremonies.

Refreshments, cookies and fruit punch, were prepared and served by members of the St. Lucie Catholic Women's Club.

The newly completed church hall, situated just west of the church on Prima Vista Boulevard, will be used for educational purposes and will double for social and fund raising activities of the church.

MANY ATTEND--A large crowd turned out for the dedication ceremonies of the new church hall at St. Lucie Catholic Church. Bishop Thomas J. Grady, Diocese of Orlando, dedicated the new education building following a Confirmation ceremony held earlier in the evening.

WAITING PATIENTLY--The three sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Sauls wait patiently in the refreshment line at the open house and reception held last Wednesday at the St. Lucie Catholic Church. Preceding the dedication of the new church hall, confirmation ceremonies were conducted in the church. The Sauls brothers were three of the sixty candidates confirmed. Pictured, left to right, are twins John and Frank with brother Peter.

State approves Savannas purchase

BY ROBBIE BETDELL

...N BEACH–After more than 10 ...l negotiations, the Florida ...net Tuesday to buy the ...d of the Jensen Savannas, but not ...ome last minute shuffling as to ...group would oversee state ...of the land.

...ting of last week, the only two ...failed to govern the land were ...ation Division of the Florida ...ment of Natural Resources, and a ...corporation comprised of two ...officials and a handful of citizens ...as the "Savannas Wilderness ...be."

...Savannas Wilderness Trust is a ...ation with a 10-member board of ...rs which planned to act as ...for the to-be-purchased land ...by General Development Corporation.

County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla is president of the trust with James W. Ployaty, vice president; Edward Gluckler, secretary; and Betty Lou Wells, treasurer. The trust also includes John C. Brooks, Fort Pierce; Gertrude Bernhard, Tequesta; Arthur Harper, Jr., Miami; Peter Pritchard, Maitland; Jerry Cutlip, Naples; and Joel Kuperberg, Tallahassee.

Prior to the Tuesday Cabinet meeting, two elected officials from Martin and St. Lucie County who objected to the governing arrangements of the wilderness trust traveled to Tallahassee to propose a compromise.

Martin County Commission Chairman Tom Higgins and St. Lucie County Commissioner Ed Enns met with state officials just before Tuesday's meeting and managed to persuade them to include the Martin and St. Lucie County Commissions and the Port St. Lucie City Council in the appointment of who will oversee the management of the land.

The elected officials from the two counties objected to a private trust with self-named members overseeing public land.

Commissioner Enns objected to the lack of representation from elected officials in St. Lucie County and Commissioner Wacha objected to the method in which the trust tried to gain control of the land without the knowledge of the general public.

Wacha said he did not even know about the existence of the corporation until the end of last week, even though the Wilderness Trust was incorporated Feb. 7, and Commissioner Hurchalla is a fellow Martin County Commissioner.

Gluckler, a former Martin County Commissioner and now Mayor of Sewall's Point, said, "The purpose of the trust, in itself, is to assist in the governing of the Savannas. It is designed to promote sound environmental preservation."

Gluckler said the Department of Natural Resources and the Trust were to work "hand in hand" but added if the state wants to add more groups in overseeing the land he will welcome them.

"I will welcome anyone interested in seeing that the job is done right," he said.

Gluckler added that the formation of the trust itself was "not really low key." He said the existence of the trust was announced to the Martin County Conservation Alliance in January.

"It's been in the works for some time," he said.

He added he had no knowledge that the trust was not brought up at the regular meeting of the Martin County Commission, saying that he "left that up to Commissioner Hurchalla."

With the compromise put into effect by Enns and Higgins, the five groups, the Savannas Wilderness Trust, the Martin and St. Lucie County Comissions, the City Council of Port St. Lucie, and the Department of Natural Resources will, together, appoint a new board which will oversee the management of the land. No one will be named to the new board without the approval of all of the groups.

The total package the state will purchase amounts to 3,812 acres, considered to be the backbone of the Savannas. The price the state has agreed to pay for the 46 separate parcels is $5,126,375.

The resolution was passed by the cabinet after only 10 minutes of discussion. The only amendment added to the proposal was that a ceiling of $25,000 be included in the purchase of surrounding lands the state may buy, not included in the first major purchase.

In its concept for management of the Savannas, the Division of Recreation and Parks of the Department of Natural Resources intends to restore the natural flow of water and water levels in the Savannas and to prohibit any sort of construction and fill. The agency also intends to require that the two counties adopt land development controls and to maintain the ecosystem of the Savannas. It will also prohibit any activities harmful to the wildlife existing in the area.

Outdoor recreational activities compatible to the environment will be permitted.

Drinking ban to dry up beaches

JENSEN BEACH–Late night revelers who have been using Martin County's public beaches for partying spots may have to go elsewhere for their fun.

The Martin County Commission will soon set the date for two public hearings to determine whether or not to ban at night alcohol from public bathing beaches and beach strips in the county. The request was made to the commission last week by Commissioner Frank Wacha in response to the conditions of beaches each morning when county lifeguards report for work.

According to Wacha, there are numbers of party-goers who consume beer at the beach and then litter the grounds with cans and bottles and vandalize and break into county property.

"They break bottles and then the lifeguards have to spend their time in the morning cleaning them up," Wacha said. "It's an unfortunate thing. I don't really like that amount of government but, as usual, it's the inconsiderate few who make it bad for the rest of the public interest."

Veteran Chief Lifeguard Jack Cammack said he has inspected Florida's beaches from Daytona all the way down to the Keys and, he said, most of the beaches have a total ban on alcoholic beverages.

"The majority have problems relating to the consumption of alcohol at night," he said. "Here I have them tear up the lifeguard shack and the bathhouses and electrical fixtures and windows. The county has had to pay more than $2,800 in repairs to the damage they have done."

Cammack said it is unfortunate that the beaches can be clean after record beach days but in the morning when the lifeguards report for work the grounds are littered with the broken glass of the revelers.

"It's much better for the lifeguards to work on their morning safety programs when they report for work than to have to spend from 16 to 25 hours each week picking up broken glass," he said.

The Martin County Legal Department has not yet set the dates for the two public hearings but the two will deal with the prohibition of alcohol on public land on Hutchinson Island from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. daily.

Firemen plan Easter egg hunt April 2 at Langford Park

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Fire Department will hold its tenth annual Easter Egg Hunt at Langford Park on April 2.

The Women's Auxiliary will be there at 9:30 a.m. to register participants. The hunt is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

There will be four separate age groups. The first, ages one and two years, must be accompanied by a parent. The second group will be children from three to five years of age. The third will be from six to eight years, and the fourth, nine and ten. There will be prizes in each group.

In case of rain the hunt will be held on April 9.

Regatta taking shape

STUART–If all goes as planned, it looks as if the 10th annual Sailfish Regatta will be one of the largest events held in the history of Martin County.

At the first regatta, planned by Race Chairman Herman Reitz, race drivers "fell in love with Stuart" and have returned each year, making the races better and better. This year the event has been turned into a ten-day festival with a number of related activities happening from one side of town to the other.

Because fickle winds historically have caused rough water at the traditional race course at the Stuart Causeway, the Sailfish Regatta this year will be moved to a site just north of the Roosevelt Bridge in the north fork of the St. Lucie River.

"We need a place where there is room for pits, a judges' stand, spectator space, car parking and a good body of water," Reitz said. "North of the bridge we have all of that. We have permission from the state Department of Transportation to close the southbound lane of U.S. 1. It's going to be more than a boat race, it's going to be one of the most exciting times Martin County has ever seen."

He added there are going to be $70,000 worth of prizes for race contenders.

Boats competing in the regatta will be 150 mile-per-hour hydroplanes, ski-boats and Jersey speed skiffs.

Reitz said the new setting will provide "better water, room for a bigger crowd and spectator area, long straightaways on the course, better pits and, generally, a better overall, faster moving race."

In addition to the races, the eight-day event promises a golf tournament, beauty pageant, swimming and diving contest, tennis competitions, outboard races, shuffleboard contests, band concerts, bowling and racquetball tournaments, canoe races and an old fashioned block party at Ocean East Mall. The block party will feature a van show, a jitterbug dance contest, square dancing and a display of boats competing in the races, according to Regatta Chairman Carl Walters. On Sunday, May 15, there will be church services at the race site.

Reitz is asking that the public join in on the fun, register for the various competitions and sponsor the activities of the week. The 10 day festival is planned for May 7-15.

AT WE GO–Entertainer Jackie Gleason and his wife, ne, were among guests visiting Ralph Evinrude and Frances Langford at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant Monday. The Gleason group was cruising aboard the Loulyfran, a yacht owned by WTVJ Miami's Louis Wolfson, when they dropped in for lunch.

Carroll will address mobile home owners

JENSEN BEACH–The Federation of Mobile Home Owners of Florida, Inc., District 9, Martin County, will hold a regular meeting in the recreation hall of Riverland Mobile Home Park, S. Kanner Highway (SR76W), on Friday, March 25, at 2 p.m.

Rick Carroll of the Rick Carroll Insurance Agency will be the guest speaker. His subject is reported to be one which is of very great concern to all mobile home owners of the area. There will be a question and answer period following his discussion.

George Hackman, president of District 9, has set up a special program for the meeting. Parking attendants will be available and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The final meeting of the current season will be held in May.

TURTLES GET READY–For the past five years, under several different contracts, marine biologists have conducted an extensive research program on the nesting habits of loggerhead and green turtles which nest on Hutchinson Island each summer. This year the work will begin in April under Applied Biology, Inc., of Jensen Beach. The company recently purchased three new "All-terrain" three-wheel Honda motorcycles to locate nests on the beach. Shown above with the new vehicles are, from the left, marine biologists Mike Bayle, Dewey Worth and Bruce Peery.

Free seeds offered for pink flowering tree

STUART–Seed and germinating instructions for growing the "Chorisia speciosa" flowering tree are offered by Dr. Edwin A. Menninger to anyone desiring the tree.

The tree becomes "ablaze in November with clouds of beautiful six-inch pink flowers when other blooms are scarce," according to Stuart's "flowering tree man."

The tree is hardy, and not affected by freezing weather. However, Menninger notes that the tree is a big tree, too big for the average yard, and is designed to be planted in parks and parkways.

Free seed and instructions can be obtained by writing Menninger at Box 107, Stuart, FL 33494, enclosing a stamp for return mailing.

Color photos of ball are on display

STUART–Color photographs of the 1977 Martin Memorial Hospital Ball will be on display at First National Banke and Trust Company of Stuart through Friday, March 25. Color prints may be ordered and paid for at the bank's main office.

Proceeds from the sale of photographs will be donated to the 1977 Hospital Ball Fund Drive. For more information call 287-4000.

First National in top 1000

STUART–First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart has become one of the 1,000 largest banks of the more than 14,000 commercial banks in the United States as of December 31, 1976.

First National, according to The American Banker newspaper's March 15 edition, advanced from 1039th last year to 927th.

First National, with assets over $115 million, is Martin County's oldest Charity bridge game is Thursday

JENSEN BEACH–The continentwide charity game which the American Contract Bridge League will hold Thursday, March 24, is expected to be one of the biggest bridge games every played. More than 30,000 players will take part in over 280 locations throughout the United States and Canada, and even in such exotic places as Saudi Arabia, Nigeria and Indonesia.

The charity to benefit this year is the Arthritis Foundation.

Local bridge players from Palm Beach to Vero Beach will participate. The Stuart Duplicate Club is holding its game at Sandpiper Bay, Port St. Lucie. Game time is 8 p.m. in the Great Hall.

Everyone of the contestants throughout the world will play the same deals. After the game, each player will receive a printed sheet with a complete analysis of the bidding and the play of each hand.

Tickets for the game at Sandpiper Bay may be purchased at the door. The tax deductible contribution is $2.50.

Partners for this game are not guaranteed and there will be no half-tables. Further details are available by calling Roger White at 334-2310.

Sandpiper Bay is four miles north of Stuart. The entrance is on U.S. 1.

Card party for Welcome Wagon

JENSEN BEACH–Welcome Wagon North of Martin County will hold a card party Tuesday, March 29.

The party will be held at the Jensen Beach Women's Association Clubhouse on Sugar Hill Road, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

PSL women plan fashion show

PORT ST. LUCIE--"April in Paris" will be the theme of the annual fashion show sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Woman's Club on March 30 at the Sandpiper Bay Resort.

The affair will commence with a social hour at 12:30 p.m. with a luncheon being served at 1 p.m.

A drawing will be held during the luncheon for an evening gown and a gift certificate. The proceeds from this drawing will benefit the Tri-County Rehabilitation Center, which is a work activity center for the mentally and physically handicapped for Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River Counties. The Center will furnish greenery and flowers from its horticulture department to provide the sidewalk cafe atmosphere for the annual fashion show.

Fashions will be shown by local shops and the public is invited to attend. Reservation must be made on or before noon March 28. For additional information or tickets, call Mrs. Addie Hannum at 334-2512, Mrs. Nonna Johnston at 334-1388 or Mrs. Inez Bowman at 878-0257.

The models, Florence Capelli, Lee Carlton, Doris Eldridge, Billie Faunce, Emmy Helmeister, Mary Jacobi, Mona Johnston, Cass Moncure and Violetta Rosen are club members. In addition William Flanagan, William Kessler, Jack Jeffrey and James Waldie will be modeling what the well-dressed man will be wearing.

Gina Franconi, Julie Goeringer, Sue Hafmeister, Bonnie Jeffrey, Holly Nielsen and Linda Schleif will be showing what the young adult fashion scene will be.

Whites welcome newcomers

PORT ST. LUCIE--Marking another first in the area, the Port St. Lucie will sponsor an open house for newcomers in this south county community on Saturday, March 26, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The purpose of the event is to provide new residents an opportunity to become acquainted with the many organizations in the area and the Community Center proper.

Mr. and Mrs. Don White will serve as honorary co-chairmen for the event in which some 25 organizations are expected to participate.

Each organization will have a table with an identifying sign and literature explaining the activities of the group.

"We feel the Community Center will be providing a valuable service to acting as a clearing house," said Mrs. Donald Porter who chairs the committee in charge of arrangements.

"We want to give newcomers a central point where they can find out about the many groups and services this area has to offer and, at the same time, enhance our own relations with the community. I believe the open house will be an effective way to accomplish this," she added.

Guests will register, move through a receiving line, and then meet other newcomers and representatives of the participating organizations.

Light refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

Other members serving on the open house committee are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Vasey and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hett.

SAMARITANS

Cleanup continues

PORT ST. LUCIE--All residents of the unincorporated area of Port St. Lucie and River Park are reminded once again of the March 30 Annual Cleanup date.

The PSL-HP Homeowners' Association has arranged with Milton's Garbage Service, General Development Corporation and St. Lucie County to pick up all trash placed at the curb next Wednesday. On this date the pickup is free to all residents of the area and offers an excellent opportunity to rid home and yard of old lawn mowers, bed springs, stoves and other trash which has accumulated over the past twelve months.

Homeowners install

PORT ST. LUCIE--The 1977-78 officers were elected and installed recently when the St. Lucie Country Club Homeowners' Association conducted its regular monthly meeting.

Those elected to head the organization for the coming year were Norman Krecke, president; Mrs. Ann Merz, vice president; Mrs. Irene Chapman, secretary, and Russ Miller will once again serve as treasurer.

Newly elected directors are James Healy, Donald McConnell, George Hudock, Marvin Waldhalig and Mrs. Irene Helmer.

The Association meets regularly on the third Monday of each month in the Homeowners Lounge at the Sandpiper Bay Resort.

Legislative telephones

Citizens desiring information on legislation or answers to questions concerning the Florida Legislature can dial toll-free 800-342-1827.

The toll free citizens telephone service will be in effect through June 17.

North Port Golf Scores

PORT ST. LUCIE--Following Tuesday's play, the North Port Men's Golf League reported the following winners.

Flight A, Roy Black and Joe Carnes tied with net scores of 68, while Ralph Fry scored a net 58 and Al Campau had 61 to top the Flight B competition.

In Flight C, it was Carl Hynek with a 53 and Joe Lenoras age with 60. In Flight D, Ted Cook had a 58 while Bob Tew came in with a 57.

Closest to the pin on Holiday's number eight was Ed Rombach. Cy Leap came closest on number 12.

Mildred Greenland heads garden club

JENSEN BEACH–Officers for 1977-78 were elected at the March meeting of the Jensen Beach Garden Club, to be installed at the April 6 luncheon meeting at the Crow's Nest.

Heading the club as president will be Mildred Greenland; Doris Taylor, first vice president; Olive Van Vliet, second vice president; Merle Mills, third vice president; Betty Kupp, recording secretary; Edith Hall, corresponding secretary; Freda Peterkin, treasurer.

The guest speaker for the meeting was Christine Snell of Fort Salerno. She spoke on "Button and Spoon Gardening", working with seedlings under one inch in height, moss and miniature figurines.

Mrs Leon Zdanowicz spoke on and demonstrated Christmas Cactus grafting.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames Paul Robertson, Clark Hinsdale, James Price, Holger Kristoffersen, William Weiss and Gerald Preston.

Thank You

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my wonderful friends and neighbors in Ocean Breeze Park for their many gifts, cards, flowers and prayers while I was in the hospital.

These kindnesses were appreciated more than you will ever know.

Thank you and God Bless

Mrs Alma Goodwin

Orchid Society plans for Spring

STUART–Plans for the Spring Show will be discussed and finalized when members of the Martin County Orchid Society hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday, March 24. The group will meets in the Agricultural Building located on the Martin County fairgrounds.

The Spring Show will be held Palm Sunday, April 3, at the Stafford Art Studio and Gardens in Sraig Harbor. This is the fourth event to be held at the home of Mr and Mrs H E Stafford.

Also on the Thursday program, a forum discussion is planned with four members of the Society discussing their own orchid story.

According to Club President Richmond Lee, there will be a display table and a drawing for orchid plants to be given as door prizes at the conclusion of the meeting.

Refreshments will be served and the public is welcome to attend the session.

She also plans on doing some traveling and spending some time with her grandchildren in Pennsylvania.

ERA caravan hits town Tuesday

STUART–A special Equal Rights Amendment (E.R.A.) Caravan will bring a colorful "town meeting" complete with film, speeches, question and answer session, and some old-fashioned rallying to town next Tuesday, March 29.

The Caravan will arrive at the Court House at 12 noon and will be met by County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla.

The traveling multi-media, being hosted by 45 communities in Florida, will be at the First National meeting room that evening at 7:30 p.m. The grassroots campaign is sponsored by the Florida members of the National Organization for Women (NOW). It's modeled after campaigns used by 19th century suffragists when they traveled by train and carriage throughout the country, garnering support for women's right to vote.

The program is entitled, "Rights of Women: Past, Present and Future." Various ERA speakers will accompany a film called, "How We Got the Vote," narrated by Jean Stapleton (Edith Bunker of "All in the Family").

The Indian River NOW Chapter is sponsoring the Caravan team here in order to generate local support for ERA with funds, time and skills, and an update on the latest developments on ERA front in Tallahassee will be given and pledges of support collected.

Jensen turnpike sign gets PSL support

PORT ST. LUCIE–Thanks to the cooperation shown by the Port St. Lucie City Council Tuesday, it is quite possible the State Department of Transportation will erect a sign just north of Turnpike Exit 54 indicating the Port St. Lucie interchange is an alternate route to Jensen Beach.

Earlier in the month the DOT had turned down a request from the Martin County Commission for such a sign on the basis that Jensen Beach was not incorporated, not a defined area, and was not a political subdivision.

The Port St. Lucie City Council passed a resolution supporting the Martin County Commission's request.

City Manager Elmer Cox, in a letter to Tom Webb, secretary of DOT, pointed out that despite the fact Jensen Beach is not an incorporated community, it is nonetheless an extremely important center for tourism, and incorporates significant banking, business, population and recreational enterprises.

The Jensen Beach sign located south of Exit 54 would save area residents and tourists time and mileage.

"This simple fact is borne out by the necessity of anyone using the Turnpike to reach Jensen Beach would have to exit at the Stuart exchange and then double back northward to reach Jensen Beach," Cox said.

Bikers may pedal more easily on Sewall's Point

SEWALL'S POINT–Those who regularly pedal their bikes up and down Sewall's Point Road and find their lives endangered by the close proximity of speeding cars might soon find the ride a little more safe and relaxing.

The Sewall's Point Town Council last week authorized the application for state funding to pay for 100 per cent of the cost of building a bike path from High Point at the southern end of the town to the Outrigger resort at the northern limits.

Mayor Ed Gluckler and Commissioner John Rossiter prepared the application to the Recreation Division of the Florida Department of Natural Resources, which announced it is releasing funds for such projects. As yet, the council has heard no reply.

According to Gluckler, the proposed bike path will be located one foot off Sewall's Point Road on the east side. It is planned to be four feet wide, constructed of asphalt, and should cost from $87,600 to $88,000, Gluckler said.

According to Commissioner Rossiter, the Department of Natural Resources budgeted approximately $2,600,000 for recreational projects in municipalities.

Peace Corps at Center

JENSEN BEACH–Representatives from a cooperative program of the Smithsonian Institution and the Peace Corps will use the Martin County Environmental Studies Center as a training ground to bring knowledge to countries in South America.

Barry Christiansen of the Smithsonian recently visited the Center prior to sending four Peace Corps volunteers to Jensen Beach. The four will visit the Center to learn how to set up similar programs in Chile and other South American countries. The four volunteers have degrees in environmental education. They will take the knowledge they get in Jensen Beach to Chile to develop a marine biology curriculum in their schools.

The Smithsonian and Peace Corps initiated the program in 1971 to meet requests by foreign leaders for education in environmental studies.

Kelly Hoffman has A average

Howey-in-the-Hills–Fifty-eight Howey Academy students at Howey-in-the-Hills, from five foreign countries, Florida and nine other states, have earned 'A' averages in all subjects for the initial marking period of the second semester.

Boarding students who have maintained an average score of 90 percent or higher in their studies include Kelly Hoffman, 9th grade son of Mrs Keith Hoffman, Port St. Lucie.

JDF speaker is Mary Bing

JENSEN BEACH–The guest speaker at the Indian River Chapter of Juvenile Diabetes Foundation (JDF) meeting Monday, March 28, will be Mary Bing, a dietician from Indian River Memorial Hospital in Vero Beach.

Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. at the Pierce Community Center.

Refreshments will be served and public is invited.

State approves Savannas purchase

BY ROBBIE REDELL

JENSEN BEACH–After more than 16 months of negotiations the Florida Cabinet met Tuesday to buy the 1,463 acres of the Jensen Savannas, but not before one last minute shuffling as to who would oversee state ownership of the land.

At the end of last week, the only two agencies to govern the land were the Recreation Division of the Florida Department of Natural Resources, and a management committee comprised of two state officials and a handful of citizens from the Savannas Wilderness Trust.

The Savannas Wilderness Trust is a private with a 10-member board of directors which planned to act as the agent for the to-be-purchased land for the General Development Corporation.

County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla is president of the trust with James W. Finnelly, vice president; Edward Glucker, secretary; and Betty Lou Wells, treasurer. The trust also includes John C. Brooks, Fort Pierce; Gertrude Bernhard, Tequesta; Arthur Harper, Jr., Miami; Peter Pritchard, Maitland; Jerry Collip, Naples; and Joel Kuperberg, Tallahassee.

Prior to the Tuesday Cabinet meeting, two elected officials from Martin and St. Lucie County who objected to the governing arrangements of the wilderness trust traveled to Tallahassee to propose a compromise.

Martin County Commission Chairman Tom Higgins and St. Lucie County Commissioner Ed Enns met with state officials just before Tuesday's meeting and managed to persuade them to include the Martin and Port St. Lucie County Commissions and the Port St. Lucie City Council in the appointment of who will oversee the management of the land.

The elected officials from the two counties objected to a private trust with self-named members overseeing public land.

Commissioner Enns objected to the lack of representation from elected officials in St. Lucie County and Commissioner Wacha objected to the method in which the trust tried to gain control of the land without the knowledge of the general public.

Wacha said he did not even know about the existence of the corporation until the end of last week, even though the Wilderness Trust was incorporated Feb. 7, and Commissioner Hurchalla is a fellow Martin County Commissioner.

Gluckler, a former Martin County Commissioner and now Mayor of Sewall's Point, said, "The purpose of the trust, in itself, is to assist in the governing of the Savannas. It is designed to promote sound environmental preservation."

Gluckler said the Department of Natural Resources and the Trust were to work "hand in hand" but added if the state wants to add more groups in overseeing the land he will welcome them.

"I will welcome anyone interested in seeing that the job is done right," he said.

Wacha said he did not even know about the trust itself was "not really low key." He said the existence of the trust was announced to the Martin County Conservation Alliance in January.

"It's been in the works for some time," he said.

He added he had no knowledge that the trust was not brought up at the regular meeting of the Martin County Commission, saying that he "left that up to Commissioner Hurchalla."

With the compromise put into effect by Enns and Higgins, the five groups, the Savannas Wilderness Trust, the Martin and St. Lucie County Commissions, the City Council of Port St. Lucie, and the Department of Natural Resources will, together, appoint a new board which will oversee the management of the land. No one will be named to the new board without the approval of all of the groups.

The total package the state will purchase amounts to 3,812 acres considered to be the backbone of the Savannas. The price the state has agreed to pay for the 44 separate parcels is $5,126,375.

The resolution was passed by the cabinet after only 10 minutes of discussion. The only amendment added in the proposal was that a ceiling of $25,000 be included in the purchase of surrounding lands the state may buy, not included in the first major purchase.

In its concept for management of the Savannas, the Division of Recreation and Parks of the Department of Natural Resources intends to restore the natural flow of water and water levels in the Savannas and to prohibit any sort of construction and fill. The agency also intends to require that the two counties adopt land development controls and to maintain the ecosystem of the Savannas. It will also prohibit any activities harmful to the wildlife existing in the area.

Outdoor recreational activities compatible to the environment will be permitted.

CFC stand wins state praise

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Coalition of Florida Consumers Tuesday presented its formal opposition to a Florida Power & Light rate increase request before the Public Service Commission, drawing commendation from state officials for the quality and detail of its rebuttal to the utility's petition.

The presentation was made at the latest in the series of PSC hearings in Palm Beach Gardens, and the CFC was represented by a four-man delegation: President Bob Brunton, Vice President John M. Lindsley, Financial Analyst Frank Zendzian and Don White, board member.

Zendzian and Lindsley took the stand, each emphasizing the three principal points of the CFC rebuttal:

1. FPL now receives an excessive rate of return on its common equity.

2. The utility gets unduly high rates because of the emphasis on capital investment in the current rate structure.

3. At present, FP&L has 25 per cent generating capacity surplus to peak load needs.

At the conclusion of their testimony, which surprisingly was not subjected to cross-examination as had been expected, W.H. Feaster, senior analyst for the Office of Public Counsel, commended the presentation as "well prepared, brief and to the point."

The only questions asked of the two witnesses were posed by Billy Mayo, acting PSC chairman in the absence of Chairman Paula Hawkins, which dealt with their qualifications. He appeared satisfied with their answers. Bill Bevis, the third member of the PSC, also was present for the hearing.

"I would also like to pay tribute to the men and women of the seven civic organizations in the Port St. Lucie area who have worked so hard with us on this project," Brunton said. He pointed out that contributions to the CFC came from St. Lucie, Martin and Okeechobee counties.

"The contribution that impressed me the most," he continued, "was one of fifty cents from a widow, who probably had to cut a corner or two to give that much."

Brunton said the group's contribution total now stands at $4,600, still a long way from the $7,000 of estimated costs in the preparation of the rebuttal.

Lindsley appeared as the first CFC witness. He worked with Zendzian in preparation of the rebuttal. On the stand for some 20 minutes, he read a brief statement by Brunton, giving the history of the CFC, and went into detail on the three major points of the brief. Zendzian then took the stand for approximately half an hour, with a re-capitulation of the brief and with additional technical information that he adduced in opposition to the utility request for a rate increase.

Brunton recalled that when he and Lindsley went to Palm Beach Gardens last Wednesday, they were requested to return with Zendzian at the specific request of counsel for the FP&L, "so he could be cross-examined." Zendzian was out of town last week and unable to accompany Brunton and Lindsley.

"We feel it is a tribute to the calibre of our rebuttal that the FP&L lawyer did not ask Zendzian one question," Brunton said.

The PSC hearings conclude Friday, and the agency must hand down a decision on the FP&L petition by July.

Brunton asked that consumers, whose electric bills would increase approximately thirty per cent if the FP&L request is granted, to send contributions to the Port St. Lucie Bank, c-o Coalition of Florida consumers. If people are unable to go to the bank themselves, he said, they may call any of the following telephone committee members, who will pick up contributions: Mrs. Virginia Ellsworth 334-1664 Vernon Forrar at 8781593 Harold Abbott 878-3294; Philip Thibeadeau at 878-3003 or Tony Mazzone at 465-8575.

Lionesses join eye bank month

PORT ST. LUCIE–Inasmuch as March has been designated as Eye Bank month, Lioness Clubs International have dedicated themselves to providing information relative to eye diseases such as glaucoma, cataracts, cornea transplants and particularly eye donations.

On the local scene, the Port St. Lucie Lions Club, augmented by the local Lioness organization, are directing their efforts toward making Eye Bank history.

The Port St. Lucie Lioness Club, organized just one year ago this month, has pledged to do its share in making Eye Bank month an important event on their calendar, according to President Mrs. Claude Grizzell.

With Mrs. Celia Levinson and Mrs. Anita White co-chairing, arrangements have been made for Lioness members to distribute information in the St. Lucie Shopping Plaza between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 25 and 26. Various Lioness members will man the station which will be located in front of the Winn-Dixie Food Store during the two day period.

All printed information to be dispensed on the Florida Eye Bank was supplied through the Bascom Palmer Eye Institute, a part of the University of Miami School of Medicine.

An interesting fact to note is eye donors range in age from 13 to 91 years.

Other Lioness members who will assist in the distribution are Mrs. Myrtle Grizzell, president; Mrs. Esther Hoffman, Mrs. Dorothy Skonberg, Mrs. Jean Lee Smith, Mrs. Helen Sohnle and Mrs. Lois Zinfer.

Elks Win in Pony Debut 7-6

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH—John Geraghty came in in relief of tired William Banks in the waning moments of Monday night's Pony League opener, and needed only four pitches to put the fire in the Elks Lodge edged Mosley Construction in six innings.

The game was one of four played Monday night, as the 1977 Mustang, Colt, Bronco and Pony League seasons got underway.

Geraghty, who had spent five-and-two-thirds innings behind the plate, had to be talked upon when Mosley mounted a late challenge in the sixth inning. The visitors scored one run off Banks, but left the tying run at third base in Craig Montgomery.

Five Elks crossed home plate during a furious first inning blitz which saw them take the early advantage. Mosely starter Bob Casey walked four batters in a row before Manager Don Wilkie decided to make a change. He settled on Montgomery, who pitched brilliantly after extracting his team from the brink of disaster in the first inning, as he struck out six Elks.

Mosely scored their first run of the season in the third inning when a bases-loaded walk to Scott Morrison forced in Al Mier. Then, in the fourth frame, they struck again. Casey smacked a double with the bases again filled, knocking in two runs and setting up two others. A hard shot to right field by Mo Casey produced those two tallies.

In between the Mosely outbursts, however, the Elks got two more runs of their own. A wild throw into left field by Mosely backstop Mo Casey allowed Ray Atkinson and Greg Socker to score what turned out to be the winning runs of the evening.

Mosley's sixth inning rally was launched when Bob Casey and Montgomery each drew walks. Casey stole from first to third, while Montgomery took second. Mo Casey then hit a sacrifice ground ball which sent his brother home, making the score 7-6. Heggie then walked to put men on first and third, but then, after Geraghty was called in, Rick Johnson struck out to end the battle.

In other action Monday night, Todd's got off to a roaring start in Bronco action, as they trounced Knights of Columbus, 11-1. Todd's used a hard-hitting offensive attack to score their first win of the year.

Pinto action saw Lawry Construction edge past Spanish Lakes 25-20, while in the Mustang opener, Rick Carrell Insurance squeeked out a 14-13 victory over Tri-County Gas in a real thriller.

Rick Carroll got off to a fast start, jumping to a 10-3 lead before seeing Tri-County stage a comeback. Two runs in the second and five in the third helped them close the gap to 13-10 after three innings, but it was their last-minute effort which made it close. Trailing 14-10, Tri-County scored three runs and loaded the bases before Bruce Tucker struck out the final two hitters.

The Mustang League's 1976 Player of the Year, Chuck Dixon, picked up where he left off last year with a third inning round tripper, as his team drew a total of twelve walks. Gary Hendry had a single and a triple for the losers in three trips, and Jackson Cargill smashed a double.

Action continues through Friday and resumes next Monday, as the four leagues play nightly doubleheaders on both the Vince Barchino Field 1 and the Cow Pasture Field 2.

Player of the week returns

JENSEN BEACH—Encouraged by the success of last year's Player of the Week series, The Mirror Sports Department will resume the awards beginning next week.

Each week, one player will be named as the Outstanding Player for the preceding week (Monday-Saturday) and several others will be mentioned as "also having outstanding performances." At the end of the season, points from the Player of the Week series will be tabulated, and a "Player of the Year" will be named in each of the four local leagues, and possibly the Colt League.

Winners of "Player of the Year" awards will be presented with trophies purchased by local businesses.

Venture Harbour News, by Jessie Slayer, Lot B-2.

The Art Show-Bake Sale-Craft Show-Flea Market on Saturday was a huge success. Local craftsmen had displays and were pleased with the show. Also, Venture Three residents who displayed their crafts and the ones who cleaned out their storage areas for Trash and Treasures did well.

The kitchen was efficiently run by Ernestine Pence, Doris Day and Lola Bauer, with Bud and Lou Frew taking over the grilling of hot dogs. The Bake Sale table was completely sold out very early.

As usual, trying to name each individual that helped so much would fill a column and I wouldn't want to miss a name because I did not write them down at the time, and so many people contributed and worked so hard. That is the spirit of Venture Three and it brings all of the residents very close and there is a wonderful friendship in the entire park. A special thanks to one of our maintenance men, Bill Moore, who was invaluable in helping before, during and after the affair.

In writing about the Venture Harbour Annual Dinner, somehow I omitted Yvonne Wianeke's name on the planning committee and I apologize.

Yvonne is the exercise class leader and is doing a good job. Besides leading the class every morning, she is always ready to help on outer projects.

Important reminder: if you have not signed up on the notice in Venture Three office or the one on the social news bulleting board in the rec hall to donate blood to Mary Ellyn Meacham's account at the Blood Bank, please do so at once as it is urgently needed.

Fran Tener had a card from Winnie Windlake telling of their trip to New Orleans and then to Texas, where friends from Port Arthur were joining Winnie and Tom and Sam Tucker for a trip into Mexico. They will return to Port Arthur, after which they will leave the friends and go to the Airstream Rally in Natchez, Mississippi, before returning to Venture Harbour.

Mark on your calendar the dates of March 28 and April 2.

Monday, March 28, is the date for the super-special pot luck dinner. Happy hour (HYOB) is planned for 5:30 p.m., dinner at 6, and then a tape dance afterward. If you feel festive and want to dress up, fine, and if not, come as usual. However, long skirts have been discussed. Sign up early.

April 2 is the final big affair before the park begins to empty for the summer. It will be a super-duper Beer Blast. Watch the bulletin board for more details and buy your tickets early.

Jackie Phillips, St. Lucie, reports:

A beautiful day, an exciting art show, a busy flea market, and a successful cake sale all added up to a memorable day for the park. All who helped to make it a success deserve many thanks.

We're sorry to report that Mary Ellen Meachum, rec director and the guiding light behind the flea market, could not see the fruits of her labor for she was in Martin Memorial Hospital.

It was a pleasant surprise for lots of us in the park to see so many talented artists in our midst. Six ribbons were given by the Indian River Community College judges. We can imagine how difficult it must have been to select six out of the 96 wonderful paintings.

These talented people received ribbons:

Beryl Roy of Holiday Out, best of show; Jan Dedaker, Venture Out St. Lucie, first prize; Virgil Smith, Holiday Out, second prize; Myrtle Adams, Venture Out Indian River, third prize. Honorable mentions went to Marge Owen and Mary Ellen Meachum, both of V.O. St. Lucie.

Swordfish Lane was agog with joy when our gal Marge came home with the exciting news that one of her favorite paintings had been awarded honorable mention. She was like a mother with her first-born! It was fun to join in her excitement.

The winners of the carved duck and planter drawing the day of the flea market were: Duck, W. Conner of lot 731; the planter, Eleanor Tolstrup of lot 903. Congratulations!

Keep in mind the Venture Out St. Lucie lot owners meeting at 2 p.m. Friday, April 1; and the Indian River lot owners meeting at 3 p.m. that same day.

A special plea: blood donors are needed to replenish blood given to Mary Ellen Meacham. Any type is accepted. Call the Blood Bank, 286-3444, for time to give blood.

Don and Nell Peterson of Sandia Drive had great pleasure in having their daughter Kay, from Montgomery Alabama, with them for two weeks.

Kay likes to rough it on camping trips, so the Petersons showed her the easy way of camping. They took Kay to the Keys and "roughed it" in their new Coachman.

Tom and Evelyn Horton, Harborview Drive, just returned from a cruise to Grande Kamaan and Jamaica with friends, Bernice and Silas Rutherford of Minneapolis. After a delightful trip aboard the Southward, the Rutherfords returned to Fort St. Lucie with the Nortons and visited here for a week before returning north.

Frank and Clara Clobus of Prima Vista Blvd. entertained Frank's sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. P.I. Brinker of Bellevue, Pa. (Bellevue is a suburb of Pittsburgh, and right next door to where I grew up in Avalon.)

While in Florida the Clobus' took the Brinkers to the Everglades. They all enjoyed this part of Florida and were impressed with all the activities there.

Margaret Hauseman of Solar Avenue entertained a long time friend, Ruth Lamberton of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Ruth enjoyed meeting Margaret's friends and the sunshine in Florida.

Gerry and Harold Casperson of Gasparilla Avenue were happy to see their long time friend, Dorothy Ride of Warren, Ohio. Dorothy is an annual visitor to Florida and saw many friends she has made on her visits here.

TOURNAMENT WINNERS--Winners of the recent Round Robin Tournament played by the Holiday Out Shuffleboard Club gathered at the courts Monday afternoon for pictures. Seated, left to right, with trophies in hand are Mrs. Olive Taylor, four place., Mrs. Lisbee Smith, third; and Mrs. Martha Lewis, second place winner. Standing, left to right, are fourth place winner Ed Storch; James Lewis, third place, and Elmer Dobson, who came in second.

Everyone must be getting healthier in the Florida sunshine as this is the first column that I haven't had to report someone in the hospital.

Charlie Cocarey is at his sister's recuperating after surgery, and Marcella McGinley is back home after a week stay at Martin Memorial.

Let's hope and pray everyone will stay that way, at least for the rest of the season.

Ruth Robinson received one of the best birthday presents ever last week. Her daughter and family dropped in on her special day, coming all the way from Iowa. It was a complete surprise to Ruth.

Helen Githens also had a birthday on March 16 and was the lucky winner of the birthday cake and other goodies from radio station WSTU. Guests for the evening, to help her eat the cake and celebrate the big day, were her daughter and son-in-law, Bunny and John DiStefano and two granddaughters, Eileen and Regina; also, Mrs. Roy Marks, Bill Worner and Ann Baker.

My husband had a birthday, too, and I gave him a very nice present. I had my hair cut and a permanent -- something a little different for the man who has everything.

There were 26 ladies present at Hobby on March 14. Hostesses were Helen Wilson and Virginia Bullis, and they served a very tasty gelatin salad from a table decorated with the St. Patrick's Day theme.

Thirty-six ladies attended the March 15 luncheon at Ocean Village. Understand it took longer to settle the bill than to eat the lunch a little misunderstanding somewhere along the line.

Wesley Jones of North Fort Myers dropped by recently to see Walt Knuth. "Jonesy" was a resident of the park many years ago.

Lauren Drake and Lynnette Huss of Ft. Lauderdale also were here for the day visiting their grandparents, Walt and Millie Knuth. Since Walt's surgery earlier this year, his appetite hasn't been as good as usual so his granddaughter brought him all sorts of goodies to perk it up.

After the very delicious roast beef dinner, George LeBon presented the entertainment: solos by Nancy Colby Blomsley and Charlie Pierce; humorous stories by Tom Elliott; and a telephone dialogue between Irma Fair and Margaret Hindman that was hilarious. Then, to wind up the great event, George LeBon sang to the accompaniment of Al Forest at the piano and Dick Aumiller on his guitar to close with a sing-along. A rousing ovation was given to Bill Jones and his hard working committee.

Did you miss us? We'er back ..

Did you miss seeing our news in The Mirror last week? Of course you did! The reason: Nettie Keefen (Celia Barr, Bessie Kieper and I were aboard the Monarch Sun on a cruise arranged by Sis Bongiorni of the Jensen Beach Travel Service, which left Miami Sunday afternoon and, after two days of delightful cruising in the Caribbean, docked at San Juan, Puerto Rico, where we took a sight-seeing bus tour, ending up at El Condado and its thoroughly enjoyable "Cabaret."

Our next port was Charlotte Amalie in St. Thomas, where the view from the top of one of the many mountains, reached by winding, narrow, almost perpendicular roads, was spectacular. We couldn't get used to our bus driving on the "wrong" side of the road, but appreciated the stops it made so we could feast our eyes on the exquisite scenery. The shopping was great, and we all went on a shopping spree in this tax-free island.

St. Barts came next, and we were kept hopping because there was no, real sidewalk and we shared the road with two-way traffic. The priest at a lovely Episcopal church we visited gave us directions to a pretty beach where we found some sheels different from ours. We passed through a schoolyard to reach it and were intrigued by the sounds of lessons being taught in French.

Our last port was St. Maartens, where we left some more dollars and acquired a Dutch cheese. Other than at San Juan, the ship anchored out in the harbor and we were "tenderized" to and from the island - a very merry experience indeed.

There was constant entertainment on board, and the food would please a gourmet. We played Trivia, Password, did a crossword puzzle and took chances, thus winning seven prizes. The Grandmothers' Tea was a highlight - the tea was non-existent, but there was plenty of champagne. We also learned to do what our mainly British orchestra called "Bus Stop" and we call "The Hustle."

Another highlight was the Captain's Gala, and because Bessie's birthday was on the twelfth, we arranged for a birthday cake and, with its arrival, the maitre'd, bus boys and waiters gathered around to sing "Happy Birthday" in which everybody joined. We had a ball, and it only took us two days to get our land legs back.

ED OXYGEN–The first step given to a victim rescued the surf is oxygen. Here, Lifeguard Jimbo Shipes, Chief Lifeguard Jack Cammack and Lifeguard Joe Greenwald administer the oxygen to "victim" Chris Taiani.

Rescue

Beach team practices

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH–Lifeguards who protect bathers at beaches around the world have scores of unique methods of getting beyond a crashing surf to rescue victims who have been swept away from the beach.

The Australians use boats with four men pulling at long oars to get through their large surf. Most lifeguards merely swim to their victims with a floatation device.

Martin County Lifeguards have used their long years of experience and have come up with a tool some regard as a mere recreational instrument. It is the surfboard.

According to Chief Lifeguard Jack Cammack the board allows the guards to reach a victim more swiftly than even the fastest swimmer. The boards, set along the beach at strategic places, can be reached at a moments notice and launched with a minimum of effort.

"I can safely say using a surfboard is better than anything else," Lifeguard Chris Taiani said. "In light to moderate surf they are much, much better and much faster. If I have to revover a body I can get there quicker than if I were just swimming."

"Its a faster method of getting to the victim," Lifeguard Captain Joe Greenwald said. "In rough surf you can go over the waves instead of just through them. Its also good for administering resuscitation in the water because there is a hard surface to put the victim on."

The Martin Lifeguards go through a rigorous training program each day, running on the beach, doing exercises and performing simulated drownings. There are eight full-time guards at the three county beaches of Jensen, Stuart and Hobe Sound, but Chief Lifeguard Jack Cammack said he can hire more reserve guards as beach demands grow. One recent weekend boasted more than 2,800 people at the three beaches, an all-time record.

"I have permission from the county commission that if I need extra persons to protect the public, I can put them on," Cammack said. "I can't expect the public to pitch in when someone is in trouble."

TO THE RESCUE–Martin County Lifeguard Teddy Pace shows good form aboard a surfboard as he heads for "victim" Chris Taiani at Jensen Beach. The lifeguards practice daily drills to keep fit and ready for surf emergencies.

Ninety dozen eggs are readied for hunt

JENSEN BEACH–What would you do with a dozen eggs?

Well, the Jensen Beach Fire Department is not planning on feeding breakfast to everyone in Jensen Beach.

Instead its 10th annual Easter Egg Hunt at Langford Park on Saturday, April 2 and the Women's Auxiliary is now making plans for coloring all the plastic orbs on Friday and members are asked to be there to help.

The Auxiliary will be at the park at 9 a.m. Saturday to register participants. The hunt is expected to start at 10 a.m.

There will be four separate age groups. The first, ages one and two years, must be accompanied by a parent. The second group will be children from three to five years of age.

The third will be from six to eight years, and the fourth, from nine to ten. There will be prizes for each group.

In case of rain, the hunt will be held on April 9.

E.C. Wareheim is named president of hospital board

STUART–The Martin Memorial Hospital Board of Directors last week elected its new slate of officers for the year 1977. The new officers were named at the annual meeting.

They are as follows: E.C. Wareheim, president; Les Combs, first vice president; William Oughterson, second vice president; Mrs. W.A.C. Miller III, secretary; and William E. Owens, treasurer.

In addition to the new officers, two new members were named to the board. They are Alvin Hendry and Clinton Towl.

Inlet improvements get boost

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN ISLAND–The St. Lucie Inlet project, long a subject of controversy among citizens of Martin County, is one step closer to reality.

Rep. Congressman L.A. "Skip" Bafalis will ask the Public Works Appropriations Subcommittee for $1 million in funds to begin the first phase of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers plan to deepen and improve the inlet.

Bafalis is seeking the funds in the public works budget for fiscal year 1978 which will begin on Oct. 1, according to a news press aide Jack McDavitt in Washington.

The plan, which is to be completed and funded in phases, has been estimated at $3 million to $6 million.

McDavitt reported the Corps is about to wrap up its engineering study of the inlet. If the $1 million request passes the senate and the house, then the only step left will be the actual first phase construction of the inlet which could occur in 1978, he said.

McDavitt added that there is one problem in that the money for the construction of the inlet was not included in either President Gerald Ford's or Jimmy Carter's budgets. President Carter has said he is going to take a closer look at all public works bills with approval of only the most important ones. McDavitt said he thinks the project has a chance of approval by the president because of its emergency situation and lack of opposition.

"There is little or no opposition to the St. Lucie Inlet Project," McDavitt said.

Plans for improving the inlet because of shallowing have been continuing for many years but are recently more pressing due to the danger of navigating the inlet. Several months ago a sportfishing boat sank and broke up in the inlet and just last weekend, three men had to be rescued when their small boat capsized in the rough seas caused by the shallow water. Boats run aground daily.

Each year Martin County budgets thousands of dollars for temporary dredging of the inlet, but winter seas have traditionally filled it in. Nearly $1 million of Martin County funds is budgeted for inlet improvement.

The Corps' plan of rebuilding the jetty on the north of the inlet and construction of a new one on the south end is expected to end the shoaling.

REVIEW–A glimpse of the St. Lucie Inlet from the air shows the existing jetty at the north side of the inlet. One problem over the years has been that erosion of the existing jetty has allowed sand to drift through from the north to fill in the channel. Attempts to maintain a deep channel have been usually foiled by winter tides.

Senator's rep to visit in area

JENSEN BEACH–Senator Lawton Chiles' assistant, Tom Hayes, will visit this area on Wednesday, April 6.

"I know many people have delays and mixups, particularly with Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid," the senator noted.

"Often, we can deal directly with the agencies in Washington and slice through the red tape or the breakdown in communications. But we can't be of assistance unless the individual calls on us."

The senator's district assistant will be available in Stuart at the City Hall from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. From 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., he will be at the Ocean Breeze Park Town Hall, Jensen Beach, and from 3 to 4 p.m. at the Sewall's Point Town Hall.

The senator's South Florida office is in Room 931, Federal Building, 51 S.W. 1st Avenue, Miami. Phone - 350-4891.

Paska's performing pachyderms coming

STUART–Paska's Performing Pachyderms! That is the ringmaster's way of introducing Rick Paska and the herd of performing elephants with Hoxie's Great American Circus. This famous big top's arena, complete with elephants and all, is coming to Stuart on April 6 and 7, with 6 and 8 p.m. performances at the Martin County High School grounds.

Hoxie's Great American Circus for 1977 is featuring the only seal act with any circus in America. In addition, there is Miss Jennier on the high trapeze; the Billy Gunga Family from Indian, with sensational balancing feats; Buck Nolan, the world's tallest clown; Jim Royal and Company, master illusionist; Miss Beverly, lovely aerial artist; and many other great circus acts.

single lane bridge to Mandalay Island at the south end of Sewall's Point, proposed by Les Combs.

The bridge is planned to be built of wooden timbers and will stretch for 240 feet from Sewall's Point Road to Mandalay Island on the Indian River.

The bridge will provide access to two proposed homesites on the three-acre island.

According to Combs, the island will be left in its natural state and there will be no filling.

Combs, last year, received a letter of no objection from the Town of Sewall's Point to construct the bridge.

The Coast Guard asks that public comment on the construction of the bridge be submitted in writing to the State of Florida Department of Environmental Regulation, 2562 Executive Center Circle East, Montgomery Building, Tallahassee, FL 32301.

Two Jensen Beach residents are charged in robbery

STUART–Two Jensen Beach residents have been arrested by the Stuart Police Department in connection with the armed robbery of the Publix Food Store in Stuart on March 8.

Jan Allen Cutler, 20, of 20 S. Savannah Road, and Roberta Kay Knight, also 20 and of the same address, were arrested March 26 after a car driven by Cutler was located after fleeing the scene of a traffic accident on A-1-A.

Cutler, also a suspect in Fort Pierce and Michigan armed robberies, was charged with armed robbery, leaving the scene of an accident, driving without a proper driver's license, without a proper tag, and careless driving.

Miss Knight was charged with accessory after the fact to armed robbery.

A third suspect, Ronald Pennington, 24, of Palm City, was arrested Monday in Marlinton, West Virginia. He is to be returned to Stuart for charges, according to Stuart Detective Walt Parsons.

Whitacar wins 'Best of Show'

STUART–Jensen Beach photographer John Whitacar won the "best of show" award last weekend at the Conquistador Second Annual LaGrande Fine Arts Show.

Whitacar's color landscapes and water scenes showed vibrant color and clearly stood out as some of the finest work exhibited in the show, according to a number of local artists who acted as judges in the show.

More than 1,400 persons filed through the Conquistador Clubhouse to view the work of 16 local and internationally acclaimed artists.

A numbered collector print of artist Richard Evans Younger entitles "Beach Peeps" was won by Elsie Williams of Coquistador. The print was framed and donated by the co-sponsors of the show, Alice and Charles Rezak, owners of the Stuart Gallery.

The top painters of the show were Younger and famed Maritime painter Chick Allen.

Thirteen local artists were exhibited in the show; among them being Carol Kepp, a landscape artist from Port St. Lucie.

Fort Salerno Sculptor Richard Friscia was awarded second place among the judging. Palm City artist Ed Stevenson won first place in all colors and honorable mentions went to Ru Andrews, and Parrish Richardson Joe Worders of Stuart and Tom Prestopnik of Port St. Lucie.

Bedell, Hennings exchange vows

SEWALL'S POINT–In a lovely setting of white flowers and ferns, Debra Antonia Hennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Hennings of Sewall's Point, and Michael William Bedell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bedell, Sewall's Point, were joined in marriage Saturday, March 19, at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Stuart.

Officiating clergymen for the double ring ceremony were Reverend Matthew Morgan and Reverend Allen R. Stuart Muse was provided by Mrs. de Paul.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long dress of Quiana with re-embroidered, beaded Alencon lace, long bishop sleeves with Alencon lace cuffs, a modified keyhole neckline and chapel length train. Her flowers were phalaenopsis orchids with four rosebuds, the colors of her waist-length chiffon veil which was attached to a beaded Juliette crown.

Diane A. Hennings served as her sister's maid of honor and Rebecca S. Searles, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Pamela S. Bedell and Nancy B. Wacha. The attendants' gowns were blue polyester jersey with spaghetti straps, covered by mock turtle neck capes of chiffon edged in matching blue ribbon. Each carried a different colored, long stemmed rose.

Stephen W. Bedell, brother of the groom, was the best man, and Robert B. Bedell, Hutchinson Island;, Paul J. Hennings, Jr., Sewall's Point; and Warner R. Wacha, Jensen Beach, were the ushers.

Mrs. Hennings chose a long pink chiffon dress with long sleeves for her daughter's wedding. Her flowers were white phalanopsis orchids. Mrs. Bedell wore a long blue, green and pink chiffon dress, with long sleeves, and a white cattleya orchid.

A reception followed in Hoke Community Hall, which was beautifully decorated with palms, Easter lilies and ferns. Mrs. Robert Gotron served, and bridesmaids Nancy Wacha and Pam Bedell served the cake.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carl of Islip, Long Island, New York; and Mr. and Mrs. B.H. Schwartz, Silver Spring, Maryland.

Following a wedding trip to the Florida Keys, the newlyweds are at home in Gainesville, Florida, where Bedell is a student at the University of Florida.

Ambulance fund drive nets $3442.62

JENSEN BEACH–An ambulance fund drive was conducted by Edye and Jack Adams at Nettles Island this month. The island was sectioned off and a volunteer assigned to each one.

The collection totaled $3642.62. The Women's Club gave an additional $500 and the Men's Club gave $300, bringing the total to $3442.62 from Nettles Island.

Workers stated that Nettles Islanders appreciate the free service for emergencies and were pleased to contribute to such a worthwhile organization as the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc.

Orchid Show: a taste of Spring

STUART–"A Taste of Spring" is the theme of the annual Orchid Show to be given by the Martin County Orchid Society on Palm Sunday, April 3, from 2 to 5 p.m.

The public is invited to the free event to be held at the home and gardens of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Stafford at 585 S.E. St. Lucie Boulevard (near the Crary Bridge in Snug Harbor), and refreshments will be served.

There will be a drawing for a blooming orchid plant.

Mrs. Stafford and Robert Krause are co-chairmen for the arrangements.

OVERBURDENED taxpayer [illegible] be a lot easier if there were [illegible] dedicated department heads like [illegible] County Clerk of Circuit Court, [illegible] Isaacs. By simply not hiring a [illegible]ssistant for Vivian Andrews, [illegible] Finance director who retired this [illegible] Mrs. Isaacs will save Martin [illegible] $12,000. Her explanation was [illegible] very sure. "You think because [illegible]'s there, you've got to replace [illegible]," she said. "I see no need for this [illegible] to be a finance director."

[illegible] that all department heads, from [illegible]evel to the local level, would think [illegible] way. With an overwhelming [illegible] of bureaucrats in this country [illegible] to perpetuate themselves by [illegible] unnecessary personnel, Mrs. [illegible]words came as a breath of fresh [illegible] hopefully, will be picked up and [illegible]ed by others in like positions.

THE PROPOSED BAN on alcoholic [illegible]ges on our county beaches from 9 [illegible] 9 a.m. does not go far enough in [illegible]mation. I think that, like other [illegible]es up and down the coast, there [illegible]ld be a complete ban on all alcoholic [illegible]ages at all times on our beaches. [illegible] like a brew now and then as well [illegible]e next guy, but also feel that there is [illegible]ne and place for everything. [illegible]ose can't enjoy a few relaxing hours [illegible] at the beach without a can of beer or [illegible]whatever in his or her hand, I think that [illegible]t may be time for a bit of self examination.

Further, children emulate their elders. Many of the bad habits of some of the younger element may have begun by observing that their parents or relatives feel that it is necessary to drink to enjoy oneself.

Then there's the hoodlum element that is ever in our midst who, upon given an inch, take the proverbial mile. Does anyone think that at the magic stroke of 9 p.m. they are going to automatically obey the law? If anyone does, then anyone is extremely naive.

Also, there's the matter of enforcement. With our Sheriff's patrol spread pretty thin as it is, it is difficult for me to see them forsaking law enforcement in all parts of the county to head for the beaches at 9 p.m. to see that the ban against drinking is being adhered to. There is only one way to handle the matter, and that is a complete ban on drinking at the beaches at all times.

BESIDES THE HOODLIGANISM the principal culprit in the beach problem seems to be the throw-away bottle and can. When in the name of common sense is the State of Florida going to put a halt to the litter that blots not only our beaches but our landscape as well by making mandatory the returnable bottle.

The hue and cry of the beverage industry that it would raise the price of its product is just so much malarky. The next time you're in a supermarket, price the comparable beverage in the non-returnable bottles to that of the returnable. You will find the non-returnable six pack is at least twenty cents higher than the returnable. That kind of washes that argument down the drain.

Another factor, and a most important one, is the cost of not only collecting the litter caused by non-returnable containers, but also the cost to the taxpayer of disposing of same. With our state government now pondering the imposition of new taxes, I should think it would take a long hard look at ways of saving money and the banning of the non-returnable container would be one.

SPEAKING OF RIP-OFFS, a blindred spirit from Raleigh, North Carolina, bought a "foot long hotdog" at a local chain and, upon getting home, found that it only measured eight and a half inches on a ten inch bun. He promptly wrote a letter to the State Consumer Protection Office rightly complaining that he had been short changed.

The Wiener King Corporation, seller of the diminutive frankfurter, responded typically that the term "foot long" was merely that and in no case did they claim that the "foot long" represented 12 inches. Nothing daunted, our hero filed a class action suit and was informed by the attorney for Wiener King that although the company had done nothing wrong, to avoid further controversy on the matter they were retooling their machines to make sure that a hot dog which is 12 inches long at the time of production will be supplied to the Wiener King Restaurants.

Now there is a man after my own heart and is an example of what an aroused citizen can do when he objects to being short changed or "hot dogged" if you will.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I was very surprised to read in your paper that the Martin County beaches have not had restrictions on alcohol usage on the beach. I have been a resident (part-time) there for several years and had assumed the beaches were operated like most other places where restrictions on alcohol and beach usage at certain hour were in effect for many years.

I was a superintendent of probably the heaviest used state park beach in the greater Chicago area back in the 60's. If the season was warm and sunny, there was seldom a Sunday or holiday that we did not have up to 17,000 people cramming the park. I found in my first year that booze and water did not mix in that regard, as it seemed that a great share of the public seemed to lose good sense as to disposal of debris and garbage.

The first big holiday (Memorial weekend) resulted in over 15 big truckloads of trash being hauled off that beautiful Dunes beach, including much broken glass which resulted in many, many cut feet - some very serious. As a result, we instituted complete prohibition of alcohol and when that did not work, resorted to guards inspecting coolers, knapsacks, etc., and confiscated any such beverages found. It was amazing to see the difference in the appearance of the beach, though it took a great deal of policing to keep it that way. This included arming the guards with 45's to enforce it against would-be hoodlums.

I realize you may not have the same element there but, with the great increase in population, the same is bound to inherit a certain percent of vandals and even criminals.

Regarding the posted 9 p.m. closing for alcohol, it likely will not solve the problem. We found that our greatest problem was either during a very busy Sunday or holiday, with the result that before dark the beach was completely littered and it seemed at times that people purposely smashed bottled and left strewn glass in the sand. The ruling out of alcohol on the beach has been in constant effect ever since and, to my knowledge, this is the policy on most major beaches. Incidentally, for the record, we had up to 15 lifeguards with never a drowning in the patroled area in the years that I was superintendent, and other superintendents reported the same, after the ban on alcohol was placed - as alcohol does enhance a chance of drownings.

Respectfully submitted,
Max E. Dickey
Ventura Harbour

P.S. The above was written while I was home (in Indiana) on business for a few days. I had not been off the plane 30 minutes when I discovered the wire rims on my car had been "ripped off" (only two of them as someone must have scared the thieves off) and in a large public space for parking in West Palm Beach, in broad daylight.

The next day I started to warn a neighbor who had like rims on a similar car and he stated he had all his rims ripped off a few days before, in broad daylight at the House of Refuge area. Yes, you do have criminals in this area as that amount is more than petty theft. And it no doubt will get worse, perhaps to the point where you area your beach guards as we had to do.

He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Florida Bar and Martin County Bar Association, director of the Sertoma Club of Martin County, and vice president of the Port Salerno Volunteer Fire Department. Cameron and his wife, Marion, reside on Cardinal Way in Stuart.

IR Drive elects

JENSEN BEACH–At its annual meeting held last week, the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association elected Joseph L. Avigne president for the coming year.

The Association, which covers the area along Indian River Drive from Fort Pierce to Martin County, also elected John B. Mack vice president; Florence Teal, secretary; and Ruth Kramer, treasurer.

The following were elected members of the board of directors: Carl Herzog, Robert Mayer, Jack Hopkins and William Adair. Ralph M. Houston was appointed director pro tem.

In announcing the next meeting date of Thursday, April 21, Avigne stated that he had appointed a program committee consisting of Doris Ogden, Margaret Houston and Rita Marconis, with Mrs. Marconis serving as hostess for the April meeting. A zoning committee, consisting of Don Hoot and Ruth Kramer, and a beautification committee, consisting of Edna Sims and Ann Hicks, were also appointed.

By motions adopted at the March meeting, the president was requested to contact the County Commission and the Sheriff concerning illegal vehicular activity in the Savannas, and speeding along Indian River Drive.

Tennis rankings show increase in localites

JENSEN BEACH--The latest rankings of Florida Tennis Association have been released, and local participation in the area level shows why the sport has been becoming more and more popular in the area.

Jack Froehling, former Sandpiper tennis professional, was ranked second in the 45-open out of 117 players in Florida. Froehling's men's 35-singles. Dr. James Hinkle was ranked number 21, Hinckle was ranked 10, and Bill Peterson 11, and Dick Campbell 38 in men's 45-singles.

Jean Bartlett and Grossnickle and Peterson were ranked sixth.

In women's tennis, Salli Campbell was ranked 18 in women's 35-singles, and tied with Jean Sochet for number 30 ranking in women's 35-doubles.

Women's Golf

PORT ST. LUCIE--Blind partners was the theme of the game for the Port St. Lucie Women's Golf Association 18-hole game played on the Saints Court of Sandpiper Bay.

Ann Stabler and Mary Jacobi tied for first place with Anna Fisher and Helen Kennelly scoring 164. Ida Moses and Helen Kennelly finished second with 172. The whole group played low gross on the back nine of the Saints Course, with Ann Stroble coming first with a 64.

Last weekend, in the Royal Palm Beach Tournament, Campbell and Sochet won the women's doubles event, defeating Ruth Barnett and Alice Marshall of Palm Beach Gardens, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Youngsters got a chance to represent the area in the rankings.

*Dennis Rinaldi was ranked 13 in boys' 18-singles. Pat McFarland was ranked 102 in boys' 16-singles, Tina Rinaldi was ranked 38 in girls' 16-singles, and Kathy Rinaldi was ranked 33 in girls' 19-and-under.

PSL Women's Golf Association

PORT ST. LUCIE--It was low-putts and first on the green for the Port St. Lucie Women's Golf Association on Wednesday, March 23, at the Saints Course of Sandpiper Bay.

In the 18-hole group, Ann Bezarth was first in low putts with 36 and Kay Stabler second with a 37.

Honors for first on the green was a three-way tie for first place, with Kay Stabler, Helen Conklin and Ann Bozarth having 10 points. Ann Fisher finished second with 8 points.

In the 9-hole group, Aletha Legge was first with 20 putts and Marietta Snee, with 22 points, finished second.

Snee won first place for first on the green with 5 points and a tie for second place went to Aletha Legge and Izella Stroble.

Weigt wins first Player of the week

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH--Ralph Weigt had not pitched in junior baseball for more than two years, but Coach Don Wilkie felt he would be able to handle the mound duties against the Kiwanis Club last Thursday night in a key Pony League game.

Well, not only did Weigt hold his own on the mound, he pitched brilliantly, striking out eleven Kiwanians while walking only two en route to a solid 6-2 victory.

In return for his heroics on the mound (he also had a double which broke the game open in the sixth inning), Weigt receives the first Jensen Mirror Player of the Week award for 1977.

The Mosely player, who had been known more for the strange spelling of his last name than for anything else until now, did not have a particularly good game in his other outing, in which he did not pitch. This made this week's award very hard to determine because a few Bronco League players enjoyed great weeks at the bat.

Mark Sands, VFW's power hitter, went four-for-seven in his two outings, including a double, triple and home run. His homer gave VFW a quick lead against league-leading Rio Civic, but his team lost the game 11-10.

Another "honorable mention" goes to a pair of players from Todd's Restaurant and the Bronco League. Todd Laycock and Richie Lord combined to hold Ray Cooke to a pair of runs en route to a thrilling 3-2 victory. In addition, it was Laycock who reached base in the final inning and scored the winning run on a ground ball by (who else?) Lord.

Finally, Daryl Baker enjoyed a good week, going three-for-three against Rio Civic in an 18-3 loss, including a double. And in an 11-1 loss to Todd's, Baker scored the only Knights of Columbus run when he smacked a fourth inning home run.

The Player of the Week award is presented each week by The Mirror Sports Department, which makes the final decision on winners.

GROUND CLEARED--Ground was cleared this week for the construction of the $700,000 Village Square Shopping Center to be located on U.S. 1, approximately one-half mile south of the Spanish Lakes entrance. The developer of the center, Richard Welshans of Port St. Lucie, anticipates the center will be open this fall, probably in September. The facility will provide adequate space for 15 to 17 businesses when completed.

Haughton succeeds Bramley as PSL Bank president

PORT ST. LUCIE--In an announcement made Tuesday, it was learned that Herbert D. Haughton has been named president of the Port St. Lucie Bank. The appointment will become effective April 14, according to a bank spokesman.

Haughton will replace C.A. Bramley, Jr., who has served in that capacity since the local banking facility was opened in 1973.

HERBERT D. HAUGHTON

While Bramley will retire from management activities, he will continue his close interest in, and association with, the bank, serving as a director and as chairman of the Investment Committee.

"While we welcome Haughton as a capable replacement, we are very happy to have Mr. Bramley remain active with our board and we deeply regret that he is withdrawing from active day-to-day management of the bank's affairs," said William H. Kyle, chairman of the board.

An experienced banker, Haughton now occupies a senior management post as executive vice president of the First National Bank in Howell, Michigan, where he has been employed for the past nine years.

He is a graduate of Cleary College and the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

The Haughtons have visited in Port St. Lucie and are looking forward to becoming active in the business and social life in the community.

Easter Egg Hunt slated for April 10

PORT ST. LUCIE--The seventeenth annual Easter Egg Hunt will be held Sunday, April 10, starting at 2 p.m.

The affair, jointly sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, General Development Corporation and the PSL Homeowners Association, will be held at the North Port Marina.

Those competing in the hunt will be divided into four age groups, 1 to 4, 5 and 6, 7 and 8, 9 and 10 years of age.

Colorfully decorated eggs and candy will be carefully hidden for the hunt. The Easter Bunny will be on hand to make certain every participant receives and egg and candy.

Assisting the Easter Bunny will be members of the Junior Woman's Club and their husbands.

Those serving on the Easter Egg Hunt committee include Mrs. Valarie Johnson, Mrs. Marilyn Decor, Mrs. Wanda Engledow, Mrs. Joan Eastman, Mrs. Linda Heckendorn, Mrs. Bonnie Reed and Mrs. Ellen Fox.

Construction slated in May on $700,000 shopping center

PORT ST. LUCIE--With a projected completion date of September, 1977, the land was cleared this week for the construction of the $700,000 Village Square Shopping Center to be located on U.S. 1, approximately one-half mile south of the Spanish Lakes entrance. Construction is slated to commence in May, according to Jim Love, general manager of A to Z Realty, who is handling the rentals for the new center. "We anticipate a September completion, providing the environmental impact people don't drag their feet too much," Love said, adding, "The only snag at this point is the final approval of the sewage treatment plant."

Love said all the necessary forms have been filed with the Environmental Protection Agency and no delay in receiving a stamp of approval is anticipated.

The 20,000 square foot, L-shaped facility will provide adequate space for as many as 17 businesses, according to the developer of the project, Richard Welshans of Port St. Lucie. The property on which the center is to be built will provide a 740-foot frontage on U.S. 1.

At present, the facility is 65 per cent leased, but Love said there are still rental spaces available for as little as $320 per month.

"We have turned down a number of opportunities to rent because we do not especially want the 'quick food' type business," Love said, referring to the convenience food store chains and small sandwich shops.

"I feel these type businesses have a tendency to attract the type crowds we do not want in the new center. We are looking for good boutiques, men's shops, and women's shops.

"We are basically interested in providing the services for the residents of Port St. Lucie that are needed, and I am a firm believer the area is big enough to support these things," Love said.

With the continued growth of the south county area, the demand for local services is ever increasing.

While all work on the center is being contracted locally, Love did say the developer went to out-of-town financing of the project because local financial institutions claimed there "is too much green in Port St. Lucie" or they wanted 100 per cent rental commitments before they would consider it.

One of the first to sign up for space was Charlie Groome who owns and operates Jensen Beach Floor Covering.

Other commitments include a bakery outlet, beauty shop, an ultra-modern coin laundry, title insurance firm, drapery store, a real estate office, a delicatessen and a restaurant, according to Love.

While the $700,000 facility has been described a "phase one" of the project, neither Love or Welshans is willing at this time to discuss anything beyond the first phase.

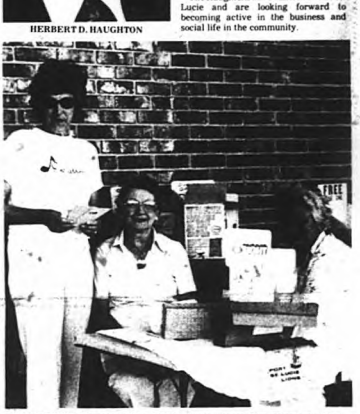
St. Andrews plans services

PORT ST. LUCIE--The regular Sunday services of St. Andrew Lutheran Church in Port St. Lucie are held at 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m., with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., and Adult Sunday School at 9:45 a.m.

All women of the church are invited to help make palm crosses for Palm Sunday on Saturday, April 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the church.

The Maundy Thursday, April 7, Communion services will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Reverend, W.H. Winkler's sermon at both services will be "The Way of Commitment."

Good Friday worship services will be held at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to all services.



VOLUNTEERS--Members of the Port St. Lucie Lioness Club volunteered their services March 25 and 26 to man a booth and distribute information relative to eye diseases and the Eye Bank. Shown above, Mrs. Sally Mamele, left, received literature from Lioness members Mrs. Jean Lee Smith and Mrs. Ellen Sohnle. The Lionesses report a number of pledges being filled out during the two-day period by local residents.

Richmond Homes opening Sunday in Port St. Lucie

PORT ST. LUCIE--Four new model homes, designed by award-winning home designer Ruth Richmond, will be featured in the opening of General Development Corporation's new model home display Sunday in Port St. Lucie.

Workmen, trucks and landscapers worked feverishly through the week to prepare for the Sunday opening.

Ruth Richmond, who has won 14 national awards for design excellence, has a company that has built 900 homes a year between Naples and Bradenton on Florida's west coast. She offers 30 different designs in a broad range of prices.

Jack Sheridan, sales manager of GDC's Florida communities, said Monday that the company decided to market the new line in Port St. Lucie after a twelve month test period at Port Charlotte on Florida's west coast.

"Ruth Richmond knows what women want in quality homes," Sheridan said. "Her designs reflect the homemaker's point of view."

Sheridan added that the Sarasota-based firm would feature four homes, titled the "Merida," the "Aruba," the "Plus-Two," and "Your Choice," which have been proven performers in the Richmond line.

All homes offer two and three bedrooms with two baths.

Parents unhappy with School Board plan

PORT ST. LUCIE--While their plans have a long way from being completed at this juncture, the parents of Port St. Lucie Elementary School children are expecting to present several alternatives to the St. Lucie County School Board in regard to the Board's recent decision to bus the third and fifth graders from the local school next fall.

The Port St. Lucie school was built in early 1975. It was designed to house 720 students in grades kindergarten through five.

When the doors opened in 1976 there were 670 students enrolled and by 1980, that enrollment has climbed to 1,000.

Because of the obvious over-crowded conditions, the School Board decided last fall to bus fourth and fifth grade students from the local facility to the St. Lucie Middle School on Virginia Avenue in Fort Pierce.

The School Board has mandated that to have a 25-1 pupil-teacher ratio, some some other alternative is found. Approximately 280 students will be bussed and fourth grade in Port St. Lucie will be moved at the beginning of the next term, leaving only about 530 students attending the local school.

One of the alternatives expected to be presented by the parents at the April School Board meeting include double sessions, transporting the fourth and fifth graders to the White City Elementary School, or building a new elementary school in Port St. Lucie.

Port St. Lucie Principal Victor Blackmer pointed out several problems with the alternatives thus far being discussed.

He pointed out the White City Elementary is paired with Lawnwood Elementary School in Fort Pierce for attendance purposes.

As for the double session idea, Blackmer said problems would be created in families where both parents work away from home. However, he did indicate he thought double sessions could be worked out if that were the only alternative.

To build another elementary school in Port St. Lucie would cost in the neighborhood of $2 million, according to school officials. The present school was constructed at a cost of $1.5 million just three years ago.

To construct a new school through local taxes would require a county-wide referendum and, according to the school's Finance Director Fred See, it would not be too likely county residents would be eager to approve a second school in Port St. Lucie since that school would serve only south county residents.

PSL Republican Club to hold dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE--The April 7 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Republican Club will be a dinner meeting. In charge of the event is Mrs. Sabetta, who announced that the dinner will be kept in the Easter theme.

Speakers at the meeting will be Tim Baer of the Florida Conservative Union. Baer is executive director for that group and will give a presentation on what is happening in the legislature.

Ms. Ann Decker, aide to Congressman L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, will give a presentation on "How to Write Your Congressman."

Advance tickets for the dinner meeting are available from Sabetta at 878-0184, or from June Johnston, 878-2412. Price of the tickets is $3.25.

The PSL Republican Club had a booth at the Open House for Newcomers at the Community Center. The purpose of the booth was to advise people of the GOP club in this area. Helen Everett and Dorothy Brunton manned the booth, while Eddie Rogers registered new memberships. Frances Lee was there to assist, and June Johnston decorated the booth.

The May 5 meeting will feature a membership drive, with all members asked to bring a new member. The Membership Committee is headed by Dr. Claude Grizzell. A beach party is tentatively scheduled for June.

The PSL Republican Club meets the first Thursday of the month at the Community Center. All are welcome.

Easter program at PSL Library

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Branch Library is planning a special Easter program for children ages 4 through 10. The program will include stories, games, and a flannel-board Easter story.

The program will start at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 6.

The library will be closed during the program. Patrons wishing to return books at that time may use the book drop located in the rear door of the library.

Anglers to celebrate 17th anniversary

PORT ST. LUCIE--Tuesday, April 5 is a red letter day for members of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club.

Dick Leiberth will serve as the master of ceremonies for the evening as the group celebrates the seventeenth anniversary of their organization.

Special ceremonies will honor all past presidents and the original organizers of the club.

The affair will be held at the North Port Marina starting at 7:30 p.m.

PRESENTATION--Local artist Mahlon Cline presented Mrs. Vivian Mingus, a ten year member of the Rio Lindo Garden Club, with a lovely oil painting on behalf of garden club members. Mrs. Mingus will be leaving the area soon to make her home on the west coast of Florida. Mrs. Cline, right, president of the Garden Club, looks on.

Council turns thumbs down on smokestacks in Martin

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

STUART–In an effort to attract clean industry to Martin County and boost the number of existing job slots, the Martin County Economic Development Council has set a $15,000 budget to reach these goals.

The Council, the former Martin County Resources Development Board, intends to seek contributions to meet the $15,000 mark by the end of April or give back to the original donors any money which has been received.

"The Martin County Resources Development Board was developed in 1959 and nothing has been done of any great consequence since," President Al Epstein said. "The reason nothing has been done is because the populace of Martin County has not been included in any of its endeavors. I know as well as you that to get the job done we're going to have to have the backing of the whole community. We need your business in Martin County. Convey the message."

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha told the council he wants to see Martin County's youth stay to work instead of moving to find employment in other areas.

"I want to keep the young people in Martin County," he said. "I know a lot of us have raised kids and we don't want to have to go to some other state to visit them."

Council Vice President A. James Zusi said two "clean industries" already have plans to move to Martin County. One company, now located on Long Island, makes miniature switches and employees 18 to 20 persons, and the second, from Michigan, makes electrical devices and employs 22 to 25 persons.

The $15,000 budgeted by the council will be used to finance the cost of publishing 1,000 color brochures to attract business. The brochure will be sent to the executives of the largest corporations in the country, according to Zusi.

"I am sure every major company, at one time or another, has had a problem looking for a new place to produce a product," Suzi said. "They have probably never heard of Stuart or Martin County. Well, we're going to see to it that they do. Martin County is a good place to run a good, clean business. We're not looking for smokestacks, we're looking for something which will create jobs in this area."

BOOSTER–Martin County Economic Development Council President Al Epstein addressed council members, stressing the need to raise $15,000 this spring to attract "clean" industry to Martin County.

H.O. Has parties ! !

On March 22, a combined birthday and cocktail party turned into a gala event when about 75 people came to celebrate Peg Ray's 39th (?!?) birthday and take part in Steve and Edie Pointon's annual cocktail party.

Al Ray supplied the beautiful birthday cake and many goodies were served. Good music was provided by George Barss and Sophie Holler for dancing. We all hope we can surprise you again next year, Peg!

+ + +

The Kimes and Leonard hosted a party for 50 people in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong, who are soon to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The George Leonards contributed a bottle of wine for each table to celebrate Ruth Leonard's 70th birthday on March 24.

When it was time to line up for the buffet supper, Kimes' dog Ginger upstaged the guests. Ginger joined the group with her doggie bowl clamped between her jaws and tail wagging in joyful anticipation.

After dinner, a sing-along was enjoyed.

Lynne Baxter, Arletta Wehlage and Mae Williams were business ... cocktail party on March 31 in honor of Rusty Baxter's and Wally Spencer's birthday on that day; Grace Carson's birthday on March 31; and Freda Weintraub's on the 28th. Twenty-two guests were present.

+ + +

Friends of Tom and Lori Goodwin will be happy to know that Tom has had his eye surgery, is home, and doing very nicely.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ritter have the pleasure of having Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fasarele of Saginaw, Michigan, spending two weeks here. Mr. Fasarele is their daughter Kay. Before arriving, they visited with aunts in Venice, and maternal grandparents at Palmetto.

+ + +

Owners who are leaving early are Joe and Margaret Dietrich, back in Connecticut; Hero and Pauline Rough to Michigan, left Monday; Bee and Curt Mann, left for Ohio Tuesday.

Sorry to have them go, but their return isn't too far away.

Holiday Outlines

BY RUTH BOWES 334-4946

Assisted by Elizabeth O'Donnell and Peg Ray

The Roughs, Manns, Mary Kubiak and Eva Trussell took a delightful boat trip on Lake Okeechobee Saturday.

+ + +

Bill and Gertie Pustelnik, guests of Mr. and Mrs. D.E. McDonald on lot 114, enjoyed their two month visit. They are leaving April 4 with many fond memories of the park. Their home is in Harrison, Michigan.

+ + +

Frank and Irma Rocknak on lot 153 are also leaving April 1, returning to New Jersey after a two month visit here.

+ + +

The Dinner Dance, on March 24, was enjoyed by 136 persons. Bob Warnaar sat in for a few numbers with the Fred Rhodes Trio. The committee of Edwina and Earl Palmer, chairmen, assisted by Beryle and Cecil Roy, Millie and Chuck Armock, Emma and Maynard Sherady, Barbara and Jim Draper, and Trudy and Nelson Beatty did a tremendous job. A hanging macrame planter, made by Millie Armock, was won by Faye Johnson.

Our Farewell Party Dance will be held April 7.

+ + +

In a touchingly beautiful ceremony at the Pavilion Church Sunday, Jason Christopher Edwards, aged six months, was christened. Jason's parents are Joan and Don Edwards, and he is the grandson of Elmer and Joyce Edwards of Holiday Out and Greensboro, Maryland, and Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Kress, Jr., of Wheaton, Maryland, who were here also to celebrate the happy occasion.

Rev. Clark Thompson officiated and William Studebaker conducted the layman services. Lee Newen led the choir and Emma Nejeen was guest organist.

Max and Cell Lewin left Sunday for their Pocono home. After a short stay there they plan to leave on a trip to Seattle to visit their new granddaughter. They have sold their H.O. lot to Harold and Hazel Brumund, frequent visitors to our park, and will be occupying their new North Palm Beach apartment next winter. They promise to visit their many friends in Holiday Out often.

+ + +

C.J. Ouellette is recuperating nicely after minor surgery. He is in Martin Memorial Hospital, or may be home by the time you read this.

+ + +

Austin and Mae Williams had Morris and Freda Weintraub and the Baxters as dinner guests March 26.

+ + +

The Baxters left Sunday morning for their home in Carmel, N.Y., as next Saturday Ken's mother and father are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

+ + +

The Holiday Out Variety Show 1977 was a smash hit! Would you believe a cast of thousands participated? No? well, 88 talented people did!

The enthusiastic producer-director of the lively show was Peg Ray and Beryl Roy was coproducer.

Peg Nelson was the inspiring director of the chorus and Al Ray and Ray Nealis were witty emcees.

Fred Paulsen, guest organist, Willa Jo Mauger, guest pianist, and George Bares, accordionist, and trumpet player Jack Terstreesa continued to the delightful music. The shirts were hilarious, the dance solos terrific, and vocalists lyric and lovely. A wow of a show!

Jean and Ralph Taylor had a trip on the St. Lucie River that they won't forget in a long time. The cruise ship ran aground and the passengers had to be rescued by a relief ship. All in all the procedure took five hours!

+ + +

Bertie Harrison wrote a thank you note to all the wonderful people who expressed their love and condolences at the time Bill died. The note is posted in the lower rec hall.

+ + +

The Mark Sumners took advantage of the beautiful weather and had a patio party on Sunday, and the G. Maduses had a nice get together, too.

+ + +

Vickie McKeever returned from the hospital Tuesday with excellent reports from her doctor.

Now Eric Gross, our pool manager, is in Martin Memorial Hospital and he would enjoy receiving cards.

Dot Blair wrote that she is back home in Sellbyville, Delaware, and things never looked so good. The last three weeks in the hospital in Baltimore were lonely and boring to her so far from Bill and friends. The balance of her treatments will be done nearer to her home.

+ + +

Dr. and Mrs. Sernuk and Mr. and Mrs. Linch visited the C. Roys for a few days and brought them up to date on all the latest news from Yale, Michigan.

+ + +

Lot owners checking in last week were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Doerring, lot 23; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rocker, lot 299; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, lot 432; Mr. and Mrs. John Carpenter, lot 102, and Mr. and Mrs. William Higgins, lot 122.

+ + +

Anniversary congratulations are extended this week to Pete and Ada Marchand, and Grace Maddeo, celebrating March 30, Fern and Orville Quick, April 2. Horace and Osa Taylor, Dee and Don Finch, April 4.

+ + +

Happy birthday wishes go to Debra Yankovich, March 30; Shirley Whitfield, March 31; Lena Black, Nora Turner, Merrill Webb, April 2; Carol Levine, April 4; and Frank Wehlage, April 5.

Birthday Greetings!!

JENSEN BEACH—Wish a happy birthday this week to Jerry Rector, Evelyn Kenny and Jo Eisenbarth on April 1; H.C. Commodon, Nick Dollard, June Grant and Susie Wyatt, April 3; Tommy Driscoll, Helen Scaler, Ken Pressel, Lou Papsifero, Sr., Sandy Papsidero and Lois Loplato, April 4.

Celebrating April 5 will be Betty Lee Hudson, Oscar Deiss and Jackie Means; and Carol Conover, Charles Zajic, Leonard Smith and Warren Kendall, April 6.

Have a happy day!

Birthday party for Owens and Kitts

Phillips, V.O. St. Lucie.

A delightful birthday celebration was held at The Hilltop Restaurant in Fort Pierce last week honoring Marge Owens and Helen Kitts.

Bill Barrette, Genealogy, Phillips, and Red Kitts families joined in the fun and all decided it was one of the most delicious meals they had had this year.

Happy Birthday again - Marge & Helen.

Dr. and Mrs. Tim Gibson are enjoying visits with Virginia and Paul Sellen of Atlantic, Florida. Thought their stay at Venture Out will be a short one, we hope their hosts will make it a sweet one.

The Gibsons are also looking forward to the arrival of Number One Son, Jay, his wife Patti and their two boys, Eric, three, and month-old Kevin. They live in Woodbridge, Va., and expect to be here at least 10 days. Welcome!

Though Alice and Red Fitzgerald have moved into their new home in Port St. Lucie, they haven't forgotten their neighbors on Swordfish Lane. They had a wonderful dinner and cocktail party in their new home Sunday. We're happy they are so happy in their new home.

Venture Three

They are keeping their Park Model on Swordfish Lane, where it will be available for overflow guests and rentals.

There were a lot of us who wanted to attend the special pot luck dinner Monday night, but when we went to sign up, the sign was gone. That's what we get for not signing up right away!

A word to the wise: Get your tickets for the Beer Blast this Saturday, sign up for the dish you will bring and, as usual, bring your own plate and utensils. BYOB after dinner with free set-ups and chacoine.

We're sure going to miss that "Surrey with the Fringe on Top", for LaBelle and Wayne Barrett left Swordfish Lane this week and are heading home to Youngstown, Ohio. We wish them a joyful Easter with their children and grandchildren.

BOWLING SCORES by Bill Thompson

Al Suckow had the high single game, 158, and high total for the day on March 22. Three game totals were as follows:

Al Suckow, 427; Elmer Meyer, 404; John Callahan, 386; Bill Grueling, 385; Toad Bowling, 377; Bill Thompson, 356; Edna Wilson, 349; Tony DiPaula, 338; Irene Callahan, 294.

If you saw Betty Drinkard with a black scarf tied around her head - that is, under her chin and bow on top of her head, it was because her jaw was so swollen from an impacted tooth, she had to put it in a sling. Quick recovery, Betty.

Guests of Jean and Gil VanWilligen this last week were Maris and Red Edwards with their three children, Doris and Noel Riordan, along with Ellen and Ken Etweiller, all from the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, area.

A card from Winnie Wendlake said that she and Tom and Sam Tucker would be starting to Florida and should arrive April 1 or 2. That means we will be losing the lovely Erma and Lee Newell who have been in the Tucker home while Sam has been touring. They have been a very nice addition to our area and we hope they return next year.

+++

The Shavers have their ever-welcome granddaughter, Sharon Branch of Miami, for the weekend. Also, they were pleased and surprised to find that long-time friends, Claudine and Preston Mastays, and her aunt, Mrs. Anne Floyd of Miami, pulled their trailer into Indian River V.O. and spent a few days here. They are hoping to move to this area soon.

Hilda and Larry Atkin had fun this past week purchasing baby things. Their daughter, Lucy Atkin, flew in from New Orleans where she was attending a conference on Infant Development. She is in the process of finishing her PHD degree on this subject.

Nine months ago, on Father's Day, she was temporarily interrupted in her work by the appearance of her son, Erin Moro-Atkin. You can be sure Erin got more than his share of attention while visiting his grandparents. Lucy's husband is an agronomist and right now they are based in Mexico City. They are still using the camper they purchased from Walt and Hazel Ramsay for weekends around Mexico.

Edsel and Betty Pfabe caused a little excitement on this street by changing mobile homes. It caused a broken water line, etc., etc., but, hopefully, all will be back to normal soon.

Riverside Village

BY SALLY HOFFMAN

Now that the weather is so beautiful, some of the residents have decided it's cruise time. The latest ones to take the cruise on the HiLine up the St. Lucie to the Locks and Lake Okeechobee are Gordon and Vi Gale, Leah Morrison and Ethel Naggie. They went with a group of 300 AARP members and said it was a perfect day.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Remi Rothy had to fly home due to the death of her oldest sister in South Bend, Indiana. She left from Tampa with her brother and sister-in-law, but has now returned. Couldn't get a flight back so her daughter drove her back to Jensen Beach, stayed a few days, and has now returned to Mishawaka, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Russ Messana of Mishawaka are not visiting the Rothys for a few days.

Marian Miller has been here for almost two months visiting her sister, Gert Hume, and has now returned to Buffalo, N.Y. The Ken Bighams and Joe Whites and Gert took her back to the airport last Saturday and stopped for dinner on the way home, then spent the evening with the Whites. The Bighams also had the same group for a farewell dinner for Marian on Thursday before she left.

Although some of the residents have going north on their minds (not too soon, of course), we are all getting lots of visitors yet.

Bill and Hattie Lindemann of Bridgman, Michigan, recently had dinner with Bill's uncle, Walt Knuth, and will be staying at Holiday Out until April 1.

George and Betty Frantz had unexpected company from Roscommon, Michigan. Their neighbor, Herb Mathews, dropped in for the evening.

My brother and sister-in-law, Lee Roy and Marjorie Schleffer, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, were with us for three days before going to the west coast. We fished, went out to eat and went to West Palm to see the Braves play ball. They left after we had a big fish fry on Wednesday.

My husband's brother and sister-in-law, Gilbert and Katie Hoffman of Pontiac, Michigan, arrived so that we all had a nice visit and dinner together and they will be here until Monday. Went to see my team, the Cincinnati Reds, play the Dodgers in Vero Beach on Thursday and, while Katie and I go shopping in West Palm, Bill and Gib will get in some golf and we will all fish.

Admiral's Table opens in Jensen

JENSEN BEACH—A team of three in Jensen Beach, with restaurant owner's in Washington, D.C., have opened a new family restaurant on Indian River Drive known as the Admiral's Table."

It all goes as planned, the restaurant will be the first of a number of small restaurants along the Indian River.

"I think we have something here the community needs," Admiral's Table president James Otto said. "We are catering to the family and local folk. It's not a high-priced place. In fact, it's cheaper than most pancake houses."

The fare of the restaurant specializes in seafood with a number of orders of fish, waffles and pancakes. The Admiral's Table serves breakfast from 6 a.m. to the morning until 11 at night, along with luncheon and dinner specialties.

The interior of the Admiral's Table is nautical with bright blue and red carpets, upholstery and walls. There are brass portholes, a big ship's wheel and one President Eric V. Diederich boasts of the restaurant's view of the Indian River.

The kitchen is a model of the newest appliances and is designed so none of the air from cooking escapes outside. The restaurant is built on Indian River Drive on the property of the old Bolling's Mel-O hamburger Causeway. The three owners have plans of tearing down the old motel building and erecting a new motel adjacent to the restaurant.

The Admiral's Table employs 55 local young people to man the tables and kitchens.

"I like to hire high school and college students because they're eager and are great workers," Otto said.

The restaurant has 6,500 square feet of space, can seat 178 people, and has parking for 65 cars. It is open seven days a week.

Cancer Society offers free tests

STUART—The Martin County Unit of the American Cancer Society will offer free Pap Tests to local residents April 1 and 2 at two local shopping centers. The announcement was made recently by Arline House, R.N., coordinator of the project.

The free tests will be available Friday, April 1, from 10-6 at the Ocean East Mall parking lot, and on Saturday, April 2, at the K Mart Plaza on U.S. 1. Trained nurses will administer the tests while other volunteers from Phi Beta Psi will supply the clerical help.

Sports Car Club sponsors road rally

STUART—The Stuart Sports Car Club will sponsor a Road Rally on Sunday, April 3, starting at the parking lot at Martin County High School.

Drivers will meet at 1 p.m., the first car will leave at 1:01 p.m. Entry fee is $2 for members, $3 for non-members. Prizes will be awarded.

This is the sixth rally of the year. For further information, contact Richard H. Rice, 287-4788, Bruce Packard at 283-7342, or Bob Poindexter, 287-4308.

Association meeting interesting, factual

The monthly meeting of the Palm Lake Park Civic Association was held last week and interesting discussions brought out facts that we, as suburbanites, must watch.

The Association has represented this park for the past 15 years....so why not become a member.

As a member, you are placed under no obligation....and will be kept up on actions that involve Palm Lake Park which would not, and in, some cases could not, be submitted to the press.

So, why not join today? The $3 annual membership fee is tax deductible.

Much activity at Loretta Gentile's this past two weeks. She is being visited by her sisters, Linda Mitchell of Kansas, Missouri, and Elizabeth DeStefano of North Bellmore, Long Island, New York.

Loretta served dinner and her guests, including the above, were Millie and Clair Baker and Elenor and Freddie Falk. A wonderful meal.

Linda and Elizabeth took Millie Baker and Minnie Wendel to the Outrigger for lunch and a fashion show and, on Saturday, Millie had all as her guests at Jake's Restaurant.

Mobile Oil buys Sailfish Point

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–Mobile Oil Estates, of Vancouver, B.C., a division of Mobil Oil, has taken a conditional sales option on the famed Sailfish Point, it was learned by The Mirror.

The eight-million dollar deal was signed last weekend in Stuart, an agreement that could take as long as three years months to consummate, according to informed sources and Mr. Wolf Thiersch, architect, who represented Mobile in negotiations.

The 535 acre area is the southernmost point of Hutchinson Island, fed by a narrow, sub-standard, two-lane road. Development plans would include a de-salinization plant for fresh water, and the narrow road would be improved by the developers to handle traffic to and from the 765 approved units in the planned unit development.

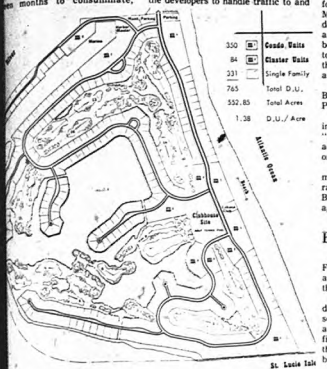
The PUD includes multi-family and single family units and a resort hotel, built around a marina basin that could accommodate large yachts.

In the original plan, sought by the Dick Geisinger interests, the developers would have dredged the St. Lucie Inlet for fill, thus saving the taxpayers of Martin County potentially millions of dollars in the inlet improvement plan, and making the inlet a safe waterway for boaters. That plan fell on hard times due to environmental considerations from the former Martin County Commission, and was placed on the shelf.

The sale of the land was from Bradshaw Trust and Public Health Properties, Inc., to Mobile.

Asked if any changes would be made in the original land plan, Thiersch said, "It would be nice if we could," but added, "We will just about stick to the original land plan."

Mobile Oil Estates, Ltd., took a three month option on the land, an option that ran out early this month. Local Realtor Ben Arbogast was the participating agent on the deal.



ARTISTIC VIEW–The plat plan for development of Sailfish Point by Mobile Oil shows the proposed roadways, golf links and locations of condominium and single family units. There are 765 planned units which will be served by a desalination plant for fresh water.

Blaze doused at college

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Fire Department last week extinguished an early morning blaze in a trash can at the Florida Institute of Technology.

Fire Chief Joe Luciano reported the department got a call for a fire in the south dorm of the school at about 3:15 a.m. last Thursday. Three trucks and 14 firemen responded to the scene. Only then did they find out the size of the blaze.

"It's better to have everyone show up even though it might be a small fire," Luciano said. "It's lucky the kids found it when they did and were able to put most of it out before we got there."

BIG DEAL–Mobile Oil Estates of British Columbia last week signed a contract to purchase the famous 535-acre Sailfish Point. The eight million dollar deal is the largest in recent Martin County history. Part of the proposed development plan for the point includes the improvement of MacArthur Blvd. from the Elliott Museum to the point on the south end of Hutchinson Island.

Holy Week services are set

JENSEN BEACH–For those who want to get up early Easter morning to worship, there are three churches in town which are offering sunrise services.

The Trinity United Methodist Church will hold its Easter Sunrise Worship at 6 a.m. at Jensen Public Beach. There will be congregational singing and the public is invited, but please bring your own chairs.

The First Baptist Church of Jensen Beach will hold its Sunrise Service at 5:30 Easter morning at Windmill Village on Hutchinson Island. It will hold its regular worship services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., with the evening service featuring a special concert by the young people of the church.

The Jensen Beach Christian Church will hold a Sunrise Service at the Ocean Breeze Park Clubhouse at 7:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

The Jensen Beach Community Church, which serves all faiths, will hold Communion and Tenebrae and Meditation at 7:30 p.m. on Maundy Thursday.

On Good Friday, the Martin County Chorus will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" under the direction of Esther Plyler at 2 p.m. at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Easter Sunday services at the Jensen Beach Community Church will be at 7:30, 9 and 11 a.m. with Reverend Robert P. Cooper, preacher, and Reverend Norman G. Kehrli, liturgist. The combined choirs will sing at all three services.

All Saints Episcopal Church will hold Holy Eucharist at 8:30 and 10 a.m. Maundy Thursday, with The Maundy Watch before the Blessed Sacrament from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a sung Eucharist followed by the stripping of the altar.

On Good Friday, All Saints will hold a Three Hours Service from 12 noon to 3 p.m., and on Holy Saturday there will be private confessions by appointment and at 5 p.m., the blessing of the Pascal Candle and the First Eucharist of Easter.

On Easter Sunday, there will be a 7:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist, and at 9:15 a.m., a Solemn High Mass. At 11 a.m., there will also be Holy Eucharist.

St. Martin's Catholic Church will hold Holy Thursday Mass at the Florida Institute of Technology (FIT) Chapel at 7:30 p.m.

Good Friday Mass will be held at 3 p.m., with a Holy Saturday Vigil Mass at 5:30 p.m.

Easter Sunday Masses will be held at 7:45, 9 and 11:30 a.m. All Masses will be at the FIT Chapel.

The Orthodox Mission Parish of St. James, which is temporarily meeting at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Stuart, will worship on Saturday at 11 a.m., and Easter Worship will be held at 10 a.m. The chief celebrant will be The Very Reverend Father George A. Gladky, Dean of Florida and Rector of the Orthodox Church of Christ the Savior of Miami.

The Redeemer Lutheran Church of Stuart will worship on Maundy Thursday at 7:30 p.m. At the end there will be the traditional stripping of the altar.

On Good Friday, the Redeemer Lutheran Church will have pipe organ music in the sanctuary from noon until 3 p.m. for any worshiper who would like to spend a few moments in private devotion. There will be a Tenebrae service at 7:30 p.m.

Also at Redeemer Lutheran, there will be Sunrise Service at the church in the circle drive in front of the sanctuary at 5:30 a.m. Breakfast will follow. There will be Easter Services at 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

...ay, Gallagher win oratorical honors

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–Teresa Gallagher, [illegible] St. Joseph's School and last [illegible] defeated a field of five [illegible] to win the Jensen Beach [illegible] Oratorical Contest girls' title [illegible].

St. Joseph's eighth grader will [illegible] in competition later [illegible] joined by Leigh Maxwell, [illegible] the Middle Martin Optimist [illegible] Port Salerno. Maxwell was [illegible] the Jensen Beach contest as [illegible] not place in the top three [illegible], a 10th grade student at [illegible] High School took top [illegible] competition. Grey was [illegible] and over Gene Ray of St. Michael's. Buff Rastrelli (Stuart Middle School) and Carl Maxwell, Leigh's brother (Indiantown Middle).

The proceedings were conducted by L.D. Kirkpatrick, who served as chairman of the event for the second year. Judges Bonnie Epstein, Art Hansen and Fred Meeker used an elaborate points system to decide the winners.

The four points of judging included personal qualities, organization of materials, delivery of speech and total, overall effectiveness. The theme of this year's contest was "Together, We Will."

Connie Lambeth, last year's girl winner, advanced all the way to the state final before losing. Although no results were announced other than first place, many believed she finished second. However, Miss Lambeth's family moved to North Carolina shortly after the final.

Cindy Dardee of MCHS took second in this year's proceedings, while Becky Randell (Hobe Sound Bible) copped third. Other competitors included Julie Martin (SMS), and Janine Gray (SMS).

...wall's Point to study bikeway

SEWALL'S POINT–The Sewall's Point Town Council, which several months ago asked the state for money to build a bikeway from High Point to the Martin County line, may be one step closer to getting the state funds.

Last March, the council requested funds from the Florida Recreational Development Assistance Program of the Department of Natural Resources to build a bikeway. The State agency has announced it is making funds available, and the council, after meeting with the town's consulting engineer, Dick Heilstrom, decided to apply for the funds.

This week the town learned that the state, if it agrees to release the funds, will pay for up to $50,000 of the cost of the project if the town agrees to pay for half of any amount over $50,000. In the case of Sewall's Point, the town would have to come up with $4,000.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said the contact made by the state is in no way a confirmation that the town will get the funds for the bikeway. He said the state was merely sending back a checklist for the town to complete.

"I'm not overly optimistic about it," he said.

He added there are many towns in Florida applying for the same funds and there is not enough money to give to all of them.

The bikeway, drawn up by Heilstrom, would be four feet wide, of asphalt, and would run parallel to Sewall's Point Road.

The council is expected to consider the spending of the additional $4,000 at its regular meeting on Wednesday night.

Robbers hit Hupfel home

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

SEWALL'S POINT–Three white armed robbers, two wearing yellow T-shirts and baseball caps, entered the home of Richard Hupfel of Highpoint, Mirada afternoon, and made off with an undetermined amount of guns, silverware, coins and other items.

According to Martin County Sheriff's Deputy Mike Chambers, the men approached the Hupfel front door at 28 W. Highpoint Road, at about 2:30 p.m. Monday and asked the maid of the house, Brojah Harvey, if Mr. Hupfel was home to sign some business papers. When Mrs. Harvey said the owner was not at home, the suspects asked if they could leave the papers. When Mrs. Harvey replied, "Yes", and opened the door, one suspect, in a plaid jacket, pulled a gun and entered the home with the other two behind him.

The three took Mrs. Harvey to the back bedroom of the home and tied her, face down, on a bed with a cord taken from the draperies, Chambers reported. They tore the telephone from the wall and, for the next hour and a half, ransacked the home and took the guns and other goods.

The three eluded capture in a 1973 beige two door Chevrolet with a tow tag.

Two of the men are described as being about 35 years old and the third, about 25. All are reported to have a medium build.

EGG BREAK–Two-year-old Joseph Whaley of Jensen Beach stopped in the middle of the Jensen Beach Fire Department s Easter Egg Hunt last weekend for a snack. He found his breakfast under a cement tunnel in the playground and insisted he could eat the hard-boiled eggs without removing the shells. The only thing missing in his breakfast? "Bacon," he said. "Bacon."

McCallister will address Interagency Council

STUART--Archie McCallister, M.D., Martin County Health Department director, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Martin County Interagency Council.

Meeting time is 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 5, in the Martin County Public Library Conference Room.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

The officers of the American Heart Association, Martin County Unit, join me in thanking you for your help this past year in publicizing the programs, projects and fund raising activities of the Heart Association.

Now that we have an office in Martin County, the association has increased its services to local residents. Only through the news media can we let the public know these services are available. The Jensen Beach Mirror has been a big help in this endeavor.

Cardiovascular disease is still this nation's number one health problem, but we are making headway in combatting it. On behalf of Dr. Richard Q. Pevsick, Chairman of the Martin County Unit, and all the other Heart Association officers, thank you for the part you are playing in our fight.

Sincerely,
s-Gleason N. Stambaugh, Jr.
President

To the Editor:

We personally want to thank you for your generous publicity for the 1977 Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Fund Drive.

Your support and assistance made this year's fund drive the most successful in our organization's history.

Thank you again for your publicity.

Sincerely,

Garnette & Fred Stein
Chairmen, 1977 Fund Drive

I MUST CONFESS that heretofore I have not given much thought to the question of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) because I had assumed that The Constitution of the United States had already guaranteed that privilege to all citizens. However, having read the bombastic arguments pro and con these past few days, I began to think that I had been laboring under a misinterpretation of the law of our land.

A review of our Constitution being in order, I would like to call to the advocates of both sides ARTICLE XIV, an amendment to the Constitution, which is headed by the admonition that "Citizenship Rights Not to be Abridged." Paragraph 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Now to the wording of the proposed Twenty-Seventh Amendment to the United States Constitution, the Equal Rights Amendment: Section 1. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article. Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

The only difference in the wording of the above is that the XIV amendment uses the word citizen as opposed to the word sex in the proposed ERA amendment. In short, the law is already on the books, but simply isn't being enforced.

AS TO MY OWN private opinion regarding the advocates of ERA, who already have the legal rights that they are seeking, may I just add? It is a statistical fact that women control 90 per cent of the wealth in this country. Further, they outlive the male of the species by some 10 to 14 years. They suffer far less incidence of heart trouble, hypertension, diabetes or whatever. So, no matter what their goal is, I'll gladly trade and, she knows, perhaps I will live to spend my own life insurance money!

NOW TO THE OTHER side of the coin. I have mixed feelings about the anti-ERA meeting last Thursday night. On the plus side were the statements of two of my favorite people in local government, Louise Isaacs, Clerk of Circuit Court, and Sandra Randolph, Supervisor of Elections of Martin County. Mrs. Isaacs, in her typical gracious manner, was quoted as saying, "I've enjoyed being a woman. It gives me a thrill when a man tips his hat, opens a door or holds my chair in a restaurant. I'm very content the way I am." (Me too, Louise.)

Petite Sandra Randolph, who holds down one of the toughest jobs in local government, was quoted as saying, "I'm an example of what a woman can do. I'm raising two children alone and the ideals of ERA would diminish my role and take away more than it would return."

If the meeting had ended there, I would have to say that it was a complete success. However, the over-reaction set in: Such utterances as "standards of morality will be written out of the law, it will legalize homosexual marriages..."; "If you give the federal government an ax like that, they'll knock down the building."; "They could take away a church's tax exemption for not ordaining women."; "It's an abomination to the Lord."

SO, COME ON FOLKS, let's cool it. Recriminations on both sides will accomplish nothing but division among two groups of people who seek a common goal. The laws, both state and federal, are on the books to protect each and every citizen of the United States. All that is necessary is that they be implemented and observed.

Sewall's Point to discuss gate

SEWALL'S POINT—A proposed gate, which could close the south end of the Town of Sewall's Point, will be discussed tonight at a regular meeting of the Sewall's Point Town Council.

Commissioners heard a request for the gate at the Town's March meeting from Mrs. Blaine Rhodes of High Point. Mrs. Rhodes told the council that she has been bothered by increased traffic, mainly that of tourists, making the circle of High Point Road, staring at the homes.

"I'd like to see some king of a gate with a guard to slow down the traffic here," Mrs. Rhodes said.

Mrs. Rhodes added that she has received word from her attorney on the issue and he has advised that a gate can legally be put up in the town but that a special taxing district would have to be created to pay for a 24-hour uniformed guard to man the gate.

According to Mrs. Rhodes, her attorney told her that a one mill tax on all residents and property owners of the town, would raise enough money to pay for the gate and the uniformed guard.

"It looks to me like there are two sides to the issue," Vice Mayor Bob Russell said. "There are those who say the gate is legal and there are those who say it is illegal."

Russell said he has contacted a local private detective company and learned that a 24-hour uniformed guard would cost about $43,000 per year.

EGG HUNTERS—Nearly 300 Jensen Beach, Sewall's Point and Rio youngsters appeared at Langford Park last Saturday to participate in the annual Jensen Beach Fire Department's Easter Egg Hunt. Dozens of prizes were awarded to four separate age groups

Planes to fly at boat race

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

STUART—In addition to the many planned events highlighting the 10th annual Sailfish Regatta, race promoters have arranged an exhibi ol precision aerobatic just prior to the major powerboat races May 15.

The two pilots in the exhibition will be John Wa Lillberg of Ruvsera Beach and retired Air Force Colonel Bill Wasler of West Palm Beach.

Lillberg has competed in international aerobatic competition and has place 12 times in 20 contests since 1970.

He plans to fly the small bi-plane, a Pitts Special, at the regatta, one of the four stunt planes he is proficient in flying.

Wasler, a retired Air Force command pilot, instructor and executive pilot, will fly a fully aerobatic Belanca Decathlon capable of flying at 150 miles per hour.

The Sailfish Regatta this year will be a 10-day festival with outboard races at the Stuart Causeway in the beginning of the week, and high-powered inboard boat races near the Roosevelt Bridge in Stuart at the end of the week.

In addition to the boat races and plane exhibition, there will be a golf tournament, beauty pageant, swimming and diving contest, tennis competitions, shuffleboard contests, band concerts, bowling and raquetball tournaments, canoe races, and an old fashioned block party at Ocean East Mall.

The block party will feature a jitterbug dance contest, square dancing, and a display of boats competing in the races.

The festival is planned from May 7-15.

STER BUNNY VISITS–Just about the first order of ness after being sworn in as Port St. Lucie's first elected or, Bill McChesney greeted the Easter Bunny on her annual visit to City Hall. In her brief visit, Mrs. Bunny (Mrs. Robert Jensen) handed out many goodies and paid special tribute to the members of the press.

Spread love, Council is told

PORT ST. LUCIE–Speeches, awards and appointments, not to overlook the annual visitation from the Easter Bunny, highlighted Tuesday's City Council session, as the newly elected took their oaths of office.

Following the swearing in ceremonies, Mayor Bill McChesney told a standing room only crowd that he accepted the office with mixed emotions.

"I feel humility but, at the same time, I have a great feeling of pride knowing I was elected mayor by the people of Port St. Lucie," he said.

He then congratulated the two new members of the board and urged the entire council to approach the problems facing the city with open minds.

"Our city is growing rapidly. We have many, many decisions to make. There will, of course, be times we disagree, but let us disagree without being disagreeable. Above all, we must remember our decisions today will affect our tomorrows," the mayor said.

Perhaps it was the Easter Bunny (Mrs. Robert Jensen) who really got the message across when she presented the Council with a plaque which read, "Love is like manure - it's no good unless you spread it around."

At that point, the walls of City Hall vibrated with applause from a standing room only crowd.

City Manager Elmer Cox presented several plaques during the morning session.

One was presented to Mayor McChesney for his service as a councilman; one to outgoing mayor, Schuyler Sharpe, retiring Vice Mayor Frank Rose, and to outgoing councilman Larry Kimmel.

In the mayor's first official action, he appointed Mike Reeb as vice mayor. In other appointments, Sharpe will continue to work with the Treasure Coast Planning Council, Mike Reeb with the Board of Realtors, and Merle Anderson with the sanitation department. McChesney will represent the City on the Go Team and the St. Lucie Chamber of Commerce.

Before stepping down from the mayor's seat, Sharpe briefly outlined the past accomplishments of the Council during the past two years and, at the same time, admitted the great frustrations encountered because "government simply doesn't run like a business. Things just move much slower," he said.

Sharpe urged the new council to take action on getting a new city hall constructed, the establishment of a city police department, and to continue efforts with the St. Lucie County Commission to have the arterial roads in this south county municipality maintained by the county.

SWEARING IN–Merle Anderson, left, and Mike Reeb took their newly won seats on the Port St. Lucie City Council Tuesday morning following the brief swearing-in ceremonies conducted by City Clerk Donna Petzold. Anderson will occupy Seat No. 5 and Reeb will serve in Seat No. 4.

Easter sunrise services planned

PORT ST. LUCIE–For those who fer to get up early, three churches in area will conduct sunrise services ster morning.

t St. Andrew Lutheran Church, ter week services are scheduled to gin with Good Friday worship service 7:30 p.m., with "The Way of Blood" as sermon topic.

aster Services will be held at 6 a.m. the church, and an Easter breakfast be served by the Luther League at 7 Sunday school will be conducted at a.m. and Easter worship services be held at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m.

a special highlight of the Easter st services, it has been reported that Easter Bunny will be a greeter at all vices.

Pine Memorial Presbyterian rch will conduct their Sunrise vices starting at 6:30 a.m. and an ter breakfast will be served in pbell Hall immediately following.

Easter Egg Hunt is planned for the youngsters. Church School heduled at 9:45 a.m., and the Sunday ship Service will be at 11 a.m. consisting of all choral music.

The Port St. Lucie Methodist Church will join in the Community Service at St. Anastasia Catholic Church in Fort Pierce for Maundy Thursday (at 7:30 p.m.) and Good Friday services.

Easter Sunrise Services will be held at the amphitheater on Indian River Drive starting at 7 a.m.

The Sunday worship services at 8:40 and 11 a.m. will be held at the church. Special music will be provided by the choir.

Holy Faith Episcopal Church will have Holy Communion on Maundy Thursday at 7 p.m. and on Good Friday, a special three hour service will be held from noon until 3 p.m.

Easter Sunday services will be held at 8 and 20 a.m. Holy Communion will be served at both services.

Easter week services at St. Lucie Catholic Church will begin with a 7 p.m. Mass on Holy Thursday. Liturgical services will be conducted at noon on Good Friday. Preliminary services will start at 5 p.m. Saturday, with Mass to follow.

Three Masses will celebrate Easter at 8 a.m., 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

At the Port St. Lucie First Baptist Church on Selvia Drive, Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., and worship services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

PRESENTATION–Outgoing Councilman Larry Kimmel boasted a big smile Tuesday morning when he was presented with an engraved plaque honoring him for his outstanding service to the city and for a job well done. City Manager Elmer Cox made the presentation.

City switches contractors

PORT ST. LUCIE–After much delay, action by the City Council Tuesday was indicative that the construction of a two-story press and concession building at Sportsman Park might soon get under way.

While the contract was awarded to the Blue Dolphin Construction Company, well over a month ago pending the receipt of a performance bond, the Council Tuesday authorized City Manager Elmer Cox to contact the second bidder, Paul Jacquin, and negotiate for construction of the building.

"Blue Dolphin has had more than ample time to furnish this bond and I think it is time we draw the line," Mayor McChesney said.

Jacquin has agreed to construct the building for the original bid price of $22,500, and it is expected construction will start within ten days.

The Blue Dolphin bid was for $19,700. There were only the two answers to the call for bids.

Easter egg hunt set for Sunday

ORT ST. LUCIE–What better time a for an Easter Egg Hunt than on ter Day?

e seventeenth annual Easter Egg t sponsored jointly by the Junior en's Club, General Development poration and the PSL Homeowners' ociation, will be conducted at the t Marina April 10, starting at 2 .

ee competing in the hunt will be divided into four age groups, 1 to 4, 5 and 6, 7 and 8, and 9 to 11 years of age.

While there will be many colorfully decorated eggs and candy carefully hidden, it is interesting to note the Easter Bunny will be standing close by to make certain every hunter has something to take home.

Assisting the Easter Bunny will be members of the Junior Woman's Club and their husbands.

GOLFERS–Mrs. Jan Werges scored a 250 to become the club champion ing the recent championship tournament played by the Sandpiper Bay men's Golf Association. Runner up in the event was Mrs. Diva Pilotta, right, e came in with a 258.

Parents gain support in school board issue

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Parents, Teachers, Students & Friends (PTSF) organization at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School Tuesday gained the support of the City Council in their proposed opposition to the St. Lucie County School Board's recent decision to bus fourth and fifth graders from the local school next fall.

Mrs. James Wallace, president of the local group, appeared before the Council Tuesday morning to express her views on the proposed busing plan and to urge the City's support for double sessions as an alternative solution to the overcrowded conditions which exist at the local school.

A survey sent home with students recently by the PTSF group indicated 80 per cent of the parents in this south county municipality favor double sessions.

Having done considerable research on the matter, Mrs. Wallace told her listeners that busing the students to the St. Lucie Middle School on Virginia Avenue would cost approximately $120 per day, and would involve eight to ten buses.

"Double sessions would mean the Port St. Lucie School would become a no frills school. It is quite likely there would be no lunches served and, perhaps, it would be necessary to cut the physical education and music programs," she said, adding that it would be necessary to hire an assistant principal at the local school. His salary would be in the $14-$15,000 range.

Asked about the need for additional teachers should the double sessions be agreed upon, Mrs. Wallace noted the School Board next year will have to hire approximately 30 new teachers to meet the 25-1 and 30-1 teacher-student ratio which was mandated at a recent board meeting.

"The hiring of these new teachers has nothing to do with whether or not we go to double sessions here," she said.

Mrs. Wallace also claimed that should the fourth and fifth graders be bused out of the local school to relieve the overcrowded conditions, the south county parents would lose ground in their fight for a second school being constructed here.

"We want our children schooled in our community, we want new schools, better schools and, in general, to upgrade our education," she said.

Mrs. Wallace made it clear to her audience that the PTSF is not involved in a battle with the St. Lucie County School Board, but instead is trying to work together to come up with a solution.

"We are suggesting double sessions and we are prepared to go as far as is necessary to get them," she said.

Parents in Port St. Lucie claim their children in the sixth grade and up are now spending approximately two hours per day riding a school bus.

Mayor McChesney, supported unanimously by the Council, requested a resolution be prepared to support the local group.

He did say, however, he had talked with Nolan Skinner, superintendent of St. Lucie County Schools, and could appreciate his problems.

"To get federal funds, he must do a certain amount of busing in the county and, at present, there is just no money available for constructing a new school," Mayor McChesney said.

The parents' organization will present its alternatives to the St. Lucie County School Board during the April 12 meeting.

To build another elementary school in Port St. Lucie would cost in the neighborhood of $2 million, according to school officials. The present school was constructed at a cost of $1.3 million just three years ago.

To construct a new school through local taxes would require a county-wide referendum and, according to the school's Finance Director Fred See, it would not be too likely county residents would be eager to approve a second school in Port St. Lucie since that school would serve only south county residents.

When the Port St. Lucie School was opened in early 1975, it was designed to house 720 students in grades kindergarten through five.

When the doors opened in 1976 there were 678 students enrolled and by March, that enrollment had climbed to 783.

Wimodausis' Guest Night

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Wimodausis Club of Port St. Lucie will entertain husbands and friends at the group's Annual Guest Night. The affair is slated for April 13 at 6 p.m. in the lounge of the Community Center.

The program will be given by Anna and Charles Lasher who will present some of the bells, along with their history.

North Port Women's Golf

PORT ST. LUCIE–The North Port Women's Golf Association weekly tournament play at Holiday Country Club, Stuart, on March 31, was Odd Holes Only, One Half Handicap.

The winners were:

Flight A - Alys Scott, first, and Rose Roth.

Flight B - Ethel Stepp, first; Anne Zukowski, second.

Flight C - Jane Schmidt, first; Eva Homans, second.

Before stepping down from the mayor's seat, Sharpe briefly outlined the past accomplishments of the Council during the past two years and, at the same time, admitted the great frustrations encountered because "government simply doesn't run like a business. Things just move much slower," he said.

Sharpe urged the new council to take action on getting a new city hall constructed, the establishment of a city police department, and to continue efforts with the St. Lucie County Commission to have the arterial roads in this south county municipality maintained by the county.

Homeowners plan meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE–A progress report by the officers and directors of the PSL-HP Homeowners' Association will be the main order of business when the group holds its quarterly meeting on April 12, according to President Bob Beunton.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

It has been noted members will have the opportunity to air any grievances and offer suggestions which would be beneficial to improving the community.

A social hour will follow the business meeting and refreshments will be served.

Follies at Spanish Lakes

PORT ST. LUCIE–The "Gallegos Grannies" will be featured in Leroy Laden's "Nostalgia Follies" this Saturday evening at Spanish Lakes. The annual revue will be presented to residents and guests.

The well known "Grannies" make their own costumes and create many of their own skits and have entertained in nursing homes and for senior citizen organizations, raising funds for charitable organizations.

Bergamini wins Men's Singles tourney

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Shuffleboard Club held its annual Men's Singles Tournament on March 31.

Trophies were won by Dominic Bergamini, first place; Al McDonnell, second place. Jean DeKeulenaere came in third, and Bob Cousino copped fourth place.

Members are urged to attend the regular monthly meeting of the club on Tuesday, April 12, 1:30 p.m. at the Marina for the election of officers for the coming season.

STUART--In addition to the many planned events highlighting the 10th annual Sailfish Regatta, race promoters have arranged an exhibit of precision aerobatic just prior to the major powerboat races May 15.

The two pilots in the exhibition will be John W. Lillberg of Riviera Beach and retired Air Force Colonel Bill Waxler of West Palm Beach.

Lillberg has competed in international aerobatic competition and has place 17 times in 30 contests since 1970.

He plans to fly the small bi-plane, a Pitts Special, at the regatta, one of the four stunt planes he is proficient in flying.

Waxler, a retired Air Force command pilot, instructor and executive pilot, will fly a fully aerobatic Belanca Decathlon capable of flying at 150 miles per hour.

The Sailfish Regatta this year will be a 10-day festival with outboard races at the Stuart Causeway in the beginning of the week, arid high-powered inboard boat races near the Roosevelt Bridge in Stuart at the end of the week.

In addition to the boat races and plane exhibition, there will be a golf tournament, beauty pageant, swimming and diving contest, tennis competitions, shuffleboard contests, band concerts, bowling and racquetball tournaments, canoe races, and an old fashioned block party at Ocean East Mall.

The block party will feature a jitterbug dance contest, square dancing, and a display of boats competing in the races.

The festival is planned from May 7-15.

EGG HUNTERS--Nearly 200 Jensen Beach, Sewall's Point and Rio youngsters appeared at Langford Park last Saturday to participate in the annual Jensen Beach Fire Department's Easter Egg Hunt. Dozens of prizes were awarded to four separate age groups.

Commodore's Ball is April 22

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Commodore's Ball, the biggest event of the year for the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, is scheduled for Friday, April 22.

The gala affair, to be held in the Sandpiper Bay Florida Room, will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by a prime rib dinner.

Tickets are limited to 300 members and house guests. Deadline for tickets is April 18. Table reservations for eight may be made by calling Frank or Pat Blalock at 878-3135.

Chairing the festive event are the Blalocks, assisted by Ben and Mary Farlenza, Melvin and Lucille Gibson, Louis and Josephine Campisi, Charles and Marie Boyd, and Ernie Gesswein, social director.

Incoming officers are Art Coulon, commodore; E.K. Shinn, vice commodore; George Jacobi, treasurer; Jo Walker, secretary.

Gesswein, Bob Clemons, William Hoover, Frances Lee, Clarence Frazer, Bob Cousino, and immediate past commodore Nelson Howery will be the directors.

...ER WEDDING--Hugh Curren and Evelyn Aycock were wed in sunset ...monies aboard the 35' sloop Jubilee Saturday. Curren is funeral director of ...cock Funeral Homes, and Mrs. Curren is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Aycock of Stuart. The Rev. Dr. Carl Pollhein, pastor of First United Presbyterian Church of Stuart, presided as fourteen relatives watched. A reception was held at the Outrigger Restaurant Evinrude Deck following the wedding. The Currens will make their home in Golden Gate.

Sunday gas flame douses nuke plant

HUTCHINSON ISLAND--The Florida Power and Light Company's St. Lucie One nuclear power plant has been shut down for about a week following a weekend fire.

According to FPL Stuart Manager Gene VanCuren, the fire occured at a hydrogen gas line "related to the electrical system on the output side of the generator" and poses no threat of any kind of nuclear radiation leak.

"The hydrogen leaked and burned with a low three to five inch flame," Van Curen said. "It was a very small flame, but, like any natural gas fire, it could not be put out unless it was extinguished at the source."

Torchlight vigil will mark Earth Week

JENSEN BEACH--The Naturalist's ...ety of the Florida Institute of ...hnology (FIT) has received approval ...m the Martin County Commission to ...se the Jensen Beach Causeway for ...e hour on April 22.

...o celebration of Earth Week, the ...ety has planned a torchlight vigil ...n the Causeway to the Jensen Public ...ch. The vigil will be a solemn ...minder for citizens to conserve earth's natural resources.

The county commission unanimously authorized the closing of the Causeway from 9 until 10 p.m., April 22. The Martin County Sheriff's Department will assist in the closing operation.

In addition to the vigil, the Society will sponsor a week-long series of events on Earth Week. They have planned a beach clean-up, a six-course natural foods dinner, speakers, a showing of the movie "Hellstrom Chronicle", booths showing crafts and other displays, canoe rides, sailboat rides and birdwatching.

The Society has also planned a folk concert and a photography contest.

The theme of the photo contest will be "Man in Nature" with two categories, color and black and white. The two winners will receive $50 gift certificates to Stuart Photo.

Entries must not be larger than 11 by 14 inches. The deadline for entries is April 17.

Those who wish to enter the contest may drop their entries off at the Naturalist's Society in the Stuart Student Center at FIT, or at Box 305 of the FIT post office.

One thing we can be thankful for...we're all still having birthdays.

Gordon Gale just had his 79th. He has the right attitude as he says he will never reach 80 (or, at least, admit it) as that would make him old.

That one year sure makes a difference —remember when you were 29, 39, 49, 59, etc.?

Muriel Freebury made a delicious double chocolate cake for Gordon. To help him celebrate were his wife Vi, Ray Freebury, Mary and Wayne Morgan, Florence and Al Brynilsen, Dorothy and Lou Shapton, Ethel Noggle and Leah Morrison.

+ + +

Jerry Vanderbeke had a birthday (?) Saturday also, and Mary and Orville and Mary Gerdes went out to eat at Hobe Sound. They were still celebrating on Sunday as they wanted to try the new restaurant here in Jensen Beach, the Admiral's Table.

Both Maries really enjoyed Jerry's birthday – they didn't have to cook.

Jean Lewis also had a great birthday. She won the jackpot at bingo. As a matter of fact, she won two weeks in a row, so she really knows how to celebrate a good thing. Mary Vanderbeke won on the 29th.

+ + +

Gert Hume had Mr. and Mrs. Joe White and Inez Kharker over for dinner Sunday night. Ken and Irene Bigham joined them later in the evening.

Understand the fashion show and luncheon at Pinelake Village was a big success. The following ladies from our park enjoyed the affair: Muriel Freebury, Katie Smith, Agnes Fritz, Fray Johnson, Betty Fritz, Theresa Hothy, Betty Prantz, Helen Githens, Mae Engerud, Sue O'Rourke and Marie Narocki.

+ + +

Gert Hume was in charge of taking up a collection for the Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen. Very happy to report a donation of $154 was gratefully received.

Birthday Greetings!!

JENSEN BEACH–Best wishes and congratulations are extended to the following, celebrating birthdays this week: Herbert Tuson and Sheri Redis, April 7; Anne and Nick Flora, April 8; Jean Quinn and Signe Morris, April 9; Frank Forsberg and Roby Tripp, April 10.

And to Dorothy Hunter, April 11; Ralph Scott, April 13; Ruth Bowman and Myra McDaniel, April 13.

Have a happy day!

New England night a grand affair

Saturday night seventy folks from Massachusetts gathered at the rec hall for a ham dinner and fun and games. Jerry and Jini Belmore conducted the games and mixers and Wes and Ruth Arbo donated several of the prizes. Mary Bonan won two of them.

It was also the occasion for toasting Lena Black on her birthday.

The evening was such a success that plans are already being discussed for a New England Dinner in March of '78.

The lovely Palm Sunday service at the Pavilion Church was attended by 137. Rev. Clark Thompson officiated. Bert Turner conducted the layman services, and guests George Bares, Jane Taylor and Peg Nelson provided special music.

The lovely floral arrangements for the last few weeks were furnished by Mary Sumner. They were grown in her garden. Many thanks!

A message for anyone having Easter Lily plants: would you like to loan them to the Church for the Easter service. They will be appreciated and returned to their owners. Let's see how many we can lend.

A correction: George and Ruth Leonard donated 15 bottles of wine to the Dinner Dance to celebrate Ruth's 70th birthday, not to the Klines-Leonard patio party. Sorry Ruth - Ben.

Dottie Johnson has her son and his family visiting from Minnesota.

Holiday Outlines

BY RUTH BOWES 334-4946

Assisted by Elizabeth O'Donnell and Peg Ray

We are expecting a bunch of Easter guests in the park. Already the park is filling up for the vacation with children, who are enjoying the beach, pool and the easy fun-filled days.

News from our owners in Martin Memorial Hospital: Mark Sumner entered for a few days Sunday for tests. We are happy to report that Gene Gray has had surgery and is recovering well.

Edna and Harold Merritt left April 1 for Michigan. They have sold their lot, but promised to return to visit. We are sorry to have them leave.

The Al Rays had close neighbors over for champagne and to say "Goodbye" to John Henry and Mary Croom.

Ray Johnsen and his brother-in-law Gordon Emaus won prizes at the Elks Club last Friday night.

Bill and Ellie Harrison enjoyed a trip to Long Point and Sebastian last week.

The McKeevers are lonesome now that Vicki's sister has gone home, but they did have a good get-together when she was here and Danny McKeever was visiting, too.

Roger and Mignon Harrell returned after four months sojourn in Mexico with many interesting stories of their travels.

Earle and Edwina Palmer's daughter and family left for home in Maine Saturday morning after a wonderful week with their parents in Holiday Out.

Twenty guests from H.O. enjoyed a luncheon and pool party at Nelson and Trudy Beatty's new home in Stuart.

Chuck Armock was proud when Millie caught a five pound trout even though she proved to be the better fisherman that day.

Tuesday night was the last Ethnic Dinner of the season. The Dutch hats and red, white and blue costumes worn by the committee were charming.

Frank and Annie Gilbert prepared the delicious ham and pea soup and George Bares provided music during the dinner. After dinner, George and Olive Taylor showed several travel pictures obtained from the Jensen Beach Travel Agency. It was a very nice evening.

Jean Bolger fell from her bike and broke her wrist. Hope you have a speedy recovery, Jean.

C.J. Ouellette is home from the hospital and feeling fine.

The Gingriches and the St. Louises had a grand trip to the Keys for a few days last week.

Rosemary and Very May had a cocktail for departing friends, as did the Gordon Tanners.

+++

Kuzzin Kuzzin Korners had a chicken and biscuit party to christen the Armock's new porch and to say "adieu" to the Drapers and the Sheardys.

Rene and Jean Beauchamp have guests from Hull, Quebec, Mr. and Mrs. Louis LeBlanc.

Many of our lot owners are already leaving for the north and points east or west, but a few still continue to come in each week.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Exton arrived on lot 499; John Hudson, lot 384; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mayers, 261; Mr. and Mrs. James Sykora, lot 100; Jack Brosnat, 255; and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Levine, 137.

Anniversary congratulations are extended this week to Howard and Gladys Kirkpatrick, April 6; Ray and Kay Johnson, April 9; Ronald and Florence Levine, April 12.

We wish a happy birthday to Martha Shetron, April 6; Olive Taylor, April 9; Ken Ritter, April 10; Lisbee Smith, April 11; Mary Porter and Bob Ozenghar, April 12.

+++

PLEASE NOTE: Don't forget to remember to send me your news for the paper while you are back home or touring, so we can all enjoy reading the news.

Obituaries

HARVEY L. GLASCOCK

STUART—Harvey L. Glascock, 58, of 3252 S.E. Fairway West, Stuart, died Wednesday, March 30, at Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach.

A native of Washington, D.C., he had lived here for eight years as owner of WSTU.

A broadcasting veteran, Glascock began his broadcasting career after serving in World War II as a Captain in the U.S. Army. He started at station WEAM in Virginia and later moved on to stations WINX, WOOK and WMAL in Washington, D.C. He was general manager of WKDA, Nasville, Tenn., WHK, Cleveland, Ohio, WIP, Philadelphia, and WNEW, New York. Truly he was a giant in the broadcasting industry.

After purchasing WSTU, he was active and involved in the community, having served on the executive board of The Cancer Crusade, Stamp Out Drug Abuse Campaign, the Save Our Beach program, and was named Citizen of the Year by the Civitan Club.

Survivors include his wife, Genevieve Glascock and two daughters, Patricia Ann Glascock and Barbara Ann Glascock, all of Stuart.

Services were conducted Friday morning at the Aycock Funeral Home Chapel, Jensen Beach, with the Reverend Michael Woodebek, Pastor of John Carroll High School, Fort Pierce, officiating. Interment followed in Fernhill Cemetery, Stuart.

WILLIAM B. FRANCIS

JENSEN BEACH—William B. Francis, 82 of Clusters of Lenton, 103 York House, Maple Shade, New Jersey, and a winter resident of Venture Out, Jensen Beach, died Wednesday, March 30, at Martin Memorial Hospital.

He was a native of New Jersey and, prior to his retirement, he was a traffic manager for General Dynamics in Groton, Connecticut, for fifteen years. He was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth Francis, of Maple Shade, New Jersey and Jensen Beach; one son, William B. Francis, Jr., of Niantic, Connecticut; a brother, John Francis of Paterson, New Jersey; and one grandchild.

Services and burial were held in Paterson, New Jersey. Local arrangements were under the direction of the Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach.

HELENA M. DOUGHTON

JENSEN BEACH—Mrs. Helena M. Doughton, 58, of 1012 Glass Drive, N.E., Jensen Beach, died Thursday, March 31, at Martin Memorial Hospital.

A native of Almont, Michigan, she had been a resident of this area for the past seven years, coming from Detroit, Michigan.

She was a member of the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Richard Doughton, Jr., four daughters and eight grandchildren.

OVE G. CHRISTENSEN

JENSEN BEACH—Mr. Ove G. Christensen, 58, of 20 N.E. Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach, died Monday, April 4, as the result of an accident.

Born in Minnesota, he had been a resident of this area for the past fourteen years, coming from Fennville, Michigan. He was employed as a motor vehicle operator for the State Department of Transportation. Prior to coming to Florida, he was employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone Company in Chicago for 25 years, and the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for eight years.

He was a member of the Jensen Beach Community Church and a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Marie Christensen, Jensen Beach, two sons, Robert Christensen of Fennville, Michigan, and Richard Christensen of Tampa, Florida, his mother, Mrs. Ann Christensen of Ocean Breeze Park, Jensen Beach; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Nielsen and Mrs. Kamma Burkhart of Chicago, and three grandsons.

A Memorial Service will be held at a later date. Those who wish may contribute to the Memorial Fund of the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach, is in charge of arrangements.

IVAR H. JOHANSON

JENSEN BEACH—Ivar H. Johanson, 77, of 3700 N.E. Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, died Tuesday, March 29 at the Stuart Convalescent Center.

A native of Sweden, he came here from Point Pleasant, New Jersey, twelve years ago. He was a retired carpenter.

Survivors include his wife, Esther D. Johanson of Jensen Beach; one son, Ivar Johanson of Westfield, New Jersey; and one daughter, Ellen Kaesar of Ellisdale, New Jersey; seven grandchildren; 3 great grandchildren, two brothers, including Arthur Johanson of Jensen Beach; and two sisters.

Funeral services were held Friday at Yates Funeral Home Chapel in Jensen Beach, with Reverend Milton Pronose, Sr., of the Jensen Beach Christian Church officiating. Cremation followed.

Leaving town for a while?
You could save money by giving your phone a vacation, too.

Leaving town for a month or more?

You might save money by simply suspending your service instead of disconnecting your phone while you're away.

That way, you pay only a small monthly charge and save on connection charges when you return.

You also keep your own phone number, and your phone stays right where it is. If you like, we can even refer incoming calls.

It makes sense and it saves money.

So avoid a last-minute rush. Give us a call as soon as you know your plans.

Earth Week Sunday

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH–The county-wide beach clean-up planned by the Naturalist's Society of the Florida Institute of Technology will begin at 9 a.m. this Sunday at Jensen Public Beach.

The clean-up is the first event of a week-long celebration of the earth planned by the society.

The club, which is seeking volunteers for the project, will begin at Jensen and make the rounds of the beaches cleaning up litter. They will end the clean-up at Park and Fish where cold lemonade will be served.

The deadline for the Earth Week photo contest "Man in Nature" is this Friday, April 15. The two catergories in the contest are color and black and white and $50 gift certificates to Stuart Photo will be awarded to the winners.

All entries must be mounted and prints no larger than 11 by 14 inches.

"People get the connotation that we're just a bunch of environmental radicals trying to impose our view on them," Society Vice President Mike MacDavitt said. "We're just trying to make people aware of what's going on around them."

After the clean-up, Earth Week activities will resume at 5 p.m. Friday, April 22, with the serving of a natural foods dinner just outside the school cafeteria.

The dinner will feature natural fruit juices, soy bean coffee and dandelion tea, fresh citrus and fruit soup, along with a salad bar with tomatoes, mushrooms, watercress, cattails, bean sprouts, chick peas, swamp cabbage and sugar cane.

There will be soy bean muffins and whole wheat and raisin bread. The main dish will be wild rice with fish and eggplant casserole. Dessert will be a banana custard, apple butter and yogurt.

After the dinner there will be speakers from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. with the highlight of the week, a torchlight vigil from the Jensen Causeway to Jensen Public Beach, at 9 p.m. The vigil will be a meditation on the planet earth.

On Saturday, April 23, there will be speakers, displays, movies, contests, crafts and canoe rides on the campus from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. At 8 p.m., Saturday, there will be a showing of the movie "The Hellstrom Chronicle" at the school auditorium.

Sunday, April 24, will be a repeat performance of Saturday with the addition of a folk concert beginning at 1 p.m.

Singers Rosemary Fallon, Refuge and Dulcimer player Darren Corriden will perform.

Earth Week will end at 6 p.m., Sunday.

Taping Studio will hold Casino Night

STUART–The Martin County Taping Studio for the Blind and the Visually Handicapped will hold a "Casino Night" at 7:30 p.m., Friday, April 15, with the proceeds to benefit the studio.

Local merchants will donate gifts and contestants will get "funny money" to "gamble" with.

The evening will be $12 per person and buffet will be available.

UNLOADING THE HOSE–Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen Rick Campbell, top, and Don Wilkie, bottom, unload firehose at the start of the fire which burned 158 acres of Savannas and surrounding woodlands last Wednesday.

Eleven miles added

Jensen exit sign is denied by DOT

NEWS ANALYSIS

BY DICK CAMPBELL

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) officially denied the city request to allow directional exit sign for Jensen Beach at the Port St. Lucie exit this week.

The action means that persons seeking Jensen Beach will have to, in this time of energy conservation, drive eleven additional miles to reach the community. There is no estimate of how many thousands of persons drive the Florida Turnpike headed for Jensen Beach.

Mrs. Terry B. Graham, of the DOT information office, notified the Port St. Lucie City Council, in a letter dated March 29, but released Tuesday, April 12, that the request for an exit for Jensen Beach was denied because of "federally approved signing policy."

Mrs. Graham wrote that regulations permit signing only the city served by the signed exit, "in this case, Port St. Lucie."

She added, "In addition, unincorporated areas are not signed and cities served by a non-direct or circuitous route are not signed."

In a Mirror survey of the turnpike Tuesday, it was learned that directional signs formerly designating the Stuart exit for Jensen Beach (along with those for Sewall's Point and Palm City) had been removed from the roadside.

The mileage from downtown Jensen Beach to the Port St. Lucie exit is 9.6 miles. From Port St. Lucie exit to Stuart is 10.1 miles, and the route from the Stuart exit to downtown Jensen Beach is 10.6 miles. Thus, it would be 11.1 miles additional driving for every auto that was driven by a person not aware that Jensen Beach was contiguous to Port St. Lucie.

The DOT explanation that the turnpike cannot "sign" unincorporated areas probably explains why the previous "signed" Jensen Beach exit at Stuart was removed, but does not explain why for years there was a sign directing traffic to Jensen Beach from the Stuart exit.

Jack Klett, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, praised the effort of the City Council of Port St. Lucie, and expressed his disgust at the "rebuke of the Department of Transportation to the community of Jensen Beach.

"We will not have to go to higher sources, our congressman and state legislators, to see if we can change this obviously bureaucratic ruling that has not one thought of the convenience of the motoring public," Klett said.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha, who represents Jensen Beach, said, "This is an unfortunate ruling and we will try to confer with the DOT and with our congressional delegation to see if it can be corrected.

"It is obvious that there are a great number of people who travel to unincorporated areas and they should be given as much aid to travel as those traveling to incorporated areas," he added.

Firemen seek cause of burn

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH–The cause of a fire which burned 125 acres of savannas woodlands last week is still being investigated by Florida Department of Forestry officials and a $1,000 reward could be given for information given in finding the cause.

Tom Read, forest ranger supervisor for Martin and Okeechobee Counties, said the savannas fire, and a second one which burned in Hobe Sound the preceding day, are large enough to merit the $1,000 reward figure.

"We offer $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction for any kind of woods fire," Read said. "We judge the amount of the award by the damage done and these were two pretty large fires."

Read said that two separate rewards could be given because the fires are two separate incidents.

"We have no real leads to the cause of the Jensen Beach fire," he said. "But we do suspect arson or a careless smoker. We found several beer cans with cold beer still in them."

The fire, which began last Wednesday morning behind "Sugar Hill", burned southward where it jumped Commercial Street burning a total of 125 acres.

The Martin County Sheriff's Department has charged a sixteen-year-old juvenile with criminal mischief in a second fire which began shortly before noon on Monday. The fire occurred of Savanna Road across from the Jensen Beach Elementary School. The youth had been fishing in a pond with some other youths when the fire occurred. He has been turned over to the Division of Youth Services.

Jensen Beach, Rio, District 2, Port Salerno, Palm City, the Division of Forestry and numerous volunteers banded together to extinguish last week's blaze.

Superintendent Read said the Division of Forestry is still discouraging the burning of trash fires due to a lack of rain during the last few weeks.

High winds force closing of beaches

JENSEN BEACH–"It's almost like a hurricane early in the season. The ocean at the beaches is extremely rough."

This was said by Martin County Lifeguard Joe Greenwald Monday at Jensen Public Beach as he stared out over the whitewater of the Atlantic.

"I don't think it will last for long. We're all hoping that the wind will change soon and it will flatten out again," he said.

After a record crowd at the beach on Saturday under sunny skies with calm winds, Easter Sunday was a letdown for beachgoers when strong northeast winds picked up forcing officials to close the beaches. The wind has blown continually for four days and the ocean is still too rough to swim in.

"We opened the beach during low tide for two and a half hours this morning (Tuesday) but we had to close it as soon as the tide came in," Greenwald said.

Waves on the outer reef offshore are reported to be breaking at six to 10 feet high.

"It looks worse than it did yesterday. The surf is really huge," he said.

The big waves have raised the hopes of a number of local surfers. When the wind and the chop clears away the big waves usually stay for a few days making ideal surfing conditions.

"We really have to keep an eye on people because some of them still want to go out in the water," Greenwald said. "They don't realize how strong the current really is. One girl had to have assistance getting out."

"We even have some Portugese Man O' War beginning to show up on the beach," he said. "Whenever we get a strong wind off the Gulfstream they blow in."

Portugese Man O'War are the blue and pink balloom shaped jelly-fish which impart a nasty sting if they come in skin contact.

Nuke plant is back on line

JENSEN BEACH–The Florida Power and Light St. Lucie nuclear power plant returned to operation Monday afternoon after being shut down last week by a gas fire.

According to FPL Stuart Manager Gene Van Curen, company investigators found the cause of the blaze at a connection box inside the plant. To repair the damage, the box was replaced and several other "odds and ends" were taken care of, he said.

The hydrogen which ignited causing the gas fire, is used in the cooling system in the plant and posed no threat of radioactive contamination to either employees of the plant or the public, he said.

The flame in the gas fire burned only for several inches, enough to cause the plant to shut down automatically.

KEEP OUT OF THE WATER–Martin County Lifeguards Joe Greenwald, left, and Bob Salley, show the "No Swimming" sign that went up last Sunday at Jensen and Stuart Beaches due to unusually rough seas. High surf from strong east-northeast breezes produced a rough surf and strong undertow.

Dr Lowell Clark to practice here

DR. LOWELL CLARK

JENSEN BEACH–Dr. Lowell Clark, formerly of Pompano Beach, has assumed the practice of Dr. Daryl Marsteller at the Skyline Medical Center.

Dr. Clark practiced in Pompano Beach beginning in 1967 after serving his residency at Brevard General Hospital in Fort Lauderdale. He did his internship at Columbus, Ohio.

He graduated from Ohio State Medical School in 1965.

He was raised in St. Petersburg where he moved from Columbus when he was seven years old.

"I'm really glad to be here," Dr. Clark said. "I've planned on moving up here for about five months."

Dr. Clark, his wife Barbara, and three daughters, Christy, Robin and Elizabeth, are staying on their 36-foot cabin cruiser docked at the Outrigger Resort until they find a home in the Jensen Beach or Stuart area.

County gets plate shift

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County residents who go down to the courthouse to obtain their new license plates may be surprised to find they won't have the number "42" to indicate they're from Martin County.

According to the Tag Department Superintendent Julia Lane, the state did not appropriate enough money last year to produce enough "42" tags to go around so the tag office will giving out license plates with "2CV" and "68" numbers instead. They will be issued until the new green and white plates are given out beginning July 1. The new plates will have green numbers with white backgrounds.

In the future, Mrs. Lane said, stickers will indicate which county a vehicle is from rather than the old method of numerical designation.

Randy Tilton killed in racing accident

JENSEN BEACH–Ransom R. Tilton, Jr., 31, was killed Friday in a boating accident at the St. Lucie Locks.

Tilton, who just recently was enshrined in the American Power Boat Association's "Hall of Champions", was testing a new boat with a 150 horsepower Mercury outboard when the accident occurred.

According to Lt. Dan Byrd, Florida Marine Patrol, Tilton was 8,000 feet west of the locks when he turned east, into the wind, for his third trial run. As the boat accelerated "well over 80 m.p.h." it became airborne, throwing Tilton from the cockpit.

Several fishermen nearby witnessed the accident and pulled Tilton from the water.

Friends of Tilton told The Mirror that wind was gusting over 20 knots, and a gust must have caught the bow of the boat.

The popular Jensen Beach Realtor was in business with his father, Ransom Tilton, Sr., and brother, Ken, in Jensen Beach in W.B. Tilton Real Estate and Pinelake Village.

A native of Martin County, Tilton held two world records in G Production racing of outboards, and last year was the high point racer in the United States, winning twelve of seventeen races and placing high in all others.

RANDY TILTON

He was a veteran of the Viet Nam War, serving in the U.S. Coast Guard, a member of the Stuart Board of Realtors and the Power Boating Club of Palm Beach.

Survivors include his wife, Sharyon Tilton; a brother, Ken C. Tilton; three sisters, Robin and Joyce of Jensen Beach and Susan of Philadelphia; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom R. Tilton, Sr.; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Warner B. Tilton of Jensen Beach.

Private services were held at Johns Funeral Home in Stuart. Friends may contribute to the Tri-Area Ambulance Service, P.O. Box 2713, Stuart, FL 33497.

Al Martin returns to Boston summer

JENSEN BEACH–Mr. and Mrs. Al Martin, who have wintered in Jensen Beach for over 30 years, returned to their home in Boston Tuesday.

The Martins stayed at Frances Langford's Outrigger Resort for the past several months.

Scholarship applications are available

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Junior Woman's Club of Port St. Lucie will be giving away a $200 scholarship to a high school student living in Port St. Lucie, attending either Fort Pierce Central or John Carroll High School.

Students may pick up applications from their guidance counselors or from Mrs. Bonnie Reed, 878-4763. Deadline for return of applications, either to guidance counselors or Mrs. Reed, is April 26.

Richmond opening was success

PORT ST. LUCIE—It was a mood of excitement as the four new models of Richmond Homes were previewed by the "very important people" of General Development Corporation, Richmond Homes and Port St. Lucie recently.

Louis Fischer, president of GDC, arrived by helicopter from his Miami base, and giant Greyhound buses arrived bearing officials and sales forces of the Sarasota-based Richmond Homes organization.

The star of the show was Ruth Richmond, who created a dazzling spectacle of functional beauty in the four different model designs.

Using the talent that has won fourteen national awards for interior design, Mrs. Richmond found herself besieged by GDC and Port St. Lucie businessmen and elected officials who were highly impressed by the innovative and imaginative design of the homes.

The Richmond Homes organization has been building in the west coast area of Florida and already has many homes in the Port Charlotte community of GDC. Over 900 homes have thus far been built from Naples to Bradenton by the growing company.

The new models were opened after a successful twelve-month test period at Port Charlotte, according to Jack Sheridan, vice president of Florida sales for GDC.

"Ruth Richmond knows what women want in a home," Sheridan said. "Her design reflects the homemaker point of view."

All homes are two and three bedroom with two baths.

ENJOY—The opening reception for the new Richmond Homes models was enjoyed by Tom Watson, Jr., marketing director of Richmond and other personnel from the Sarasota offices of the firm.

SALES TALK—It had to be talk of sales when Richmond Homies President Jack C. Betz met with General Development Corp. vice president of Florida sales, Jack Sheridan.

OLD FRIENDS—General Development President Louis Fischer attended the Richmond Homes opening at Port St. Lucie, and visited with an old friend, Glenn McCabe, a resident of PSL.

Kermit's loses opener to Hobe Sound

BY DONNIE WILKIE

HOBE SOUND—A wild pitch by losing pitcher David Bocchino in the bottom of the ninth inning caused the winning run to score as Hobe Sound edged Kermit's Stag Shop at Jensen Beach 3-4 in the season opener Saturday.

The wild pitch broke up a 4-4 game that had been one of the best this season in Martin County.

Kermit's hopes to even their record tonight (Wednesday) as they play their first home game of the season. The opponent will be Jupiter, and the game will be played on the "Cow Pasture" Field 3.

Brent Laycock pitched 5-3 innings for Kermit's Saturday, but when Hobe Sound tied the game in the sixth, he was removed in favor of Bocchino.

Kermit's opened the scoring in the very first frame, as Pop Delancy and Sherman Conrad each drew walks, stole second and third, then scored on wild throws to third But Hobe Sound narrowed the gap right away, scoring a run in their half of the first.

After Hobe Sound scored twice more in the second inning, the game turned into a pitchers' duel. Neither team was able to put anything on the scoreboard until Kermit's scored in the fifth canto.

Conrad opened the rally with a single, one of his two on the afternoon. Sherman then stole second, and scored when Robbie McLendon singled. McLendon had three hits himself.

The visitors scored again in the sixth, when Ronnie Parker reached on an error, stole second and third, and scored on a passed ball. The passed ball came on the third strike to Darryl Delancy, and he was also able to reach first base on the play.

But Hobe Sound's run in the bottom of the frame sent the game into the seventh tied, and when nobody scored, extra innings were necessary.

The scoreless battle continued until the ninth, when Tom Bitzner singled for Hobe Sound. He then was forced to third by a pair of walks, at which time he scored on the wild pitch.

Conrad's 3-for-2 performance and McLendon's 3-for-4 had to be the bright spots for the Jensenites, but the rest of the lineup got a total of one hit.

"We just weren't hitting when we needed to- with men on base," said Kermit's manager, Pete Howanits. "We got the leadoff men on base only four time, and all three times we scored, he got on," continued Howanits.

The only extra base hit of the day was a double by McLendon, but it did not result in any scoring. All told, 13 Kermit's batters were victims of strikeouts.

Kermit's will go with Darryl Delancy (6-0) tonight when they host Jupiter at 7:30 p.m.

How to play it single and still stay happily married.

Not all families that stay together necessarily play sports together. Even when it comes to tennis.

Which is why we're offering a limited number of single memberships at Indian River Plantation Tennis Club.

You'll find a lot of tennis buffs just like yourself who like to take an hour or two a day to play a fast singles or doubles match: Doctors. Lawyers. Students. You name it.

However, we hasten to add that Indian River Plantation Tennis Club is not an amateur tennis court. It's one of the finest tennis facilities on the East Coast.

We offer eleven championship Har-Tru courts. Designed and built under the supervision of Tom Falkenburg, one of the country's leading senior players. He's also our resident pro.

Which means if you need lessons, you learn from the best. Including evening instruction if you can't find time to get away from the office during the day.

The price for this healthy independence is only $350 a year. While our single memberships last.

For more information just clip the coupon. Or call Tom Falkenburg at 287-9101.

Single membership at Indian River Plantation Tennis Club. Because not all families who stay together, play tennis together.

Eleven miles added

Jensen exit sign is denied by DOT

NEWS ANALYSIS
BY DICK CAMPBELL

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) officially denied the city request to allow directional exit sign for Jensen Beach at the Port St. Lucie exit this week.

The action means that persons seeking Jensen Beach will have to, in this time of energy conservation, drive eleven additional miles to reach the community. There is no estimate of how many thousands of persons drive the Florida Turnpike headed for Jensen Beach.

Mrs. Terry B. Graham, of the DOT information office, notified the Port St. Lucie City Counell, in a letter dated March 29, but released Tuesday, April 12, that the request for an exit for Jensen Beach was denied because of "federally approved signing policy."

Mrs. Graham wrote that regulations permit signing only the city served by the signed exit, "in this case, Port St. Lucie."

She added, "In addition, unincorporated areas are not signed and cities served by a non-direct or circuitous route are not signed."

In a Mirror survey of the turnpike Tuesday, it was learned that directional signs formerly designating the Stuart exit for Jensen Beach (along with those for Sewall's Point and Palm City) had been removed from the roadside.

The mileage from downtown Jensen Beach to the Port St. Lucie exit is 9.6 miles. From Port St. Lucie exit to Stuart is 10.1 miles, and the route from the Stuart exit to downtown Jensen Beach is 10.6 miles. Thus, it would be 11.1 miles additional driving for every auto that was driven by a person not aware that Jensen Beach was contiguous to Port St. Lucie.

The DOT explanation that the turnpike cannot "sign" unincorporated areas probably explains why the previous "signed" Jensen Beach exit at Stuart was removed, but does not explain why for years there was a sign directing traffic to Jensen Beach from the Stuart exit.

Jack Klett, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, praised the effort of the City Council of Port St. Lucie, and expressed his disgust at the "rebuke of the Department of Transportation to the community of Jensen Beach.

"We will not have to go to higher sources, our congressman and state legislators, to see if we can change this obviously bureaucratic ruling that has not one thought of the convenience of the motoring public," Klett said.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha, who represents Jensen Beach, said, "This is an unfortunate ruling and we will try to confer with the DOT and with our congressional delegation to see if it can be corrected.

"It is obvious that there are a great number of people who travel to unincorporated areas and they should be given as much aid to travel as those traveling to incorporated areas," he added.

Council revamps weekly sessions

PORT ST. LUCIE--In practically the first order of business, the newly organized City Council Tuesday passed a resolution which will alter considerably the format of all future council sessions.

The new procedure, the "agenda system", according to Assistant City Attorney Fred Herowitz, will enable the Council to conduct more productive and businesslike sessions.

In outlining the new system, Horowitz said it would serve a dual purpose. It will give the council members a better opportunity to be prepared to take action on the subject topic, and it will also place a tighter rein on the workshop sessions.

Under the new format, any citizen will have the right to be heard, but that input is being directed toward the workshop sessions rather than the regular council sessions.

To be placed on the workshop agenda, citizens must notify either City Manager Elmer Cox or City Clerk Donna Peizold before noon on the Friday prior to the Tuesday meetings.

According to the plan, no new matter will be heard, nor come before the Council, until it has been thrashed out at a workshop session first, whether it be an ordinance, a resolution or comment from the public.

"We must, however, make it perfectly clear that we are not trying to shut out the public and I sincerely hope no one will get that interpretation of the proposed agenda sessions," Mayor Bill McChesney said.

"We want public input, but we want this information at a workshop session rather than being presented at a regular council session. I am hopeful the citizens will cooperate with us whereby we might give this new format a real good try for at least three or four months," the mayor added.

At the same time, McChesney pointed out there will be exceptions to the new procedures, but those exceptions will be made by a vote of the council.

Of course, public hearings on the second reading of an ordinance will be another exception to the rule.

Cox, commenting on the new procedures, said he thought the new format would add efficiency and practicality to council meetings.

Concerned over the possible interpretations of the new policy, Vice Mayor Reeb assured those in attendance that he will in no way be a part of stopping input from the people of Port St. Lucie.

"If the issue is important, the people will be heard," Reeb said, adding that, given time, he thought the new program would prove beneficial to all.

The "agenda system" according to Cox, was a unanimous recommendation of city clerks throughout the state who attended a recent meeting in Daytona.

Awards highlight Cub's blue and gold

PORT ST. LUCIE--In what could be easily termed as the biggest social event of the year, the Port St. Lucie Cub Pack 499 held its annual Blue and Gold dinner recently. The affair, conducted at the White City Elementary School, was a buffet pot luck dinner which was highlighted throughout the evening with the presentation of awards.

Following the dinner, guests attending the banquet were introduced by Cubmaster Malcolm von Taborsky. Among the guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. Winkler, Treasure Coast District Chairman Mel Broom with his wife, Round Table Commissioner and former Cubmaster Tom Hillegas and Mrs. Hillegas, Ed Swanson, Scoutmaster of Troop 499, Chuck Nelson, Pack 499 treasurer, Chuck Dekker, assistant Cubmaster, Mrs. Eleanor von Taborsky, chairman of events, and Mrs. Louise Blauvelt and Mrs. Beth Ottersen, pack coordinators.

The invocation was given by Rev. Winkler of St. Andrew Lutheran Church, sponsor of the local Pack, and the opening ceremony was conducted by Den 5. Participants were Scott Tatusko, Peter von Taborsky, Pierre Vignier, John Dekker and Andy Medlin.

A special plaque was presented by Mel Broom and Chuck Nelson to Tom Hillegas in appreciation for serving as Cubmaster from 1970 through 1976.

Den mothers, Mrs. Sandy Cowell, Mrs. Fran Buckley, Mrs. Sue Dekker, Mrs. Fran Williams and their assistants, Mrs. Celila Vignier and Mrs. Jackie Tribo, were recognized for their work during the scouting year.

Mrs. Cookie McGeary, who will be leaving the area, was the recipient of a special thank you plaque for serving as Den Mother. Hillegas made the presentation.

Several of the young scouts also received advancement awards during the evening.

The Arrow of Light was presented to Kevin Baker and Pierre Vignier received the Silver Arrow.

Donnie Nevill, Scott Tatusko, Thomas Brennan, Michael Grande, David Keaney, Robert Ottersen, James Wallace, Peter von Taborsky and Billy Blauvelt received service stars.

Star for Presidents Awards were presented to all cub scouts present.

Kevin Baker was advanced to Scout by Cubmaster von Taborsky and presented to his new Scoutmaster, Ed Swanson.

Those attending were entertained by magician Larry Hollet and the closing ceremony was conducted by the young scouts.

Ribbons for the kite flying contest held prior to the dinner went to Pierre Vignier, Kevin McGeary, James Buckley, James Wallace, Andy Medlin, Peter von Taborsky, Chris White, Danny Whalen, Kevin Baker and John Dekker.

APPRECIATION--Cubmaster Tom Hillegas of Cub Pack 499 was presented with a plaque of appreciation during the Blue and Gold Dinner which was held recently at the White City Elementary School. Mrs. Hillegas looks on as her husband expresses his gratitude for the award.

Randy Tilton killed in racing accident

JENSEN BEACH–Ransom R. Tilton, Jr., 31, was killed Friday in a boating accident at the St. Lucie Locks.

Tilton, who just recently was enshrined in the American Power Boat Association's "Hall of Champions", was testing a new boat with a 150 horsepower Mercury outboard when the accident occurred.

According to Lt. Dan Byrd, Florida Marine Patrol, Tilton was 5,000 feet west of the locks when he turned east, into the wind, for his third trial run. As the boat accelerated "well over 80 m.p.h." it became airborne, throwing Tilton from the cockpit.

Several fishermen nearby witnessed the accident and pulled Tilton from the water.

Friends of Tilton told The Mirror that wind was gusting over the locks, and a gust must have caught the bow of the boat.

The popular Jensen Beach Realtor was in business with his father, Ransom Tilton, Sr., and brother, Ren, in Jensen Beach in W.B. Tilton Real Estate and Pinelake Village.

A native of Martin County, Tilton held two world records in G Production racing of outboards, and last year was the high point racer in the United States, winning twelve of seventeen races and placing high in all others.

He was a veteran of the Viet Nam War, serving in the U.S. Coast Guard, a member of the Stuart Board of Realtors and the Power Boating Club of Palm Beach.

Survivors include his wife, Sharyon Tilton; a brother, Ren C. Tilton; three sisters, Robin and Joyce of Jensen Beach and Susan of Philadelphia; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom R. Tilton, Sr.; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Warner B. Tilton of Jensen Beach.

Private services were held at Johns Funeral Home in Stuart. Friends may contribute to the Tri-Area Ambulance Service, P.O. Box 2713, Stuart, FL 33494.

Watercolor exhibit at Stuart National

STUART–Bea Scott and Barbara Green share an exhibit at the Stuart National Bank this month. The Martin County Art Associates members are displaying watercolors.

Scott attended Syracuse University School of Fine Arts and her work features vivid flowers, seascapes and local landscapes.

Green received original training at the College of Fine Arts at Syracuse University and later worked under the well known water colorist, Elliott O'Hara. Her pictures are mostly landscapes.

Auleta painting on display at First Fed

JENSEN BEACH–The water color paintings of Dr. Michael S. Auleta will be on display during the month of April at the Jensen Beach Branch of First Federal Savings & Loan.

Auleta, a writer and former member of the faculty at University of South Florida in Tampa, is a member of the Martin County Art Associates. He has worked locally with Miss Barbara Hightower and has shown his works at art shows throughout the area.

Civitan road block is set for April 16

STUART–The Civitan Club of Stuart will conduct a roadblock at the corner of U.S. 1 and Colorado Avenue on Saturday, April 16. The purpose of the roadblock is to collect funds for the Martin County Track Fund.

The roadblock will last from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and all moneys collected will be added to the Track Fund, which now exceeds $15,000, over 60 percent of the amount needed to build a track adjacent to Martin County High School.

It is anticipated that the track will be built during 1977. It will be available for use by the MCHS Track Team as well as the general public.

Richmond opening was success

...P OPENING–Top officials of Richmond Homes gathered for ...recent opening of the Richmond models in Port St. Lucie, ...d with them were officials of their already developing Port ...rlotte operation. At right is Jack C. Betz, president of Richmond Homes, with John Reus, General Development sales manager at Port Charlotte, Paul Romance, vice president of Richmond Homes, and Thelma Warner, manager of Richmond Port Charlotte operations.

PORT ST. LUCIE–It was a mood of excitement as the four new models of Richmond Homes were previewed by the "very important people" of General Development Corporation, Richmond Homes and Port St. Lucie recently.

Louis Fischer, president of GDC, arrived by helicopter from his Miami base, and giant Greyhound buses arrived bearing officials and sales forces of the Sarasota-based Richmond Homes organization.

The star of the show was Ruth Richmond, who created a dazzling spectacle of functional beauty in the four different model designs.

Using the talent that has won fourteen national awards for interior design, Mrs. Richmond found herself besieged by GDC and Port St. Lucie businessmen and elected officials who were highly impressed by the innovative and imaginative design of the homes.

The Richmond Homes organization has been building in the west coast area of Florida and already has many homes in the Port Charlotte community of GDC. Over 900 homes have thus far been built from Naples to Bradenton by the growing company.

The new models were opened after a successful twelve-month test period at Port Charlotte, according to Jack Sheridan, vice president of Florida sales for GDC.

"Ruth Richmond knows what women want in a home," Sheridan said. "Her design reflects the homemaker point of view."

All homes are two and three bedroom with two baths.

ENJOY–The opening reception for the new Richmond Homes models was enjoyed by Tom Watson, Jr., marketing director of Richmond and other personnel from the Sarasota offices of the firm.

SALES TALK–It had to be talk of sales when Richmond Homes President Jack C. Betz met with General Development Corp. vice president of Florida sales, Jack Sheridan.

OLD FRIENDS–General Development President Louis Fischer attended the Richmond Homes opening at Port St. Lucie, and visited with an old friend Glenn McCabe, a resident of PSL.

Kermit's loses opener to Hobe Sound

BY DONNIE WILKIE

HOBE SOUND—A wild pitch by losing pitcher David Bocchino in the bottom of the ninth inning caused the winning run to score as Hobe Sound edged Kermit's Stag Shop of Jensen Beach 5-4 in the season opener Saturday.

The wild pitch broke up a 4-4 game that had been one of the best this season in Martin County.

Kermit's hopes to even their record tonight (Wednesday) as they play their first home game of the season. The opponent will be Jupiter, and the game will be played on the "Cow Pasture" Field 3.

Brent Laycock pitched 5⅓ innings for Kermit's Saturday, but when Hobe Sound tied the game in the sixth, he was removed in favor of Bocchino.

Kermit's opened the scoring in the very first frame, as Pep Delancy and Sherman Conrad each drew walks, stole second and third, then scored on wild throws to third. But Hobe Sound narrowed the gap right away, scoring a run in their half of the first.

After Hobe Sound scored twice more in the second inning, the game turned into a pitchers' duel. Neither team was able to put anything on the scoreboard until Kermit's scored in the fifth canto.

Conrad opened the rally with a single, one of his two on the afternoon. Sherman then stole second, and scored when Robbie McLendon singled. McLendon had three hits himself.

The visitors scored again in the sixth, when Ronnie Parker reached on an error, stole second and third, and scored on a passed ball. The passed ball came on the third strike to Darryl Delancy, and he was also able to reach first base on the play.

But Hobe Sound's run in the bottom of the frame sent the game into the seventh tied, and when nobody scored, extra innings were necessary.

The scoreless battle continued until the ninth, when Tom Blitzner singled for Hobe Sound. He then was forced to third by a pair of walks, at which time he scored on the wild pitch.

Conrad's 3-for-2 performance and McLendon's 2-for-4 had to be the bright spots for the Jensenites, but the rest of the lineup got a total of one hit.

"We just weren't hitting when we needed to- with men on base," said Kermit's manager, Pete Howanits. "We got the leadoff man on base only four time, and all three times we scored, he got on," continued Howanits.

The only extra base hit of the day was a double by McLendon, but it did not result in any scoring. All told, 13 Kermit's batters were victims of strikeouts.

Kermit's will go with Darryl Delancy (o-e) tonight when they host Jupiter at 7:30 p.m.

How to play it single and still stay happily married.

Not all families that stay together, necessarily play sports together. Even when it comes to tennis.

Which is why we're offering a limited number of single memberships at Indian River Plantation Tennis Club.

You'll find a lot of tennis buffs just like yourself who like to take an hour or two a day to play a fast singles or doubles match. Doctors. Lawyers. Students. You name it.

However, we hasten to add that Indian River Plantation Tennis Club is not an amateur tennis court. It's one of the finest tennis facilities on the East Coast.

We offer eleven championship Har-Tru courts. Designed and built under the supervision of Tom Falkenburg, one of the country's leading senior players. He's also our resident pro.

Which means if you need lessons, you learn from the best. Including evening instruction if you can't find time to get away from the office during the day.

The price for this healthy independence is only $350 a year. While our single memberships last.

For more information just clip the coupon. Or call Tom Falkenburg at 287-9101.

Single membership at Indian River Plantation Tennis Club. Because not all families who stay together, play tennis together.

The Clarks will be leaving Saturday to head for Candlewood Isle near Fairfield Conn. They will be gone all summer and fall and will be back in January. Bon voyage!!

Pat and Larry Belt and their newphew left Friday, in their camper, for Montauk Point, Long Island, New York. They, too, will be gone until December.

What a beautiful Easter morning it was, so Gil and Jean VanWilligen and Anne VanWilligen went to brunch at Sandpiper Bay. Jean said she only saw one lady in an Easter Bonnet. Goodness, how times have changed!

Sneak St. News by Betty Pfahe, A-8:
"Back home again in Indiana" - Max and Thelma Dickey left for their northern home lamenting that they didn't have nearly enough time to spend here. We shall miss them.

Lola and Clyde Bonar have a happy household right now, entertaining granddaughter Kim Dickens and her friend Denise Beckens, daughter Barbara and her husband Harry Grames, with children Tamara and Tod, all from Michigan

Louise Shepherd a "motel" is going great. Her son and his family, who just left, were Jack and Janie, with children Jack, Jeff and Jay. Following right after were son Jim, with wife Anita and children David, Katie and Thad. Jack and his family are from Annapolis and Jim and family are from Solomons, Maryland. Bet there is never a dull moment at Louise's place.

Don't forget Arts and crafts is still going strong on Mondays. Plan to attend. Right now, Marie Aikens is demonstrating how to make ojos.

It's a good thing Betty Jones loves to cook. She made beef stroganof for 38 at potluck. Bet you couldn't find finer in any restaurant.

Charles and Anna Bromberger have their son and family here for a few days - Nathan, wife Peggy and children Pat and Eric. They are from Setauket, Long Island.

Jackie Phillips V.O. St. Lucie, reports:
"Sissy and Bill Jamerson returned with open arms their son Dick, daughter-in-law Joyce, and their three children this week. They are a lively bunch and fun to see. There is Ricky, age 15; Patty, age 11; and Suzy, age 5. Their home is in Utica, New York. Welcome!

"Ten Little Indians" - you bet! Marge and Bob Owen were ten in number this past week. Daughter Joyce, husband Walt and their three children - one a baby of four months - arrived from Petoskey, Michigan, first. Then came son Jim with his three children from Grand Blanc, Michigan.

Marge and Bob handled the whole situation to perfection - even to one of the grandchildren falling in the canal momenta after their arrival here!

Swordfish Lane had a ball while they were here, especially the grandmothers who cuddled and babbled over the four month old little girl. "Ten Little Indians - and now there are none." They left the park for home this week.

If you ever tried to "keep up with the Joneses", forget it. It's hard to keep track of the number of people who are sporting golf carts lately. A new sport goes along with it - have you seen Toad Bowling and Ward Irwin racing their carts? Don't bet any money yet. Each one says, "I'll have to get that dozed!"

Please sign up in the rec hall if you are interested in an Arts and Crafts Class next fall.

Clobuses celebrate 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clobus of Prima Vista Blvd. celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a reception at Goddard Hall in the United Methodist Church. The Clobus's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clobus of New Castle, Pa., and their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Henderson of Cleveland, Ohio, were present to help their parents celebrate. Also from New Castle were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bloomer (Mrs. Dale Clobus's parents).

Frank and Clara have five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Congratulations to these fine people!

It's too late to wish everyone a Happy Easter, but to those who still have Easter guests, I hope they all enjoy our sunny and windy weather.

It's a great time of the year. Our gardenia plant is in full bloom and it's good to see flowers after so many were frozen by the cold weather.

Helen and Howard Hazell, of Vesthaven Ct., had a Happy Easter when their phone rang. Their daughter Sandie and her 18 and 11 year old sons called from Freeport, Maine, to wish the Hazells a Happy Easter. Sandie had just moved to Freeport from Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin.

Their son Steve called from Crofton, Nebraska, where he has just accepted a position as Recreational Director for Vista. Steve had just moved to Crofton from Steven's Point, Wisconsin, on March 21 after graduating from the University of Wisconsin with a degree in psychology.

The Hazell family is scattered all over with daughters in Maine, Grand Rapids, Michigan, Westmont, Illinois, Wisconsin Rapids, and their son in Nebraska.

Helvie and Warner Biekhols of Lakehurst Drive have been waiting since Christmas for their son, Major James Biekhols of Washington, D.C. to visit them on leave, but instead, he left for the Far East, Japan, Korea, Guam, etc., teaching a new program in electronics communication in the U.S. Army.

Easter Happenings at H.O.

A beautiful, sunny Easter morning brought 138 people to the Holiday Out Pavillion Church for the Easter service. Rev. Clark Thompson officiated, Stanley McCart did the hymn services, Mrs D. Brink was the organist, Jack Torregrossa, trumpeter, Tess Van Raay and Norma Quillan, soloists.

After the service, all were served an Easter breakfast. Many socialized and goodbyes were said as many are returning to their homes until fall.

Ruth and Earl Bowes entertained June Carlston, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Naves and son Joel Earl with a ham dinner. Joel Earl brought two little baskets for gifts. He will be three next month.

+ + +

Dorothy and Sam Foote, lot 158, have visitors for two weeks: her brother and sister-in-law, Quenton and Delpha Sweet of Pontiac, Michigan. This is their first experience living in a trailer park and they say they are really enjoying beautiful Holiday Out.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Arden Berry had as guests the past week their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Berry of Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

+ + +

Also, park guests of Arden and Doris are their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kemp and Jack and Jill of Detroit, Michigan. Other guests are Mr. and Mrs. Skip Sikes and children Sherrie and Stacy of Houghton Lake, Michigan. What a family and friends reunion!

+ + +

The bunnies who organized the Easter Egg Hunt were Bob Long, Ralph Taylor, Harry Berglund, Sam Graber, Carl Roy, Earl Palmer, Frank Fazzioci, Olive Taylor, Edna Van Sant, Maxine Graber and, of course, the chairman, Marvin and Lee Terry.

Teddy Quick lived up to his name by finding the gold and silver egg and won the five silver dollar prize. The winner in the five year age group for the most eggs discovered was Kimmie Maimo.

Sophia and Paul Holler were the darling Easter Bunnies. We thank them for their cooperation.

+ + +

Novice fisherman Dr. George Hamm entered his very first surf fishing catch in the Stuart Sailfish Club tournament. It was a 13 lb.-8 oz. bluefish, the biggest blue caught so far this season! Winton Olson recommended the gear to buy and Lonny coached George in how to use it, so it is safe to say it was a park project. George certainly is an apt student!

+ + +

Neighbors on S. Bonita "Alligator Alley" joined forces and put on a fabulous covered dish dinner party at the rec hall Tuesday night.

Ninety-two people attended and, of course, there were many April birthdays to celebrate. The Studebakers' granddaughter Linda was the surprised recipient of a beautiful birthday cake and she received other gifts, too.

Joe and Josie Arena and their committee did a wonderful job of planning the party. George Barss and Jack Torregrossa played the dance music. Al Schneider donated many door prizes, and G. Maddaus was the witty emcee.

+ + +

The Al Ray's son, his wife and two children spent a few days on Theirsens' lot and a good time was had by all the family. The Rays' niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs Monahan, flew in from New Jersey to spend a week here, too, and they love Holiday Out.

+ + +

Holiday Out held the last dance of the season, "Snowbirds - Farewell" at the sena de rec complex April 7. The evening was revved by drawings for many prizes and the Fred Rhodes Trio provided the music.

The dance was ably handled by a committee composed of Doris and Ray Swain, Josie and Joe Arena, Minnie and Vern Bentley.

Holiday Out's next dance will be November 17 when the Snowbirds begin their return.

+ + +

Lot owners who arrived last week were Jack Bronat on lot 255; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Levine, lot 137; Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, 426; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ozenghai, 342; Mr. and Mrs. John Schaerer, 220; Mr. and Mrs. C. Schenck, 403; Eleanor Schamback, 472; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fanucci, 225; and Richard Schimpf and family on lot 344.

Congratulations to the following on their anniversaries: Austin and Mac Williams, April 14; Harold and Agnes Landis, Vince and Ginny Stratford, April 17; Patrick and Catherine Taylor; Jack and Lillie McConnell, April 19.

+ + +

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Frank Raymond, April 13; Sid Bur, Elizabeth O'Donnell, April 15; Gwen Levine, April 18.

+ + +

Again, I want to remind all who have left, or will be leaving, please write to me, telling of your trips and doings this summer. Also, let us know of anyone who is ill so cards can be sent.

+ + +

Mrs. Elsie Herman left Tuesday for New York for the summer. We will miss her.

Roger and Mignon Harrell, who recently returned to Holiday Out after a four month's stay in Mexico, have graciously agreed to share some of their experiences with us.

"We left Holiday Out on the first of December and three days and 1486 miles later were in Eagle Pass, Texas, where we could see Piedras Negras across the Rio Grande. We encountered no problems customover, either at the border or on Routes 57 and 54 from Piedras Negras to our destination in Guadalajara and Lake Chappala.

"Compared to American and Canadian highways, the Mexican highways are narrow, two-lane country roads, but they are surprisingly fast to travel on, outside the mountain areas of the Sierras. The speed limit is 100 KPH (62 mph) but, as there are no speed cops around, everyone moves at an average 75-80 mph on straight stretches of the road. One has to watch for animals on the highway, however, and slow down in the small villages and the high Sierras.

"Because there are no motels in the countryside between cities and, because it is highly recommended not to drive after sunset, it took us three days to cover the 760 miles from Piedras Negras to Lake Chappala. It is also advisable to carry fruit, cookies, cheese and soft drinks in the car as there are few restaurants along the highways and the Pemex gas station restaurants are not always too appealing. There are not as many gas stations, either, and it is strongly recommended not to wait until the gas tank is nearly empty before stopping for a refill. Gas is about 58 cents a gallon for regular grade and 78 cents for unleaded.

"Lake Chappala is the largest Mexican lake. It is 60 miles long, 15 miles wide and is at an altitude of 5100 feet surrounded by higher mountain peaks. There are hundreds of American and Canadian retirees living in the little lake shore towns of Chappala, Ajijic and Jocotepec. The weather is very mild all year. We spent the month of December in Ajijic and the low temperature was in the high 50's and the high in the 70's. There were flowers everywhere in this winter month: poinsettias, bougainvilleas, jacarandas, roses, etc. We frequently left our car parked behind the walled Posada (hotel) and took the bus to Guadalajara for a day of sightseeing and shopping.

Guadalajara is a busy city of 1,750,000 population and one of its suburbs, Tlaquepaque, is an arts and crafts paradise for ceramics, glass, carton, embroidery, leather and distinctive Mexican haute couture."

Harrells' Mexico trip will be continued next week

Port St. Lucie Chapter 2236

There's good news for bus riders. The Council on Aging has found it possible to increase the free bus service and now operates both Monday and Thursday.

The bus will pick you up at your home but you must call two days a head so the bus schedule can be planned. The round trip from Port St. Lucie to Fort Pierce and back is planned for about three hours, which will give time for shopping.

The number to call if you want to ride the bus is 465-5220 and, remember, you must call in 2 days before you want to make the trip.

Treasurer Esther Thompson wants to remind a few members that they have not yet paid 1972 dues. She will not be at the Marina Saturday afternoon to collect because the number is small, but she will be ready to take care of you at the April 21 meeting.

That April 21 meeting at the Marina at 1:30 will present Port St. Lucie's new mayor, Bill McChesney, and City Manager Elmer Cox. Also present will be a representative of the state insurance department with some useful information for AARP members.

The AARP board will meet Thursday afternoon, April 14, at the Medical Center. That evening President Fred Wiggin will attend a meeting of the Special Health Services Committee at West Palm Beach.

+++

Meals on Wheels is still a possibility for Port St. Lucia and River Park residents. What's needed is some volunteers to assume the responsibility of distributing the meals. Call President Wiggin if you are willing.

The free income tax help continues Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9 a.m. to noon, at the Citizens Federal Savings and Loan office. More than 300 persons have been served.

The group rendering this fine service has consisted of Tom Carlile, chairman, Morgan Janes, Esther Thompson, Hugh Jencks, James Chester, Estelle Baskin Wayne Lamberton, Matt Helbach, Muriel and Peter Syrak.

Morris Arkack reminds that we have a new Unity Buying Service catalogue for the use of members.

+++

Jim Kearney is eager to arrange any new services and or events for AARP members. Just call him.

The new bulletin, edited by Charlie and Margaret Coffman and others, is ready to print. You may even have it by the time this column appears. If not, watch for it. It will be loaded with interesting information.

The Defensive Driving classes continue. Contact Gordon Long for information.

The new members of the board of directors is Freida Alexander, who also serves as Legislative chairman.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE: There is an invitation from national board members and officers to attend the Areas III and IV, May 9-11, in Savannah, Georgia, at the Savannah Civic Center. Deferred Driving Course is conducted by the Martin County Adult Education Department. Make all communication there.

Bea and Marty Olesen, formerly from Connecticut, who purchased the McCaw home several months ago, are really getting their place in tip top shape.

Neighbors were frightened last week when they saw smoke pouring from their patio and thought it was an unfriendly fire. But it proved that Bea had a barbecue.

Round two of battle with DOT

BY ROBBIE BEDELL

JENSEN BEACH–Residents and officials of Jensen Beach are lining up for round two of a battle with the Florida Department of Transportation (DOT) to have a sign put up on the Port St. Lucie Interchange of the Florida Turnpike.

A recent letter from the Information Office of the DOT stated that a "Jensen Beach" sign coud not be put up at the interchange because federal regulations permit only signs denoting the city the interchange directly serves.

"In addition," the letter states, "unincorporated areas are not signed and cities served by a non-direct or circuitous route are not signed."

The letter follows an earlier letter from the DOT stating four separate reasons why the sign could not be put up.

At the close of the first letter it was stated that the DOT would reconsider its refusal if there was no opposition to the sign from either the Port St. Lucie or St. Lucie County governments. The first letter mentioned no federal regulations.

Prompted by the statement in the first letter, Port St. Lucie City Manager Elmer Cox contacted the DOT by mail stating that Port St. Lucie has no objection to the sign and would even welcome one as a gesture of goodwill toward the hamlet of Jensen Beach.

The Port St. Lucie City Council passed a resolution expressing no opposition to the sign.

The resolution and Cox's letter prompted the most recent letter denying the sign because of federal regulation. The letter was written by Mrs. Terry B. Graham.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha was shocked at the second DOT denial.

"The obvious thing is the DOT is not thinking of the people," Wacha said. "People in unincorporated areas need as much directional guidance as those in incorporated areas. There should be directional signs for all communities along the turnpike."

Wacha added that officials would have to go around the DOT to try and change the ruling.

"We will have to contact our congressmen and our state legislators to bring some sense into this. A DOT rule that is a disservice to the people is wrong."

Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce President Jack Klett agreed with Wacha.

"At the next meeting I hope to get the support to start a writing campaign to influence people to do something about the problem. We will have to seek some higher authority," Klett said.

Chamber Boardmember Al Epstein was angry about the denial.

"I personally would like an explanation from the DOT," he said. "I want to know why Walt Disney World has exit signs when they are not an incorporated town or city in the state of Florida. Might it be because they are a larger tax base and the state is knuckling under to them?"

Rights-of-way delays Savanna Road project

GESTED–A 22-foot piece of right-of-way is delaying the million dollar reconstruction of the intersection of mercial Street and Savanna Road, servicing the busy Jensen Beach Shopping Center. County officials are negotiating with the owner of the center for the property that would allow turning and storage lanes for the busy area.

JENSEN BEACH–A 285-foot strip of land, 22 feet wide, is holding up the state improvements on the intersection of Savanna Road and Commercial Street as the owner and county officials debate its value.

All other rights-of-way along the route of the half-million dollar improvement of the intersection have either been donated or committed to the project, according to Al Huggins, rights-of-way agent for Martin County.

As traffic backs up and tempers of motorists flare in delays at the two-lane road intersection, the Florida Department of Transportation is unable to begin the intersection improvement until all rights-of-way are obtained.

At issue is the 285.66 feet owned by Merle Sussner, owner of the Jensen Beach Shopping Plaza, who feels that he should receive the same amount of property on the west side of his center in exchange for the 22 feet on the east side.

The county has offered a pie-shaped piece of land that measures 9.7 feet wide at Commercial Street, and 76.428 feet wide at the north end of the property, following Sugar Hill Road, but Sussner feels that piece of land wouldn't be worth what he would be giving. It amounts to more land in square feet than his proposed donation.

The pie-shaped piece of land was donated to the county by Fort Pipes, developer of Sugar Hill Subdivision, to assist in the intersection project.

Roy Laycock, who owns the piece of land on the northwest corner of the intersection, has agreed to deed the county his 22-foot strip if he can have access to the property through the shopping center parking lot. Sussner has agreed to allow that access.

County Commissioner Frank Wacha, who has been negotiating with property owners along the route, indicated that he felt the demands of Sussner were too much for the county to accept.

"There have been too many delays, and every time we meet there is another condition added," Wacha said. "All the other property owners along the road have given with no strings attached."

Ransom Tilton, Jensen Beach Realtor who assisted the county in the project, said, "I don't think it is right. All the other people have given rights-of-way. He is the only one demanding an exchange.

"Sussner will benefit from the improvement more than anyone else because he has the largest shopping center in the area. I think he is being penny wise and pound foolish."

Sussner feels that the landscaping of trees and shrubs should be moved to keep the center beautiful, and wants a full strip of land 22-feet wide on the opposite end of the center.

"All I am asking is that they give me the 22-feet on the west side of the property, and fill the land and pave it up to grade. I have an obligation to the mortgage holders to maintain the amount of parking and the square footage of the land," Sussner said.

He pointed out that it would take a retaining wall to hold the fill on the west side of the property, and moving the trees, filling the land and paving would cost "around $10,000."

L.D. Kirkpatrick, owner of "Man From Kirk", said he didn't understand the concern.

"I stood there with Mr. Sussner when he promised there would be no problem in the right-of-way. We stepped it off and found that the only thing that would be removed would be the trees, no parking at all.

"We were promised parking at the rear of our stores, and the area is still unpaved," Kirk said. "We need parking for our employees."

Sussner said that the unpaved area at the rear of the stores if for future expansion of present stores, or for an office building.

Kirk said that employees parking in the parking lot take too many customer parking places, and that provision should be made to keep the employee autos off the already crowded lot by providing it at the rear.

Sussner said he would be happy to deed the right-of-way to the county if he could be assured that he would receive the 22-feet on the west end "in the next six months or year" so that the intersection project can proceed.

The county commission recently put the intersection as number two on the priority list.

But, complications have arisen on the Fort Pipes property. Mr. Pipes, well known in this area, died last week in New Orleans. J. Robert Norman, who is handling the affairs, told The Mirror that he was not able to comment on any arrangement until he gets Pipes' business affairs in order.

"I will be better able to discuss this when I have talked with Mr. (Tom) Thurlow, who has the information on it," Roberts said.

A meeting has been set up for Friday at the county courthouse to get all involved in the project together to solve the right-of-way problem.

"I'll be happy to meet with them any time and any place," Sussner said Monday.

roject is threatened
y right-of-way delay

NSEN BEACH–The county com- n removed the improvement of na Road and Commercial Street the county road priority list several s ago due to the problems related to -of-way acquisition. Recently, the y put the intersection back on the in the second spot.

w, with the right-of-way problems ining, County Commissioner Frank s indicates that the project might be removed if delays continue.

cha said that he felt badly about the rection delays, and the inconve- ce to the motorists. He blamed the s on Sussner's requests for hing "that no one else has asked."

cha said, "everyone is cooperating, e (Sussner) is holding a gun to body's head. He first said that the ats said they wanted protection for square footage of parking area, but ants said to us that they wanted ntersection improved.

e bent over backwards, but he just want to cooperate. The money is to run out and nothing will be Wacha added.

ckground, about the same answer was given by former county engineer Ken Farrari. He cited the fact that all property owners agreed to donate their properties several years ago except Sussner.

"The commission would not approve buying the rights-of-way, so they cancelled the project due to Sussner's refusal to give. We worked out a swap, but he didn't agree with that," Ferrari added.

The engineer blamed the poor condition of North Savanna Road on the delivery trucks pulling in and out of the shopping center.

"A load limit could be put on the road to close it off," Ferrari said, "and that was suggested. But, we never did it."

Wacha would not comment on whether the county would or would not abandon the DOT planned improvement if the rights-of-way problem was not cleared up in the near future.

In the meantime, motorists and pedestrians face the increasing traffic problem of the intersection in trying to negotiate shopping and attendance at school in the area.

lot' water goes to ocean

UTCHINSON ISLAND–The Florida r and Light Company has begun to into the ocean diluted radioactive spilled at the St. Lucie nuclear plant in an accident last week.

4,000 gallons of contaminated which was diluted 1,000 to one it ended up in a holding pond after pill is diluted another 500 times it reaches the plant's discharge before entering the ocean, ding to FP&L Stuart Manager Van Curen.
